SIX PLANE MISHAPS TAKE SCORES OF LIVES

LONDON.—Six plane crashes in the last 24 hours have taken the lives of at least 20 people, and perhaps 55.

Lady Harrington is probably the best known among the dead. She is the daughter of Joseph P. Kennedy, former American Ambassador to London.

She died near Privas in the south of France with three others, including Lord Fitzwilliam, eighth earl of his line. Two others were crew members.

Only one person survived the six mishaps in other parts of the world, one of them an American air force plane in the Near East.

An airliner which was reported missing yesterday with 25 passengers and six crew members on a flight from Leopolds-ville, Belgian Congo, to Brussels, was found wrecked today in the African colony. There has been no report on casualties.

BROUGHT FOOD TO HUNGRY JERUSALEM JEWS—Jubilant Haganah guards who escorted the convoy from the coast to Jerusalem, cheer and wave their weapons in the air on reaching the Jewish quarter of Jerusalem with the biggest food convoy to reach the city. One thousand tons of food was brought to the quarter in 240 trucks over the highway until recently was dominated by the Arabs. Reports said the Arabs were evacuating Jerusalem, fearing a Haganah coup like that at Haifa last week, when the Jewish forces captured the great port city.

ALASKAN PROGRAM OUTLINED

SEATTLE (CP)—Assistant Interior Secretary William E. Warne today outlined a nine-point program for Alaska's development. He said that the federal inter-agency committee is considering the possibility of opening the door to hand-picked European war refugees.

Secretary Warne also stated that the "entire transportation system, by water, land and air, must be improved and expanded."

He urged that federal agencies should study the desirability of a railroad link with the United States.

QUEBEC FIREBUG 'HATED JEWS'

QUEBEC.—Fire-bug D'Assise Menard confessed today to setting fire to 18 Jewish homes in the Val Morin district.

Police Captain J. A. Quenneville quoted Menard as saying he did not like Jews and "they are all Communists."

Menard will appear in court at St. Jerome Monday on an arson charge.

He also confessed that he planned to set more fires. He was carrying 675 matches at the time of his arrest.

COMES AWAKE AFTER TWELVE YEARS ASLEEP

WHITE PINE, Tenn.—Mrs. Clara Reynolds, after having been asleep for twelve years has finally come to her senses, looking a great deal younger, and feeling well—though amazed.

She never heard of the New Deal, the Second Great War, the atomic bomb or Adolf Hitler. When she started to doze, back in 1936, most of this was still in the future. Her age is 52.

She lapsed into sleeping sickness, and given regular nourishment and attention, she lived on and on, through the years, slumbering all the time.

She was able to walk about, she likes to be out-of-doors. Her step is springy and alert and when she awoke. Her complexion is that of a pretty girl. Doctors are stumped. Mrs. Reynolds says she could not remember much of anything, through the twelve years.

City Industries to Hold 'Open House' Next Week

Citizens to Be Welcomed to Inspect Plants Under Chamber of Commerce Sponsorship

How much do you know about your hometown industries? Who makes what, where and how is it done? Answers to these questions will be made available to everyone in Prince Rupert next week when city business and industrial people hold "open house" for the edification of their fellow citizens.

For next week, May 16 to 22 is British Columbia Industries' Open House Week, sponsored by the Prince Rupert Chamber of Commerce and the Board of Trade movement in British Columbia.

What is it, and why is it done? Well, the idea is to inform the people of this city and province about their industries, and the public is being invited to inspect workshops and plants because that is the best way they can be informed.

It is an opportunity to "eye-witness" industry at work.

In Prince Rupert, the idea has met with an enthusiastic response from more than a score of industrial operators who will welcome visitors graciously next week.

"It really is gratifying to see how gladly these men welcome the idea of letting visitors into their plants," said A. Don Ritchie, chairman of the Chamber of Commerce "Open House" committee. "They all feel that because now is their busiest time of year, it is the best time for people to get an understanding of their work and production."

