Compromise On Berlin Crisis Seems Fading

Albania, Yugoslavia and Bulgaria Blamed by U.N.

Exchanges of Opinions Between East and West at General Assembly Sessions On Balkans

PARIS (CP)—The United Nations General Assembly today condemned Albania, Yugoslavia and Bulgaria for aiding communist guerrillas in the 58-power Assembly approved by a vote of 48 to 9 a resolution submitted by France, Great Britain and the United States. Only six of the Russian bloc powers voted against it. Five countries were absent or did not vote.

John Foster Dulles, acting chief delegate for the United States, addressed a lecture directly at the Soviet bloc during the debate and said: "The United States does not hate the countries which have communist governments but what we do hate is the use of force, coercion and terrorism to make others accept your views." "Abandon those methods and you remove the only serious obstacle to world security."

The chief Russian delegate, Andrei Vishinsky, today called the United Nations investigators in the Balkans "another Sherlock Holmes." Vishinsky also repeated to the General Assembly his charges that the United Nations special committee on the Balkans based its report on "garbage."

Longshoremen Voting Today

Balloting on Shipping Tie-ups on Two Coasts to be Known Tomorrow

NEW YORK, (AP)—Early resumption of normal shipping operations along the strike-bound east and west coasts of the United States hinged today on balloting among the dock workers on terms for ending the costly work stoppages.

Rank and file of the longshoremen unions in ports along the two coasts started balloting on ratification of agreements reached between officials of unions and employers.

Outcome of the voting will be disclosed Sunday.

Agreement between employing ship owners and the longshore union officials was reached in New York on the sixteenth day of the strike. The union representing 65,000 American Federation of Labor workers. Nearly $30,000,000 worth of Marshall Plan cargo has piled up as a result of the East Coast strike.

On the West Coast, where an agreement was reached on the eighty-fifth day, an employer estimate places the cost of the tie-up at $4,000,000.

"TELLIE" SOLD — Located at Melinda and Bay Streets in the heart of Toronto's financial district, is the Toronto Telegram building. Far from a modern structure, it houses the various departments which daily turn out one of the largest newspapers in the country. Trustees of the estate of John Ross Robertson, founder, this week sold the paper to George McCullagh, publisher of the Toronto Globe and Mail left, for $3,610,000. Proceeds of the sale together with the rest of the estate will go for maintenance of the Hospital for Sick Children in Toronto. The sale of the paper ranks among the largest in Canadian newspaper history. (CP Photo)

Final Effort Being Made Today By The U.N. Neutrals

PARIS (CP)—Hope for a compromise settlement of the Berlin deadlock dwindled today. Argentine delegate Juan Bramuglia, president of the United Nations security council, prepared to make what may be his final round of calls on Russia and western delegates. He was to present them with a rough draft of a currency accord, a new compromise formula based on Russian and western power answers to five questions put to them earlier by Bramuglia.

The Russians are standing firm on a Moscow agreement for Russian control of currency while Great Britain, United States and France claim the Moscow pact is outdated by later events.

"Neutral" members of the United Nations security council have been speeding their final search for an answer to the Berlin problem. A meeting Thursday night lasted until the small hours of Friday morning. They had before them the Russian and western answers to a questionnaire worked out by financial experts on the knotty problem of currency.

PHONE BYLAW STRIKES SNAG

Nevertheless Plebiscite Will Be Held Next Month

Proposed method of financing Prince Rupert's $550,000 telephone rehabilitation bylaw has run into a snag with the provincial Department of Municipal Affairs, city council learned Thursday, and a special type of bylaw is being prepared now in Victoria.

However, despite any delays caused by redrafting the document, it is likely that a plebiscite will be held next month to determine popular attitude toward the loan.

Main objection by the provincial authorities was levelled at the city's plan to finance the loan with profits from the municipally owned telephone system over a 20-year period.

