Principal Party In Denmark Calls Upon Gov't To Face West

OSLO, Norway (CP)—High diplomatic sources predict that all Scandinavia, including traditionally neutral Sweden—probably will join the proposed North Atlantic defence pact within six months. Norway is already prepared to cast in her lot with the west. Denmark's principal political party, the Social Democrats, only yesterday called on that country to face west in the quest for military security.

High officials in Sweden privately acknowledged that their country cannot keep its balance between eastern and western powers much longer. Sweden's sympathy is known to lie with the west.

Great Britain Needs Billion

Paul Hoffman, Head of E.R.P., Justifies Figure to Help Recovery

WASHINGTON, D.C. (AP)—The Truman administration today advised Congress that the proposed $940,000,000 in new aid to Great Britain is a "tight figure"—an absolute minimum. "Any reduction in it," warned Paul Hoffman, head of the economic co-operation administration, would adversely affect continued recovery in both the United States and western Europe.

Because of varying official British statements as to how far Great Britain has recovered from the strains of war, the committee called in Hoffman to justify Britain's share of the new $5,580,000,000 European recovery program.

RAILWAY IS AT NORMAL

Traffic Moving Again Today After Month's Battle With Snow Conditions

For the first time since early February it was a case of normal operations today on the line of the Canadian National Railways in the lower Skeena Valley. Trains are running again without the rotary snow plow convoy and the only concern of railwaymen for the moment was the possibility of slides in view of the milder weather conditions.

Saturday's passenger train from the East arrived at 3 a.m., four hours and fifteen minutes late. The hard working snow plow came in on Saturday afternoon followed by two freights. It was not necessary to send the plow out today.

The regular eastbound train is leaving this evening at 8 o'clock.

Two freight trains left here yesterday afternoon and got through to Pacific without delay.

President C. G. Ham Reports at Hospital Annual

"Much has been written and said concerning the hospitalization scheme and, because of its widespread application, none can afford to disregard it," President C. G. Ham said Friday night at the annual meeting of the Prince Rupert General Hospital Association. "Under the plan we can expect a degree of standardization through government control but Prince Rupert General Hospital will continue to be administered and run in accordance with the wishes of the local Board."

"Victoria," he declared, "sets the rate and scale of charges which, at first glance, gives the impression of a tremendous increase in costs. Analysis however, indicates that it is a much more equitable basis than formerly and one which will benefit the entire population."

Mr. Ham emphasized that, while rates are laid down by Victoria, the hospital remains "our responsibility, and every citizen will do well to remember this fact."

He outlined physical expansion of the hospital in 1948. This included remodeling of the military wing which gives the institution recognition as "one of Canada's most modern operating hospitals."

CO-OP ANNUAL MEETING OPENS

Seventy Delegates Attending Three-Day Gathering

First session of the annual three-day meeting of the Prince Rupert Fishermen's Co-operative opened this morning in the Oddfellows' Hall with 70 members of the organization present and two official delegates from the two southern B.C. Co-operatives.

This morning's business was concerned with the hearing of minutes of the last annual meeting, introduction of delegates and discussion of camp operation policies for the coming season.

Chairman of the session was Anton Martinussen, chairman of the board. He introduced John Donaldson, delegate from the Kyequot Trollers' Co-operative, Victoria and O. E. Hanson, of the United Fishermen's Co-operative, Vancouver.

Sessions will continue Tuesday and Wednesday.

Sunday afternoon, a meeting of the membership was called to open discussions regarding amalgamation of the three coast fishing co-operatives, but no decisions resulted.

A meeting of the B.C. Fishermen's Co-operative Federation will be held in Vancouver in the first week in March.

CITY POWER CRISIS OVER

Need for conservation of electrical power in Prince Rupert was declared officially over the Northern British Columbia Power Co. this morning after a week of warm weather had increased water reserves in the company's Falls River and Shawatians hydro reservoirs.

The Power Company stopped using the dry dock steam plant, switching back to the Falls River plant as its main source of power, at the week-end, Company Manager T. B. Black said this morning.

