CONSIDERING DIFFERENTIAL

OTTAWA, 2.—British Columbia's application for removal of its mountain differential freight rates was under consideration by the Board of Transport Commissioners today.
At the same time the board had before it a Canadian Pacific Railway request for a simultaneous increase of two per cent in freight rates generally if it should decide to take off the mountain tariff.

SATISFIED WITH SNOW REMOVAL

B.C. Roads Suffering Minimum of Winter Damage
VICTORIA—Hon. E. C. Carson, minister of public works has returned from a motor trip to the interior country as far as Revelstoke. Mr. Carson stated that the province's highways should be found in good shape this year with a minimum of winter deterioration, chiefly because of the steady cold. When, he said, there are spells of frost and then weeks of mild weather, and then a return to zero, road surface suffers. This is clearly seen, once spring comes. The minister is well satisfied with snow removal work on interior roads.

Railway Line Is Now Clear

Trains Running After Interruption of Week
After a week's interruption on account of a series of mishaps, traffic on the Prince Rupert line of the Canadian National Railways is being resumed today. The divisional superintendent's office announces that the line was clear at 9 o'clock this morning, the last obstruction having been a snowslide two miles west of Kwiltsa.
The first freight train is due at 3 o'clock this afternoon and will be followed later in the day by others.
The regular passenger train from the East, first to arrive since a week ago tonight, is reported two hours late which would bring it in at 12:45 midnight.
The first passenger train for the East in a week, having been held in waiting since last evening, got away at 3:30 this morning.
Yesterday afternoon further delay had developed when a snow plow, working from the east, was derailed in freezing weather.
The clearing of the railway line will be followed by the delivery of coal supplies which had been held up and of which the city is becoming in critical need.
Using the railway tie-up normal milk deliveries to local dairies from the interior were interrupted and milk had to be brought in by boat from Vancouver the Northland Dairy resorting to use of aircraft.

THE WEATHER

Increased cloudiness over the western section of the province will keep temperatures from dropping quite as low as last night but in the eastern section clear skies will allow temperatures to drop well below zero.

SITUATION NOT ALARMING

WASHINGTON—Despite tumbling prices and a sharp rise in unemployment, official reassurances were made today that the American economic situation is not alarming. There is even a silver lining in what looked like a dark cloud on the economic horizon. The dollar will buy a little more than it did a few months ago.

BIG MINING OPERATION

VANCOUVER—A $3,000,000 copper mining operation will be started March 1 at Sunloch Mines, 31 miles west of Victoria, Victor Creedan, manager of the Hedley Mascot Gold Mines, announced last night. The new subsidiary will be built at Sunloch Mines, Jordan River. He estimated that production of 300 tons daily will be under way by November 1951. The ore body was developed between 1917 and 1920 by Consolidated.

KILLED CHILD AND SELF?

ALBERNI—A four-year-old girl fled from the tracks of the Esquimalt-Nanaimo Railway here yesterday but her mother stopped her flight and moments later their bodies were found under the wheels of the sixteenth car of a 20-car freight train. Police, who are investigating a supposed case of suicide, identified the victims as Mrs. Ellis Ray Wiegand, 43, and her daughter, Marilyn Beverley. The incident occurred one mile from the Wiegand home where the father is unemployed and in ill-health.

CANADA BEST SUPPLIER

Shake-Up In Greek Guerrilla Leaders

ATHENS, 2.—Major shake-up of the Communist guerrilla leadership in a three-year civil war against the government has taken place. The underground chief, Markos Vafiades, has been relieved of his political leadership. No successor is mentioned.

"DIABOLICAL DISGRACE"

VICTORIA—Crown counsel, Carew Martin, in appeal court, described as an "absolute diabolical disgrace" the three-year sentence given two loggers by Magistrate W. W. B. McInnes in Vancouver for breaking windows. In a report on the case, the magistrate said that the men had been violently talking anti-semitism and had heaved rocks through windows where they thought Jews were doing business.

IRAN SHAH IS WOUNDED

TEHRAN, Iran—Iran's Leftist party was outlawed today as one of its members blamed for trying to assassinate Shah Mohammed Reza Pahlavi last night.
The alleged assassin, a newspaperman, died in hospital last night of injuries received at the hands of a mob which seized him after he had fired five shots at the ruler. Two bullets struck him but he suffered only minor injuries.

CITY OF PRINCE RUPERT

NOTICE TO WATER USERS

Due to shortage of water at Falls River, the Northern B.C. Power Co. will be increasing the production of power from the Shawatians Lake source. As this lake also supplies the city with water for domestic and industrial use, the co-operation of all citizens is asked and they are requested to use water as sparingly as possible in order to avoid a water and power shortage.

POLISH 'PLOT' IS UNCOVERED

WARSAW, 2.—Polish security police today announced the arrest of "several scores" of former members of the home army who, it is said, were plotting against the lives of government chiefs. The report said that the authorities found a time bomb near a government building where the council of ministers meets.

Do Not Be Complacent

OTTAWA—Making his maiden speech in Parliament yesterday, Hon. L. B. Pearson, the new minister of external affairs, cautioned against undue optimism over apparent easing tension in the international situation. The only reason for easing of strain was that positive efforts were being made by the western powers to remove conditions abroad which encouraged surrender to communism. There were no appeasement signs from Moscow.
Pearson warned against conciliatory statements by Stalin and Soviet leaders.
It would be well to remember that Soviet leaders had affirmed that it was inconceivable that the Soviet could not exist indefinitely as a Communist state alongside capitalist countries.
However, admitted Mr. Pearson, it would be folly to ignore peace signs from Moscow.
"The door to co-operation should always be open," he said, "but not to admit Trojan horses."
The minister of external affairs roused the House when he said that only the Progressive-Continued on Page 6)

