The tug, owned by the Victoria Tug Co., was bound from Bamberton to Victoria and was running light when the tragedy occurred. It capsized off Trial Island, just off Oak Bay.

CANADIAN NAVY IS "ATTACKED" BY THREE-IAN COMMISSION—Almost everything under the heading "Royal Canadian Navy" came in for criticism in the report at Ottawa of the royal commission inquiring into its affairs after "mutinies" aboard the aircraft carrier Magnificent, the Athabaskan and the Crescent. The three-man commission, Rear Admiral E. R. Mainguy, R.C.N.; Leonard W. Brockington, and L. C. Audette, Ottawa, were appointed last spring following "incidents"—sit-down strikes—aboard three boats. Findings ranged from lack of adequate channels for airing men's grievances to "a notable lack of understanding" among officers and men. Above, Magnificent is seen arriving at Halifax after cruise.

DONALDSON ACQUIRES GEORGETOWN LUMBER PLANT

Historic Georgetown sawmill at Big Bay, seven miles north of the city, with which well known operators have been identified in his long career, has again changed hands, according to an announcement made here. It is the manufacturing plant on the north coast.

Donaldson, manager of the mill on the Ecstall mill on the Port Essington, is owner of the Big Bay mill. He has purchased the Georgetown Lumber Co. Ltd. of which W. E. and the late S. E. were the principals. It will be in future the Georgetown Sawmill.

The mill has been in operation for the past year but Donaldson announces his intention of reopening it about the middle of next year. He will personally operate as well as manage the mill.

The mill is equipped for general sawmilling business, having two planers for the finishing of lumber. It will continue to specialize in the production of box lumber as it has done in the past. Machinery has been kept up-to-date. Several years ago the machinery of the old Prince Rupert Sawmill at Seal Cove, Prince Rupert, was moved there.

Mr. Donaldson is a native of Victoria but has lived almost all his life on the Skeena River and since youth has been identified with Brown's mill. Started in 1876

The Georgetown Lumber and Box Co. mill is another mark in the historic life of a pioneer coast lumber operation whose known record extends back as far as 1876.

The change in ownership from the McAfee-Sunbury interests inspires wide local interest because of the fact that since the turn of the century, many city pioneers began their north coast residence in its employ.

The Georgetown mill began to manufacture cut lumber in 1876 when the late George Williscroft and C. F. Morrison opened the water powered operation to supply material for the stirring metropolis of Port Simpson, some five miles north.

Its output eventually exceeded local demand, even of the growing number of canneries on the Skeena so that considerable quantities were shipped to Victoria in sailing vessels.

Mr. Williscroft and Mr. Morrison operated the mill until the turn of the century when it was purchased by a company composed of Col. Cy Peck, V.C. and his two brothers, Haliburton and Gais. The late J. A. Brown, who founded Brown's Mill on Ecstall River, was also interested in Georgetown Mill about this time. Dr. W. T. Kerz, now resident in the south, also took an interest and eventually became president of the company.

At this stage, the expanding company incorporated as the Georgetown Sawmills Ltd. A second change of ownership took place in 1918 when the late George McAfee and H. R. McMillan, now British Columbia's biggest lumber producer, bought the property, re-incorporating as the Big Bay Lumber Co. in 1920. Weldon R. McAfee, who later became a partner in another change of ownership, joined the company in 1919 after returning from overseas.

George McAfee and Mr. McMillan continued operation of the plant at Georgetown until 1928, when it was moved to Seal Cove and re-incorporated as the Georgetown Spruce and Cedar Co. The plant operated until 1933.

In 1933 they sold out to Weldon McAfee and the late S. E. Sunbury, who moved the plant back to Georgetown where it operated continuously until a year ago.

It's production in late years was largely material for fish boxes and aircraft spruce. Its closure followed the death of Mr. Sunbury and the later death of his wife when their interests went into estate.

Production capacity varied from 20,000 to 30,000 board feet daily. Purchase of the property by Mr. Donaldson will resume an operation which has played a large part in development of the area.

City Income Taxpayers Share Full Part in Cost of Running Government

Average income in Prince Rupert in 1947 was $2,355 making the city twenty-first out of 34 major Canadian centres in the order of average income. And every one of the city's 2,660 income tax payers forked out an average levy of $250 to maintain government.

That's the general taxation picture in Prince Rupert as presented in the Department of National Revenue's "Taxation Statistics, 1949" which has a direct finger on Canada's economic pulse. The book has been just issued.

Although Prince Rupert was well down the line in the order of average individual income, the spread between the highest and the lowest—Quebec City with $2,585 and Medicine Hat with $2,264—was $321. Prince Rupert earners got an average of $230 less than their Quebec counterparts.

