Wets Withdraw From Korea

arent "Squeeze Play" to Out U. S.

U. S. Korea. Soviet Com-Kirov today announce arrangements have been for the immediate with-of Soviet troops from Korea to "make Americans withdraw from south-Korea simultaneously."

Russia and Korean Comhave been campaigning for the withdrawal of American troops from the southern section of the country which has been occupied by the two powers since the end of the Japanese war.

The Russian announcement did not list any special date for the withdrawal and was so worded as to leave some doubt that the Russians even intend to get out at all.

Similar proposals have been previously rejected by the United States.

WERY STRIKE MILWAUKEE

WERY STRIKE
MILWAUKEE—This city, famous for the city where they make, and ship beer, is now imposed by the popular beverage.
The beer, home of the amber color, is feeling dry because of the strike. Brewery workmen are on strike. There are six breweries which provide about 80 per cent of the beer quaffed locally at these establishments, the drying up the town.

people of Milwaukee drink average of 31 gallons an-day. They are not, of course, drinking in a bone dry sense.
and other Wisconsin are seeing to that. But like having their locally refreshment.

POLICE CHARGE KIN CHAIRMAN

VANCOUVER, (CP)—City prosecutor Gordon Scott Friday authorized a summons charging Syd Welsh, Kinsmen Club charity drive committee chairman, with conducting an illegal scheme to raise funds.

The action followed seizure of Kinsmen food-for-Britain drive tickets in a police crackdown on alleged lotteries in Vancouver.

TENDER FREED FROM ALASKA ICE DANGER

SEATTLE (CP)—The cannery supply tender Tootsie was safely out of her Bristol Bay, Alaska ice-trap Friday night and moving southwest toward her original destination, unharmed.

The coastguard cutter Bittersweet freed the vessel from the ice and towed it a few miles to open water. The vessel was reported undamaged and her 13-man crew unharmed.

The Tootsie radioed Wednesday night that it was caught in the ice and taking water.

CHIEF RECOVERING IN HOSPITAL—Walter Reuther, Auto Workers-C.I.O. president, is pictured in the hospital in Detroit, Mich., where he was rushed following his shooting by an unknown assailant. Although his condition is critical, he is expected to live. The 40-year-old leader of the world's largest industrial union was shot in his home. The assassin point blank from a distance of about 12 feet and Reuther wounded in the chest and right arm. He himself could conceive nothing that would help the police to track down his killer.

Klondyke Nite Recalls Scenes Of '98; Gyro Club Regales City

The northern lights have seen strange sights, but... Anyway, face foliage, phony money and hi-jinks, it was all for a worthy cause, as any Gyro Club member would hasten to assure the uninitiated. It was Gyro Klondyke night last night.

The long-term purpose was to raise funds for an outdoor swimming pool and the immediate interest was fun. Both were realized.

The Civic Centre auditorium was packed and the dance that materialized later in the evening developed into a crush as Prince Rupert responded to the echoed call of the Yukon. The predatory characters of the days of '98 were all there, resplendent in nugget stick-pins, bowler hats and spurious finery.

It was no reflection on the glided ladies that the beards stole the show. It takes longer to grow a beard than it does to don an old-look gown.

Out of the night that was filled with merrymaking came the call for beard-judging and the response would have cheered the heart of any sofa manufacturer. Lined on the auditorium stage was as fine an array of face fungus, chin spinach and rampant hair as Mr. Gillette, of razor fame, could wish to experiment on.

Prizes were substantial. All three winners of the delicate classifications received $5,000 each in Klondyke money which has a close relationship to the Chinese dollar in inflation value.
It amounted to five bucks each Canadian.

However, considering the saving in razor blades that was affected last month, the winners agreed that it was worth it.

There was Benny Windle, whose black foliage won first prize for the heaviest beard.
Lurking behind an erratic foliage was Ronald Tubb, who modestly reached for the award for the most original beard.

And where but in an Arizona cactus could be found a match for the "most distinguished" beard grown by Mike Montesano?

Irony permeated the judges' hearts when they awarded an elderly gentleman, known as "Pop" a warrant for a free shave for having the longest beard. A white adornment which he has worn for years.

The awards were made during an intermission in the dance that followed the games which filled the early part of the evening. Klondyke atmosphere abounded in the costumes worn by Gyro members and many of the visitors.

WOULD REJOIN C.C.F. PARTY

OTTAWA — H. W. Herridge, People's C.C.F. member of Parliament for Kootenay West, announced Thursday that he is applying for re-instatement in the C.C.F. party. He broke with the party some years ago.

