Train-Wrecked Army Unit To Move Shortly

Inquiries Into Disaster Proceeding—Five Bodies Still Missing

EDMONTON (CP)—Men of the Second Regiment Royal Canadian Horse Artillery who escaped injury in Tuesday's Canoe River train wreck, will likely resume their trip to Fort Lewis, Washington, "within a week," a spokesman for the Western Army Command said last night.

Almost 200 men of the unit, part of the Korean brigade, have been at Wainwright military camp since Wednesday.

Date of their departure will be announced by Army headquarters in Ottawa.

A Canadian National Railways investigation into the train wreck was opened today at Kamloops by F. H. Keefe and J. R. McMillan, western region heads of the railway.

Department of Transport inquiry will commence at Edmonton December 11.

Kid Upsets Jersey Joe

Fight Upset of Year Last Night in New York As Farm Boy Wins

NEW YORK (CP)—Young Rex Layne, blood-spotted farm boy from Utah, scored the fight upset of the year last night with a unanimous ten-round decision over cagey old Jersey Joe Walcott, Camden, New Jersey, veteran.

Layne, a 5 to 1 underdog, weighed 192 pounds. Walcott weighed 200.

Fans surged to the ringside to cheer the 22-year-old kid who started fighting only eighteen months ago. He whipped the 37-year-old Jersey Joe all the way.

Japanese Peace Plan

WASHINGTON, D.C. (CP)—The United States has proposed to a dozen other governments a seven-point Japanese peace plan. It includes a proposal that American and "perhaps other forces" assume post-treaty responsibility for Japanese security.

The heretofore secret memorandum was published yesterday after Moscow press had published an exchange between the United States and Russia on the proposed treaty.

The department also released a memorandum from Moscow which raised the question of whether the United States intends to go ahead with the Japanese peace treaty without Russia if the Soviet refuses to accept the American plan.

Plane Crash, None Injured

CALGARY (CP)—A Royal Canadian Air Force Harvard training plane crash-landed at the municipal airport yesterday after missing the runway in a dense fog. There were two men in the plane, both members of the Royal Canadian Air Force. Neither were injured.

The aircraft was badly damaged.

FIRST FULFILMENT—

Princess Pats Embark

Destination Secret But Believed Korea

SEATTLE (CP)—Second Battalion, Princess Patricia's Canadian Light Infantry, sailed for the Far East during the week-end from a United States West Coast port. Kit and baggage had been previously stowed prior to embarkation of personnel aboard ship today.

The Princess Pats became the first battalion of the Canadian Army special service force to leave in fulfilment of Canada's United Nations commitment.

The regiment's immediate destination was kept a strict secret until the last minute.

Sealed orders were to be opened after the departure of the vessel. However, an advance party is in Pusan, South Korea, arranging for the arrival of the Pats.

All ranks of the unit embarked in high spirits.

About 35 per cent are World War II veterans.

Hurricane Hits East

NEW YORK (CP)—Rain-laden winds of near hurricane force, with gusts up to 85 miles an hour, struck New York and the eastern seaboard today, causing at least two deaths.

Train service leading into New York and Newark, New Jersey, was crippled.

Air line traffic was interrupted. Twenty-six domestic air line flights were cancelled from LaGuardia Field and departure of some overseas planes was delayed.

The storm extended from Virginia to New England and was accompanied by abnormally high tides.

Ten persons were rescued from collapsing seaside cottages on Staten Island.

Wind and high waves tore boats from their moorings and battered small craft.

Toronto Argos Win Cup Back

TORONTO (CP)—In sure-footed fashion on a treacherous muddy gridiron, Toronto Argonauts blanked Winnipeg Blue Bombers 13 to 0 today in the Canadian football final and won back the Grey Cup that they gave up in 1947 after holding it for three seasons.

United Nations Move Ahead Without Fight

Gains in Second Day of "End of War" Push Exceed Expectations

TOKYO (CP)—The new United Nations offensive rolled ahead today toward the Manchurian border. A United States tank-led task force took Chongju, northwest Korean city, without a fight. It advanced two miles beyond on the road to the Manchurian border.

Gains during the second day of the "end of the war" push ranged up to three miles on a winding 80-mile front stretching inland from the Yellow Sea to 40 to 60 miles south of the Yalu River.

Superfort bombers and Allied fighters stepped up the tempo of their thunderous support.

An Army spokesman said the offensive is generally exceeding planned expectations.