Water Conservation Urged As City Power Saving Measure

Cold and Rainless Season Is Reducing Hydro Supply Northern B.C. Power Co.
Prince Rupert citizens were requested today to conserve water to aid a power-saving measure by the Northern B.C. Power Co. as a result of rainless weeks and sub-freezing temperatures which have reduced the water level at the Falls River dam, the city's main source of electric energy.
While the situation has not reached a critical stage, any curtailment or halting of power production at the Falls River plant would throw an added burden on the company's Shawatians Lake plant, which is on the same drainage system from which the city draws its domestic water supply.
T. B. Black, general manager of the power company, said today that, under present weather conditions, the Falls River plant will be able to operate normally not more than another week. After that, power could be provided by the dry dock steam plant and the Shawatians hydro plant.
At present, the water level at Woodsworth and Shawatians Lakes is about normal, but stoppage of the Falls River plant, about 60 miles up the Estclair River, will make them the sole sources of water for Prince Rupert's power supply.
The Shawatians plant is capable of producing only about 30 percent of the normal power requirement of the city. With the Falls River plant out of the picture, water for the dry dock steam plant will be drawn from the Woodsworth-Shawatians watershed.
"If the situation doesn't change, we will soon be drawing all our water for domestic and power purposes from Shawatians and Woodsworth," Mr. Black said. "To conserve water, we are asking that city residents be as economical as possible in their use of it."
Head of water behind the Falls River dam, which is normally more than 25 feet, is now less than 10 feet, Mr. Black said. This would provide a power output for a maximum of two weeks.
"However, we cannot take all the water from Falls River, so we will have to shut it down in about a week if things continue as they are," he said.
Lack of rain and freezing weather has reduced the runoff into the Falls River reservoir to practically nothing. The situation at Woodsworth and Shawatians is not so marked, but the water level is now down about 18 inches below its normal level.
The power company plans to review the situation at the beginning of the week, but in the meantime, co-operation on the part of the citizens is urged.
The normal elevation of the water at Falls Creek dam is 302 feet. Today it was down to 288.8 feet. The Woodworth Lake elevation is normally 351 feet. It has dropped a foot and a half since the first of the week.

President Remaining At Nanking to Treat With Reds for Peace

CANTON (CP)—China's government opened a provisional capital here today and hurriedly brushed up defences by bringing down an army of 15,000 men from Shanghai. A government spokesman said that Canton would begin functioning as a capital today but few ministries were ready for business. Premier Sun Fo and his foreign minister, Wu Te-Chen, had arrived from Shanghai. Acting President Li Tsung-Jen, however, is staying behind in Nanking.
Sources close to Li Tsung-Jen said today that the Communists had given an answer to his peace proposals, the reply being described as "at least a first step towards opening of formal negotiations." Details are still lacking.

