

Crerar Sees Korea As Beginning Of Long Conflict

Former Canadian Army Chief Warns Veterans

WINNIPEG (CP)—The Canadian Army's commander in the Second World War said last night, at the opening of the Canadian Legion convention here, that a third global war will surely grow out of Korea unless the democracies build a solid political, economic and military barricade against the Soviet Union.

CRERAR ... Sees Long War.

General H. D. G. Crerar of Ottawa spoke as Grand President of the Legion. He was opening the Legion's thirteenth Dominion convention which lasts five days.

In effect Canada is already at war, Crerar said. Korea was the opening battle in a long and desperate conflict "with sphere of action probably involving the greater part of the world."

The convention has before it resolutions calling for compulsory military service of Canadian boys between 17 and 20 and the outlawing of Communism.

Railroader Of Long Standing

Station Agent A. E. Robin of Pacific Passes Away

Alfred Edwin Robin, who spent all his railroading life covering a period of thirty-five years on the line of the Canadian National, Railways between Red Pass and Prince Rupert, passed away Sunday morning in Prince Rupert General Hospital where, suffering from heart trouble, he had been a patient for some time.

Since 1943, he had been station agent at Pacific divisional point. Sixty years of age, and born in Brisbane, Australia, Mr. Robin started with the Grand Trunk Pacific in 1915, the year of the opening of the transcontinental railroad to Prince Rupert, his first post being at McBride. The succeeding years saw service at many points along the line over which he was well known and highly esteemed. From Hutton he came to McBride in February 1943.

Mr. Robin is survived by his widow, who was here during the period of his final illness, and two sons Ernest Robin of McBride, and Edwin Robin of Vancouver and one daughter, Miss Anne Robin, of Prince Rupert and now of North Vancouver.

Accompanied by the widow and son Ernest, the remains were sent last night on the Comosun to Vancouver.

Ross Nicholson of the B. C. Packers arrived in the city on the Coquitlam last evening from Vancouver. He is in this district on official business and left today for the Queen Charlotte Islands.

George Brodie of the local government agent's office sailed last night on the Coquitlam for Stewart where he will relieve Government Agent, C. G. Tran who, with Mrs. be going south this week on the Coquitlam for a vacation in Vancouver.

Miss Rise Poburney has joined the staff of the Canadian National Telegraphs here, taking the place of Gordon Sharun who has taken a position in the office of Albert and McCaffery.

Visiting Warship Like Busy Town; Many Men Needed To Do Jobs

It takes a lot of men to do all the jobs necessary to keep a cruiser in fighting condition and it is to train men to do that that H.M.C.S. Ontario is sailing the Pacific. Ontario is in port here until Wednesday. She has about 650 men aboard.

There is a nucleus of from 250 to 300 static personnel who remain in the ship and instruct reservists and permanent personnel in their duties. These personnel under training range in rank from ordinary seamen to lieutenant-commanders. Under command of Capt. H. F. Pullen, O.B.E., the Ontario's training cruises are timed to fit in with vacation periods of reservists. They start on a Tuesday and continue until Friday of the following week in order that men from the prairies will have time to get aboard and settled over the week-end and have another week-end to get back on the job.

Commander of the ship and co-ordinator of the training program is Lt./Cmdr. M. F. Oliver, Chief engineer is Engineer Cmdr. J. Osborn, while Cmdr. H. D. McCormick is head electrician. Medical officer is Surgeon Cmdr. R. Rutan, M.B.E. Spiritual needs are looked after by two chaplains, H/Cmdr. F. Godfrey for Protestants and H/Cmdr. Sather McLean for Roman Catholics. Cmdr. V. W. Howland is paymaster. Training is broken down into different types of duty in charge of lieutenants. There are twelve in all.

Men under training are from the ten provinces, while the permanent ship's company are from Winnipeg and west.