Total declared taxable income in Prince Rupert was $6,263,000 from 2,660 taxpayers, while an additional $562,000 in non-taxable returns was received by 780 persons.

Of the $6,263,000 in declared taxable income, exemptions and deductions totalled $3,264,000, leaving a net, taxable income of $2,999,000.

Total tax declared on the next taxable income was $664,000. A breakdown of Prince Rupert's 1947 total taxable income into earned and non-earned categories reveals that there are few idle-rich living on the backs of the poor. It's a city of wage-earners.

Of the total of $6,263,000 earned income accounted for $6,197,000 and non-earned income, which includes dividends, bond and bank interest, mortgage interest, annuity and estate income came to a grand total of $66,000.

Average income tax paid by the local citizenry was $250, just $50 less than those in Quebec City where the taxable income was $321 more.

Prince Rupert's percentage of the grand total of Canada's taxable income of $5,581,000,000 was .11, while city taxpayers' share of the total individual income tax of $622,000,000 was also .11 per cent.

The 34 cities listed in the order of average income accounted for 1,414,280 of the 2,366,456 income tax payers in Canada in 1947. Vancouver, which had an average income of $2,396 was thirteenth on the list. More than 132,000 Vancouver people paid

Newfoundland's "Christmas Seal"

This is the good ship CHRISTMAS SEAL, bought by the Newfoundland Tuberculosis Association with Christmas Seal funds. Staffed and equipped to give chest X-rays, it visits the outposts stretched along the rugged coast. It flies a flag with the double-barred cross on it, the world-wide emblem of the fight against tuberculosis. The same red, double-barred cross is painted several places on the ship. When it arrives at a fishing village the whole community turns out to get chest X-rays, for the people of the tenth province consider tuberculosis their greatest health problem. Tuberculosis prevention covers such a wide field that the variety of ways in which Christmas Seal funds are spent is great, but it is believed that Newfoundland is the first place in the world where the funds went to sea to fight tuberculosis.

Damage

MILLION DOLLAR DAMAGE TO LAND AND BUILDINGS IN THE MEDICINE HAT AREA YESTERDAY RESEMBLED THE WORST BOWL STORMS OF THE 1930'S.

Strong southwest winds which averaged 40 to 50 miles per hour reached gusts to 70 miles per hour and carried thousands of rich topsoil into Saskatchewan. The blow lasted for more than five hours.

Mr. Johnson, Mrs. J. Doren and Mrs. Cowie of Lethbridge, were in the city for a brief visit with their sister, Mrs. Mitchell, Atlin, B.C. They arrived in Prince George last Wednesday evening here by way of Kamloops.

We Are Congratulated

APPRECIATIONS are being received at the Daily News office following recent publication of the international joint edition by this newspaper in co-operation with the Ketchikan Chronicle.

Former Premier T. D. Pattullo has written congratulating the Daily News on "the initiative and enterprise you have displayed and to express appreciation of the public service you are rendering both locally and internationally."

Frank Turner, chief of bureau, Canadian Press, Vancouver, writes: "Congratulations on that smart international edition. It's a honey of a job."

Incidentally, Canadian Press put out the following feature story from Toronto Bureau for distribution to all newspapers in Canada:

The story of the growing economic importance of northern British Columbia and its friendly neighbor, Alaska, is told in a recent international edition published by two newspapers, the Prince Rupert Daily News and the Ketchikan, Alaska Chronicle.

The single issue, published Nov. 17, was the co-operative work of the two newspapers. The Daily News printed a 24-page, two section, edition and with it went a 16-page Alaska Chronicle edition.

The international edition was sponsored by the Prince Rupert Trades and Labor Council (A.F.L.-T.L.C.).

The port of Prince Rupert, says a story in the Daily News part of the issue, is linked in common destiny with Alaska's shipping and industrial interests.

Prince Rupert, 500 miles north of Vancouver, is only 40 miles from the southerly tip of the Alaskan Panhandle and 96 miles from Ketchikan, Alaska's first port and called the salmon packing capital of the world.

Prince Rupert is 500 miles closer to southeastern Alaska than is Seattle, the original port for Alaska trade. With the advent of statehood for Alaska, certain shipping restrictions are expected to be removed.

Industrial expansion in Alaska, with the building of pulp mills and other projects, will provide increased tonnage for the port of Prince Rupert, the most northerly terminus on the Pacific coast of a trans-continental railroad—the Canadian National Railways.

Prince Rupert is the halibut capital of the world, with millions of pounds of the valuable fish landed here each year from Canadian and United States vessels for rail shipment to eastern markets.