Working on the committee with Mr. Ritchie are Neville Gerrard, manager of the Canadian Fish and Cold Storage Co. and A. P. Crawley, Junior Chamber of Commerce president.

Keen-minded business men who know that "Open House Week" will give British Columbia Industries a chance to display their manufactures and their working processes to their consuming friends right at the

Arab League Declares War As British Mandate Ends

United Nations Vote to Send Mediator to Holy Land As Major Violence Threatens

TEL AVIV (CP)—A solemn assembly of the Jewish National Council proclaimed the birth of the Jewish State of Israel today.

The proclamation was broadcast over the newly-opened station "Voice of Israel" eight hours before the mandate was officially terminated because Saturday is the Jewish Sabbath.

The mandate ended at 3 p.m. Pacific Daylight Time.

The proclamation added "as from the termination of the mandate at midnight tonight, and until the setting up of duly elected bodies in accordance with the constitution to be drawn up by the Constituent Assembly not later than October 1, 1948, the present National Council shall act as the provisional government of the State of Israel.

The newly named Premier is David Ben Gurion.

One of the first steps of the newly constituted government was to revoke the British white paper of 1939 which limited Jewish immigration into Palestine.

FIGHTER PLANES CRASH, PILOTS ARE KILLED

ANCHORAGE (CP)—Two fighter planes, diving from four miles up, exploded over Anchorage Thursday as residents watched, and then fell in a shower of wreckage into the waters of Knik Arm.

The planes exploded again in the water and sent up plumes of black smoke. The second explosions were heard through this city of 20,000.

One body, floating in an oil slick, was recovered by a cannery tender. The other pilot's body was not found.

Forrest Wood, a local pilot, said that the planes exploded at about 5,000 feet. He said it was difficult to tell whether they collided or ran into trouble in their dive.

The ships were part of a formation of four. They peeled off from the formation to make what Wood described as a "routine dive."

ST. PAUL (CP)—The Minnesota National Guard was called out today for duty at the strike-bound packing plants at Newport and South St. Paul, scene of strike violence.

NEWPORT, Minnesota (CP)—A mob estimated at 200 men forced their way into the Cudahy and Company packing plant at midnight, heavily damaged the interior, set free several thousand dollars worth of hogs and carried away 30 plant workers as hostages.

Early today, all but 11 or 12 of the missing men are accounted for.

A number of men in the plant were hurt and several have been treated for cuts and bruises.

The raiders worked systematically and it is believed that the raid was planned carefully in advance. Some were Cudahy workers on strike.

PUBLICITY GAG TO EMPHASIZE CLEAN-UP WEEK

A small, but well-proportioned building will be transported through downtown streets Saturday afternoon by an ardent band of Junior Chamber of Commerce members who will transform the shabby structure into a splendid thing with a garment of fresh paint.

Loaded on a truck, the minor civic institution will undergo a public painting job to remind Prince Rupert citizens that the week of May 17 to 22 is "Clean-Up-Paint-Up week in the city."

A loudspeaker will also din into Prince Rupert's collective ears.

The publicity idea is the brain-child of Carson Wallace, Clean-Up committee chairman and he has rounded up a group of other Jaycees who will don coveralls and wield paint brushes publicly.

But that is not all.

The committee also has received the official blessing for Clean-Up-Paint-Up and the city council has agreed to employ the garbage truck at a specified date next week to enable householders to clear away excess rubbish from about their homes.

"We know that people are working hard to beautify their homes, but there are still a lot of places that a little effort could transform into something attractive," Mr. Wallace said. "We are inclined to get used to untidiness if we look at it long enough. We should try and look at our city through a tourist's eyes."

PRAIRIE FLOODS THREATEN FARMS

WINNIPEG (CP)—Peak waters of the Assiniboine River continued today to threaten thousands of acres in the heart of southern Manitoba, with floods battering a mile-long dyke on the south side of the river, six miles east of Portage la Prairie.

If the struggle to hold back the water fails, the river will roll southeast toward Oakville and Newton, flooding miles of farmlands. The area is faced with danger of further flooding sixty-five miles west of Winnipeg.