PURPOSES OF CRUISES
Calls in ports while on training cruises are for many reasons. Among them are to let the men see places they have not seen before, to let the public see what is being done in their navy, to help recruiting, to develop international friendship with calls to United States ports and to build the morale of men in shore establishments.

The amazingly good weather has made the present one of the more pleasant cruises. Training has progressed favorably. Lieut. Lorne Chaney said the ship's company was highly impressed with the way the people of Queen Charlotte City and district had turned out to entertain them while they were there practising landings.

All conditions of war, short of actual shellfire, are simulated on training cruises. Practice torpedoes are launched, blackout is maintained and all the rest of war at sea. Practice torpedoes float after being fired and are picked up in sea boats.

LIKE SMALL TOWN
The ship itself in some respects resembles a small town afloat. There are telephones on mess (Continued on page 6)

Close Call From Fire

Quick action by the fire department early this morning saved from possible destruction the home of Mrs. Anna Jackson, 349 Ninth Avenue West. As it was, fire, smoke and water damage was extensive.

Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Hovdebo were awakened about 4 a.m. by smoke in their bedroom on the second storey. They found smoke issuing from a clothes closet in the room and when they opened the door to the closet, it burst into flame. Calling Leon and Charles Webster, who were asleep in rooms on the same floor, they rushed down stairs and notified the fire department by telephone. The men were there in quick order. The men attempted to extinguish the flames with buckets of water from the bathroom, but it became too hot to work.

Before the flames were brought under control, fire had burned through the walls of the bedroom occupied by Mr. and Mrs. Hovdebo and had spread to the hallway and bathroom, the walls of both of which were burned. In the meantime flames had broken through the roof over the closet, where fire had first broken out. Once the fire department swung into action with fog and pressure nozzles the flames subsided quickly.

Everything in the Hovdebos' room was completely ruined, including clothes and furniture. They carried no insurance. Considerable smoke and water damage was done in the rooms occupied by the Webster brothers, and water caused a great deal of damage to furniture and fixtures in the living room, directly below the one where fire broke out. The room had just been redecorated.

Mrs. Jackson was in hospital at the time of the fire.

George Brodie of the local government agent's office sailed last night on the Coquitlam for Stewart where he will relieve Government Agent, C. G. Tran who, with Mrs. be going south this week on the Coquitlam for a vacation in Vancouver.

Yanks Take Red Guns

TOKYO — American big guns today knocked out large numbers of North Korean artillery pieces in the second day of the roaring gun duel in the northwest hill approaches to Taegu. A U.S. Eighth Army spokesman said the toll of Red guns was a "great many." But the new Red Korean smash against the northwest anchor of the Allied defence perimeter seemed imminent.

Elsewhere on the front, Red thrusts slackened before Allied counter-attacks. The expected Red infantry drive on Taegu developed late Monday afternoon. American artillery and Allied planes pounded the Red troops ceaselessly.

Nearly 40,000 Reds are massed in the area for new smashes. A semi-circle of Allied positions guarded the flat lands leading to Taegu.

After a week of persistent attacks, pressure along the southwest line west of Masan eased, and the front was quiet at the outer gateway to the all-important Pusan port, vital Allied supply station.

It's In The Blood

ONCE again the Canadian Red Cross Society is making its appeal for human blood to be used in saving human life. This month the blood donor campaign will again be held in Prince Rupert and the good people of the city will, doubtless, be as ready in responding as they were last year.

Ever since August 13, 1652, when Florentine Physician Francesco Folli claimed to have transferred the blood from one animal to another, man has toyed with the idea of transferring blood to human beings. Accunts of the experiments of Sir Christopher Wren, Richard Lower, Edmund King and Thomas Cox were published in a Royal Society magazine in 1666, but credit was given by the same publication a year later to Jean Denys Montpelier for the first transfusion of blood into a human being. These early transfusions were blood from a lamb or calf into human beings and soon fell into disrepute.

It was not until 1835 that interest was again aroused in the subject. It was found the main difficulty was clotting of the blood during transfer. By 1835 fibrin, the clot forming substance, was removed from the blood and defibrinated blood was used thereafter. By 1875 physicians were skeptical of the value of the treatment and again abandoned it.