The British Commonwealth brigade, consisting of the Middlesex and Argyll and Sutherland Regiments as well as an Australian unit, are not in the new offensive as they are now resting after a strenuous 300-mile advance in which all three regiments suffered a number of casualties in dead and wounded.

West Europe Army Wanted

STRASBOURG, France (CP)—Foreign Minister Robert Schuman of France yesterday called for a West European army, including German units, as a basis for world peace.

Schuman told the European consultative assembly that "there is no other solution possible for German security." To rearm Germany with a national army would provoke reaction in the east of great importance.

German spokesmen have said they will contribute troops to a European army only on footing of complete authority.

Mexico Tragedy—

20 Die In Oil Gases

MEXICO CITY (CP)—Death toll due to refinery gases in Poza Rica has mounted to 20. Gas seeping from a big government refinery killed victims as they slept.

Officials blamed a heavy fog which held fumes close to the earth's surface and a slow breeze which drove them into a hollow where the refinery workers lived, filtering into their homes.

Pemex, the government oil refinery, had been considered a safe distance from the community.

Oldest M.P. Passes Away

BRANDON — J. E. Matthews, oldest member of Canada's Parliament, died here last night. He was 81 years of age and defeated John Bracken at the 1949 election by a large majority. He was a Liberal.

Mr. Matthews' death makes two vacancies now in Parliament. The other is for Prince Edward Island riding of Queens.

All-Year Road

PRINCE RUPERT'S highway to Terrace is snow-blocked again which raises the perennial question of government policy in regard to keeping it open during the winter. The district engineer for the public works department says that the present closure is only temporary and expects that it will be possible to get the road open again for a while. However, his instructions—which are government policy—is that no attempt will be made to keep the road open after snowfall comes to such an extent as to make it appear not feasible to handle it effectively with existing equipment.

Each winter the Daily News has pressed for a policy of keeping the Skeena River road open throughout the winter. We have been countered with such arguments as lack or inability to get equipment and that traffic on the road does not justify keeping it open. It has even been suggested that, along the railway right-of-way, where the highway skirts the track and the railway ploughs shove the snow onto the road, it is nigh impossible to keep the road open.

It would appear to be past or nearly past the time now when there is not the traffic to justify keeping the road open. Since last winter, there has been established a public bus transportation system. There is also a scheduled trucking service which is doing good business. These services are being pioneered by local concerns and the increasing traffic that they are building up indicates the appreciation of the public. If the road has to be closed during the winter and the continuity of service disturbed, it makes it difficult for these concerns to do business. Another factor this winter is that cellulose mill logging camps are now in operation along the lower Skeena River tributary to the road.

We do not profess to be engineers but it would seem to us that, no matter how great the difficulties may be, this road could be kept open throughout the winter if there was the resolve to keep it open. Once they said it would take a hundred years to build the road because engineering difficulties were so great. A war came along and it was run through in quick order. If another war came along, no doubt some way would be quickly found of keeping it open through the winter. We hope, however, that it does not take a war to bring about this result.

Certainly, the idea cannot be willingly accepted that it is impossible to make an all-year road of the Skeena River Highway.

Good judgment comes from experience and experience comes from poor judgment.

WHAT WILL CHINA DO?

THE NEXT few days, it is suggested by Canada's minister of external affairs, may determine to what extent Communist China will participate in the war in Korea where United Nations forces are fighting to put down and terminate aggression.

With ground forces of 100,000 estimated to be massed on either side for a new battle which has been joined and the United Nations holding the weight of air power, the balance would appear to be on the side of the Allies. Communist China, without making any assumptions as to who may be further behind, could undoubtedly, throw countless more forces into the Korea war and it is conceivable that other forms of support might be forthcoming. How far they are willing to go should soon be seen.

It is a happy thought that the campaign in Korea, which has been causing untold hardship in that unhappy land, has been costing a lot of good Allied lives, has hit us heavily economically through pointing up the necessity of building up strong defences and keeping them strong and has kept the world war pot simmering, might be over by Christmas.

Of course, an end of the war in Korea would not mean end of danger of world war. Nor could it be taken as the end of all our troubles. But it would at least be the satisfactory termination of one of our difficulties and would be immensely heartening to our cause. And, apart from all that, it has served to waken us up to the realities of the world situation.

WHO SPEAKS ENGLISH?

THE EDITOR OF the Advocate, of Red Deer, Alberta, raises his voice against one of the curses of our times.

That is the vice of using big words when little words would do better.

"The Advocate's pet aversion is the use of the words 'presently' and 'currently' when 'now' is meant."

Now there's a man after my own heart!