H.M.C.S. ONTARIO, 8,000-ton cruiser of the Canadian Navy's west coast fleet which docked here Friday afternoon after a voyage from Esquimalt during which she exploded a drifting Japanese mine in Laredo Sound, Ontario carries a complement of about 600 men. She sails for the south on Monday.

duced by the Cutter Laboratories of Berkeley, California.

products of the laboratory be

EGYPTIANS CROSS INTO PALESTINE

CAIRO, (CP)—A communique issued today by the "Command Volunteers, Southern Front Palestine," said Egyptian volunteers penetrated about 30 miles into the Holy Land. "Our forces penetrated the frontiers and held their posts without casualties." Status of the Egyptian volunteer force is not immediately clear. Volunteers from other Arab countries have been in Palestine for some time.

AIM IS MARITIME LEADERSHIP FOR CANADA

OTTAWA (CP)—A long term program for the development of Canada's merchant marine and shipbuilding industry is being launched by the Federal Government, it was learned today. Key feature of the plan is expected to be announced in the near future.

Jerusalem Truce On

HAIFA, (CP)—All firing ceased at noon today in Jerusalem as the truce between Arabs and Jews in the city went into effect, reports from the Holy City said.

After the Arab-British agreement yesterday, the Jewish Agency announced that Jewish guns would cease fire at nightfall. The agreement, covering the whole city of Jerusalem, followed demands from many delegates to the United Nations who were concerned for the safety of holy places.

Churchill Tells About His Letters

NEW YORK, (AP)—Winston Churchill describes in the current installment of his war memoirs the beginning of his wartime correspondence with President Roosevelt, covering almost 1,000 communications from each.

The instalment is the fourth of five being published in Life Magazine from the first volume of memoirs. There are to be five volumes in all. Life and the New York Times are publishing the memoirs in the United States.
The Montreal Standard holds Canadian rights.

The first letter from Roosevelt was sent to Churchill in September, 1939, shortly after the outbreak of war in Europe.

It reminded Churchill that both men had occupied similar navy positions in the First World War and asked the Briton to send sealed letters on anything he wanted to keep Roosevelt posted about.

Churchill says he responded promptly, using the signature "Naval Person." He employed this pseudonym throughout the long correspondence.

Churchill, who was first Lord of the Admiralty in the early days of the recent conflict, tells in detail of the battle of the River Plate which ended with the destruction of the German raider, the pocket battleship Graf Spee.

This action, in which three smaller British ships put to flight the Graf Spee, gave the British people a great lift in the weary first winter of the war, Churchill says.

The Former Prime Minister also writes of the damage done by German submarines and a new menace, magnetic mines, in the first months of the war.

By a stroke of good luck, he says, a German plane was seen to drop one of the new mines close to shore in November, 1939.
Navy experts found the mine and dismantled it, with the result that effective countermeasures were worked out.

If the Government would grant concessions to encourage shipping companies to get rid of out-of-date vessels and to have replacements built in Canadian yards, the plan would have these aims:

1. Swing from the Canadian merchant fleet's slow-moving vessels to faster type freighters which will be soon needed to get business in world ports.

2. Form a backlog of orders for the shipbuilding industry as a bulwark against a decline such as occurred after the first World War.

Despite breadth of the program, it is understood that the government, with the aid of its new Maritime Commission, expects to operate it on a basis that will call for little or no cash outlay from the federal treasury.

Chief concession would be the relaxation of restrictions on the resale of ships built for the government during the war and sold to private concerns. Some 200 ships would become eligible for foreign sale under the program.

U.S. REPLACES ALASKA TROOPS

MCCORD FIELD, Wash., (CP)— The movement of 500 troops to Alaska by plane to fill out undermanned units was announced by the United States air force Friday.

A spokesman called it an "emergency" transfer, but the public relations officer made it clear that it was merely to replace men who had been moved south from Alaska posts.

LIFE in this Prince Rupert

by BIDDEE JINKS

I love a man who smiles while he speaks of "an excellent death." Then in the next breath, with a few choice words portrays a too-fat girl covered with black sequins, who shimmers all over the place every time she chuckles, silently—unobtrusively as the Aurora Borealis. That man is Ross Lort, C.D.A., festival adjudicator, and—well—now I'm embarrassed.

His comments at the end of each festival session hit the highest of performance. His words brimmed with life, so descriptive that each one was a framed picture of motion and sound, covered over with humor, sometimes with a rare, delving wit at all times.

That is, his remarks for the last three performances followed such a design. They probably did at the first one, but though he spoke, and I strained to hear, his words were thrust back at him by the hub-bub into which they fell.