WOULD PREVENT CANNERY FLEETS

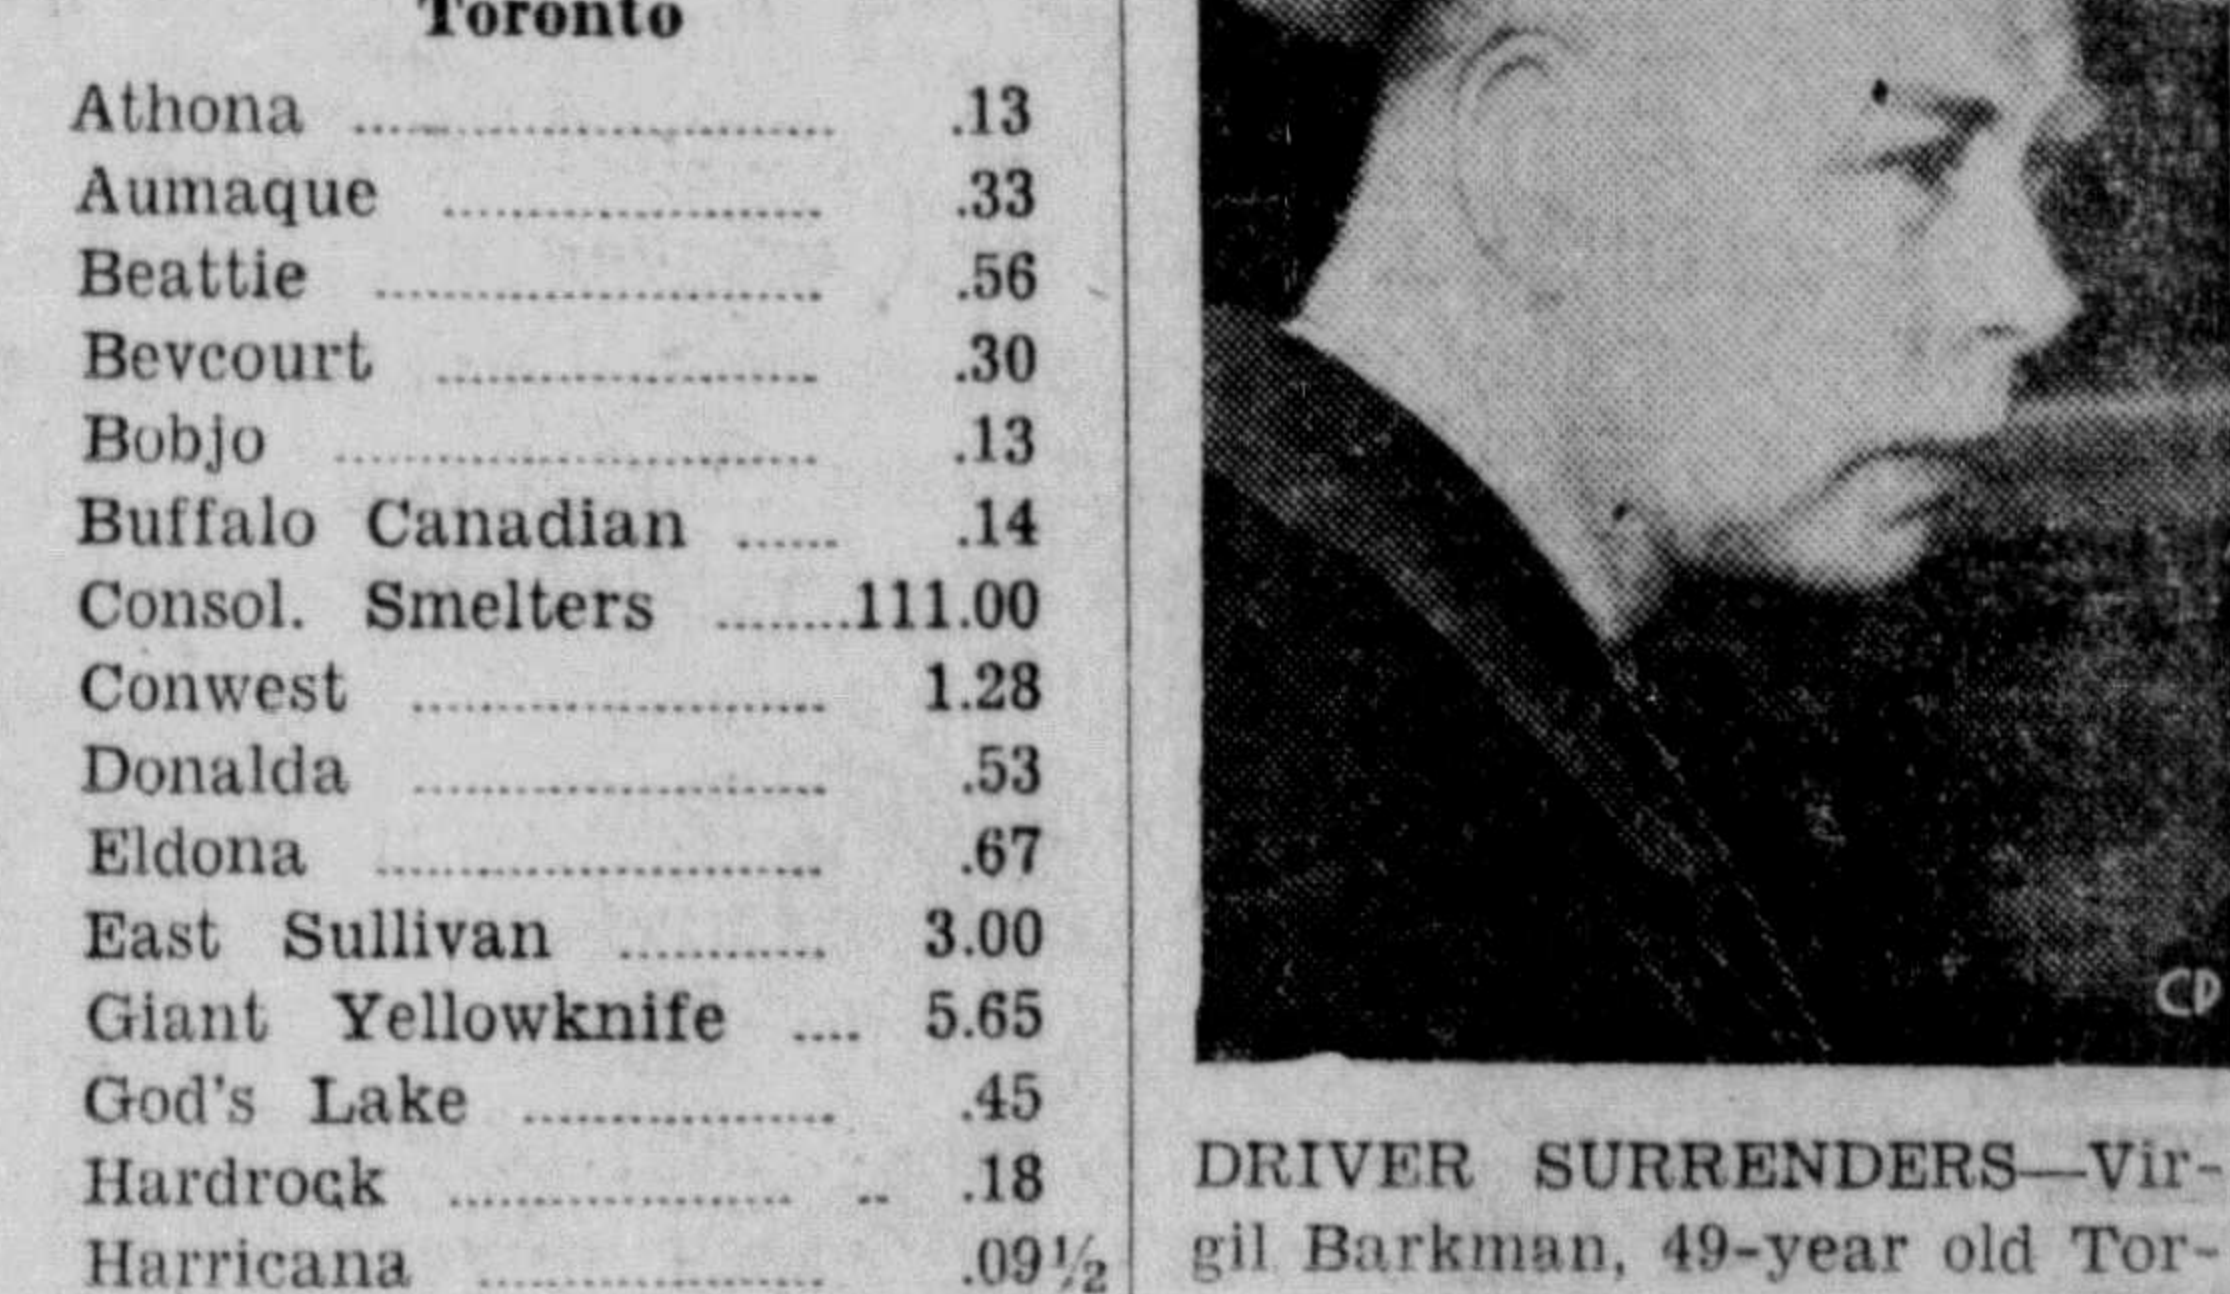

Measure Introduced In Territorial Legislature at Juneau
JUNEAU 2.—By a vote of 47 to 7, the territorial House passed a bill aimed at preventing Alaska canneries from developing their own power-driven fishing fleets.
Representatives Alfred Owen, jr., of Anchorage, former Kodiak Democrat, introduced the bill.
The measure would impose a maximum tax of $5000 for each 30-foot or larger boat above a total of nine boats operated by a single owner.

Girl Shoplifters Are Apprehended

SPOKANE—A ring, consisting of nine girls, is being investigated. The girls all belong in comfortable law-abiding homes yet their chief purpose, as an organization, is to steal. They enter large department stores, as purchasers, but while there, have managed to do a lot of thieving. At first, there was no detection because of lack of suspicion. The girls have been arrested for shoplifting but will probably be released with their parents making restitution.