TOWEL LEFT INSIDE HIS STOMACH BY SURGEON—We have had stories "Inside Europe" and "Inside Asia," but the story of "Inside Jefferson" has 'em all stopped. The Jefferson is Arthur K. who is holding a towel bearing the brand of the medical department, U.S. Army, which he avers was left in his stomach by army surgeons after an operation in an army hospital. The veteran is suing the U.S. government for $100,000 for the oversight. The towel was removed from Jefferson's stomach in an operation at Johns Hopkins Hospital in 1946.

PRAIRIE GRAIN SEEDING HELD UP ANOTHER WEEK

WINNIPEG—Seeding will not become general on the prairies for another week to ten days and possibly longer than that in the northern areas, according to the weekly crop report of the department of agriculture of the C.N.R.

In southern Manitoba the wet cold weather and flood conditions have delayed the spring land work. It is expected, however, that with favorable weather seeding should be fairly general next week. Some farmers in the Morris-Somers district started seeding about May 10. A decrease in wheat acreage is expected with a consequent increase in coarse grains and summerfallow.

No seeding is reported in northern Manitoba and will not commence until next week. It is too early to estimate the extent to which the wheat acreage will be decreased.

Seeding has commenced to some extent in the southern part of Saskatchewan and should be fairly general by the beginning of next week, except in areas which suffered from floods. A reduction of wheat acreage is expected but accurate estimates cannot be expected for another week or two.

In central Saskatchewan conditions are varied but little land work has been done to date. The weather during the past week has been favorable for drying the land and as a result seeding should be more or less general by about May 20. Fall rye has wintered well and is looking good.

Seeding has not yet commenced in the east-central area of Alberta and it will be from ten days to two weeks later than usual. Increases in coarse grain and summerfallow acreages are expected with a corresponding decrease in wheat acreage.

Weather has been cool and moist in northern Alberta and has retarded drying of the land. As a result seeding will not get under way for a week to ten days.

In the Peace River area moisture conditions are very good. Work on the land is expected to start the end of this week in most areas. Some wheat seeding is reported from the Brownvale and Woking districts. It is expected there will be a 10 per cent reduction in wheat acreage with a corresponding increase in the acreage sown in coarse grains.

Dominions Of Interest To Britons

By STUART UNDERHILL
Canadian Press Staff Writer
Britain has rarely been as empire-conscious as it is today. Hardly a day goes by without a front-page reference to the Dominions and colonies in the national press.

Here are a few samples.
"Empire is the Key"—L. S. Amery, former Conservative Dominions secretary now president of the Empire Industries Association which fights doggedly for development of Empire trade.

"Ties With Empire—No Weakening"—Sir Stafford Cripps, Chancellor of Exchequer, in speech seeking to allay fears of cooperation with western Europe might "lead this country away from the old ties with the Commonwealth."

"Empire and Western Union—Mr. Eden On Need For Consultation"—Referring to deputy Conservative leader Anthony Eden's demand that the Commonwealth be consulted at every step in the development of western European co-operation.

Western union is not the only factor arousing Britain to awareness of the Commonwealth and Empire. For months economic experts of the government have been emphasizing the need to develop the Empire sources of raw supplies. This applies particularly to Colonies and Dominions of the sterling area for the main objective of the campaign is to reduce dollar expenditures.

Ironically, this is what Amery and his Tory colleagues have consistently demanded. Last week they launched a country-wide campaign for the "policy of Empire development and Empire economic unity—the only policy which can extricate us from our present plight."

As far as the man in the street is concerned, the vigorous discussion about the relation of the Commonwealth to western union has been a healthy reminder that most of the red-painted countries on the map have long outgrown colonial status.

Government ministers again and again underline the independence of the Dominions. They rarely make a reference to them without stressing this point—but it takes a long time to sink into the public mind.

They say their policy differs from Amery's in that his does not go beyond exploitation (which he denies), whereas theirs calls for development on the basis of partnership.