Tonight, for the first time in a fortnight, city business places may turn on their advertising display signs, returning the downtown district to its former brilliance.

Street lights, which had been operating at reduced power during the crisis, were restored to their full brightness at the week-end.

While water levels at Shawatians and Falls River are not yet back to their normal levels following weeks of cold, rainless weather, the run-off, due to relatively high temperatures, is sufficient to maintain full use of both plants.

No rain has yet fallen at Falls River but melting snow has brought the water level to a safe height. Danger of any further need for conservation of electricity is negligible.

Despite the power shortage, formal restrictions were never imposed here, as they were in the south. Conservation was in response to appeals by the power company and was sufficient to stave off the need for forced restrictions.

Mr. Black today thanked the public for its voluntary conservation of electricity and water during the crisis.

The city of Venice is built upon 122 small islands interspersed by canals and lagoons.

EYE INJURED IN PUB RIOT

A serious eye injury was received Saturday night by Ted Johnson, waiter in a Third Avenue beverage room, as he and other waiters tried to restore order in the room when a minor riot occurred just prior to the 11:30 closing hour.

Johnson received damage to his right eye which may result in impairment of his vision, during a struggle to eject a group of men who started to cause trouble as the place was closing down for the night. He was taken to hospital where the injury was given treatment by Dr. W. S. Kergin.

Waiters in the beverage parlor managed to get the unruly customers out onto the street where the trouble continued and attracted a crowd estimated at between 200 and 300 before it was quelled by the city police.

One man, William Addison, was taken into custody and charged with creating a disturbance.

NOTICE

With increased water reserves, conservation in the usage of electrical energy is no longer necessary.

We wish to thank all our customers who voluntarily assisted us by economizing in water and energy consumption during an unprecedented winter period.

Economies effected were sufficient to guarantee continuity of electrical service, and maintain the city water supply in a safe condition to meet any emergency.

DROP SUPPLIES AT ARROW LAKES

VANCOUVER (AP)—A Royal Canadian Air Force Dakota transport made 17 runs over two isolated hamlets in British Columbia's interior late Sunday to drop 4,000 pounds of food to 10 persons who had only 48 hours supplies left in their kitchens.

The plane arrived back here four hours after it took off on a 5000-mile round trip to Halcyon and St. Leon Hot Springs on Upper Arrow Lake. Ice on the lake, 250 miles east of here, prevented steamers from making regular supply calls.

The cargo included 900 pounds of fodder for livestock.

CITY POLICE FINES SLUMP

Revenue from police fines and court costs in January totalled $261.50, according to the monthly police report released today at the City Hall after consideration at the week-end by the city police committee. For the corresponding month in 1948, revenue was $1,575.

During the month, 51 informations were laid under the Criminal Code, Indian Act and Government Liquor Act. These resulted in 45 convictions, three dismissals and withdrawal of charges in two cases. Charges of intoxication accounted for 27 of the 45 convictions.

Monetary losses from Criminal Code complaints during the month were assessed at $1,153, with recoveries set at $1,078.

St. Laurent Battle DENUNCIATIONS IN HOUSE

A roaring House of Commons today heard St. Laurent and Opposition Leader George Drew denounce in which the Prime Minister was accused of "irresponsibility" and was in turn accused of "courage" and "decency."

Drew started over a speech that drew made in Montreal the week-end and spread to the federal government against Drew over his Hong Kong expedition.

NOVA SCOTIA GETS STORM

NORTH SYDNEY, N.S.—Following an extended period of mild weather, the winter's worst snowstorm broke over Cape Breton during the week-end. The blizzard was felt all over Nova Scotia. Snowfalls and gales were reported from practically all over the maritime provinces. Railway, highway and communication services were disrupted and a TransCanada Air Lines plane could not land here but went on to Montreal.

Desperado Is Killed

Vicious Arizonian Slain By Police In Shower Bath

PHOENIX, Arizona (AP)—A vicious triple slayer, Bill Ray Gilbert, made good his boast that he would never be taken alive. Surprised while taking a shower in a tourist camp cabin, the Arizona ex-convict fell dead before a blaze of police gunfire last night. His naked body was riddled with twelve bullet holes.