It was after the small children of each school had sung splendidly, and I wanted to hear Mr. Lort's remarks. Finally, not hearing I gave myself up to helpless rage—and to wondering what a few years have done to us. When did people—and not only teen-agers—start the practice of following a program down the sheet, then pouncing upon the last number as a signal to leave? If not to leave, then get ready to leave, which means an audible struggle with a coat and a chair and an umbrella, then a long dash up to the front to collect a child or two? With such an adult example, is it any wonder that few years later those small children broaden the pattern so that they actually don't know enough to refrain from talking—aloud—if they are not being entertained to the highest degree or to suit their tastes, with no thought of general public behaviour.

According to the present non-behaviour of the average High School student, parents, or something slipped a long time ago. Someone speaking publicly, or privately for that matter, makes no difference. If they have gum to chew, they snap it; and if some date past or future to discuss, the time is now. And never mind if you are a part of an audience, and are embarrassing, perhaps, to your school inspector—or to the people who live in the same city.

It was some comfort to know I was not the only one in a tem- per. I walked from the Civic Centre with a lady almost in tears. She is one of those fortunate persons born gentle. Who speaks sweetly, even under stress. Who likes children and has taught them, but who felt this exhibition of bad manners was connected to, and a smirch upon her profession.

Then, the gathering moisture left—in the time it takes a drop of water to get off a red-hot stove. Those tears simply steamed off somewhere, carrying most of that tender disposition with them. And that was the moment a bright-cheeked boy chose to put his bike crosswise on the pavement, forcing pedestrians onto the street to get past.

Our little detour complete, there was a sudden flash. Rooted, my sweet companion shrieked like a shrew. "You shouldn't have put your bike crosswise on the street! Don't you know enough to move that bicycle so people can get past? Don't you know..."

But feeling better already, she quit. She left a dumbfounded lad staring at her indignant back, who had no way of knowing the lady had vented, on him, a part of her afternoon's accumulation of wrath.

As I say, Mr. Lort is nice. That first afternoon he kept talking as if to nice people. His words were not entirely wasted of course, for Mr. Hyndman could hear. He was but a few inches away—doing a noble job with an impulse to do damage with a sturdy microphone stick which stood right handy.

That night, and the next day, Ross Lort made his comments to interested persons. Others were given a chance to leave first, then the doors locked. It was a good arrangement; but it is still the first time I have known it to be necessary.

BORDEN STREET RED CROSS SALE DRAWS MANY

"We have been collecting coupons by the score. For our Junior Red Cross, ever more and more."

This year, seventeen thousand five hundred fifty-five— It took a lot of work at such a total to arrive.

"Now we're asking all of you to come and do your share. Please buy the goods and help us here."

Help Juniors everywhere."

This was the story and argument presented to the many visitors at the Junior Red Cross sale held at the Borden Street School yesterday afternoon. There was a splendid response from parents and friends, and as a result the sum of $136. was taken in. This money will be available for the usual objectives of the Junior Red Cross organization both locally and further afield.

The satisfactory results are considered a tribute to the perseverance of the children who day by day try to collect the coupons knowing that as they do so they are helping the less fortunate. In doing so they are building up international friend-

Audited Distribution for your Advertising

GOOD advertising copy and attractive layouts are, of course, essential to the success of your advertising. But from the standpoint of final results the answer depends upon the distribution of your advertising.

When you buy newspaper advertising you are paying for an opportunity to talk to people about your merchandise and service. What you get for your money, therefore, depends upon how many people there are in your audience, where they are, how this audience was obtained, and many other facts that indicate the value of the circulation as a market for what you have to sell.

In order that our advertisers may have this information and thus be able to invest in advertising in The Daily News on the basis of known, verified facts, we are members of the Audit Bureau of Circulations.

The Bureau is a national, co-operative association of publishers, advertisers and advertising agencies. Every year one of the trained auditors employed by the Bureau makes an audit of our circulation records. This audited information is issued in official A.B.C. reports covering each member publication. You avoid guesswork and speculation when you advertise in an A.B.C. newspaper.

By ANNE ASHLEY

Q. How can I make an attractive fire screen?

A. Form the framework out of heavy picture molding, into which place a sheet of glass for the panel. This will afford protection from the heat and at the same time will give the pleasure of seeing the fire.

Q. How can I remove soot from a chimney?

A. Place two or three ounces of fine flower of sulphur on a hot fire in the range or furnace. Keep the damper open.

Girl Guide Spirit Would Correct World Discord, Says Director

By MARIENNE IZSAK
Canadian Press Staff Writer

NEW YORK—If every girl were brought up in the traditions of the Girl Guides, there would be far less discord in the world.