WINSTON CHURCHILL cracked down on the British civil service for this practice during the late war. But let nobody run away with the idea that the big-word-mongers are all on government payrolls.

Is there anything sillier than some of the letter written by big business concerns? They hum and haw and puff and pant and take four or five paragraphs to get down to the point. Then instead of saying in plain English what they have to say they put it in artificial language which nobody would dream of using in real conversation. For example, "in short supply" when they mean scarce.

THERE IS another vice along the same line. Business firms and government bureaus sometimes get themselves so tied up in red tape that they can hardly move.

One of the Sifton brothers (I forget which one) was so enraged at the letter-writing waste in his government department that he did something which no other politician was ever known to do. He used to answer unimportant letters by notcard, or by scribbling a few words only on the back of the letter itself.

That outraged all the unwritten laws, but it got results quick-

SATURDAY SERMON

CHRISTIAN ATTITUDE

(By REV. E. SOILAND, of St. Paul's Lutheran Church)
Based on I Thes. 5:18

There are many things we meet in life with which it is easy to find fault and complain. Since we live in a world that is under a curse, we never find anything that is just what it should be. It seems to be natural to complain about nearly all that we encounter. If we should stop at the close of an ordinary day and count the number of times that we have complained, we would be rather astonished. It is so easy to find fault.

Chapter 5 of I Thessalonians gives to us a summary of the duties of a Christian. Among those duties is the injunction: "In everything give thanks: for this is the will of God in Jesus Christ concerning you." There is a power that counteracts the spirit of complaint. That is the spirit of thankfulness. For those who are interested in living the kind of life that God wishes them to have, these words are significant. They do give us room for much serious thought. For instance, some days come along in which everything we do seems to work out wrong. Should we give thanks for such experiences? Or, again, sickness, trouble or death strikes the home. Shall we give thanks for them, too? I am sure that you can add to this list of perplexing questions. To them all God speaks and says: "In everything give thanks."

We are moral creatures. In order to develop as moral beings we have to be continually exercised in moral decisions. The school of practical experience which confronts us every day is of great value in helping us to develop. No one can explain why he meets many difficulties and trials in life. Yet, the Christian can believe that all things work together for good to them that love God. In this fact lies the answer why we should give thanks to God for all things in the name of our Lord Jesus Christ.

When we accept the fact that many things which we do not and cannot understand work for our good, we have already begun to win the victory over complaining. As we learn to know that

Local Couple Off On Bermuda Trip

Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Young left on last evening's train for New York where they will embark on the liner Queen of Bermuda for a trip to Bermuda. The trip was won by Mr. Young for sales achievement with the Swift-Canadian Co. of which he is local manager. They expect to be away from the city for three weeks.

er and cheaper.

IN THE RECENT war I knew a bright young business man who quit his job rather than move a factory from Toronto to another point 60 miles away. He explained to me that the necessary O.K.'s we would have to get and all the runaround from officialdom was just too much to take.

So he let somebody else get the stomach ulcers.

At the same time the Germans were driving deep into Russia and the uncivilized Reds were loading whole factories on flat cars—complete with working staffs—and shipping them to the rear.

In Britain Lord Beaverbrook was sitting at the telephone cutting through red tape by phoning direct to people in key spots—violating all the sacred rules of stuffed shirts.

THE GREATEST masters in the use of language all used simple short words. Read the story of the birth of the baby Jesus, as told by Saint Luke. The Twenty-third Psalm is another. The Sermon on the Mount is a third of a list that could be extended to Magna Charta, the Declaration of Independence, Lincoln's speech at Gettysburg.

If the greatest masters could use simple and clear words for such big jobs, why in thunder should any 1950 notwit write nonsense like "presently engaged" when he means "now working"?

nothing can come to us without God's permission and that He overrules all so that it is beneficial to the believer, we have reason to give our deepest thanks to Him for all His goodness. It means much to all of us in our life to have the right attitude towards all things. Each one who is a child of God ought to learn to know the will of God.

Surely it can become clear from the above passage that God does not want His children to be a group of complainers. Rather He would have us become a group of those who are truly thankful. It seems rather strange that many who are most thankful are among those whom we pity as though they had little for which to be thankful.

Some day when the fog of this life is cleared away and the bright light of God's glory is permitted to shine, things will be

Breakfast Moonbeams

Many reported for work, this morning, by the light of the moon, for it becomes that way sometimes. Within the past week or so, there has been early morning cold, frosty enough to nip water pipes, and also gales and drenching rains. Snow also appeared. Last night the weather man suddenly reformed. Rainfall ceased, temperature was gracious. The breakfast hour was a time of mellow moonbeams.