The 28-year-old Gilbert killed a woman and two men near Needles, California, last Wednesday. The gun battle with the police ended a crime foray in which Gilbert and a prison pal, George Adolph Schmid, 22, kidnapped a Phoenix woman, killed the three Californians and returned to Arizona with a plan to kill the state prison warden and other officials.

HOSPITAL SHOWS $6,000 LOSS FOR 1948 OPERATION

Despite an operating loss of almost $6,000 last year, affairs of the Prince Rupert General Hospital were termed "satisfactory" by the annual meeting of the Hospital Association Friday night in the city council chamber. The deficit was revealed in the revenue and expenditure account read by Secretary D.C. Stevenson.

Total revenues amounted to $145,757, while expenditures totalled $151,568. Deficit in the year's operation was $5,810.

A breakdown of revenues showed the following receipts:

Hospital fees charged, $91,671.

Special services, $36,953.

From this was deducted a total of $15,995 for free cases, bad debts written off, provision for doubtful debts and rebates, leaving a net collected amount from hospital fees of $112,719.

Provincial grants totalled $23,670, municipal per diem grants $6,968 and other revenues, including income from investments, laboratory fees, $2,399, making a total of $145,757.

In the expenditure column, salaries and wages accounted for $79,988 while hospital, medical and dietary supplies totalled $44,980. Purchased services amounted to $13,931. Insurance, depreciation, municipal taxes, repairs and other items made up the balance of the $151,568 operating cost.

Science Also Fails

SCIENCE HAS FAILED to deliver so far many things the public expects. We can't control weather, grow hair again on a bald pate, live to be 150, or make the energy in atoms do our work. We can't prevent cancer or the common cold.

Science, the 20th-century magician, has pulled off many miracles, and talked of many others. To some, it seems that science has broken its promises. But science never promises anything. It seeks facts and methods. Scientists have talked of possibilities, and done a lot of exploring. Over-enthusiastic listeners may go off the deep end.

Take rain-making. Scientists pulled rain and snow from clouds by seeding them with dry ice and other pellets. They took a first step toward controlling weather and said so. Just that. Lots of homespun experiments flew up into the clouds to become rain witch doctors. Usually they missed.

When the first atom bomb exploded, many people thought the day of atomic energy was just around the corner. Energy would be so cheap everyone could have everything he wanted, for maybe an hour's work a day.

Some officials said atomic energy might be put to peacetime use within 15 years. Four years later that guess still stands, give or take a few years. The problems are huge, with some new unforeseen ones.

Scientists long talked about getting gold from the sea. Well, they actually have. There's some 8,500,000 tons of it in the oceans. Getting it out is simply too expensive. But we are mining magnesium and bromine from the sea, at a profit.

On clothes we've come a long way. But not everything can be made lint-free or wrinkle resistant.

The riddles of cancer, the common cold, polio, haven't been solved. Often what looks like key clues are found. That's all to date.

A Russian scientist said he thought people should have a normal life span of 150 years. That wasn't a promise, either. Our length of life is rising steadily. North American peoples now live 20 years longer on the average than they did in 1900. Practical men think it will be raised to 100 years or more in the future. But not overnight, by a magic pill, as far as we can see.

CANADIANS SHOULD LEARN

THE Prince Rupert Public Library has on display a group of books and pamphlets on international affairs. The library, together with the Canadian Institute of International Affairs offers this feature as part of its work in stimulating interest in current problems and in presenting to citizens some of the worthwhile reading that is available.

Included in the display are Behind the Headlines pamphlets published by the Canadian Institute of International Affairs. This pamphlet series deals in simple and concise form with such important topics as "Communism, Its Strength and Its Future," "The State and Human Rights," "Soviet Policy Abroad." It is hoped that such pamphlets will lead Canadian citizens to a greater interest in such problems and to a greater use of their library as a source of facts and ideas.

