Armistice Day

NCE AGAIN we come to Remembrance Day, November 11, most solemn of the anniversaries that punctuate the progress of our normal pursuits. It is a day which we hesitate to call "holiday" in view of the implication of recreation and pleasuremaking that we usually associate with that term.

Tomorrow-on the thirty-first anniversary of the ending of one-we honor not only those who died but those who suffered, many of them still, and, indeed, all those who served in two great conflicts. And we would in all sincerity suggest that we observe the day in a true sense of serious acknowledgement.

As for the celebrations coming on that day, may those who served engage fully in such-more power to them! But, for those of us who may have been deficient in our service, and let every man be his own judge as to that, may we use the day as one of reflection and resolution. May we resolve on actions and attitudes that will tend to bring about conditions auspicious to removing or allaying the possibility of further conflict with all its horrible consequences.

The best honor we can give to those who served and offered their all in two great conflicts would be to dedicate ourselves with all our will and all our power to the prevention of recurrence of the need for such sacrifices.

WAKE UP, PRINCE RUPERT!

DRESENTATION by Boards of Trade and Chambers of Commerce of the Peace River district to the royal commission on transportation of a brief seeking action in the way of providing a Pacific Coast railway outlet to that vast and long-denied area suggests that Prince Rupert has long been somnolent on a matter which at one time was considered so vital to the future development and use of this port and railway line.

Without seeking to avoid any of the blame ourselves for this deplorable inactivity of the past few years, it might not be amiss or inappropriate to suggest to the Prince Rupert Chamber of Commerce and other bodies supposed to be active in the use and development of the port that it is high time we were bestirring ourselves and once again presenting our case as the logical Pacific Coast railway outlet for the Peace River.

In fact, the new presentation by the Peace River people of their brief is in itself a challenge for us to wake up and get busy. We have a strong case which has been prepared and often overhauled and reiterated in the past.

We recall some of the old champions of the Prince Rupert as the Pacific Coast outlet for the Peace River. Death may have removed some of them. Infirmity may have overtaken some. Others may have just become discouraged for the lack of support and interest they have received, which lack has been no more evident anywhere in recent years than in Prince Rupert—the place where the interest and the action should be most abundant and intense.

Our Glorious Dead

Written at Toronto before World War II in his eighty-third year by the late James A. Brain, father of A. St. G. Brain, Prince Rupert and greatgrandfather of Miss Margaret Brain (Miss P N. E.

From the bloodstained fields of Flanders In the Valleys of the Somme. From the dead strewn hill of Vimy In their thousands they shall come, In the morning at the Roll Call When the final word is said They shall rise to life Eternal. Thousands of our glorious Dead.

From the shell holes, trenches, dugouts From the Hell of No Mans Land, Buried in the din of Battle In their thousands they shall stand. In the morning of the Roll Call When the Final Call is made They shall rise with Christ their Saviour Thousands of our glorious Dead

From the trackless floor of Ocean's Murdered by the cruel Hun Women, Children, Men and Maidens In their thousands they shall come In that morning at the Roll Call When the Judge his Last Word said They shall rise to life Eternal Thousands of our glorious Dead

From the arid wastes of Egypt Buried neath the drifting sand From the rock and muck of Turkey In their thousands they shall stand In the morning at the Roll Call When all time from Earth has fled They shall rise to live forever. Thousands of our glorious Dead

From the Valley of the Shadows In great triumph they shall rise Pain is Vanquished. Death is Conquered. Each shall win his well fought prize.

"Cereal and Carnation"

says Mrs. Arthur Lavecque, Toronto

• If you have children who balk at finishing up their cereal every morning - try giving them undiluted Carnation Milk to pour on it. Maybe you'll be surprised. Mrs. Arthur Lavecque of Toronto has six children who were all Carnation babies, and she finds the morning cereal no problem with Carnation in the cream jug.

Carnation is pure, whole, cows' milk, evaporated to double richness. Homogenization and heatrefinement make it creamy smooth and richer tasting. And you can keep Carnation on hand without refrigeration. Join the millions who use Carnation Milk regularly. And remember that Carnation provides all the food values of pasteurized whole milk plus 400 units of "sunshine" vitamin D in every pint you use. A CANADIAN PRODUCT

VICTORIA to TORONTO in 4½ DAYS! HIGH-SPEED TRIP IN A HILLMAN COST ONLY

> "CIRCUMSTANCES made it necessary for me to drive my Hillman to Toronto in a hurry," writes Mr. J. C. B. Keane, of 766 Monterey Ave., Victoria, B.C. "I covered the entire 2,818 mile route in only 41/2 days, averaging over 55 m.p.h. for long periods through the United States. Biggest mileage covered in a single day was 696!"

"My Hillman behaved beautifully, cruising smoothly over Stillwater Pass (7000 ft.) in high gear, and handling perfectly at better than 70 m.p.h. on the highway. Despite very long sessions at the wheel without a break, I was always completely relaxed and comfortable. What's more, my Hillman steered and held the road better than any of the big cars I have owned."

"Gas consumption was at least 40 miles to the gallon. Driving costs were no more than $1.00 per 100 miles."

When Mr. Miles wishes to get everyone's attention he has to flick the lights out which stops the sawing noise. All eyes are in his direction as he tells them to economize on plywood, or not to push so hard on their saws and break so many blades.

The final flick of the lights is a sign to put their names on their plywood pieces and bring them to the cupboard where they are left till the next sawing day.

ADULT LEATHERCRAFT

Leathercraft has taken a permanent hold in Prince Rupert and the Civic Centre Hobby room, as a bright place to work and talk and drink tea, is being used by more and more members.

The busiest group is the Monlay beginners' class which keeps Bananas. 1b Mr. Miles and Miss Patterson on Apples, cooking, 3lb. the hop helping them all. MORE SCIENCE NEEDED

"There is a growing need for more scientific methods of prospecting," he said. "We must develop methods which will give us an idea of the underlying rock in areas covered by muskeg and heavy overburden."

Illustrating the chances against any property being brought into production on a paying basis, Mr. Moore declared that records of Ontario mines show that only one out of every 480 arrives at a state where it shows a bare operating profit and only one out of 1,500

"The initial cost of bringing a mine into production is about $5,000 for each ton of ore, so you tion is largely in the hands of Moore indicated. tal expenditures are involved. It is really risk capital."

Since scientific prospecting methods and large expenditures are necessary, devlopment companies look favorably only on prospects which indicated highly concentrated ore bodies of large size. Development plans often hinge on reports of engineers 5 and gologists, and often the reports of different experts differ.

"Consolidated Mining and Smelting chooses to finance its properties by itself, although some companies allow public participation by selling shares," he said. "Often a prospector with Nov. 14— ss.