During consideration it developed that the Municipal Act does not provide for the securing of a debenture debt for a telephone system by pledging "rates and charges," B.C. Bracewell, Deputy Minister of Municipalities, wrote. "Because of this fact, special type of bylaw will be required. A draft is now being prepared and will be forwarded to you later."

"Many points relating to the whole project will have to be finalized before a bylaw can be approved by the Inspector of Municipalities. With this in mind, I have concluded that a plebiscite, if you so desire, would be all that can be contemplated for the elections in December. An expression of the electors on the project will be of value in relation to assurance that permission to issue and sell debentures might be forthcoming."

Before the bylaw can be presented for approval of the Inspector of Municipalities, it "would be well to have the exact total amount of borrowing, rate of interest, levy schedule and repayment schedule," Mr. Bracewell said. In addition, proper specifications and estimates of cost will be required, as well as a certificate stating the life expectancy of the completed project.

Should a plebiscite be held next month, all voters would be eligible to vote on it. However, the bylaw, when it is presented, can be voted on only by property owners.

Vote For Cocktails

HARRISON HOT SPRINGS.—British Columbia's young Liberals last night voted unanimous support for the institution of cocktail bars in British Columbia on the same pattern as in Ontario. At their first annual convention here 64 delegates defeated two resolutions dealing with the liquor question. An amendment to fix prices for the sale of liquor by the glass was defeated on the ground that price-fixing was contrary to Liberal ideals. A second amendment which would have ruled out the sale of beer and light wines in restaurants was voted down.

DISSATISFACTION WITH POLICY ON HIGHWAY EXPRESSED BY AUTO ASS'N

Prince Rupert Automobile Association is not satisfied with a statement of departmental policy in regard to the Skeena River Highway and the Port Edward Highway as conveyed in a communication received this week from Hon. E. C. Carson, minister of public works, and has written to the minister, advising him so.

Says a letter written by the Automobile Association to Mr. Carson:

"Part of your explanations are not agreeable to us, or the remainder of the people traveling on these two highway arteries. We feel that even if such difficulties exists as a perennial shortage of equipment, or the perennial lack of suitable material to keep the road repaired, an effort should be made to at least keep the highway in a reasonable state of repairs, that further disintegration of the highway, which represents an investment of $12,000,000, and which, no doubt, through lack of attention will eventually revert into a state of impassability, should be prevented.

"It is the candid opinion of the people that if available equipment was used to better advantage, instead of having it lie around idle as it has been doing a large part of this summer, that the Skeena Highway could have been maintained in a far better state than we find it today. We know that for weeks on end the stretch of highway directly between Tye and Kwinita has not even been touched by either one of the two graders available

EASTERN WINNERS—You'd hardly think the white-helmeted ball carrier, Tony Golab, would manage to cross the Tiger goal line with Frankie Filchcock (7) and another Tiger player blocking him. But Ottawa's Golden Boy made Rough Riders' third touchdown on this third quarter play in the Eastern Canadian final at Ottawa last Saturday. George Pesteryga (25) is backing the Tiger line but Rider players managed to push Tony over. The final score in the sudden death game to decide which team would meet Calgary in the east-west final was 19-0 for Ottawa.

LETTERBOX

BOXING
Editor, Daily News:
I take exception to an article in The Daily News intimating the youth of Prince Rupert are discouraged by "discipline and minor hurts."

I believe that Mr. Ward should look to the parents for the lack of co-operation in the "squared circle." There are very few parents in Prince Rupert, or elsewhere, to my knowledge, who care to see their off-spring in the squared circle when they are obviously very badly matched. This, to my knowledge, has occurred on several occasions.

Boxing is, indeed, a very fine sport and something that every lad should know something about, but there are many men in the country today who are pathetically "punch drunk," due in part possibly to their own enthusiasm but in many cases to unthinking or unscrupulous management.

At any rate we don't think the youth of this city should be grouped as a class that "can't take it." A trip to the Civic Centre basketball floor will show them to be a husky co-operative bunch, working as a team, and not afraid of a little honest competition or many hard knocks. Thanking you for your space.

