WESTERN PACT TO House May Prorogue Tuesday; WASHINGTON, (P)—Denmark, Members Plow Through Agenda

VICTORIA (CP)-Morning, noon and night sessions, started this week by the British Columbia legislature mean only one thing to political observers here: they smell an election in the spring

The 48-member house, controlled by a coalition of 22 Liberals and 14 Progressive-Conservatives, has been marching through its work in jig time to date, and, observers say, prorogation may come as early as next Tuesday.

Speculation for possible election date has narrowed down to May 30, June 13 or June 27.

Traffic and Parking

- \V/HILE THERE ARE OCCASIONS on a busy --- W day when congestion occurs on Third Avenue, Prince Rupert's main street, through the parking of cars and the heavy flow of motor traffie, regulation or restriction of such parking and traffic is something that is to be carefully considered before final action is taken by the city authorities. It is not impossible that undue hardship might not be worked by ill-considered regula-

For instance people having business premises on Third Avenue might suffer hardship if there were too tight regulations respecting parking. Some, for instance, fear their trade might be adversely affected if parking were prohibited in front of their stores. Some stores, too, it must be remembered are dependent upon their front doors or entrances for moving in and taking out of goods.

There are many angles to be considered. The city council, doubtless, would welcome the expression of all points of view which should be made known before final decisions are reached on a vexed question.

GET ON WITH WORK

IT WAS SATISFACTORY for us to announce Tuesday that the main estimates in Parliament contained a revote of $75,000 and a vote of $250,000 for a breakwater to protect Prince Rupert's new fishermen's floats at Westview Bay.

Now that the appropriation has been renewed and increased, it is to be hoped there will be no delay by the department in getting on with the job which should have been started last year.

The need of this breakwater is obvious and every day that passes the risk continues of Prince Rupert's fishing fleet being subjected to danger and destruction from tricky seas and winds. It has often been conjured up just how much damage a certain kind of a westerly gale might do to the fleet at that point. The breakwater would provide the needed protection. Possibly, the worst winds are now over for the present season although March and April have been known to stir the waterfront up. In any case, now that an adequate appropriation has been made, the department would be well advised to speed the work during the coming season of good weather so that the protection may be afforded before another boisterous fall and winter come around.

The same need exists for speed in building the road to the fishermen's floats and float repairs, also provided for in these estimates. The city has long since put in its part and only the federal government now is holding up Prince Rupert's connection with the fishing fleet through the continued lack of this road.

MAKE IT HOLIDAY

MARCH 31 should be a national holiday. The Newfoundland Bill has passed the British House of Commons and should run the gauntlet of criticism in the House of Lords well before the end of this month. Confederation will be at last completed. Newfoundland will be the tenth province. The occasion is too historic to let pass without note. -Vancouver Sun.

Staton, firemen's advocate, who pointed out that no such provision was made in the brief.

The firemen agreed with a city suggestion that in future "promotions should be on yearly, rather than semi-yearly advancements, but the city will see to it that no first-class firemen suffers in rank or pay because of the change."

The city also agreed to revise the system of work "so as to avoid calling off-duty men for talse alarms, minor bush fires,

"I don't know how it will be done, but it will be arranged somehow," Mr. Brown said.

Regarding the cost-of-living in its relationship to firemen's salaries, the brief recalled that in 1939, a conciliation officer fixed the salary of a first-class fireman at $1,410 a year. Considering the difference in the cost-of-living index, which has risen from 101.5 in 1939 to 159.6

n December, 1948, the wage scale should be $2,217. Last year, however, first-class firemen received $2,400, plus such perquisites as superannuation contributions, uniform allowance, telephone and Medical Services Association payments.

With these perquisites, a firstclass fireman receiving $215 month would actually cost the city $244 monthly, Mr. Brown

IT'S NOT SPRING, IT'S IRELAND

It might be construed as a premature sign of spring, but it is not anything like that at all, that unusual amount of green foliage which is abroad in the city today.

It is in fact the "wearing of the green" in commemoration of a personality that passed on quite some time ago, but whose memory is annually freshened to the newness of young shamrock itself in the minds of Irishmen and their descendents.

It is St. Patrick's Day-the "Seventeenth of Ireland."