Rare Falcon Shot In B.C.

WILLIAMS LAKE @—One of the rarest falcons in North America was shot recently near this Cariboo district town, 200 miles north of Vancouver. The bird, a black grey falcon, was brought down by Hermie Maurice at Alkali Lake Ranch. It measured 24 inches. Only four of these have been found in British Columbia. The first one was killed in 1903 and now is in the provincial museum at Victoria. The falcon's habitat in the Canadian northland extends to within 500 miles of the North Pole. They occasionally move south in the winter.

Waterfront False Alarm

A flaming incinerator, believed by a woman in the Aldine Apartments to have been "flames rushing up from the C.N.R. Customs," sent police and firemen to the waterfront at 11 o'clock last night. On investigation police found an incinerator burning behind the general C.N.R. office. Sparks from the smoke funnel of the Chilcotin, leaving port at the time the alarm was made, might also have been believed to be a fire, firemen thought.

Transporting School Pupils

SMITHERS — Smithers and District Board of School Trustees thinks that people who transport their children long distances to school should receive some form of transportation allowance in lieu of bus service which is accorded pupils in the cities and more centralized localities and, accordingly, is pressing the matter with the authorities concerned.

"We intend to see this thing through to a reasonable solution," stated J. McDonald School Board chairman, when a reply was received from Victoria recently ordering cancellation of the transportation allowance being issued to half a dozen district families for their co-operation in getting their pupils to school.

The incident was created when the secretary of the board applied for assistance from Victoria on the same basis as boarding out pupils. Victoria Department of Education officials have replied to the effect that not only do they not see their way clear to give assistance, but the school board's action in giving assistance to the cases is contrary to Department of Education policy.

The letter stated "thousands of cases in British Columbia occur where parents take their children to school, and even in Vancouver city many parents take their children considerable distances to school. The department can't begin to think of compensating for these cases."

Local board members originally authorized the transportation system as an alternative to boarding out allowances. They noted that several of the parents were not in a position favorably to board their children in town, receiving maximum assistance of $15 a month. It was agreed at that time that if an isolated family boarded their children at home, and transported them many miles daily to a school or a school bus line, it was equivalent to the board's purposes as paying the same amount for boarding allowances. Practically every case being assisted has only the alternative of correspondence courses, but since some cases are European families, language difficulties make a correspondence course useless.

School board trustees also noted that the whole policy of larger school districts was to give better education facilities to rural children and to bring education to a more equal level in all homes. Rescinding of transportation allowances would be a backward step in the opinion of school trustees.

Mr. McDonald further stated in his remarks that the matter should be pressed further rather than dropped "Surely," he said, "the department is not going to compare transporting of children on the paved streets of Vancouver in mild weather close to a highly efficient transportation system, and the transporting of children from five to eight miles each way in 30 below weather over poor back country roads, then often just to connect with a school bus. These parents should be given every encouragement when they will make such sacrifices for the betterment of their children's education. One parent travels over 50 miles daily. Even if we must continue to pay the whole shot ourselves, we should not stop the assistance or hinder the benefits to the rural people."

IN THE BASKET

Referees are getting rather touchy these days. You can't even call them those names usually reserved for referee baiters and all I can say is it's a good thing I got out of the game when I did. This past week, much abused legislation was finally put into effect by the Prince Rupert Basketball Association and in future the man with the striped shirt will be respected as he always should be. No one will be permitted to strike, call him "Wooden Head," or make faces behind his back before getting permission from the league executive and it looks as though that permission will be hard to get.

It is with reluctance, however, that I offer you the names of the culprits currently facing a one game suspension at the wish of the executive. Yet in a column such as this one cannot always say nice things about people. After all, most of us have our bad days. I will say, however, that the two boys, Mr. Hebb of Fashion Footwear and Mr. Morrison of Hi-Golds, were mighty apologetic lads even after sentence had been passed and anything they did say or do was in the heat of battle. When the chips are down and things go just a little against a fellow he can blurt out most anything imaginable but the real fortitude shows when that same fellow can walk up, apologize and admit his error. These boys did just that and they'll be welcome back when the parole board sits.

I read elsewhere on these pages a report of Tuesday evening's show featuring Brownwoods and Gordon and Anderson. It was noted therein that so 'n' so did this and somebody else did that and it was even mentioned that Gordon and Anderson came up with a defence something to behold. Well, I must have been at the wrong gym for I recall on that particular night seeing one of the worst attempts at a basketball game I have seen for some time.