Unchanging Soviet Policy

THE CREATION of the new "council for economic mutual assistance" between the Soviet Union and its European satellite states is clearly of great importance in itself but it is also of importance as an indication that the hopes which had been aroused in some quarters that a change in Russian policy was imminent, that there was to be a new effort to reach an understanding with the West, have been false hopes.

The whole character of the announcement of the formation of a new council for mutual economic assistance makes it clear that the Soviet Government has no thoughts of rapprochement with the West but is still seeking to deepen and intensify the division. And simultaneously, in Berlin, Communist vituperation has attained new levels.

It is plain that while Moscow may, for local and tactical reasons, speak with two voices, it has a single policy. And that policy has not as some had begun to hope changed with the new year despite the waving of olive branches and seeming cordiality to nations which the Soviet would infiltrate if it cannot subjugate by other means.

REASON FOR OPTIMISM

THE PORT of Prince Rupert is complaining, and justifiably so, at the recent 40 per cent increase in rates on railway express heading east from the coast. The biggest damage it will do to Rupert's economy is in reducing the movement of fresh fish by fast train to eastern markets.

The Rupert Daily News points out that Alaska's halibut fishermen also will be penalized by the cut, because much Alaska-originated fish also moves by express into the eastern U.S. markets such as Chicago and New York. This means that the added cost of transportation comes from the check paid to the fisherman or is passed along to the consumer. Since high prices and costs all along the way already have caused some consumer resistance to fresh fish, the new rate boost is not welcome at this time.

The fisherman is paid a better price for the fresh fish that goes into the fresh market by express than he receives for that portion which is put into cold storage and shipped out frozen by freight. If the public refuses to pay a premium for the fresh product, however, and more of it is frozen, the price of frozen fish may be effected eventually, too.

Rupert's prospects, otherwise, seem very good. She probably will be the receiving port for much of the pulp manufactured in Alaska. She will be a shipper of pulp in her own right in two years or so, from the big rayon mill going in near the eastern city limits of Rupert. And with statehood coming to Alaska, the Jones act's discrimination against Alaskan use of Canadian ships for freight will end automatically. That should be reason enough for her to be optimistic.

BRITISH COLUMBIA TOO

NEW MEMBERS of the Historic Sites and Monument Board of Canada are Hon. T. A. Campbell, K.C., of Charlottetown and W. K. Lamb, Ph. D., of Ottawa. The Board, originally appointed in 1919, has examined more than a thousand sites of which about 400 have been considered of sufficient national importance to justify being suitably marked and maintained. These include Indian earthworks, forts and villages, trading posts and mission enterprises, explorations and scenes of military operations in the long struggle for possession Canada, Hudson Bay Co. posts, and birthplaces of distinguished Canadians. Of the two recently appointed members of the Board, Mr. Campbell is Chief Justice of Prince Edward Island and Dr. Lamb a former librarian of the University of British Columbia and now Dominion Archivist.

British Columbia and the prairie regions offer the same historic background Eastern Canada does yet the record would indeed be incomplete were the west, because of this, to be at all neglected.

Lasting recognition of the old explorers, the early navigators, the builders of great enterprises should remain as permanent reminders to succeeding generations of what has gone before. To allow the memory of achievements to fade, to let scenes and sites which are intertwined with the story of the last frontier sing into oblivion would be a sad omission.

LETTERBOX

MEAT PRICES
Editor, Daily News:
I have been in Prince Rupert for four years now and have noticed the difference in the price of meat here and in Vancouver. Even taking freight rates into account, the prices here seem terrible—pork legs, Vancouver, 37c, Prince Rupert, 65c and 70c; veal steak, Vancouver, 50, Prince Rupert, 60c and 70c; pork loin, Vancouver, 45c, Prince Rupert, 65c and 70c, and so on with all the meat. Granted that there may be different grades, why could we not have them here too?

There are three of us to feed in this house and it costs us over $1 per day for meat alone. How the man with a family of seven exists is hard to see. I have seen some such families here in Prince Rupert and their limit is hamburger at 45c per pound.

It's time somebody took this up. After all we are not so very far from Vancouver. Wages are no better here than in Vancouver.

Enrolment at Port Simpson was 14, at Digby Island 23 and at Port Edward eight. There was no report from Port Essington.

Reminiscences and Reflections

By W.J.

On the front page of a Vancouver daily there recently appeared the portrait of a citizen of prominence and below it, the caption "Sam Carr" involved in the Soviet spy prosecutions bounced back to the all-time high of 159.6. That more like it, by gum!

A copy of The Empire way back in 1912, says the board of works will inquire into the construction of the fire hall. For one thing, the horse stalls were not sufficiently long. Well, well! Is that so? So there was once a time when horses—a handsome, smart-looking animal used for driving or riding—actually were in Prince Rupert.

How much of the water in the North Sea comes from where—and when does it come? This is one of several questions fishing fleets overseas would like answered. Here's another question: What's it all got to do with the fishing industry?

The etiquette column, yesterday, inquired how should one place the knife and fork after finishing a course at the dinner table. Sometimes we have observed a diner use the fork for a toothpick.

Local folks, Friday morning, were given a close-up of a gasoline fire that damaged a car on Third Avenue. They observed the speed and fierceness with which it works. Next time you see in a newspaper something about gas having been mistaken for oil or a passenger plane catching fire when it crashes the chances are you will understand it better.

Things are not always what they seem. It was almost said in this chaste column Thursday that the cost of living was coming down and official data

CONRAD P.-T.A. ASKS LARGER PLAYGROUNDS

A proposal to enlarge the inadequate playground space at Conrad Street elementary school by the addition of four lots on Ninth Avenue was placed before the School Board last night by a delegation from Conrad Street Parent-Teachers' Association.

The delegation, consisting of Robert Ferguson and Martin F. Stuart, asked the board to place in its estimates the amount of about $725 to cover the cost of purchasing the land and preparing it for playground use. Assessed value of the city-owned lots, they said, is $375 and estimated cost of putting in shape for playground use would be not more than $350.

The four lots are directly across Ninth Avenue from the school site and have been used as a sandpit by the city. Cost of claiming the land for playground use would include construction of a retaining wall to hold back two excavated sites.

Two of the lots nearest the corner of Ninth Avenue and Conrad Street have been owned by the city for many years and used as a sand pit. The other two were bought a couple of years ago and put to similar use. The maximum amount of sand which could be got from the area has almost all been taken without damage to adjoining property.