In 1907 Crile, an American, was successful in making a transfusion direct from the artery of the donor to the vein of the recipient. But even then results were not what had been hoped for and many patients died. It was as late as 1910 the Scandinavian Jansky discovered a person could receive blood only from selected donors.

The discovery that finally made blood transfusion a reasonable practice was that by the American Moss in 1910 that human blood could be classified into four groups, only one of which could, with any degree of safety, be used in everyone. Even then the clotting of blood was a stumbling block except for direct transfusion. The discovery of sodium citrate as an anti-coagulant in 1914 finally brought transfusion into common practice and methods were developed during the first world war.

Shortly after the end of that war it was discovered that plasma, the medium of transport of red and white corpuscles, the same in all blood types, could be used effectively in the treatment of shock. The chief effect of shock is dehydration of the blood through excessive sweating or secretion of the kidneys. Plasma returns to the blood stream a fluid with the exact proportion of water, salt, protein and other materials as in the blood. In cases involving great loss of blood, whole blood is needed for a successful transfusion.

Modern methods of blood storage allow whole blood and plasma to be stored in banks and to be available on call. During the second world war these reserves of blood and plasma were responsible for saving the lives of thousands of military personnel and civilians alike.

Since the end of the war the Canadian Red Cross Society decided that, if blood banks were of such great service during the war, they would be of equally great service in peacetime. Working on that assumption, the B.C. division continued the blood banks after the end of the war to provide free blood for transfusions to emergency cases in hospitals. The plan was so successful that it has now been adopted throughout Canada. Many lives have been saved through having available a blood supply, and many stays in hospital have been shortened because a blood transfusion pushed the patient that much more quickly toward complete recovery.

The call is urgent. Your blood may be the means of saving a friend's life. Who knows?—It might even be your blood that saves your life.

As I See It

By ELMORE PHILPOTT PENSIONS TOO LOW

SOONER OR LATER the federal government will be forced to face the emergency now upon us—the relationship between rising prices and income fixed years ago.

The war veterans' organizations across Canada are only the first of many to formulate demands for pensions raised into line with 1950 price levels. They point out that Canadian pension scales were fixed immediately after the first world war, when the dollar bought at least twice as much as it does now.

But the war veterans and their widows are no worse off than retired school teachers, civil servants, or private individuals who had saved up a little nest egg sufficient to keep them in their declining years.

AS THE GAP BETWEEN prices and pensions, annuities, and other forms of dollar income is directly due to government actions the government itself has a moral obligation to do either one of two things:

Either to get prices down, by putting back the wartime system of controls, or

To raise all pensions and superannuation grants into line with present prices.

UNLESS THIS ISSUE IS squarely faced we are headed for a major crisis in Canada. Take the case of milk, or beef.

The Fraser Valley Milk Producers Association shows that from January 1947 to January 1950 the retail price of milk was increased twice. But the per capita consumption of milk DECREASED by 19.49 percent—that is, almost exactly one-fifth.

The people simply cannot buy the necessities of life for their children with the widening gap between incomes and prices.

A formerly prosperous meat dealer in interior B.C. told me the other day he was just about "broke" because of decreased sales volume. The people just can't pay the prices.

IT SEEMS TO ME that a clear distinction must be made between price-fixing arrangements designed to hold prices down and those designed to keep them up.

In many parts of Canada (such as in Vancouver re milk) we have regulations which prevent sales except at fixed prices, and by prescribed channels.

But if such necessities can be sold cheaper by cash-and-carry methods—why say "no?"

The farmer too is entitled to a fair return for his work. But surely the basis of "floor prices" is unsound if the floor is placed so high that the people can't buy the farmer's goods.