That is the opinion of Winnifred Kydd, director of the world bureau of the World Association of Girl Guides and Girl Scouts, who arrived here recently from London.

"You have only to be with them for half an hour to realize how intense and enthusiastic they get about any cause that is for the betterment of the world," she said in an interview.

Miss Kydd herself is very "intense and enthusiastic" about the organization. Dressed in air-force blue uniform and soft grey hat worn by leaders of the Girl Guides in England, she walked rapidly up and down the room, her blue eyes flashing and her small expressive hands gesturing rapidly.

Miss Kydd, a native of Montreal, was appointed director of the World Association early in 1947. She brought to her position a rich fund of experience gained as president of the National Council of Women, Canadian government delegate to the disarmament conference in 1932 and again to the League of Nations Assembly in 1936; and Dean of Women of Queen's University.

Despite the onerous duties imposed by these positions, she managed to find the time to captain a company of girl guides.

It is to prepare for the 12th world conference of the Girl Guides and Girl Scouts to be held in Cooperstown, N.Y., August 13-23, that Miss Kydd has returned to this continent.

TENDERFOOT COUNTRIES

Tenderfoot members are those who have applied for membership in the world association but who have not yet been officially accepted. Among the latter are Greece, Guatemala, Haiti, Italy and the Philippines.

Canada, together with the United States and Brazil is to act as hostess for the event. Mrs. John A. Corbett of Montreal, chairman of the world committee of the International Association of Girl Guides and Girl Scouts, and chief commissioner,

She has gone from our home but not from our hearts.

But you take an expensive timepiece and its different. No one but an experienced man can deal with it safely.

It's wise to leave all disordered timepieces with us.

None of them are beyond our ability to repair --and do it properly.

One thing more--it's wise not to allow the matter to be put off.

SATURDAY SERMON

by Capt. Mrs. Earle Jarrett, Salvation Army

Lately, I have been reading the book of Exodus in my devotions, and how my soul has been blessed by the glorious truths contained therein. Their delivery from Egypt, their safety from the destroying angel, the Red Seas experience—are so typical of the way God has dealt with us. Did not God, by His almighty power bring us out from the bondage of sin? And under the precious blood of our Saviour, have we not protection from the 'death-angel'? Then, as I read the story of the Red Sea, I remember those first days of my Christian life. How Satan and all his hosts tried to force me back to my sinful ways, but God made a way of escape for me through His blood. But the truth that touched me most, was the experience of God's people at Marah. For a number of days now I have been reading it over again and again. These people did not expect anything like this. They thought that their journey was going to be smooth and easy and they came to Marah; at once they began to murmur against Moses, saying "Give us to drink."

Sometime ago, I too, reached Marah (what christian doesn't). After caring for a dear one for some days, I took her to a hospital where I knew she would have to remain for some months. Though I was assured of her recovery in answer to prayer, a question arose in my heart as to why God had allowed me to face this terrible blow. A few days elapsed and I found myself sitting by the bedside of another dear one, as for the fourth time he went down to the very "jaws of death" with pneumonia. No one but God alone knows the feelings of my heart, as through the stillness of the night, I listened to his delirious words and watched his white face. Truly, the waters were bitter. And then to receive word of a relative, being seriously wounded overseas, and another very dear friend meeting an untimely death. "This true I had been saved for some fifteen years, but I was not prepared to meet this. I cried out to God—I have been punished enough."

How I wish I had known the full meaning of Marah, while passing through the trials I have just related. Those bitter waters were in the very path of God's leading and were intended to be a lesson in trust. God was not punishing me — He was wanting to teach me many things—but I could not see it then. Though God has answered prayer, and both loved ones are well again, I must confess that the waters were bitter and they never became sweet. It need not have been so.

Moses cast the tree into the bitter waters and they became sweet to the children of Israel. The 'tree' is a type of the 'cross' (Gal. 3-13) which became sweet to Jesus as the expression of the will of God. This true the experience of the cross was bitter to Jesus as he knelt in Gethsemane, when He said 'Let this cup pass from me'—but it became sweet when He said 'Nevertheless, not my will but Thine be done.' And when He passed through 'Marah,' He prayed for His enemies, and gave redemption to the thief at His side.

