City Hit By Water Crisis After Line Break

ASKING GREATER TRAFFIC SAFETY

Strict enforcement of the city's traffic bylaws will be requested by the Prince Rupert Junior Chamber of Commerce. The request will be put to the city council as a safety measure to back up the current police drive against traffic offenders.

While the request will be made in general terms, discussion of the matter at Wednesday night's Junior Chamber meeting arose from a proposal by S. G. Furk that the parking bylaws which allow parking on only one side of east-and-west avenues be enforced both day and night.

The matter of jay-walking came up for discussion and it was proposed that pedestrian crossing in the downtown area be explored. Habit of pedestrians of crossing streets without any thought for normal crossing points is a hazard to themselves and to motorists, it was pointed out.

However, members felt that enforcement of pedestrian rules would require full-time police supervision of downtown traffic, which with present police strength, is impossible.

LIGHTER MOMENT—A heavy pile of official documents points to serious work ahead of Prime Minister St. Laurent, left, and Ernest Bevin, but the British foreign secretary took time out for a bit of good-natured banter with Mr. St. Laurent during an interval in their discussions in the Prime Minister's office at Ottawa. Old Norway Heard From

Dr. Fridtjof Endresen Brings Message in Word and Picture

Local Norwegians and their friends, despite extremely tempestuous weather, turned out last night in numbers which packed the Sons of Norway Hall. They heard and saw the message brought from the homeland by Dr. Fridtjof Endresen of Oslo University who is making a lecture tour of America.

Dr. Endresen, who brought the personal greetings of the foreign minister of Norway gave an address on present day conditions in Norway after which the presentation of colorful films gave graphic elaboration of what had been said.

Impressive indeed was the exposition of how Norway, even though only four years had elapsed since the liberation, was coming back after the ravages of war and the despoliation of the occupation.

The pictures showed flourishing industries, handsome cities and happy people, all a testimonial to the courage and resiliency of the Norse race.

"Courage and confidence have returned to Norway," Dr. Endresen assured his listeners, asserting that Norwegians were always prepared to make unlimited sacrifices that independence and liberty might be preserved.

He told how Norway once again was the world's third nation in its merchant navy, second in modern motor vessels, first in whaling production and salt water fisheries, second in electrical power, sixth in pulp and paper production and seventh in aluminum. Social and cultural standards were high again and in the social services the country and its people had reached an advanced position.

While there had been large scale reconstruction, Dr. Endresen also admitted everything had by no means been accomplished. There was still much to be done in the way of reconstruction of highways, railways

Students of Booth Memorial School will have an opportunity to see, first hand, how civic and private business enterprises are operated if plans for a "Future Citizens' Day," projected by the Junior Chamber of Commerce, are completed.

Date set for the experience in citizenship by the monthly Junior Chamber meeting Wednesday night was October 29, when, it is planned, selected students from the High School will "replace" the mayor, aldermen and business leaders in their jobs.

The project was placed under chairmanship of Alf Worthington of the Daily News staff, who and housing. Food rationing was still a bugbear and, in this connection, the speaker suggested, in sending parcels home, sugar, coffee, rice and dried fruits were articles to be much desired. Norwegians were deeply appreciative of the sympathy and assistance that had come so generously from Canada and the United States.

Three reels of pictures, two of them in color, depicted the once again clean and beautiful cities of Oslo, Bergen and Trondheim, the industries, the cultural and educational facilities, with accent on the recreational amenities. A sequence of particular interest was that of life in Lapland, the far north province of nomadic Mongolian population. Surprising scenes of agricultural pursuits north of the Arctic Circle were shown and pictures of rare beauty in the land of the midnight sun proved highly impressive. The final film dealt largely with skiing.

Rudolph Olsen acted as chairman for the evening and expressed the pleasure it was to have the visit from Dr. Endresen.

The visitor acknowledged his pleasure at having been able to come to the "Norwegian town" of Prince Rupert which he had long hoped to see.

Following the meeting, Dr. Endresen was entertained at the home of Dr. Jens Munthe, Norwegian vice-consul, and Mrs. Munthe.

Today Dr. Endresen showed his pictures before the pupils of Booth Memorial School.

William McKay who is back from a holiday visit to Winnipeg says that according to what can be seen from the train most of the wheat harvest is in. Weather in Winnipeg was pleasant although any time now the arrival of sharp frosts can be looked for in the prairie provinces.