Today Canada is playing an increasingly important role in world affairs but in order that her international leadership be sound, it is necessary that the citizens of Canada become more familiar with international problems. Only in this way can that thoughtful public opinion be developed which is necessary to support and inform the actions of our political leaders in Ottawa and in the capitals of the world.

Paardeberg 49 Years Ago

Anniversary Yesterday of Turning Point in Boer War

Among the many pictures of historic interest at the Canadian Legion is one entitled "The Dawn of Majuba." It represents the closing scenes at Paardeberg the morning of February 27, 1900, when Boer forces, under General Piet Cronje, surrendered. On the same date, many years before British troops had found it necessary to lay down their arms before the greater strength of several commandoes. This was at a place called Majuba Hill.

And so, the score was evened. Yesterday was the forty-ninth anniversary—almost half a century—of what was the turning point of the South African War which broke out in October 1899, and ended in May, 1902. It meant the equipment and maintenance of a large army, operating over an area the size of France and Spain combined, from a base 6,000 miles away. Ten thousand horses were needed every month.

The opening stages along the Tugela River in Natal were little better than a series of reverses. Two generals, one a Scottish officer, were shot dead. The officer commanding, Sir Redvers Buller, was relieved of his command and Lord Roberts, with Kitchener as chief of staff, took over.

The word "Boer" in the Dutch language, means farmer, or peasant. Three points of importance were under siege—Kimberley, Ladysmith and Mafeking.

Before Kimberley (where Cecil Rhodes himself happened to be) Cronje's army totalled approximately five thousand. He abandoned further siege and started for Pretoria as Roberts, who had revised the whole plan of campaign, moved from Cape Colony northward.

Headed off, Cronje's further flight was blocked. He was caught in a bend of the Modder River, between Kimberley and Bloemfontein and settled down to fight it out. There was time to dig long lines of trenches in the soft, fertile soil and in other ways increase defence. February 18 there was the first engagement, among the casualties being an officer of the first Canadian contingent. He was killed.

The trench-lined encampment (or laager) along the river shores could have been stormed but Lord Roberts, ever-anxious to preserve life, preferred to hold Cronje where he was.

Hunger, rather than battle, would settle the question. Holding him, however, had its risks. There was always the chance—if not expectation—of reinforcements. From February 18 to 27 struggle, siege and skirmish continued. Well beyond rifle shot, hung an observation balloon.

Pom-pom guns spoke daily and every evening, searchlights from Kimberley swung across the skies. Companies were posted on the heights of kopjes to watch for possible aid.

FINAL BATTLE
On the night of February 26 an advance to move close to the trenches was made. There were two lines. Troops carried rifles and small spades, and strode an arm's length apart. It was calm and starlight and past midnight.

Five minutes—perhaps less—elapsed when the front lit up with the repeated discharges of Mauser rifles. There was no shelter. All one could do was flatten out, dig enough protection to stick the head behind and keep on digging. Lying (Continued on Page 6)

A FRIEND

If you an ear to my lay will lend,
I will quote you my definition of a friend.
He must be a handy, unobstructive "fella"
Have much in common with our best umbrella
Right there and true when the clouds are busting
When trouble is brewing, he must be trusting.
Not much in evidence when fate is smiling,
Charitable, cheerful and seldom complaining.
Aware of our faults, yet feel friendship binding.
Quite often forgotten when the sun is shining.
His heart must be sterling with a golden lining.

KINDERGARTEN

Editor, Daily News:

In your report of my remarks to the central council of the Parent-Teachers Association last Monday evening there is an error which ought to be corrected. The reporter evidently confused my account of the origin of our kindergarten with its present organization. Since the fall of 1948 the kindergarten has been under the administration of our Sunday School. In the fall the teaching staff consisted of Mrs. George Ferguson and Miss Helen R. Hurd. Since January both the four and five-year-old classes have been under the direction of Miss Hurd. Miss Hurd is employed by the Women's Missionary Society of the United Church and comes to us with a rich background in children's work of this kind.