Mr. Ferguson said that he recalled that at the time the latter two lots were purchased they had been earmarked by council for eventual playground use.

The four lots lie on the opposite side of Ninth Avenue to the Conrad School site but Mr. Ferguson said that at that point Ninth Avenue is rarely used and could in effect be considered part of the enlarged playground space although it might never be formally made part of it.

Addition of the four lots would enlarge the playground by an area of 85 by 100 feet and give a 400 by 100 foot playground, in all.

Both Mr. Ferguson and Mr. Stuart deplored the lack of playgrounds in the city's east end.

School Board Chairman Dr. R. G. Large informed the delegation that the matter would be taken under advisement in preparation of the budget.

SEAT OF GOVERNMENT—This is the Colonial Building at St. John's, Newfoundland. When the island had responsible government it was the House of Assembly. Government offices occupied the building during the era of commission government and it was here the national convention was held to decide the future course of events on the island. It will likely be the site of the provincial legislature after confederation. (CP Photo)

WANTS FAIR PLAY
Sports Editor, Daily News:
Your report on the basketball game between Co-op and Bo-Me-Hi, of January 2, with bold headlines "Johnny Comadina Shows A Bill Who Rules Basketball Courts," is I think unfair, particularly to Alex Bill, whose team was penalized because he took exception to the referee's decision, in which a great many patrons of the game disagreed also, in no uncertain terms.