Masset to Get Adequate $32,000 Seaplane Base

Masset is to have an adequate seaplane landing at a cost estimated at $32,000, according to advice received in the city from E. T. Applewhite, M.P. for Skeena. The federal Department of Public Works considers it advisable that such a landing should be provided rather than a smaller $5000 scheme which had also been considered.

Instructions have been issued at Ottawa that the larger item be included in the estimates for the coming year.

"The Department considers," says a communication from Mr. Applewhite, "that the interests of the community and the department itself would best be served by the provision of a substantial structure which would give long and satisfactory service. Departmental officials, therefore, have been instructed to include an item for this work in the district estimates for the coming year. While this may mean some slight delay—it is far and away the best decision in the long run. I have seen preliminary sketches of the type of landing proposed and I am satisfied that it will give far better service than some temporary little float that might at any time be damaged or destroyed by severe weather."

With the development of air traffic between Prince Rupert and the Queen Charlotte Islands, the necessity of an adequate landing at the key point of Masset has been stressed considerably of late.

Government "Not Only Dead But Decomposing"—Delay Deplored

LONDON.—Former Prime Minister Winston Churchill, deploring the fact that Britain was being sentenced to three to five months of further Labor government, told the National Conservative convention today that the government was "not only dead but decomposing." Speaking of the Prime Minister's announcement that there would be no immediate election, Mr. Churchill said, however, that, like the guillotine, "the longer the drop, the surer the execution."

Rt. Hon. Anthony Eden, former foreign secretary and now deputy leader of the Conservative Opposition, said yesterday that Britain's first need was for a new government. The deci-

Abar.doning Of Canton

CANTON.—Communist forces entered the suburb of Canton today after the main body of the Canton Nationalist garrison fled westward last night down the main highway. All Nationalist resistance to the Communists in the entire Canton area has collapsed. A Communist victory march into the city is expected this afternoon.

A few Nationalist soldiers are still seen on the streets but they are hurrying to join units which have already left the city.

No defence preparations had been made. Heavy explosions today indicated ammunition dumps were being blown up.

Police are still on duty and there is no large scale looting reported.

Most of the population are staying indoors. All regular land, air and sea communication out of Canton has been broken off.

The British ship Wush, last vessel to get away last night, left for Hong Kong with the Chinese practically clinging to the rails. There were also a few foreigners aboard.

An earlier dispatch from Hong Kong estimated the Canton garrison at about 80,000 men but did not confirm the figures.

Telephoned reports yesterday had said Nationalist forces had abandoned the south China city. Plans for all organized resistance had ended within the provisional capital. Entry of Communist troops was awaited. Earlier information from Canton said troops had pulled out with reports that the Nationalists had been ordered north to defend the city. However, this turned out to be erroneous.

New Zealand Presbyterian missionaries told an Associated Press correspondent in Canton that they had heard heavy gunfire around Kongtauen, 10 miles distant.

tion not to hold a general election now was "utterly deplorable" in view of the gravity of Britain's economic situation.

CANADIENS WIN
MONTREAL—Montreal Canadiens, spearheaded by Maurice Richard, blasted the Chicago Black Hawks 4 to 0 in the National Hockey League opener at the Forum here last night. The victory puts the Habs in a first place tie with the Detroit Red Wings. All-star Bill Durnan racked up the season's first shut-out in Montreal's win. Richard scored twice, with Rookie Right Winger Gil Lube getting a goal and an assist.

CONTINUE INQUIRY
LAKE SUCCESS.—The special political committee of the United Nations assembly Thursday decided to continue the inquiry into charges of violation of human rights in Hungary, Romania and Bulgaria. By a vote of 41 to 5 (Soviet bloc) with nine abstentions, the committee approved a joint Canadian-Bolivian-United States resolution calling for a ruling by the International Court of Justice in connection with the charges involved in the accusations over the trials of Joseph Cardinal Mindszenty of Hungary and Protestant church leaders in Bulgaria.

MOCH FACES ASSEMBLY
PARIS—Socialist Jules Moch, whose interior ministry smashed last year's wave of strikes in France, went before the National Assembly Thursday to ask it to ratify him as the new Premier. Police surrounded the chamber to guard against possible demonstrations by Communists, who bitterly oppose Moch. Premier Henri Quele's government resigned recently in a dispute within the cabinet on a wage-price issue. Moch told the deputies there would be no change in foreign policies if he were named Premier. Moch's fate rests mainly on domestic issues. A vote is expected today.