HEAVYWEIGHT WILL RETURN TO BRITAIN

The U.S. heavyweight Lee Savold, who was disqualified for a foul blow in his fight against Bruce Woodcock, is shown leaving London enroute to America. He expects to go back to Britain in mid-summer to fight the winner of the Bruce Woodcock-Freddie Mills heavyweight championship in June. Savold has promised to go back regardless of whether he fights Joe Louis or not.

BASKETBALL— Fashion In First Place

Intermediate Basketball League Leadership Changes Hands—Comadina Quits

Bo-Me-Hi Rainmakers bounded into third place in the Senior Basketball League Saturday night as they swamped the Savoy squad 65 to 46 and sent the hotel men into the cellar. In the Intermediate game Fashion broke their tie with Merchants whom they defeated 42 to 29. All play-off positions in the Junior League were decided when Kinsmen dropped High School 24 to 18 and eliminated them from any chances of gaining a berth.

An added attraction to the games was the start of the "Hoop Shoot Contest" when 20 participants tried their hand at dropping in the ball from the free throw line. The best shooting of the night was done by Steve Dumas as he missed his 13 consecutive ones to defeat first two shots and then scored Bill McChesney.

The Rainmakers started out to make trouble for the Savoy squad as they began dropping in shots from everywhere to build up a lead that was never threatened. Spring and Flaten shook loose in the first quarter and sparked the students all the game as they took a 15 to 10 lead at the quarter and then quickened their fast-breaking attack in the second quarter as they extended their lead to 33-19 at half time.

Savoy came to life in the third quarter with Ted Arney beginning to find his eye and score repeatedly with his hook shots. Bo-Me-Hi continued their terrific scoring as they took a 47 to 32 lead at three-quarter time. In the final quarter it was a shooting contest between Arney and Olson as both hit for 8 points. Bo-Me-Hi scored time and again as they broke fast

Looking Back in SPORT

The Royal and Ancient Game

The game of golf can practically claim Old Man Adam as a participant. As far back as man goes, he kicked pebbles around with tree branches or anything else that was available.

However, the first traces of golf as a game dates back to around the turn of the 15th century. In the middle of that century the Scots became quite serious about the game, which name, incidentally, probably stems from the Scottish word "golfe" meaning game.

Parliament banned golf in March, 1457, upon the recommendation of the king who claimed the game was too distracting. There was a fine and imprisonment applied for the playing of the game some years later.

Paradoxically enough, the King of Scots who signed the proclamation forbidding golf, took a few swings at a ball and the same thing happened to him that happened to so many men who later had to eat their unkind words about golf after terms of tournament golf. In match play the winner is decided by the number of holes won. The golfer taking the least number of strokes to sink the ball is the winner of the hole and the one who wins the most holes wins the tournament. In this system of play, the winner could actually take more strokes than the loser and still win the greatest number of holes.

In medal play, however, the one who requires the fewest strokes to sink the ball is the winner.

OMINOUS ESTHER, who has been killed in the community. The little comment on rat-free Alberta for proportionality was reported in Edmonton.

they became slaves to their club, ball and green. And when the king's breach became public knowledge, people seemed to have no compunction about breaking the law. In 1592 the ban against golf was repealed. Mary, Queen of Scots, was quite a golfer as was English Queen Mary who originated the word "caddy" by calling the boy who helped her around the course a caddy.

The first English Golf Club was formed in 1864 and the first golf tournament in history was in 1860. The game traveled to the North American Continent between 1860 and 1870 being played first in Canada. The first serious American golfer of record was John G. Reid of Yonkers, N. Y. The United States Golf Association was formed on December 22, 1894. The professional Golfing Association was formed in 1916.

TEE FOR TEN MILLION

In 1900 there were perhaps 50,000 golfers in the country. Fifteen years later perhaps there were 150,000. Now you can make your own estimate of those who play and play at the game. You would be conservative if you said 10,000,000.

While some people play a good game of golf with only 2 or 3 golf clubs and some tour courses with 35 and 40, there are 14 basic golfing clubs which are recognized by the various Golfing Associations as the maximum to be carried in any tournament play.