Seasonable Ideas for Housekeepers

CHRISTMAS CAKE TIME HERE; PLENTY OF FRUIT, PEELS, NUTS

Fruit cake is a treat for special occasions. Christmas cake may be dark and heavy with assorted fruits, nuts and peel or light and beautiful with colored fruits inset like jewels. In any case fruit cake is rich and so is a luxury food.

It will be a pleasure to bake the Christmas cake this year for the choice of dried fruits, peels and nuts is wide. The home-maker will be able to choose just what she prefers.

Any fruit cake improves on standing and therefore should be made well in advance and allowed time to "ripen" so that the flavors will be well blended. Here are recipes for both dark and light cakes.

- Dark Christmas Cake
3 cups sifted pastry flour, or 2 2-3 cups sifted all-purpose flour
1 teaspoon baking powder
1/4 teaspoon cloves.
1/4 teaspoon cinnamon
1/4 teaspoon mace
1 cup shortening
1 1/2 cups brown sugar.
5 eggs
1 teaspoon vanilla
1/2 teaspoon almond flavoring
1 cup sliced, candied cherries
2 cups chopped figs
2 cups seeded raisins
1 cup candied citron peel
1 cup orange peel
1 cup lemon peel
3/4 cup blanched, slivered almonds
1/2 cup molasses
1/4 cup cider or orange juice

Mix and sift flour, baking powder and spices together three times. Cream shortening until fluffy. Gradually add sugar, creaming until light and fluffy. Add well-beaten eggs, flavoring, fruits, peel, honey, molasses and cider or orange juice. Add sifted dry ingredients gradually. Turn the mixture into two pans 8" x 8" x 2" which have been lined with three thicknesses of heavy paper. Grease inside layer of paper. Bake in a very slow oven 250 degrees F., for 3 1/2 hours. Yield: two 2 1/2 pound cakes.

- White Fruit Cake
3/4 cup shortening
1 cup fine granulated or fruit sugar
1/2 teaspoon vanilla
1/2 teaspoon almond extract
3 eggs
1 cup bleached sultana raisins
1 cup mixed peel
1 cup sliced candied or maraschina cherries
1/2 cup blanched, slivered almonds
1/4 cups sifted all-purpose flour or 2 1/2 cups sifted pastry flour
1 teaspoon baking powder
1 teaspoon salt
1/4 cup fruit juice

Cream fat, add sugar, vanilla and almond extract and cream well together. Add eggs, on at a time, beating after each addition. Dredge fruit and nuts with part of the flour. Mix and sift remaining flour, salt and baking powder, and add alternately with the liquid. Mix in the floured fruit and nuts. Line a deep pan with greased paper and fill two-thirds full with the batter. Bake in a slow oven, 300 degrees F., for about 1 3/4 hours. Makes 2 1/4 pounds, 7"x7" cake.

EVERYWHERE IT IS WINTER NOW

The same story appears to come from all quarters! Gales and storms along the coast and in the interior.

There were snow flurries this morning in Prince Rupert with a hint of melting snows later on. It looks like slush and a season of wet feet.

Across the mountains, in provinces and states it is just wintry weather.

Away below zero reports come from Yukon—60 below at Snag—and similar bulletins from the prairies.

From as far south as Kansas and Colorado there are stories telling of drifts from three to 20 feet deep.

DIVIDED YEARS
LONDON (C)—Special research is being made into the effect of automobile radios on road safety. Dr. W. H. Glanville, director of Britain's Road Research Laboratory, said there were two views: one that radios relieved driving strain; the other that they were a distraction.

birds gave no thought to the worries and restrictions of the little creatures down below who sometimes seemed to fear they might lose their freedom.