I LOOK FOR THE DAY when the whole job of the farmer will be to produce good food; for which he will be paid a fair government-guaranteed price, cash-on-delivery to railhead. He will be relieved entirely of all worries re distribution. The laws of the land will say how this is to be done—and by whom and at what prices. The aim would be to get total distribution—even if fruit, etc., had to be given away in years of great plenty.

In this way the farmer would never be penalized, for having produced too much. Nor would the consumer be made the goat.

But meanwhile we have an emergency on our hands. We need emergency measures to make and keep plentiful goods cheap, and to put and keep prices lids on scarce things.

The ground immediately west of the museum has resembled a small hayfield for years, but a change is coming, swift and sure. The area will be changed into lawns and in due time, brightened with seasonable blooms. It must be twenty years, if not longer, since that elderly gardener Mr. E. vanGastel toiled valiantly on that piece of stubborn soil. He was just a shade premature, and his reward came in picturing water, and more fragrant days. Others were also interested in the ground but, unlike van Gastel, they had offices and were called real estate men.

Boesball— Abel-Odowes Move Ahead

Down Commercials 17-4
In Baseball Play-off
In the best three out of five series in the city senior baseball play-offs Abel & Odowes now lead two games to one. Yesterday's game was played in ideal weather before a large crowd, Abel &

Odowes showed too much power at the plate for the Commercials and started with an early lead in the game and never looked back. They won 17 to 4.

Letourneau started on the mound for Commercials and Jack Lindsay for Abel & Odowes. In the first inning Commercial's first man up, Shier, came through with a three-base hit. Marshall next up, flied out with Shier scoring after the catch. Windle flied out and Hawryluk was safe on an error. Morgan next up, was safe on a fielder's choice with Hawryluk out on second to end the inning. In the bottom of the first inning, Abel and Odowes' first man up, Cornwall, came through with a hit and stole second and came in on Dahl's ringing two-base hit. Pavlikis next man up, was safe on an error with Dahl scoring. Abel grounded out and Lindsay was safe on a fielder's choice with Pavlikis out at home plate. Lindsay advanced to second on a balk ball and Hartwig flied out to end the inning with Abel and Odowes ahead 2-1.

In the top of the second Commercial's went down one, two three on three strike outs. In their end Sunberg, first man up for Abel and Odowes struck out and Dunbar flied out and with two men out, Abel and Odowes then really went to town with Arney coming through with a hit followed by Cornwall's hit and Dahl's second two-base hit scoring Arney and Cornwall. Pavlikis was safe on an error and Abel hit to centre field which the fielder misjudged and Abel got a home run out of it. Lindsay, next up, came through with a hit and Hartwig made with a fine three-base hit to score Lindsay. Sunberg poled out a two-base hit. Commercials then put D. Scherk to pitch in place of Letourneau. Dunbar grounded out to end the inning with Abel and Odowes in the lead 9-1.

There was no further scoring until the top of the fifth when Commercial's got a run on three hits and an error. In the bottom of the fifth Dunbar, first man up for Abel and Odowes, made with a two-bagger and Arney struck out, but Cornwall came through with a lovely single and Dahl walked and Pavlikis struck out. Abel was hit by the pitcher and, with the bases loaded, Lindsay hit a fly out to centre field which misjudged by the fielder and went for a home run. Next man up, Hartwig, flied out to end the inning with Abel and Odowes ahead 14-2.

In the top of the sixth inning, Ciccone came in to pitch for Abel and Odowes and Harwylyg, first man up for Commercial's, got a hit followed by a walk to Morgan and D. Scherk hit safely to load the bases. Sinclair next man up, was hit by the pitcher which forced a run. McDonald then struck out. Simmondson's hit scored Morgan. With the bases loaded Shier flied out and Marshall grounded out to end the inning. Abel and Odowes scored two more runs in the seventh inning and one more in the eighth to take the ball game 17-4.

Next game in this series will be Tuesday night.

Navy Loses Ball Game

Watson Island Downs H.M.C.S. Ontario

In an abbreviated game last evening between the Navy from H.M.C.S. Ontario and Watson Island, the latter outfit downed the sailors by the score of 8-3. The game went only three innings and was called on account of fog. Up until then it was a fairly good ball game.