Paul encountered some very bitter waters, as he sought to proclaim the salvation of Christ. Listen to him as he tells about them—"Are they ministers of Christ? (I speak as a fool) I am more, in labours more abundant, in stripes above measure, in prisons more frequent, in deaths oft. Of the Jews five times received I forty stripes save one. Thrice was I beaten with rods, once was I stoned, thrice I suffered shipwreck a night and a day I have been in the deep. In journeyings often, in perils of waters, in perils of robbers, in perils by the heathen, in perils in the city, in perils in the wilderness, in perils in the sea, in perils among false brethren. In weariness and painfulness, in watchings often, in hunger and thirst, in fastings often, in cold and nakedness." Paul wrote thus to the Corinthians 2 Cor. 24-27 and in a later chapter he tells of a thorn in the flesh, as how he asked God to remove it, but still it remained. Paul, however, excepted this affliction as the will of God, believing that God intended it to keep him humble. In Cor. 12-9 we read of Paul's glad acceptance of His Father's will, as he says "Most gladly therefore will I rather glory in my infirmities, that the power of Christ may rest upon me. 'Indeed, Paul had found that the bitter waters had become sweet."

On the table in front of me is a picture of a darling little baby girl. There is a serious expression on her face, as if she seems to sense the great tragedy that has come into her young life. She is little Helen Priscilla Stam, whose father and mother gave their lives for Christ in China. I am thinking of her parents as they planned for the safety of that precious little bundle. They knew that they would never again be able to care for their own child, that in a few moments they would be in heaven. Together, they placed some necessary articles inside the child's sleeping bag, and later hiding little Helen, they went out to climb the hill to their 'Calvary'. In their farewell note to their friends they showed no self pity, but complete assurance that they were in God's will, Marah—yes—but it was made sweet to them.

Back on the prairies, in a simple country home, there lived a beautiful christian woman, with heaven's glory written on her face. A few months ago, she waved 'Good-bye' to her husband as he went out to spend a few happy hours with a friend on a lake. A squall came up, the boat overturned, and for a number of hours these two christians clung to the boat, praying and singing as they waited to be rescued. The friend returned to tell the story of the 'promotion to glory' of her saintly husband. This christian woman has tasted the waters of Marah—but they were sweet waters, for she accepted it as entirely the will of God. As she looks at the small boy playing at her knee, she tells him that God is soon to send him another playmate. And I know that as she nears 'death's valley' to bring another little life into the world, there will be one beside her, and He will whisper—"I will not leave you comfortless, I will come unto you."

Have you found the secret of making your 'bitter' waters 'sweet'?

HIGH PRAISE FOR JUNIOR CHOIRS AT FESTIVAL

"The choirs heard last night have equalled the high standard set by those which appeared earlier in this Festival," was the praise Adjudicator R. A. Lort had for the singers taking part in the final program of the Music and Drama Festival last night.

Borden Street School Choir, with red sashes across their white shirts and middies and wearing red-trimmed white hats were the first choir on the program. Under their conductor J. S. Wilson, they sang "I Love The Merry Sunshine" and "Golden Slumber." Both were clear and sweet with the descant in the second selection giving a special touch to the number. Accompanist was Mrs. H. Seaman.

White dresses touched with blue ribbons gave the Annunciation School Choir a beautiful stage appearance. Under the leadership of Sister Mary Lawrence they sang "On the Lagoon," and "An English Apple Orchard." Both songs had two part arrangements and while their presentation was masterly although Mr. Lort noted that they appeared a little more confident in their second selection than in the first. Mary Zogas accompanied the choir on the piano.

Conrad Street School Choir smartly uniformed in blue ball-lalero jackets and pillbox hats sang out well in both their selections. Their first song, "Lord I Want To Be a Christian," was done in two parts. The second selection, "Heigh Ho Come to The Fair," contrasted nicely with the spiritual. Under the direction of Mrs. H. Seaman the children gave full co-operation. Accompaniment was played by Mrs. B. Eydolfson.

The King Edward School Choir, conducted by Miss E. Moxley presented two pleasing selections, "Slumber Song" in two parts and "Butterfly" in unison. Mr. Lort remarked that their performance was very good, particularly as they were such a large group. Accompanist was Mardel Soliland.

Victoria Man Searched Africa For Rare Plants

VICTORIA, B.C. (C)—Lionel Taylor, retired horticulturist, has returned from a 9,000-mile journey through South Africa in search of rare flowers and plants.

Accompanied by his wife and daughter, Mavis, the journey was made in a caravan, and they slept most of the time in the open.

"I collect plants only as a hobby," he said. "South Africa is a place for young men. Industry and agriculture is expanding rapidly throughout the Union."

Hundreds of English families who had immigrated from the United Kingdom were starting