No. 1 Driver, No. 2 Brassie, No. 3 Spoon, No. 4 Cleek, No. 1 Driving Iron, No. 2 Midiron, No. 3 Mid Mashie, No. 4 Mashie Iron, No. 5 Mashie, No. 6 Spade Mashie, No. 7 Mashie Niblick, No. 8 Lifter, No. 9 Niblick, No. 10 Putter.

and caught the Savoy guard line wide open.

Bo-Me-Hi excelled in all departments as their shooting was tops, passing smooth and their teamwork really clicking.

Savoy floored a near complete line-up, missing only Ed Ciccone. It was the first time in many games they had so many players up. Several of them showed lack of condition from the long lay-off which lowered their calibre of play.

Savoy took 106 shots and made 21. They scored 4 of 11 free throws. Bo-Me-Hi took 85 shots and scored 27. This is one of the best shooting percentages in the Senior League this season. They canned 11 of 20 free throws.

It was the last appearance of the veteran arbiter, Johnny Comadina, who explained to the Daily News that he was getting tired of unjustified criticism from time to time and didn't have to take it any more.

INTERMEDIATE LEAGUE

Fashion Footwear had no trouble with Merchants as they took over first place with a 42 to 29 victory. Only in the first quarter did Merchants shine, tying Fashion 9 all at quarter time. In the second quarter Fashion broke fast and, with their quick passing attack, they built up a 19-11 lead at half time. Merchants were held to one field goal as their passing was wild and shooting below par. In the second half Fashion kept up their scoring attack and were toying with Merchants in the final quarter. In all games this season, Merchants have had difficulty in beating the Fashion squad.

Fashion's shooting was good and their teamwork smooth. Merchants had a hard time keeping a tight defence as their guards were weak and left their positions wide open.

Merchants took 70 shots and made 13. They scored 3 of 11 free throws. Fashion took 77 shots and made 19. They scored 4 of 9 free throws.

JUNIOR LEAGUE

Kinsmen continued to tack on another defeat to the hapless High School as they pounded out a 24 to 18 win over the students. Only in the first half did High School come close as they held Kinsmen down to a 10-9 lead. In the third quarter High School's defence split wide open and Kinsmen, led by Letourneau, put the game on ice as they took a 20 to 9 lead at quarter time. High School were shut out of the scoring column in the quarter. In the fourth quarter High School made a desperate effort but fell short as Kinsmen retained their lead.

Kinsmen took 46 shots and made 10. They scored 4 of 9 free throws. High School took 54 shots and made 8. They made

Timely Topics from Terrace

Mrs. C. R. De Kergommeaux, Terrace Reporter

With $1,200 set as this year's quota for the Red Cross drive for funds, canvassers are out this week to cover the whole district as mapped out by campaign manager Peter Van Stolk and Red Cross President James Stevenson. A meeting was held last Monday at the Outpost Hospital and the prospective canvassers showed a willingness to get started early on the job. Leaflets and receipt books are at the office of E. F. Kenney Ltd. for distribution.

C. H. Sawle of Hazelton was a business visitor in town coming in on Friday morning's train. He left Saturday for Prince Rupert.

A farewell supper was given for Miss M. Ross, late matron of the hospital, by the staff and relief staff when she was presented with a travelling clock and electric heating pad.

Saturday morning's freight train leaving Terrace had a passenger car and carried all mail to Prince Rupert.

Plans for the World Day of Prayer were made at the home of Mrs. F. Gavan last Tuesday afternoon by several members of the protestant churches in Terrace. The service will be in the Anglican Church on Friday evening and this year's leader will be Mrs. C. W. Alger.

Plans for the annual meeting of the Civic Centre Association were made at the monthly meeting of the board of directors last Wednesday evening in the Civic Centre clubroom. Lloyd Johnstone presided in the absence of President Dudley G. Little and it was decided that the annual should be held in the bowling alleys on the evening of March 16 and all bowling be suspended for the hour of the meeting. A nominating committee will be chosen by the president and Jeff Lambiey was appointed to arrange publicity. The rental of the hall was discussed and as it is due for a revision, the matter will be brought up at the next meeting. It is becoming increasingly difficult to procure chairs for any entertainment in the hall and this matter will have to be given serious consideration before the hall can be rented again.