NEHRU'S PLEDGE
WASHINGTON—Prime Minister Nehru of India assured the United States Congress Thursday that his country cannot and shall not be neutral in the event of any world aggression or threat to freedom. But he said every prayer an Indian raises ends with an invocation for peace and he indicated a possible parallel between India's foreign policy and Mohandas Gandhi's creed of passive resistance. The "Father of India," said Nehru in his prepared speech, "taught us a technique of action which was peaceful and yet it was effective and yielded us results which led us not only to freedom but friendship with those with whom until yesterday we were in conflict."

Frank Clark of Prince George, Liberal organizer for northern and central British Columbia, arrived in the city last evening, driving in with Will Robinson of Terrace. He will be here until Monday night. Tonight he is meeting the local Liberal executive.

Serious Mishap Between Shawatlans-Woodworth

May Be 'Limited' Supply This Afternoon As Repairs are Rushed by Emergency Crews

Prince Rupert faced the prospect of an indefinite "dry spell" today following a break at midnight in the 45-inch water main that carries the city's domestic water supply from Woodworth Lake to the Northern B.C. Power Company's Shawatlan's hydro plant.

A landslide was reported to have taken out three lengths of the huge pipe about half a mile above the hydro power house, cutting off the supply to both the city and the power company's electrical source there.

Citizens awoke this morning to find that their water taps failed to yield the necessary liquid and since that time the City Engineer's office has been besieged with telephone calls demanding an explanation.

Earliest estimate at which water would be again in the mains was 3 o'clock this afternoon, according to City Engineer Don Stewart. Even then it would be only a limited supply, since the source would be from an emergency dam on Mount Oldfield.

Reservoir behind the Mount Oldfield dam holds only a quarter of a million gallons of water, while the storage reservoir at Roosevelt Park, which maintains pressure in the city mains, is a million and a quarter gallons. The Roosevelt Park reservoir was empty by 8 o'clock this morning.

However, City Engineer Stewart and a crew of city workmen left late this morning on a scow carrying a quantity of coal to supply fuel for the city's steam pumping plant below Shawatlans Lake. He estimated that the plant should be in operation sometime today but neither is capable of maintaining an adequate supply to the city mains.

THREE LENGTHS OUT
The slide, which took out the 45-inch main between Woodworth Lake, highest lake on the Shawatlans watershed, and the Northern B.C. Power Co. hydro plant at the head of Woodworth Lake, came down along Shawatlans Creek near the junction of North Fork Creek, a tributary. According to initial reports, three lengths of the pipeline had been knocked out of position, cutting off the flow.

The city's 18-inch water main runs out of the 45-inch main at the Shawatlans hydro plant.

Immediate repair efforts began when it was learned that the line was out of order. Northern B.C. Power Co. manager T. B. Black started rounding up a crew, as did City Engineer Stewart. Both Mr. Black and Mr. Stewart are at the scene.

Chief Engineer Jack Boddie of the Canadian Fish and Cold Storage Co. took a crew of four over at the same time—about 3 a.m. Mr. Boddie and George Geddes are manning the pumping plant.

Heavy rainfall for the last two days, apparently, loosened rock on a slope above the water main, sending it tumbling to the bottom of the valley.

The 45-inch line is owned by the power company, but the city has joint responsibility for its maintenance, City Engineer Stewart said.

The city's pumping station, situated near tidewater at the lower end of Shawatlans Lake, was recently repaired and a new 18-inch pipeline from the pumping station to the lake installed. Householders, who awoke this morning to find their water taps dry, had no opportunity to store away any water. Practically all the water in most houses was that stored in the hot water tanks.

FIRE DANGER
Exclusive of the domestic hardship wrought by the water shortage, there was a definite danger from the standpoint of fire. City Fire Chief Earl Becker warned that extreme precautions should be employed in the present emergency.

William Long of the City Hall staff, returning this afternoon from Shawatlans Lake, reported that the level of Shawatlans Lake was ten feet above normal. The wharf and railway track at the lower end of Shawatlans Lake are under water and a partially turned-on valve at the upper end of Shawatlans Lake, which regulates the supply of water to the pumping station, is beyond reach under the abnormal height of the lake water. Water is flowing out of the lower Shawatlans Creek to the level

PRINCE RUPERT'S IMPORTANCE

Prince Rupert's strategic position in the north country was emphasized by Miss Dorothea Norton, New York City librarian and lecturer, in speaking before some eighty members of the Women's Canadian Club at the Civic Centre last night on the subject of Alaska which she described as the keystone between two continents, Asia and America. She referred to the great harbor of Prince Rupert and dwelt upon the important part this port would, doubtless, again play in the event of another war. She also acknowledged the potential commercial possibilities of the port as Canada, particularly the north, became the "centre of the world."