LABOR LEADER TELLS ABOUT LEGISLATION

Trades and Labour Council delegates Thursday night heard a detailed outline of the general set-up of the parent body "The Trades & Labour Congress of Canada" by Alex Gordon, vice-president of the Trades and Labour Congress.

He also gave a summary of a meeting held in Ottawa when the Congress representatives met the federal cabinet in a further effort to have that body re-enact legislation beneficial to labor which they felt was long overdue.

In reporting the discussions by several of the members of the federal cabinet, the speaker said several showed a decided lack of understanding of practical labor questions, nevertheless, it was from the various briefs presented by labor delegations throughout the years that the biggest part of the progressive labor legislation of the present day had sprung from.

B. C. provincial Bill 98 and its supporting Bill 87 were discussed at some length by Mr. Gordon and William Brett, M.L.A.

The Act they said, was patterned in many places on the Taft-Hartley Act of the U.S.A. and unless the trade union movement of Canada and especially B.C. realized the dangerous trend of this legislation they may "live to regret it in the not too distant future."

On the question of displaced persons from Europe the speaker said the supervision of the selection of the people ought to be done under the federal Department of Labor instead of Premier Duplessis and Drew being given a free hand in bringing in labor on a contract basis which was certainly setting the hands of the clock of progress backwards.

Mr. Gordon also gave a brief outline of the Shipping Act, and its relations to the present dispute between the unions and the shipping company, the Act had come into force a great many years ago and was practically the same today as first enacted.

Among several communications endorsed was one from the Fishermen's Co-operative Association asking endorsement of their recent request for a break-water to be put in at the Fairview Fishermen's Floats, also a request from the Vancouver and New Westminster Trades & Labour Council that a petition be circulated asking the federal government to increase the amount now being given to over-age pensioners.

"INSIDE U.S.A." SMASH MUSICAL

By PAT USSHER
Canadian Press Staff Writer

NEW YORK—"Inside U.S.A." has hit town with a smash. Any resemblance between it and John Gunther's best-seller is coincidental.

This lavish production of two acts and 18 scenes, supposedly depicting the life and times of the modern-day United States, owes only its title to Gunther's historical work, "Inside U.S.A." It is hardly likely that that noted world traveler and news correspondent ever encountered some of the things that happen in Rataur Schwarzi's lively but over-long production.

Beatrice Lillie is co-starred with Jack Haley in this musical which, a hit before it opened last week at the Century Theatre, now has an advance sale of $500,000. The Toronto-born Miss Lillie, in fact, "makes" the show; were it not for the presence of that veteran comedienne, who can stop a show by the mere lift of an eyebrow, "Inside U.S.A." would be just another musical.

OVER the FENCE
By W.L. MacLachlan

"You know, if it weren't for the Marshall plan," said the Old Timer today, "there would be a pretty grim employment picture around here."

"They call it ERP now—European Rehabilitation Plan. It's keeping Europe, and Great Britain, going now, and meanwhile working to build them up economically so in a few years time they can get along by themselves."

"That's a great big capitalist nation pouring out billions to help get other countries, mostly with socialist governments, get going again."

"But that's something else again. What I started to say was that Canada was facing a rather bleak prospect without ERP. Orders were drying up for Canadian products because the countries that want those products had no money to pay for them, and Canada couldn't finance their orders much longer."

"It couldn't have been long, in all probability, before we would have to face unemployment and falling wages—something no workingman or his wife wants to see."

"But Russia doesn't like the Marshall plan. Russia wants to see Europe in chaos and anarchy so the Communists can take over. And what did our Canadian Communists do? They fought the Marshall plan as hard as they could—protested to Ottawa, passed resolutions and held protest meetings. And most of these were men holding offices in trades unions!"

"Russia didn't like the Marshall plan, and that was enough for them. The interests of their trades union members didn't count one-two-three."

"That's something to remember."

(The views of the Old Timer are presented in this newspaper weekly under the sponsorship of the British Columbia Federation of Trade and Industry). F-42

C.N.R. CHIEF LAUDS WORKERS FOR FINE JOB

MONTREAL—The high calibre of service performed by the C.N.R. during the war and post-war years was made possible to a large extent by the excellent job done by the employees of the motive power and car equipment department. R. C. Vaughan, C.M.G., president of the company said today when he addressed the twenty-second annual system committee meeting of the union-management co-operative movement.