In a moment of leisure, to watch the play of expression in the post office lobby is a diverting study of human nature. Many a letter is read, the moment it is drawn from the box. Plainly, there must be anxiety or eager interest, different faces, different reflections and what a variety! Surprise, obvious pleasure, amusement, discouragement, disappointment wonder or dismay. And quite often just dead pan or poker map—but always interesting.

Who Owns a Socialized Industry?

In theory at least, we all do. We are the owners, shareholders and customers of a nationalized industry.

But, as owners, shareholders and customers, would we control or benefit from this industry?

If, for instance, as customers, we didn't approve of the industry's products or services, could we withdraw our support?

No. Not unless free enterprise products or services were available to which we could turn.

Would we, as customers, benefit from lower-cost goods or services?

No. The general record of socialized industry shows that as soon as control passes into the hands of unfamiliar and usually untrained government administrators costs rise steeply—and so do prices.

Could we, as owners and shareholders change the management, improve the working conditions, or lower the prices of the goods or services?

No. These matters would be left to government boards, deaf to criticism, unsympathetic to suggestion, bound hand, head and foot by red tape, over whom we would have no control.

Would we, as owners and shareholders and customers, have to meet any losses incurred by inept administration and management?

Yes! Every time. In extra taxes and higher prices—subsidies to keep every failing socialized industry alive.

In fact—if not in theory—we would not "own," control, or benefit from our socialized industry at all. We would just be asked to pay for it!

Reminiscences and Reflections
By W.I.

It is not necessary to shovel rain. No one ever saw rain drift. It does not form into ridges or hard hummocks. It is not rounded into balls and thrown in your eye. It never has to be scraped off the sidewalk. We have not the slightest affection for snow. However, one is bound to admit it has its purpose and usefulness.

It's not so long ago right here in British Columbia wages were lower and life's necessities a lot cheaper. How would this have struck you? A good room and board cost $6 a week. Fairly good meals set one back 20 cents. Housekeepers worked for $15 a month and board. Ten dollar rents were common. Chocolates were around 25c a pound. Movies cost 10c in the afternoon and two bits at night. Millwood went at $2 a cord. Coal was $7.50 a ton. Sawdust was either burned or given away. Cars had no self-starters. Gasoline cost 19c a gallon. Oil was 20c a quart. Laborers were paid 40 cents an hour. There was no Wednesday half holiday and Saturdays stayed open till nine or later. A good suit cost $15, shoes $3.50 and a dollar for a shirt. The average store would not accept a cent and nearly every parlor had red plush upholstery. Butter cost 25c and bread 5c. If a home had no pinax there would probably be a gramophone.

Snag, located in Yukon and justly reputed to be the coldest spot in the north, reported 57 below zero yesterday. To begin with, the name has an unpleasant sound. Whoever picked it, must have been inspired.

A thousand strangers, self-propelled and without a care in the world, passed over Prince Rupert about 2:30 yesterday afternoon. There must have been that many. Against the gray, wintry sky the immense flocks of wild geese, scattered roughly in three V-shaped groups with smaller flights on the fringes were flying bravely south. They

FISHERIES—AN OFFICIAL SPEAKS

Much has been written in this column over the years about every aspect of the fishing industry but there is one department which has remained relatively obscure. This is the local branch of the Department of Fisheries, which, like many of the government services, prefers to work quietly out of the limelight.

Therefore, it presented a fine opportunity recently when Supervisor of Fisheries G. S. Reade outlined departmental activities in his district to the Junior Chamber of Commerce. His picture of the aims and accomplishments of the department contained information of considerable interest.

In its set-up, the department is divided into nine, each of which deals with specific matters on a regional or material basis. These are: eastern fisheries (Atlantic), western fisheries (Pacific coast and Yukon), engineering services (construction, stream clearance), fish culture, information service, legal department, economic division (sales promotion), Prices Support Board (sustaining price levels by large scale government purchases), and Fisheries Research Board (scientific research).