Historic, geographical and geological information about Alaska and northern Canada and comparisons with northern areas of Quebec was the substance of the informative address by Miss Norton.

The 45-minute talk revealed a deep study in the northern parts of this continent in all its aspects and was heartily enjoyed by the club members. Miss Norton also showed a colorful film of a cruise of the steamer Prince George from Vancouver to Alaska which colorfully amplified her spoken ideas.

The visiting speaker was introduced by Mrs. G. R. S. Blackaby, president of the Women's Canadian Club. Following the meeting the members adjourned to the home of Mrs. Blackaby where a reception was held in honor of Miss Norton.

Other hostesses for Miss Norton during her stay here were Mrs. G. E. H. Montgomery at dinner in the Civic Centre Wednesday night; Mrs. Thomas B. Black, at dinner Thursday night; Mrs. R. L. McIntosh, at tea Wednesday; and Mrs. N. A. Bekelev at tea Thursday. This evening Dr. and Mrs. R. G. Large will be dinner hosts.

Miss Norton is leaving on tonight's train to return to her home in New York City with a visit at Jasper Park enroute. A native of Kingston, Ontario, she travels widely on lecture tours

Alaska Railway

ONE OF THE REASONS given for the federal government reportedly rejecting the idea of participating in the construction of a railway to Alaska is that full use is not being made of existing avenues of communication to the territory.

Without discussing whether the federal government is right in taking such a stand in these times when attention is being focussed on the north country from both industrial development and national defence standpoints, we can reflect that one of the existing avenues is the route which includes the railway and highway into Prince Rupert, the inside passage waterway from Prince Rupert to Haines, Alaska, with its highway, and Skagway, with its railway, and thence on into Alaska and the Yukon.

It would be a great thing, of course, for Prince George to have the Pacific Great Eastern extended from there on into Alaska, and there are strong arguments in favor of the project. It has been declared by those who should know that Prince Rupert could be bound to benefit through traffic coming into this port instead of proceeding to Vancouver over the P.G.E. But even if the Alaska railway project should fail, the position of Prince Rupert would be even the more impressive and the development of traffic through the port to Alaska made the more imperative.

STREET TRAFFIC

THE QUESTION of street traffic is much to the fore in Prince Rupert these days as the police authorities increase their vigilance against traffic violations. The matter of rights and responsibilities of motorists and pedestrians are naturally the subject of much discussion.

It may be considered a primary factor that the large majority of motorists are most anxious and exercise every precaution against hitting or injuring anyone and that the pedestrians themselves will be doing all they can to guard against being hit and hurt. Nevertheless, the importance of every vigilance being employed and no chances being taken is to be emphasized.

There are laws to deal with the cases of the reckless, careless and incompetent ones, be they motorists or pedestrians, and the authorities are duty-bound to do their utmost to see these regulations are enforced and the penalties, when necessary, imposed. Such violators are a menace to themselves but, what is more important, they are a menace to others who may be innocent and blameless.

PRINCE RUPERT KEY POINT

THE UNION BOARD OF HEALTH of Prince Rupert, at a meeting this week, drew attention to the fact that the area is without the services of both a full-time medical health officer and a laboratory technician and the need for both is great and growing in this area of increasing importance. Under the provincial and municipal health set-up, the services of both are provided for.

It is to be realized, of course, that there is difficulty in obtaining personnel for the positions. The shortage of doctors and the inadequacy of educational facilities to turn them out are glaring circumstances. Yet Prince Rupert is one of the key communities in British Columbia and its claim is entitled to a considerable degree of priority.

The Union Board of Health would appear to be justified in its feeling that every pressure should be brought to bear to see that, if at all possible, the positions are filled without delay in the interests of the health and welfare of the city and district.

SALMON FISHING OVER—CRABS AND SHRIMPS—MRS. ELFERT CONFIRMED

The season's salmon fishing in this district concluded officially Friday night, putting a formal end to an activity that was all but dormant of late. Last area in the Prince Rupert district to close was the Queen Charlotte Islands, where a few boats were seining dog salmon, most of which was going into cold storage or being shipped fresh.

The other areas in the district closed earlier. Closure of the salmon season also means the closure of the last of the canneries still operating on the Skeena. Nelson Eros, last of those still operating, wound up its salmon canning in mid-week. Most of the other canneries dispersed their crews within the last fortnight.