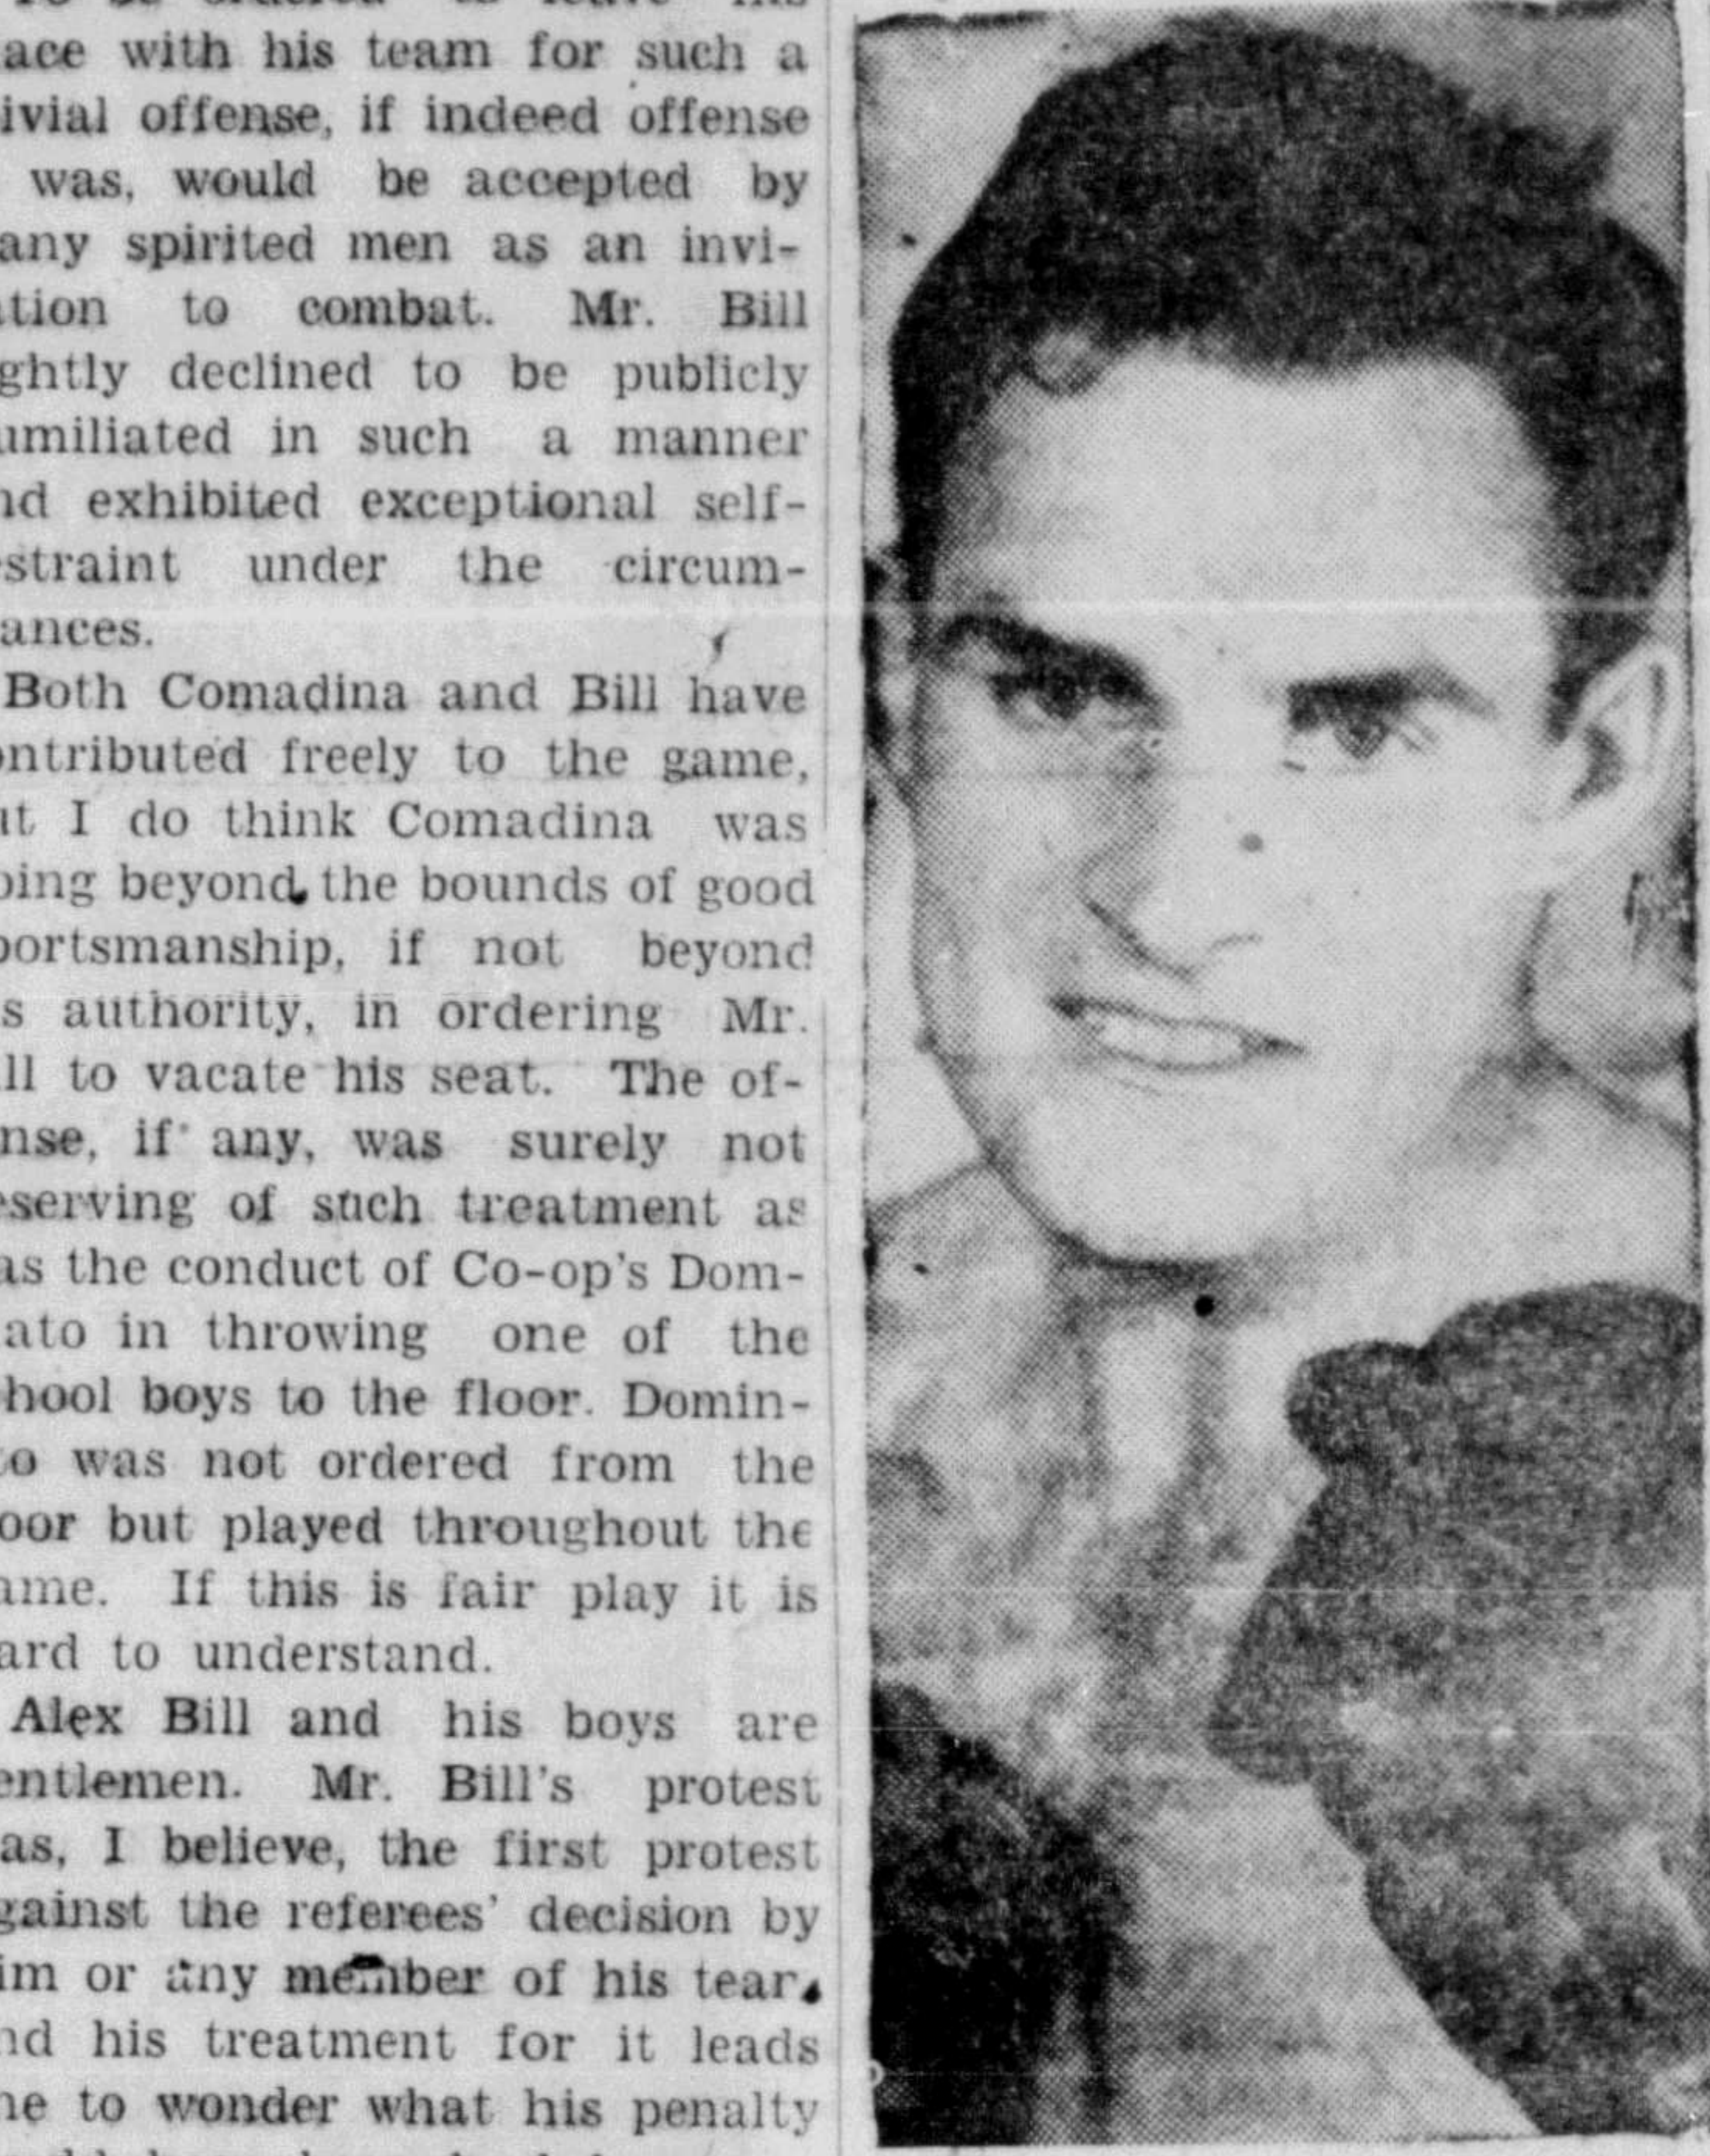

To be ordered to leave his place with his team for such a trivial offense, if indeed offense it was, would be accepted by many spirited men as an invitation to combat. Mr. Bill rightly declined to be publicly humiliated in such a manner and exhibited exceptional self-restraint under the circumstances.

Both Comadina and Bill have contributed freely to the game, but I do think Comadina was going beyond the bounds of good sportsmanship, if not beyond his authority, in ordering Mr. Bill to vacate his seat. The offense, if any, was surely not deserving of such treatment as was the conduct of Co-op's Dominato in throwing one of the school boys to the floor. Dominato was not ordered from the floor. If this is fair play it is hard to understand.

Alex Bill and his boys are gentlemen. Mr. Bill's protest was, I believe, the first protest against the referees' decision by him or any member of his team, and his treatment for it leads one to wonder what his penalty would have been had he protested against Dominato's behaviour. Without patrons, basketball will fail. The patrons want clean sport and fair play.

Bo-Me-Hi can afford to lose the game. They have retained their dignity and enjoy the respect of basketball's patrons. Can Co-op afford to accept credit for their game by default should it be the deciding factor in placing them in first place in the league?

Yours for fair play,
M. M. STEPHENS.

MIDDLEWEIGHT CHAMP — George "Rockabye" Ross, 24-year old farm boy from West Bay Road, N.S., who is Canadian middleweight title holder, is undefeated in 34 professional bouts in Canada and the New England states. He turned pro after winning the Cape Breton Golden Gloves in December 1945. In his most recent bout he flattened fellow-Cape Bretoner Joe Pyle of New Waterford in three rounds. (CP Photo)

Between the BASKETS

Tonight Brownwoods and Co-op tangle and, the way the Co-op has been of late, it will take Brownwoods at better than their best to grab the honors. The Fish Men started to roll the last time they met the Brownwood crew and they haven't looked back since. Last Tuesday, minus big Angus MacPhee, the league leaders simply ran all over the smart Bo-Me-Hi team with Sonny Beynon hitting his stride and doing a lot of damage. Of course, that Lindsay chap had to have his twenty odd points too, which helped the Students title.

Not since the days of Bob Sankey, Paul Brenzen, Dave Musgrave etc., has Port Simpson been considered a serious challenger in senior circles until they took a game from Savoy's, one of our senior contenders in the city league. Just one week previous to the Savoy loss, the leaders of our intermediate section also took a whipping at the neighboring village. Now all this may not mean a great deal to some of us but it does to the people of Port Simpson. They worked on Don Forward until he said uncle and granted them next Tuesday night at his emporium. The night might easily be called Port Simpson night as there will be no less than three teams along and all out to prove they can still develop players up Port Simpson way.

According to Herb Morgan Savoy captain, the team that beat his club will beat every team around here save Co-op and the Fish Men would have to travel to win. All this sounds a little far-fetched at this time however and, if Simpson wins the senior game Tuesday, there will be many surprised fans at the game.