For administration purposes, the Western Fisheries division is divided into three coastal districts—Fraser River, coasts of Vancouver Island and northern coast and headwaters. The last is district number Two with headquarters in Prince Rupert.

Organization of District Two was described by Mr. Reade as a field service in that most employees are on the sea, in the woods, "contact men between the sea fishermen, the industry and the fish themselves."

"Our specific duties are, first and foremost, the conservation and regulation of the fisheries resources of this district, as laid down by the citizens of this country, through Parliament, to provide fish in perpetuity," he said.

"Our policy is protection of the fisheries by prevention of violations and this is one of the chief jobs of the rather large staff which we put out each year. It is no satisfaction for us to punish violators. It is a great satisfaction to prevent violations."

To conserve and administer the fisheries of this district, the department employs a supervisor and assistant, 13 top grade inspectors, six junior grade inspectors, four protection vessels of the "Post" class which are on duty throughout the year. In addition, in the salmon season, the department puts out eight smaller boats of its own, 22 chartered boats and one Norseman aircraft. It also employs 63 fisheries guardians.

About $250,000 is spent annually on these services which amounts to between 1 1/2 and 2 1/2 percent of the value of fish caught in the district.

"We do not tax the fisherman then spend the money on fisheries protection," Mr. Reade said. "This might be just but it is not the policy. The $1,500,000 spent for this purpose last year was from general government funds collected throughout Canada."

Here are the types of fish listed by Mr. Reade as being caught in these waters: all types of Pacific salmon; halibut; sable fish (black cod); lin (ling cod); red snapper (red cod); gray or true cod; herring; soles of many varieties; pichards, in some years; oolichans; albacore (species of tuna); and such shellfish as abalone, shrimp, crabs and razor, butter and little neck clams. There are also skate, anchovies, bass, shad, sturgeon, octopus, scallops and valuable fish livers.

Basic value of these fisheries to the district is about $10,000,000 annually. That is the amount the fishermen receive. Processed value is many times greater.

Despite a general belief that there is a depletion of west coast fish, particularly salmon, Mr. Reade presented figures to show that the production level of that type of fish had remained on a fairly even basis for the last 15 years.

"No doubt the definite depletion of the greatest and best known salmon river in Canada, the Fraser, has a lot to do with this belief.

"I know a fisherman who fished in Rivers Inlet about 1895. He used the expression 'You could walk across the sockeye.' In 1896, he said, 'There were not enough sockeye to eat.'

"Even before the white man entered the fisheries there were periods of scarcity and glut. However, nature has her own way and when she takes with one hand, she often gives with the other.

"Neither the Naas nor the Skeena have been producing as they should until this year when the Skeena made a comeback to prove that it could still produce. The Naas fish must run the gauntlet of both the American traps and the Canadian fleet. While the Alaskan salmon traps seem to be on the way out, the Naas River problem is one that must still be met."

Department statistical methods, which help plan the future on the recorded experience of the past, are not as accurate

CANADIANS WILL HEAR
HIGHLAND NIGHTINGALE—Anne Scott, 25, of Glasgow, Scotland, waves a cheery good-bye from the stern of the Maurtania as she leaves Southampton for Canada and the United States to fulfil singing engagements. Known as the "Highland Nightingale" she won her new career after she sang to actor and radio-artist Hugh Green, who was so impressed with her voice he had recordings made of it. It was on the strength of those recordings she got a radio contract.

as they should be, Mr. Reade said, but definite plans are under way for their simplification and improvement, supervised by the best economist obtainable in the east.

Canadian National Coast Steamships will be retaining its crack new coastal liner Prince George on the run between here and Vancouver until the end of the year, it is understood on good authority here. The George's final voyage will be on December 30 after which she will be replaced by the Prince Rupert which has been off at Vancouver for the last three months undergoing an extensive overhaul. Early next summer the Prince George will be back on the run. Already two special convention voyages are being arranged from Vancouver to Prince Rupert in May or June, one for the Canadian Legion and the other for the Gyro Club.