The Navy had a very good pitcher—Hillier—with them and, if he had received any kind of support from his teammates, it might have been different. Watson Island got five runs right in the first inning and three in the second with the Navy scoring their runs in the second and third innings.

Rupert Beats Aiyansh— One Goal Wins Game

Aiyansh and Prince Rupert football teams met in fine weather before a fair attendance of spectators Saturday evening and Prince Rupert won with a lone goal.

It was a good game to watch, particularly in the outfield. The defence had the measure of the forwards, there being four fine full backs on view. The forwards on both sides missed opportunities which should have been taken advantage of.

TEAMS

Aiyansh—C. Nisyok, R. Ajak and Mergan; R. Davis, S. Eli and R. Robinson; P. Tait, J. Davis, P. Adams, J. Adams and R. Percival. Prince Rupert—Willans, & Eby Baxter Hornel P. Wilson D. Gomez, Smith, Greer, Ford, Murray.

Aiyansh pressed on the opening of the game but Wellens cleared. Smith forced a corner for Rupert and Murray placed nicely but the defence cleared. A foul against Eby looked dangerous but J. Adams headed past. Aiyansh continued to press but a good opportunity was missed when P. Tait was caught in an offside position. Play swung to the other end for a brief spell. Then a breakaway by Aiyansh resulted in R. Percival shooting past Aiyansh forced a corner which was cleared by Eby. Murray took up the running and Tucker lf forced a corner but Pat Wilson shot past. Smith was nearly through but was penalized for dangerous play. Murray, who was well pled with the ball by Greer, and Ford crossed nicely but Baxter's effort missed narrowly. P. Adams had a run for Aiyansh. His parting shot grazed the post. Aiyansh pressed but P. Tait was again offside. The same player had a nice run but was robbed by Willans at the expense of a corner. Murray forced a corner and his resultant kick hit the post and went past Aiyansh attacked and S. Eli shot past when well placed. R. Percival forced a corner, which was abortive, and just after P. Adams drove past. Half-time arrived with no scoring, the defence having the upper hand.

On the resumption Rupert pressed, Smith nearly scoring when Nisyok fumbled. J. Davis and P. Tait both shot over when well placed. Smith forced a corner which was well placed by Baxter, but the defence cleared. A nice try by Smith yielded a corner and Murray had a chance but over eagerness spoiled his effort. Baxter crossed perfectly and Murray shot past a first time when by Murray, Baxter and passed to past. D. Gomez which sailed over were now deflected from a goal scored from a little more than paid, and D. G. from well out.

HOUSEKEEPING

PIES NOT MATTER OF LUCK BUT GOOD, CAREFUL COOKING

Pies Not Matter of Luck But Good, Careful Cooking

Sincere thanks should go to the nameless cook who first made pies with fruit instead of the meat which, for generations, had been used in the "pies" enjoyed in England. The fruit pies originated through necessity when, after the American Revolution, meats and poultry were scarce. Without doubt, this unknown person gave the North American continent its favourite dessert.

The homemaker who is able to make good pastry holds the key to popularity in her home and community. Home economists say that there is no good or bad luck in pastry making. It is accuracy in measuring and care in handling that counts. There are many excellent methods and recipes for pastry. The following modern method of mixing pastry makes it almost failure-proof.

(Plain Pastry)

3 cups sifted all-purpose flour or 3 1/2 cups pastry flour
1 1/2 teaspoons salt
6 tablespoons cold water
3/4 cup lard or mild-flavoured fat

Mix flour and salt. Remove 1/2 cup of the flour and blend the water into it, making a smooth paste. Cut the fat into the remaining flour until the pieces are the size of small peas. Mix in the flour paste, combine until the dough clings together. Chill before rolling. Makes enough pastry for 3 nine-inch pie shells; or 1 double crust and 1 nine-inch shell; or 3 dozen two-inch tart shells.