Ted Milton sends along a very complete report on his Vancouver Arrows team that will play here next Wednesday and Thursday and, if anything, it looks as though he is bringing along a better club than last year. The vital statistics of the entire club will appear in a later issue of this newspaper. (Continued on Page Six)

"I couldn't find any of the iron door knobs which have imitations of pictures on them as if they had been carved. But, I did find some door knobs with a smooth, white enamel surface. The hardware man told me that some of his customers painted pictures on them. I bought some paints, bought a book on how to be an artist and started to paint.

"I thought I was pretty good, so I got some canvas, an easel and went to work. Now I'm in business and I've already sold two paintings. So far I've been fairly well orthodox in my technique. None of the Dal or impressionistic school for me. But, I'm willing to try. And I probably will.

Miss Lillie, although born in Toronto, is probably the most British comedienne on Broadway. She said she had no idea how her name ever came up when they were casting the Arthur Schwartz-Howard Dietz musical. "I've jumped back and forth across the Atlantic in so many shows," she said, "that while I'm still looked upon here as typically British, in Haymarket I am sometimes referred to as 'that American'.

Within a few weeks Miss Lillie is closing her Broadway run in "Inside U.S.A." and going with it on a coast-to-coast tour. "I suppose by the next time I get back to London," she said, "they will be calling me 'That Texan' or 'That Californian' or 'that Brooklyn Bum.'"

HOW CAN I ???

By ANNE ASHLEY

Q. How can I test the heat of an iron?
A. One good way is to fold a newspaper and sprinkle a little salt on it. In this way an iron can be tested and cleaned at the same time. Don't use the ironing board cover to test the heat, or it will soon be scorched and ruined.
Q. How can I prevent the catfish from spattering seed all over the floor when feeding?
A. Make a cheesecloth bag with an elastic and pull this over the bottom of the cage just covering the feed cups.
Q. How can I prevent the shells of eggs from cracking when boiling them?
A. This will not happen if the eggs are dipped into cold water immediately before putting them into the boiling water.

How to buy a DIAMOND
Their value depends on many things. We often have a chance to buy diamonds of so poor a quality we would not offer them to our customers. They should be pure and clear in color without cloudiness or tint. The cutting of their 58 little facets should be well done. Their shape should be well proportioned. They should have no flaws or spots. Some large stones are not worth as much as others half the size. One of our customers brought in a diamond for resetting which we set over 30 years ago and it was amazing how the value had increased. We pride ourselves that we sell a quality so good that there will never be any fault to find.

ENGLISH ACTORS BETTER TRAINED

By GEORGE TUCKER

"In England," he said, "There are repertory theatres everywhere. It's like going to college. You work every day, and work hard. But you learn to act. Here in America, it's a little haphazard. You work when you can, but most of the time you are looking for a job."