The meeting, held in the company's board rooms here, was under chairmanship of E. R. Bettley, chief of motive power and car equipment. The employees representatives were headed by W. H. C. Logan, Winnipeg, president of Federation of C.N.R. Employees, A.N.O.F.

Citing the spirit of co-operation which has existed between management and employees in the past Mr. Vaughan called for a continuation of this spirit in the face of grave problems which have arisen from material shortages and high costs.

Speaking on behalf of the employees, Mr. Logan said that since its inception, the movement had done much to benefit the company, the employees and the public. By working together in the past many problems were solved, Mr. Logan said, adding that no problem was too difficult if dealt with in the right spirit.

JOHN GILCHRIST PASSES AWAY

A veteran of two world wars died unexpectedly at his home in the city late Thursday. He was John Gilchrist, 52-year-old Canadian Fish and Cold Storage worker and former city employee.

Born in Scotland, Mr. Gilchrist came to Canada 20 years ago. He had been a resident of Prince Rupert for the last six years.

During the First World War he served in France with the Seaforth Highlanders, being wounded. He enlisted again during the Second World War and served as a Sergeant-Major in charge of recruiting in the Prince Rupert area.

Following his discharge, he was employed by War Assets Corporation, the city, and the Canadian Fish and Cold Storage Co.

He was found dead by his wife who returned from downtown Thursday afternoon. Previously, he had complained of a pain in his shoulder, but believed it to be nothing serious.

He is survived by his wife and one daughter, both in the city.

News of SMITHERS

A worthwhile addition to the business section of the town is the building being erected on Main Street by Archie Hicks, owner and manager of the Bulkley Valley Wholesale. The building will be twenty-six by forty feet, of frame construction, on solid concrete foundation and the exterior finished in stucco.

A meeting is being held this week to discuss the possibilities of establishing a community summer camp for boys of the town, possibly at Babine Lake. The Rev. Clinton Johnston is organizing the meeting and has been offered the services of some very able youth leaders for the project and that the only real difficulty to be solved is the obtaining of equipment to establish a camp of any size.

Mrs. L. M. Greene and daughter, Eleanor, returned to town on Tuesday's westbound train after spending a short holiday in the south.

SMITHERS—An impressive service was held in St. James' Church on Sunday morning, when Kenneth Maxwell Collison, youngest son of Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Collison, was ordained into the ministry of the Anglican Church by the Rt. Rev. James B. Gibson, Bishop of Cal- edonia.

The Bishop was assisted in the ordination service by the Rev. Canon C. A. Hinchliffe, Rector of St. James and by the Rev. Leslie Hunt of Toronto. Canon E. V. Bird of Hazelton delivered the address. It was noted that Mr. Collison was ordained in the church which he had attended since early childhood and also that he is a grandson of the late Archdeacon W. H. Collison, pioneer missionary of the Neas River and Queen Charlotte Islands.

Mr. Collison is leaving for En-dako almost immediately and will take over the work of the church at that point.

South Africa Watched on Election Eve

By R. F. S. DEWDNEY

JOHANNESBURG (AP)—South Africans feel the eyes of the world will be on them for the first time when they go to the polls for their general election May 26.

It will be the world's first "atomic election," they say, and it works out like this:

British and American strategists long have realized that Western Europe would be in a bad spot in any future war. Its concentrated industries and crowded cities could hardly expect to stand long against atomic attack.

Britain is transferring her military bases from Egypt, the Suez Canal zone and Palestine to Kenya Colony and is spending $100,000,000 to promote agriculture in East Africa. In southern Rhodesia she is building the biggest R.A.F. training system outside the British Isles.