Probably I was disappointed in the showing the hardware merchants put up and possibly I am expecting too much at this early date, but whatever be the reason it is a comforting thought to know that both teams are very capable of classier shows and we may look forward to seeing a revival.

I still insist that as long as Ray Spring and Don Hartwig are allowed to roam at will as they did on that evening, they will spell defeat for the defenders—those boys are just that good!

There's nothing sadder than a sorrowing Scot in my books and I was deeply touched last Sunday when Angus MacPhee called up to request a plug here and there urging more interest in his all-star team by members of the senior squads. In all I counted five faithful athletes using Don Forward's spacious court and out of approximately 35 eligibles and, in order that those five might practise, Jack McIntosh had to disturb his Sunday morning slumber to open the building. Angus MacPhee had to go home early on Saturday night to be in condition and I had to be there to console the saddened coach. That isn't good enough, boys! Could it be that things come a little too easily these days? Could it be that the loss of the Senior "B" title last season had no effect on the younger crop who had the cup handed to them by fighters like MacPhee, Lindsay, Beynon, Morgan and Dominato—fellows who learned the game in the days when a shower was something you got caught out in and all-star rating meant you had what it took? If it isn't then let's see you show the fans, your sponsors and your coach that you have what it takes by grabbing that championship title this season and in a convincing manner. There is such a thing as loyalty and it is an easy quality to carry around.

Tonight's senior game is what might be termed the first "crucial" of the season and a very important one for Brown-woods to win. If they can top the Co-op they will end up even with the fishermen in first place, but a loss will give Co-op a dangerous lead in the league race. If Ray Spring can forget that Joe Davis is in the game and go about his business he should be able to make up that one point difference that has been the margin in the two wins the Co-op has over the shoemen. Reg Lavigne is also due to explode about now and, when he does—well, we can hardly forget his efforts last season when he single handedly kept his buddies in the running before bowing out by the usual one point in the league's final game. This year Reg has been an also ran so far for some reason or other but it shouldn't be for long.

POTENTIAL STARS DEPART—The spotlight this week shines on a native boy from Greenville on the Naas River called Tait. Keep your eye on him the next time you see Hi-Golds perform. You'll agree he's a comer.

Separate Fishermen's Union Being Formed Here —Gales Sweep Area but No Serious Casualties

Plans to organize a separate fishermen's union in Prince Rupert early in the new year were discussed at a United Fishermen's and Allied Workers' Union local meeting Thursday night. The idea is to separate fishermen and shore fish workers owing to the differences of their duties. T. E. Parkin, northern union's district representative, will leave next week to organize a similar local fishermen's union in Queen Charlotte City which will include Skidegate. Mr. Parkin will also draw up the local charter.

Reports were submitted by Ray Gardner, secretary of the local, Vice-president David McPhee was chairman.

Trades and Labor Council candidates for civic election, W. D. Griffiths and Darrow Gomez, spoke to the union Thursday night. Full support for the candidates will be given by the U.F.A.W.U., it was decided.

The ships of British Columbia's herring fleet, numbering about 150, have cleared from southern ports for Barkley Sound, Johnstone Straits and Alert Bay areas. Fishermen say they hope to be home well before Christmas. Some will later voyage five hundred miles north to waters contiguous to Prince Rupert.

With 53 passengers on board including ten who disembarked here, C.P.R. steamer Princess Louise, Capt. W. C. Hubenet, arrived in port at 10:30 yesterday morning from Vancouver and Ocean Falls, sailing at 12:30 noon in continuation of her fortnightly voyages to Alaska whence she is due to return here next Wednesday afternoon southbound. One person took passage from here aboard the vessel for the north. G. R. McPherson, Mrs. Fogden, Mrs. F. Hunter, Mr. and Mrs. R. Ebisu, W. Van Pykstra, T. Nisi, Miss K. Tanaki, Mrs. Tanaki, Miss S. Tanaki and J. S. Drummond were passengers arriving here from Vancouver on the Louise, which had 360 tons of freight on board.

Union steamer Chicotin, Capt. Harry McLean, arrived in port at 3 o'clock yesterday afternoon from Vancouver and sailed at 9 p.m. for south Queen Charlotte Island points whence she is due to return here tomorrow afternoon and sail for the south at 3 p.m. Next week the Chicotin will be replaced for one voyage by the steamer Cogitlam. The Chicotin is being replaced for the one week by the Cogitlam so that she may have her bottom cleaned.