There are, however, several points which are worth keeping in mind. Too much flour makes tough pastry. Too much shortening makes the pastry dry and crumbly. Too much liquid makes heavy pastry. Too much handling spoils the tender texture.

It is at this point on which the novice often stumbles. In her efforts to make the perfect pie, she works with the pastry too long.

The pastry is most important in pie-making but it is the filling that gives it the character. Apple pie with cheese is an old favorite. Here the cheese is added to the pie crust with excellent results.

Apple Pie, Cheese Crust

Line pie plate with pastry. Cover with layer of thinly sliced apples. Allow about 2 tablespoons of sugar to each apple, sprinkle sugar over layer of apples. Dot with butter. Repeat until the pie is well filled. Roll 1/2 cup of grated cheese into the pastry for the upper crust. Cover apples with the cheese crust. Bake in a hot oven 425 deg. F. for 15 minutes. Reduce heat to 350 deg. F. and bake 20 to 30 minutes longer, or until apples are tender.

(Plum Pie)

Pie paste
2/3 cup sugar
Dash of cloves (optional)
3 tablespoons flour
Few grains of salt
3 cups sliced plums (about 1 1/2 lbs.)

Line 9" pie plate with pastry. Mix sugar, cloves, flour and salt. Sprinkle a small portion of mixture over unbaked pie shell. Combine sliced plums with remainder of mixture and fill shell. Arrange a lattice work of pie paste over top of pie. Bake in hot oven 400 deg. F. for 30 minutes. Yield: six servings.

Note—As an alternate to cloves, sprinkle 1/4 teaspoon almond flavouring over plums.

(Chocolate Topped Pie)

1 baked 9" pie shell
1 1/2 cups milk
1 tablespoon gelatine
1/4 cup cold water
2 egg yolks
1/4 cup sugar
1/4 teaspoon salt
1/4 teaspoon nutmeg (optional)
1/4 teaspoon vanilla extract
2 egg whites
2 tablespoons grated chocolate
Scald milk in top of double

Terrace PTA Has Good Year

TERRACE—The Terrace Parent-Teacher Association, which had its annual meeting Thursday night had a successful and active year, according to the report of Mrs. Campbell, the retiring president.

Principal project has been towards the establishment of a dental clinic for which the sum of $200 was raised. Dr. McPherson, the new dentist here, has been invited to attend the next meeting of the Association and explain the work of a dental clinic. The fee for the clinic has been set at $3 per child. The clinic on which Mrs. Van Stok reported, is for pre-school and Grade I children Registrations have so far been coming in rather slowly.

The meeting Thursday night decided, on recommendation of Miss Annie Lips, to instal a bulletin board at the school instead of a showcase as had been originally planned.

Pending decision on the winner, the $5 citizenship award of the Association has not yet been given out.

The Association will hold a tag day on September 30 with Mrs. Hamilton in charge. Headquarters will be at the home of Mrs. D. G. Little.

A social period and refreshments followed the close of the meeting.

Tradition At Christening

At a quiet ceremony in St. Andrew's Anglican Cathedral early Saturday evening Douglas George Frizzell, infant son of Alderman and Mrs. G. Douglas Frizzell, was christened in the presence of members of the family and friends. Rev. Canon Basil S. Procktor officiated at the ceremony. Wilfred Watson of Smithers and Alex Mitchell were godfathers and Mrs. Tommy Fraser of Terrace was godmother.

The beautiful long christening gown, which was daintily hand embroidered and lace-trimmed, has been used in such ceremonies in the mother's family for generations. Douglas George was the fifth generation to wear it. In traditional manner a flounce of lace is added before each christening.

Following the church ceremony a reception was held in the beautiful home of Alderman and Mrs. Frizzell on First Avenue where friends and members of the family gathered to extend best wishes to the parents and a long life of happiness to their infant son.