"Auntie Ad." Mrs. Brooks has suffered a heart attack necessitating her staying quietly at home for a while.

Mrs. J. McLeod is recuperating at home after a sojourn in hospital.

Mrs. Farquhar is a patient in the local hospital.

The doctors and nurses at the local hospital have been kept very busy the past two weeks with patients for appendicectomy operations. On Thursday morning Jack Mathews and young Daivern Stefanson were operated upon. Previous to that Ivan Benoit and Marguerite Paquette.

Fred Baker returned last week from Prince Rupert where he went for a medical examination of his hand which was injured when he was working at Alice Arm last fall.

Dr. E. B. Prouse of Smithers came in with W. E. Bottomley by car to Terrace on Thursday and enquired by SeaBea for Prince Rupert where his wife is seriously ill in hospital.

Mr. and Mrs. George McAdams, who went south on holiday in January, have been at Prince Rupert during the past week awaiting transportation home and are expected by tonight's train.

Through two hoses of four lengths each attached to a hydrant near the power house, a rotary plow, engine and two freight engines were watered by the town supply last Tuesday.

After a week of continuous wind, snow and zero weather an end came on Wednesday afternoon when the wind died down and milder weather set in. Howling incessantly for a week, the wind rose to a pitch of fury during the early hours of the morning and the roads were covered with deep drifts of snow. The Department of Public Works were steady on the job of plowing out the road though not always on time for the youngsters to get to school, many of whom took advantage of the bad weather to take a holiday.

John Neilson was a passenger in the Seabea to Prince Rupert on Saturday afternoon.

Reminiscences

By W. J. - and REFLECTIONS

That was an interesting story about Jordan Smith and Joe Pruttinger, the trappers who lost their supplies in the Gardner Canal wilds and had to subsist on flour and water for a month. We'll bet that not even once did Joe ask Jordan or did Jordan ask Joe, "What's cooking?"

What next? There are already nine different English versions of "O Canada" none of which resemble the French version. And now, there is to be tried out, a new poem, the joint achievement of a French-speaking and English-speaking Canadian. At any rate, we'll all "stand on guard." That seems to be the world's chief business these piping times of peace.

About all that can be said against the American Army built warehouse at Prince Rupert is its size but, if that's a handicap, it is possible the inconvenience will be removed earlier than some think. Today, one hears far less about "demolition" and more concerning international problems. Activity at Port Edward increases. The city is growing. This is no time to dismantle something that a few years hence could be badly wanted.

Once, on a sunshiny Sunday afternoon many years ago the G.T.P. ran an excursion to Port Edward, newly cleared and with plank walks. Local folks looked things over but, when they wished to buy lots, confined their purchasing to the city at the end of the railway. Port Edward was already known as

Col. Dixon to Make Ottawa Trip—Announcement at Local Rally

District Boy Scouts' Association at the local Boy Scout-Girl Guide rally at the week-end made the interesting announcement that Lt.-Col. Keith Dixon, former district commissioner here and now located at Victoria, had been appointed to lead the western group of Boy Scouts which would be going this summer to Ottawa for the Dominion jamboree. Mr. Anfield hoped that there would be local Scouts who would achieve such proficiency as would qualify them to go to this great gathering.

The announcement was made as Mr. Anfield introduced James Nicol who directed Canadian Legion flag presentations were as follows:
Second Prince Rupert Scout

Troop, Robert Cameron, chairman; Harry Quick, Scoutmaster.
Third Prince Rupert Scout Troop, Fred Conrad, chairman; Dennis Garon, Scoutmaster.

Assisting with the program were Miss Geraldine Cafe of the First Prince Rupert Company, Girl Guides, and Mrs. Ted Moore and Mrs. Carlson of the Cathedral Group of Brownies.