At 40, Rex Harrison has a rare personal acting triumph on his hand's. He is the co-star of Maxwell Anderson's "Anne of the Thousand Days," a classical tragedy of the nearly three years that Henry the Eighth and Anne Boleyn lived together as man and wife.

Harrison learned the business as a youngster travelling from one repertory group to another in outlying districts, playing different leads every week for nearly four years.

It was this type of schooling that produced Sir Laurence Olivier, Diana Wynyard, Robert Morley, Robert Donat, Sir Cedric Hardwicke, Michael Redgrave and other contemporary stars of the English theatre.

Rex Harrison is a tall slender man with brown hair, well known to movie fans and newspaper readers. After four consecutive long-run hits in London and a tour of duty in the R.A.F., he went to Hollywood three years ago.

But the rewards of playing in pictures are not enough for anyone who is lost away from the theatre, he says. He was not happy there, and he voluntarily dissolved his studio affiliation to gamble in an unknown play on Broadway.

It paid off.

"Leland Hayward came to my house one night and asked me to read Anderson's new play," said Harrison.

REHEARSALS BEGAN WELL
Rehearsals began well enough, Harrison recalled, "but—as with every play there were times when everybody wanted to jump into the river."

"I had never played a classical lead before," he went on. "When I put on all those things—the tremendous padding, the built-up torso, the leg casts—to make me look big boned—it was awkward."

He said the opening in Philadelphia was a nightmare. The action dragged. They called in a new director, rearranged some of the scenes, and everything got better.

"But in Philly nobody came," said Harrison. "We played to half empty houses. After you do that while you reach a point when you can't go another step without an audience."

When they got to Baltimore the jigsaw came together, and the reviewers raved. But they reached opening night in New York without the faintest idea what to expect. Harrison said he played the first performance without a sensation in his body.

"Leland Hayward and I walked up Broadway and got the early papers. I imagine everybody but the actors stayed up and celebrated. But we had to get some sleep. We had a matinee."

Harrison was born at Hutton, a little Lancashire town. He is married to actress Lilli Palmer, and they have a son, Casey.

Despite tribulations caused by strong northerly winds and freezing temperatures, the north coast herring harvest continued strongly this week with more than half the area's 30,000-ton quota having been caught off Stephens and Porcher islands.

Since the week's first sets were made last Sunday evening, more than 16,000 tons have been seized and both companies and fishermen are hoping to complete the quota during the next week, in order to concentrate on the southern part of the fisheries district, south of Whale Channel, where a 40,000-ton quota has been allotted.

No major showings of herring have been reported in the southern part of the district but it is hoped that they will turn up some time within the next 10 days to crown the season.

Between Sunday night and Friday morning, approximately 40 seiners working in Edye Pass and off Butler Cove brought up 16,433 tons from a large body of fish. Thursday night and Friday morning, the boats took 3,833 tons in 30 sets. On Friday, the boats, 82 seiners and packers, streamed into port here for the week-end.

Despite clear skies, the week was far from ideal for fishing. Strong northerly winds persisted and the cold weather, often well below freezing, had the effect of driving the herring deep as well as freezing the webs, making them difficult to handle.

Reduction tests show the herring to be of high oil content. Preliminary reduction, without use of the centrifuge, which will extract an even greater quantity, have shown a yield of 11 gallons of oil to the ton. The fish are averaging about eight inches in length. The whole catch is not being reduced in the Prince Rupert district. Packers are taking it south to Vancouver, Alert Bay, Cee Pee Cee and other southern plants.

Seiners of eight companies are active on the north coast and the fishermen have created 10 pools. Returns are consolidated in the pools and the total divided among the crews. The two largest companies, B.C. Packers and Canadian Fishing Co., each have two pools while crews of the other companies have two pools each.

The fisheries protection vessel Howie has been in the area for the last week, scouting the herring body for the fleet and conducting its own investigation for the Department of Fisheries. Having allotted a 30,000-ton quota, the department's interest is not on how much has been taken from the school, but on how much is left. On this, will be advanced estimates of future herring runs. The Howie is equipped with a depth sounder to measure the quantity of herring left in the sea.

Incidentally, this year has been a good one for the herring industry. The fleet had the best pre-Christmas season of any year in history, catching more than 116,000 tons, mainly off the west coast of Vancouver Island. If the northern quotas are filled, the season will exceed the record set in 1947-48 when more than 160,000 tons were produced.

Nothing official has been let out as yet on a rumored benefit game to be played between the city All-Stars and the stars of yesteryear in both ladies and men's classes. Sonny Stiles, Alex Mitchell, Bob Irvine, Dan Morrison and many others are working themselves over these days trying to prove they still have it in them and they're dead serious. In the ladies' section Cath Fraser, Lil Peters, Betty Lindsay and again many others, are given their all trying to get back into the stride they used to hit in the old City League. Many of us who can look back a year or two would like to see Lil Peters, the former "Bugs" Lowe, in action in today's Ladies' League. I for one am afraid she'd do a lot of damage. Then we have in the men's section fellows like Sonny Stiles that used to keep smiling regardless of what opposition he was up against and for some time and probably until the present day his record of 52 points in a single game stands.

Conservative party had failed to mention the North Atlantic security pact in the Throne Speech debate. He said that he had hoped that all parties in the House could have united on a foreign policy for this country.

Mr. Pearson told Commons that Canadians should support the North Atlantic security pact, not primarily because it would help to wage war but "because it will help successfully to wage peace."

"Fear grips the world again," said Mr. Pearson, "the fear rising primarily out of the extension of brutal domination of revolutionary Communism based on the massive and expanding militarism of Russia."

Applause rose when the minister said that Canada was not a "satellite nation" but, henceforth, would share the burdens that war creates and in efforts to prevent wars.

He suggested that the only reason the Conservatives refrained from comment on the North Atlantic pact was because they were playing politics with international peace. This drew retorts from Progressive-Conservative members.

George Drew, Progressive-Conservative leader, was not in the House when Mr. Pearson spoke but last night he said that the Progressive-Conservative stand on the Atlantic pact would be made known when legislation came before the House.

Quebec members of the Progressive-Conservative party are said to be lukewarm about the Atlantic pact.