Broad military strategy from the Sudan to Cape Town has been built up by Field Marshal Viscount Montgomery, Chief of the Imperial General Staff, in a recent visit. All this tends to support the view expressed by Gen. Sir Francis De Guingand, Lord Montgomery's wartime Chief of Staff, that it is time to plan British Commonwealth defence on the broadest basis is the African continent. He and others see in the great absorptive capacity of Africa the only present answer to atomic bombing.

As the only fully self-governing country south of Egypt and by far the biggest industrial country in Africa, South Africa's position is clear. But will South Africa play ball? That is the real issue behind the screen of local politics.

The general election will answer that question.

The election will be fought between two violently contrasting types. On the one hand is Field Marshal Jan Christian Smuts, 78-year-old internationalist and Prime Minister, staunch friend of Britain. On the other is Dr. Daniel Francois Malan, isolationist and no special friend of any country.

There is no question where Smuts and his United Party would stand in another war. But with Malan's nationalists in control, it would be another matter. When the Second World War started the predominantly nationalist cabinet submitted a motion to Parliament declaring South Africa neutral. Smuts managed to defeat it by a narrow majority of 13 votes.

To Train Doctors From Many Lands

World Health Organization Personnel to Study in Canada

WINNIPEG (AP)—This year, Canada is to undertake training World Health Organization student doctors from 35 countries, says Manitoba's deputy minister of health, Dr. F. W. Jackson.

In an address here to the council of social agencies, he said air travel has made the world smaller and the spread of distance easier. The training of doctors was a problem everywhere because of the crowding of medical schools.

"In these days when one can have breakfast in London, lunch in Iceland and dinner in Canada, disease and infection can travel around the world in no time. It is our job to prevent the spread from nation to nation and to help train personnel for this work."

Dr. Jackson recently returned from Geneva meetings of the W.H.O. Of all the nations, Canada contributed the highest per capita sum toward world health. The functions of the United Nations health group were aimed primarily at malaria, tuberculosis, venereal disease and the promotion of maternal and child hygiene. But any disease weakening a nation's productive ability would become the responsibility of W.H.O.

The Quality Tea "SALADA" ORANGE PEKOE

Dr. Jackson said tuberculosis trebled in Europe after the Second World War. Control methods have been introduced in all central European nations. W.H.O. had vaccinated 15,000,000 children. It was taking steps to prevent the spread of the disease to Asia.

Malaria was a deadly threat to many nations. Dr. Jackson said 100,000,000 persons were affected each year and 1,000,000 died.

W.H.O. now was only one of several organizations established for health purposes. He thought the leadership of the entire field eventually would be given to it.

You never save until you start

Most of us have a savings account. But to make it really mean something calls for planned saving... and a strong mind. One way is to work toward what you want most: a new home, a car, an education for your children, the extra security or opportunity that a "nest egg" provides... Savings can mean so many things... The important thing is to start... and to put aside so much a week—every week. Remember, some are born lucky; smart people save.

HAWAII BUILDS FISHING FLEET

Islanders' Sampans Sweeping Near-Record Catches in Seas Once Dominated by Japanese

By KEN LIKES HONOLULU—Hawaii, which once wrested much of its living from the sea, hopes to build on the ruins of Japan's sampan fleet a fishing industry spanning the Pacific.

War-time restrictions temporarily scuttled Hawaii's doughty little fishing fleets. Japan's defeat closed rich fishing grounds to Nippon.

Within less than three years since the war ended, Hawaii's sampans manned by Nisei have swept back for near-record catches. High prices tripled the value of the 1947 catch over the best pre-war year.

But this United States fishing outpost has barely touched on the fringes of the watery frontier of the Pacific. The big catches and big money lie westward in grounds vacated by Japan. Across millions of square miles of the Pacific, fish now run unmolested by net or line.

In blue Hawaiian waters today the No. 1 contender for big business ranks is aku. In less romantic language of a mainland it's tuna. So far, one medium-size cannery in the islands has taken care of all the export trade in tuna.

Hawaii landings before the war didn't begin to compare with what California boats took from along the coasts of Mexico, Central and South America.

"But we have caught practically all our tuna within 40 miles of the islands," reports Vernon Brock, director of the territorial division of fish and game.