At midnight a delicious buffet supper was served by the hostess from a beautifully appointed table, covered with a lovely cut-work cloth, the handwork of the baby's grandmother, Mrs. George Frizzell. The table was centred with the top-layer of the parents' wedding cake and flanked on either side with silver candelabras in which stood tall white tapers.

Music and dancing were enjoyed throughout the evening.

Invited guests included Alderman and Mrs. G. B. Casey, Alderman and Mrs. J. Foreman, W. J. Crawford (Stewart), Mr. and Mrs. Wilf Watson (Smithers), Mr. and Mrs. Tommy Fraser (Terrace), Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Kellett, Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Acton, Mr. and Mrs. Al Hickey, Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Delf, J. D. McLeod, Mr. and Mrs.

Alex Mitchell, Mr. and Mrs. G. E. Peters (Terrace), Mr. and Mrs. Charles Collins, Mr. and Mrs. A. S. Nickerson, Canon Basil S. Procktor, Mrs. J. Fred Ritchie, Miss Nina Youngman, Mr. and Mrs. Arvid Sandhals, Ward Cary (Smithers).

SHIPS and WATERFRONT

C.P. s.s. Princess Louise, Capt. Charles Robson, arrived in port Saturday afternoon southbound from her Alaska voyage. Embarking here for the south were Mr. and Mrs. Don Partender, Mrs. S. Brinson, R. G. Vandersluys, A. Becket, I. Becket, Miss L. Haati, T. McKenzie, J. Goodwin, Mrs. T. L. Davis and son, P. Des Brisay, Miss Sharon Golby.

Union steamer Camosun, Capt. William McCombe, arrived in port at 5 o'clock last evening from South Queen Charlotte Island points and half an hour later the sister ship Coquitlam, Capt. John Boden, steamed in from Vancouver and waypoints. With a list of passengers which filled all available capacity, the Camosun sailed at 9 p.m. for Vancouver. The Coquitlam sailed at 11 p.m. for Alice Arm, Stewart and other northern points whence she is due back here Tuesday morning to sail at 1:30 p.m. for the south.

said. From there it was carried into the club; from there to district organizations, across international boundaries and thus dispensed throughout the world. Such organizations as Rotary, he thought, were in an ideal position to promote peace. Treaties became scraps of paper unless entered into by men with understanding hearts.

"The time to act is now," he said, "on the simple but vital principle of service." Material profit was a by-product of following a spiritual ideal. The ultimate goal of this international understanding was the dream of the centuries, to relegate war to the past. It was better to aim for the highest goal rather than to fall short of the possibilities.

With international understanding, he said would come the rivalries of co-operative friendship rather than the wars of hate. Understanding was a defensive armor against the attack of any power.

The international president said vocational service was worthy of the greatest efforts of the club. He suggested listing needs in the community that might be filled, then re-listing them in the order of their importance and going to work on them. "Serve your community carefully," he said.

In the international field he warned against individuals and clubs leaving inter-country matters to diplomats. They were part of the daily lives of everyone. The forces of greed and lust for power have yet to be conquered, he said. To become discouraged would be to surrender to the forces of evil abroad in the world.

He said Rotary was completely behind the United Nations. It was the only immediate vehicle through which world peace could be reached.

He said there was a need to respect the rights of others "Individual right ends with the breach of the rights of others." In conclusion, the speaker said Rotary formed a chain around the world translating ideals into action.

At the conclusion of the address, Mr. Speth presented silver spoons to Mrs. Lagueux on behalf of the Ketchikan club and Bruce Brown presented Mr. Lagueux with a miniature totem pole.

New Styles Are Original

By Dorothy Waddington PARIS — The woman of average means now can have the chic and distinction she has always longed for and never could afford—an authentic couturier dress.

The Associated Couturiers make these clothes, retailing at 25,000 to 40,000 francs ($75 to $120).

The idea was thought up by M. Gaumont Lanvin and M. Dhorme when they saw the success "boutique" clothes—as distinct from more mostly models—were having with the smartest women.