A few boats are still fishing black cod, but no particularly large catches are coming in. This type of fishery will continue in more or less desultory fashion until November 15 when it will be indirectly prohibited by the fact that the incidental quantity of halibut now permitted to be taken on the lines, will then be prohibited.

International Fisheries regulations allow one pound of halibut to every seven pounds of other saleable fish caught with set lines up to November 15.

Crabs and shrimps are coming into season again. A number of boats, retired from trolling or set-line fishing for the season, are now prowling the coasts and inlets for these delicious crustaceans. They are appearing in lam, after completion of her overhaul, will go on the Prince Rupert-Alice Arm-Stewart route which is at present being carried out by the Catala, this change to be made about the middle of November. Traffic is gradually building up on the Union's fast service between Vancouver and Prince Rupert. Last week the Coquitlam brought north from Vancouver a substantial passenger list and heavy freight cargo.

Two big coastal liners were in port Wednesday from Vancouver, Alaska-bound—Canadian National's Prince George and Canadian Pacific Princess Louise. The former continued to Ketikan Wednesday night and was back last evening southbound. The latter left in the afternoon for Skagway and other points and is due back on Sunday southbound.

Mrs. J. R. Elfert has returned to the city from Vancouver where she received confirmation of her appointment as shipping master of the port of Prince Rupert. The position is one of those held by her late husband, Capt. J. R. Elfert, who also was harbor master and port warden.

Recent freight steamship callers in port have included the B.C. Steamships Alaska-Prince, Capt. Jack Garrett, southbound from Tulsequah with cargo of

Ray Reflects and Reminisces

The payroll at Watson Island enjoys popularity with a thousand workers, and general construction continues to move along at a satisfactory pace. In other words, it's all to the good.

How long it would have taken to build a highway along the Skeena from Prince Rupert to Terrace and beyond, without the all powerful drive of war time urgency, is best imagined by giving more than a casual glance at the route as one travels over it.

The Pilgrim Fathers must have been a dour group. It seems that in Massachusetts in 1621 they at last had a harvest and, in a proper spirit of gratitude, held a Thanksgiving Service — the first of the kind ever known in America. But there were occasions later on when they kindled a fire and women were cooked instead of turkeys. They were known as witches.

Here in Prince Rupert, people have long deplored the seeming fact of those elsewhere in Canada making unfair criticism of the north. But no one has equalled what American senators have been saying about Alaska. According to them, the soil thaws only seven inches, vegetables are 85 per cent water, fishing has been greatly exploited and, as for mining, it still has possibilities, although depleted.

Seattle, Vancouver and Prince Rupert are disposed to favor the halibut split season. Ketchikan, Petersburg and Juneau do not. In some quarters there is active dislike. This is not surprising, for always, among fishermen differences can be discovered. Alaskans are charging that the split principle will drive operators away from the territory. The labor problem will grow sharper and more boats will be driven to Seattle. Meanwhile the immense industry that means so much remains a subject of study but it is pleasant to realize that for all concerned, both north and south, preservation of the fisheries stays of cardinal importance. It's Point No. 1.

Aluminum was first produced in Canada in 1900, says P. E. Radley, assistant general manager of the Aluminum Company of Canada, and although this country has none of the necessary raw materials to produce the metal, it is now sixth in dollar value on the Canadian export list. Much has happened in 49 years and indications are that more is on the way.

TAKES OVER SHOE STORE

Charles R. Roberts of Prince George arrived in Prince Rupert last week to take over the business of the Family Shoe Store Limited on Third Avenue from Stephen King, now residing in the Gulf Islands. Mr. Roberts has had more than 18 years experience in the shoe business and, prior to coming to Prince Rupert, represented Storey & Campbell in the interior of British Columbia.

He served for five years with the R.C.A.F. during the war and was Adjutant of 432 Squadron R.C.A.F. overseas.

Mrs. Vera Roberts and their four children, ranging in ages from two weeks to 10 years will join Mr. Roberts here next week.

Mr. Roberts is now planning to modernize and improve the present facilities as soon as possible.

R. E. Montador left on this afternoon's plane for a business trip to Vancouver.

CITY OBSERVES THANKSGIVING

Religious observance of the ancient Thanksgiving festival was held in Prince Rupert's churches Sunday when congregations gathered before altars adorned with the harvest theme and joined their pastors in giving thanks for the bounty of the sea and the land.

A prolonged rainfall which still drenched the city today, dampened outdoor activity on the Monday holiday and to some extent, reduced the number of worshippers at the Sunday Services.