HUGE CATCHES In 1937, the Japanese probably took a third again as many tuna from Pacific fishing

SERIAL FILM OF S. AFRICA

JOHANNESBURG, South Africa —Millions of children in Britain and other countries will soon see a tropical adventure serial film which will be made in Southern Rhodesia with the help of South Africans.

The first adventure film of its kind, it will show a number of beauty spots and places of interest in Southern Rhodesia including Victoria Falls. Made by the J. Arthur Rank Organization, the film, to be called "Snakeskin Belt," will feature South African actors and actresses.

KIDS RAISE CAIN

grounds as did the United States Brock says. A single year's catch for the Japanese may have totalled some 460,000,000 pounds.

The Pacific tuna grounds "may well interest any Asiatic nation, including Russia," Brock adds, "and unless we exploit it actively or allow other nations to enter this fishery, we can be placed in the position of preventing the use of a major food resource."

"It is not a question of the presence or absence of resources. The fish undoubtedly are there. Lack of know-how limits us now. For instance, what are the movements of tuna schools? What are the best ways to catch the fish?"

Explorers and researchers have fitted together a few pieces of the underwater puzzle. It looks as if more sleuths may go to work on the big job.

A company subsidized by the Reconstruction Finance Corporation has sent two boats on an extended Pacific survey. Congress has passed—but not yet appropriated money for—a $1,500,000 research program. The navy announced recently that mainland and Hawaiian companies are negotiating for cannery sites in the trust territory—the former Japanese mandates including the Carolines, Marshalls and Marianas.

Like the ancient Polynesians, islanders are turning seriously toward fishing. They are looking toward an industry which may rival the island's sugar cane and pineapple business—and make a big splash in the world's food production.

Reminiscences and Reflections By W.I.

Without advertising what they are doing, people can be found in town who are buying because they have a hunch they see something ahead, and do not mind waiting a while. The same thing was done about 35 years ago, and boy, oh boy, didn't they wait. But then, things move quicker today.

Some folks have all the luck—or so they say. A lady in Tennessee, attacked by sleeping sickness in 1936 has just awakened and is walking about, looking young and feeling fine. She never heard of the New Deal, the second war, the atomic bomb or Adolph Hitler. Perhaps after all, she really is deuced fortunate.

Back in the thirties, and even since then, the decision to build a new apartment house or start a brewery in Prince Rupert would have meant a scare head in the newspaper and a lot of chit chat at the lunch counter. But suppose someone had come along and remarked: "Say, they're going to spend twenty-five million dollars a few miles up the railway line."

Tim Buck himself was in Prince Rupert not so many years ago.

TWILIGHT FOR DOBBIN— New Montreal Parking Laws Threaten Horse-Drawn Cabs

By JOHN TRACY Canadian Press Staff Writer

MONTREAL —The horse-drawn carriages, as much a part of Montreal as Mount Royal are threatened with extinction by new parking laws and veteran cabbies are hoping "those fine ladies uptown" will save them.

For years cabbies have had their stand alongside Dominion Square near the hotels where they picked up fares at $1.25 an hour and took them for a two-hour ride through Mount Royal where autos are banned.

Now—because parked horses and buggies have certain disadvantages when under your hotel window—traffic authorities have given the cabbies a new stand around the corner on Dorchester Street, out of sight of the hotels and, as far as the cabbies are concerned, out of mind of the tourists.

As a result, says Hormidas Laverdure, a hack-driver for 50 years, he hasn't had a fare in four days. He used to make $10 on a fine day.

John Mortimer, a cabbie since 1887 when Montrealers travelled to teas and dinner parties in carriages, plans a protest meeting of the 40 or 45 cabbies.

But he has considerable faith that the ladies living in secluded elegance in Victorian homes at the foot of Mount Royal will recall the link with the past and city hall.

"Another thing that's making the cabbies look young fellows," he adds, "is that they can't tell you anything, fare and then they're plenty."

Younger cabbies, who in the heyday of the industry shrug off the matter of stand and say: "It's the horse."