Exercises, drills and games were performed, with marked precision indicating painstaking training and patient practice. Not without color were some of the displays such as the camp fire scene and the flashlight marching of the Girl Guides. Earnest fun was seen as young Brownies and Cubs staged their well-directed games. The first aid display was indicative of the useful training which the Scouts receive and practice.

Proceedings of the evening were under the general direction of Commissioner Honora Silver-sides of the Girl Guides and District Commissioner A. Hamilton Grant of the Boy Scouts.

down, a bayonet was handier than a spade.
With daybreak, a white flag was sighted and that was the end of shooting. It was seen that the trenches were little more than a few hundred feet away, when the lines, advancing through the darkness, were fired on. Later in the morning one could wander through the laager, a picture of rot and wreckage. Decaying oxen by the score lay along the river shores or in the stream. This was the source of subsequent enteric fever on a wide scale. Some of the boys found what looked like an old sea chest with a painting of Table Mountain on the cover. It was empty, except biscuit crumbs covering the bottom.
General Cronje was received by Lord Roberts who shook hands and offered congratulations on his defence. The general did not have a military look. He wore a semi-army dress, intended more for utility than style. He looked more like a plainly dressed farmer than a fighting man who had stood off a trained army, personally directed by a renowned commander. Cronje was soon on his way to Capetown, later to be taken to St. Helena in the South Atlantic where, eighty years earlier, the exiled Napoleon had died.

The march over the open veldt and into Bloemfontein would have been a stimulating and not unpleasant experience had anyone known the pleasure of satisfying a ravenous appetite. But half rations had been the rule for weeks. Raiding parties had captured tons of supplies. Few shined. Hundreds were lousy. Field dress was torn or ragged, or soiled or all three. Mornings were brilliant, days warm and sunny, nights cool. On a wide front, the regiments tramped to the tune of the pipes. The Argyll and Sutherland Highlanders appeared to prefer "The Cock 'o' The North."

Strong and spacious wagons, loaded to the limit, and hauled by long strings of oxen and mules rolled and lurched across the rough miles. Native drivers, using both hands to manage their long whips, ran alongside and with whistles and shouts urged the toiling beasts forward.

COLONIST'S SCOOP
It fell to the lot of a British Columbia daily to scoop the world on the surrender. This was the Victoria Colonist, W. W. Wrathall, old-timer of Prince Rupert, recalls it clearly. In 1900, he was living in Victoria, and served as a messenger for the Canadian Pacific Telegraphs. He took the famous despatch to the Colonist. Even the British War Office was scooped. It is said the B.C. morning paper landed its wonderful beat through Harry Davy, a boomer telegraph operator, and now a Colonist pensioner. Harry's acquaintance with operators in Montreal, Canso and New York made it possible to follow the hunch of a retired British officer who knew Africa and who had been insisting a Boer crisis was near. There certainly was,

Two weeks hence the popular old coastal liner Catala will be coming back for a few weeks on the Prince Rupert-Stewart-Alice Arm route of the Union Steamships service. The Catala will be taking over the run from the steamer Camosun which is to be withdrawn to have some overhaul work carried out in Vancouver.

On her regular weekly voyage, the Camosun, Capt. John Boden, arrived in port at 3:45 yesterday afternoon from Vancouver and waypoints, sailing at 11 p.m. for Port Simpson, Alice Arm and Stewart whence she is due back here tomorrow morning to sail at 1:30 p.m. for Vancouver and waypoints. At 5:15 yesterday afternoon the steamer Coquitlam, Capt. Harry McLean, arrived back from a voyage to south Queen Charlotte Island points, sailing at 10 p.m. for Butedale, Namu, Westview and Vancouver.

The Ketchikan fish packer Sydney docked here Sunday night to unload three carloads of American frozen fish for rail shipment to the United States market. It is likely to be the Sydney's last trip here for several weeks, since her skipper, Capt. Osmund Hendrickson, plans to have her overhauled at Ketchikan. The Sydney was previously here on Friday.