COLORFUL CEREMONY FOR COMMONER AND NOBLE—Members of the British royal household are shown in this post-wedding portrait following the colorful wedding ceremony which united 26-year-old Earl of Harewood, nephew of King George, and 22-year-old Marion Stein, Austrian concert pianist. The royal family interrupted their Scotland vacation to attend the "white wedding" in St. Mark's church, and thousands of Britons turned out for the story-book marriage of commoner and nobleman. In this radiophoto are shown left to right: Dowager Queen Mary; Princess Royal Mary, mother of the groom; the Earl of Harewood (George Henry Lascelles); the bride, Countess of Harewood; King George VI; Gerald David Lascelles, brother of the groom and best man; and Queen Elizabeth.

An aerial, black-and-white photograph of a large shipyard. Several large ships are visible, some in various stages of construction or repair. The ships are moored in a body of water, with a long pier or dock extending from the shore. The background shows a hilly landscape with some buildings and trees. The image has a grainy, historical quality.

A black and white photograph showing six men in formal attire (suits and ties) gathered around a table. They are all looking down at a document on the table. The man in the center is writing on the document. The men are of various ages and are all smiling or looking intently at the document. The background is dark and indistinct.

A black and white photograph of a man and a woman in traditional Scottish attire. The woman is wearing a light-colored, knee-length coat with a wide collar and a dark skirt, holding a small bag. The man is wearing a dark jacket, a light-colored shirt, a dark tie, and a kilt, holding a small bag. They are standing outdoors, possibly on a path or road.

ROMANCE RUMORS FOLLOW PRINCESS—Princess Margaret is shown as she appeared at a hunt meet in Perth, Scotland, with 23-year-old Lord Ogilvy, heir of the Earl of Arlie. The princess, motored from Balmoral to attend the races with the young lord, an event which was enough to set romance rumors flying.

INDIAN SOCIAL PLAN—One concrete evidence of the close co-operation is the program now taking shape in the Indian government, with the assistance of the U. N., for training large numbers of social workers to combat disease and health education in the dominion's disease-ridden villages. Films, posters, radio and loudspeakers are being used by the U. N. trained social worker in her efforts to bring the new apostles of knowledge urges an Indian to adopt the new habits of health and cleanliness.

Mr. Worthington said that the idea had been received cordially by Principal A. M. Hurst of the Booth High School staff and by Mayor Arnold to whom it had been referred by city council.

He had been informed, he said, that the City Hall, which normally is closed on Saturdays, would be opened Saturday, October 29 for the benefit of the youthful replacements of the regular authorities. Other business men had expressed a desire to co-operate, Mr. Worthington said.

Plans for a student dance which will climax the day will be laid by the committee.

Junior Chamber members lauded the idea as one which could be carried out successfully through co-operative effort on the part of the community.

MISS NORTON IS ROTARY SPEAKER

The story of Christmas cards

—their background and the manner in which they reflect the cultures of various nations—was the subject of a talk given by Miss Dorothea Norton, New York city lecturer at the weekly meeting of the Prince Rupert Rotary Club Thursday afternoon.

The modern custom of sending Christmas cards originated in 1842 when Queen Victoria sent a number to her diplomatic friends, Miss Norton said. Some four years later, the custom was embraced by the British people and has become world wide since that time.

Using a number of cards as illustrations, Miss Norton explained how regional customs and beliefs influence the art work of the cards. Her discourse amounted into a figurative round-the-world journey.

Miss Norton's address was given in the Capitol Theatre following luncheon at the Broadway. She used a 16-mm. color film to show highlights of the painstaking process of creating the art work and manufacturing

FALL FIRES DANGEROUS

Mr. D. F. Ford, the fire insurance adjuster for the Province of British Columbia, on his visit here, said that one of the few things that had gone down in price this year was general fire insurance but he warned that between now and the year-end was the worst time of the year for house fires due to inadequate precautions being taken in the home.

One of the most common causes of fires is found to be in the furnaces. Especially those that are in poor state of repair.

HOSPITAL LAB

Miss Lois Long, formerly of the Ottawa Civic Hospital, has taken charge of the laboratory at the Prince Rupert General Hospital as technician in place of Dr. R. E. Coleman, who has resigned and gone south. Dr. Coleman was pathologist and had been in charge of the laboratory for the last 12 years. His departure leaves the city without a pathologist.

Entering semi-retirement, Dr. Coleman will live at New Westminster. He also plans to do part-time technical work at the University of British Columbia.