Road Now Blocked But To Be Opened Again Before Winter's Final Closure

No Attempt Will Be Made To Keep It Open After Major Snows Come, It Is Announced

With a foot and a half of new snow between Terrace and Salvus, the Skeena River Highway has been blocked for the last three days but Public Works District Engineer L. E. Smith states that the tie-up is only temporary. With plows working from both ends yesterday afternoon, it was hoped to have the road open again by the week-end.

Meantime, Watson Island Stage Lines bus service to Terrace has been suspended since Wednesday. Manager C. M. McIntyre said yesterday afternoon that 15 persons were waiting to leave on Thursday when the run for the day was cancelled. Icy road conditions on this end were not the only cause of the cancellation of the day's run, Mr. McIntyre said. Henceforth, as long as the road is open, there will be four-days-a-week service.

There has been snow falling on the Skeena River Highway between here and Terrace for three weeks now but it was a raging blizzard this week that finally closed the road. Three cars were stuck in drifts near Ekstew and a grader went out from Terrace with snow equipment yesterday to extricate them.

While assuring that the snow would be cleared and the road opened again, the district engineer indicated that public works policy in regard to the highway would be similar this year to last. Once the major snowfall comes and becomes of such volume as to make it impossible for existing equipment to clear it, the highway will be closed between Terrace and Skeena. As was done last winter, the intention is to keep the road open between the city and Skeena so as to expedite early reopening of the highway beyond Skeena in the spring.

Final Sailing From Montreal

MONTREAL—With the sailing of the Canadian Challenger today on her thirtieth voyage to the West Indies, the Canadian National Steamships brings to a close its 1950 schedule of sailings from the port of Montreal. Throughout the winter months the company will maintain regular passenger and freight service from Halifax and the first passenger sailing from that port will be made by the Lady Rodney on December 2.

During its 1950 season here, Canadian National Steamships made 19 passenger sailings to the Caribbean. The service was provided by the Lady Rodney, Lady Nelson, Canadian Constructor, Canadian Cruiser and Canadian Challenger.

Passengers who embarked on the Challenger today included Antoine Ballarero of St. Constant, Que., and Richard Rueston and Joseph L. Melanson of Toronto.

The vessel, commanded by Captain V. N. Clarke, O.B.E., is carrying a large cargo of flour, canned goods, lumber, medical supplies and other commodities destined for West Indies ports.

Ray Reflects and Reminisces

Letters have been printed lately. One needed columns of space. Others were shorter. It all boiled down to comparisons past and present.

How about this "good old times" stuff, anyway? Today the man with white hair, or none, may venture to recall fondly his youth. Or does he remember that sixty years ago, if he had prospects of punishment, he usually received it.

Parents knew nothing of what was going on. To have known would not have mattered.

Scant time and less money were devoted to discovering means of entertainment for school children. They made their own play. On occasion, there might be roughness. No one worried.

Ownership of a gun implied a sense of responsibility. Young or old, anybody handling one was supposed to be careful. If there was such a thing as juvenile delinquency (something unheard of and certainly never mentioned) it must have meant a preference in questionable literary taste. Boys reveled in the adventures of "Jesse James," "Old Sleuth," "Pawnee Bill," "Buffalo Bill" and of course, our friend G. A. Henty who sent kids away off to the ends of the earth to help win the British Empire, along with Wolfe, Wellington, Nelson, Drake and scores of other doughty leaders who always spotted a brisk young soldier or sailor the very minute they clapped their discerning eyes on him.

Cash was scarce and stayed that way until earned—and even then, not plentiful. First came the two essentials, learning a trade and landing a job.

Cars were unknown and horses were everywhere. Every boy knew how to feed, harness, drive or work one. There was no such thing as speed. A stage journey of thirty miles, on a rutty road would mean a day at least.

The average boy around a home was never in the slightest danger of being spoiled. Not a chance. House moving was not infrequent. He took up and tacked down carpets, after he had soundly beaten them. He struggled with blinds, carried furniture along awkward stairs and ate off window sills. He was also the official snow and coal shoveler. He never dreamed of inquiring how much there was in all this, for him? You see, it was necessary to pay for board, somehow.

Coming down to actual reality, there is no contrast between today and yesterday. Who would return to sixty years ago? No one, if he or she could help it. Perhaps there was happiness or what was taken for it.

The blessings we accept in 1950, as a matter of course and sometimes in the spirit of impatience would have been thought of sixty years ago as the wildest, the most extravagant and impossible of dreams.