The intention is not to compete with the haute-couture creations, but to offer an easy-to-wear version of the latest styles at a tempting price.

Five leading couturiers—Jean Dessis, Jacques Fath, Robert Piquet, Paquin Carven—submit designs to Dhorme and Lanvin. The two carefully check the sketches with an eye to simplicity and unexaggerated elegance.

Once they have decided on the best numbers, the originals are given to contractors, complete with color and samples of fabrics. The finished garment is returned to the Associated Couturier headquarters. Yardage, cut and workmanship are never skimmed and reasonable prices are obtained by mass production and good distribution.

NO "HIGH" STYLES

Majority of the models shown at the first collection consisted of coats, suits and day dresses. The dressiest models shown were mid-calf dancing gowns. The Associated Couturiers feel formal gowns should be left to the "name" houses.

One of the most striking gowns was designed by Piquet in his 1951 color "Baghari," parrot green, named after his new perfume. This little dress carried out the line of the season, with dropped shoulders and fullness bellied from the knee.

Another dress that won much approval was in grey-blue satin with an off-shoulder neckline cut in pink satin. The large rose in the centre of the corsage picked up the two colors.

America was excluded from the scheme owing to prior agreement between select haute-couturiers in France and America which give exclusive rights to some American firms. Wide diffusion of the models would therefore be a violation of the agreement. But this does not apply to Canada, where it is thought that models will be on sale at reduced prices.

decks with a central exchange that is connected to the city exchange when the ship docks. There is a dental clinic with a Canadian Dental Corps dentist in attendance. The hospital is in the shape of an eight-bed sick bay.

The ship has its own bakery. Each mess deck draws its ration of milk, sugar, condiments, etc., every day. That is taken to the mess deck and kept there. A leading seaman draws the main meal from the galley three times a day and takes it to the mess deck, where it is distributed. There is a heating box to keep meals warm for men on watch. There is a radio in each mess deck. It is there the men unfurl their hammocks at night to sleep. All paint is stored in a locker and must on no account be carried through mess decks.

Wash rooms are equipped with individual wash basins and showers. Lavatories are in a room by themselves.

A public address system running through the ship assures immediate transmission of messages to the most remote corner. The capstans are run by electric power and are the responsibility of the engine room branch.

One of the most popular rooms is the recreation room, where films are shown and other entertainment takes place. It is also where the ship's emergency party sleeps.

OPERATIONAL CENTRE

Operational centre for the ship is the bridge. Here the captain stays while at sea, surrounded with his subordinate officers, who man the maze of instruments.

Every movement of the ship is at the command of the captain, who gives his orders to an officer. The officer passes the orders by means of a speaking tube to the quartermaster. The quartermaster handles the controls and does the steering.

Besides the sea boats, life guards, etc., are Carly floats, which are automatically released when sea water comes in contact with a device that secures them. Only in case of a sinking are they released. They are very buoyant life rafts that will give support to many men who might have been stranded in the water.

Other armament on the huge ship consists of four and six-inch naval guns, pom-poms, Oerlikons, saluting guns, repeating

So...Nickel goes fishing

With the full power of the engine behind it, a propeller shaft has to have great strength and stiffness or it will bend or break. "Monel" shafts give remarkable satisfaction and long life.

Trolling lines of "Z" Nickel wire are being used more and more because they are tough, rust-proof and easy to reel in. Fish hooks and tackle made of Nickel alloys are strong as steel and resist corrosion even in salt water.

Equipment made of Nickel alloys is used in handling and canning fish and other sea food because it is rust-proof, sanitary and stands an immense amount of wear.

Forty-three years of research have uncovered hundreds of uses for Nickel in the United States and other countries. Now Nickel exports bring in millions of U.S. dollars yearly. These dollars help pay the wages of the 14,000 Nickel employees in Canada and also help pay Canadian railwaymen, lumbermen, iron and steel workers and other men and women making supplies for the Nickel mines, smelters and refineries.