Millions of dollars are being spent in the construction of a cellulose plant which already gives employment to 1000 workers. It will require large-scale logging operations to feed the mill, which is designed to produce purified cellulose for textiles and plastics.

Construction of a new home for the Daily News is to be started shortly. It will be of modern construction, featuring the latest in newspaper office planning.

The Daily News was founded 40 years ago. Its first publisher was G. R. T. Sawle, now of St. Catharines, Ont. Since 1943 it has been under the control of H. G. T. Perry, president and managing director. The managing editor is G. A. Hunter.

WORLD SHIPBUILDING

LATEST Admiralty statistics reveal some interesting information about the world shipbuilding situation. They show that the tonnage of merchant shipping under construction in United Kingdom yards in September rose to 1,950,000, about 36 per cent being for export. New tonnage at 122,000 exceeded work completed by 25,000, more than half the total being taken by tankers. Tanker tonnage under construction in the United Kingdom now stands at the record level of 807,000 of which more than 50 per cent is scheduled for overseas owners. The volume of shipping undergoing repair or reconversion is maintaining anticipated decline and now stands at just 2.4 million tons compared with 2.9 millions in January and the 3.5 millions peak figure reached in March 1948.

Total merchant tonnage under construction in the world at the end of September was 1,067 steamships and motorships (excluding ships of under 100 tons gross) of approximately 4.6 million tons gross. Of these, 392 ships of approximately two million tons were being built in the United Kingdom so that 45 per cent of the total tonnage under construction throughout the world is being built in United Kingdom yards.

TB CHRISTMAS

LIKE three thousand other Prince Rupert people we have received an envelope from the Soroptimist Club of Prince Rupert containing two dollars worth of "Prevent Tuberculosis" Christmas Seals. The sale of these seals is one of the principal means by which the Canadian Tuberculosis Association carries on its work throughout Canada of fighting tuberculosis. The important thing, and we urge everybody to do so promptly, is to mail the remittances promptly so that Prince Rupert may have a good record of support for a good work the benefits of which are felt here.

At this season of the year when so many things demand, we should not neglect attention to this simple but very important act which is a matter of concern to us all.

Services in the Church

SATURDAY SERMON

(By Rev. Earl Solland, St. Paul's Lutheran Church)
WORDS OF GRACE

"And all bare Him witness, and wondered at the gracious words which proceeded out of His mouth. And they said, 'Is not this Joseph's son?'" — Luke 4:22

Jesus Christ has spoken to man about the most important things in life. As we enter into the new church year we can gain much good for ourselves if we take time to let Christ speak to us. The words of Jesus are more than those of other men for they contain much that reaches the depths of the human soul. The Bible tells us that Christ's words have many interesting qualities. Among them are these: they are imperishable, they are words of grace, they are full of power, they are spiritual, they give life, they are without peer, they bring judgment, they are divine, and they carry a promise of fulfillment.

Many of the people who heard Jesus speak are just like a lot of us today. Jesus speaks and they became interested. Surely He had a message. The message touched a vital place in their life. It convicted them of unrighteousness. They knew He was right. How about it, did they change from the wrong path in life? No, this was only Joseph the carpenter's son. We have known him since He was a child. Why should He interfere in our lives? And so, the words of grace are heard and no apparent effect is produced because of the hardness of men's hearts.

It is common today to get somewhat the same reply to the words of grace that God speaks. Surely we know that God's Word is truth. We know that we should give it a place in our hearts. We know that we should obey it. But then, it is so nice to sleep on Sunday. It is the only day we can really relax and loaf and do the things we like to do. And if we do go to church we are only reminded that we are wrong and we already know that.

When Jesus speaks, His words are words of grace. That means that they contain a gift for us. This gift is according to our needs and differs according to each person. The gift may be in the form of a warning that our present path leads to hell. It may be words of encouragement to travel the rugged path that leads to heaven. It may be that it brings the great news that our sins, though they be great are forgiven. Perhaps we are spiritually dead. Then the words of Christ may give to us a new spiritual life. Our needs are many. God is able to meet every need.

The Bible tells us that the only way we can get these gifts is to be where God's Word is found. When God speaks to you in the church service and you are willing to obey these words, then you receive God's gift. If you stop to consider that the only way that you can get to heaven is to receive the heavenly information and food that is found in God's Word, then you will not be slack in using the opportunity that God gives to you. Wisdom demands that you listen to the words that Christ speaks and then give them a place of authority in your life.

The group they went to the ladies' lounge where dead silence reigned for an hour while all sketched a dog that kept changing his position constantly. When the resulting drawings were displayed, it turned out that many had sketched Mary Sinclair who was trying to hold the dog still, while Mrs. Hill had an excellent sketch of Edith Johnston bending over her work, and Mr. Cheesman had drawn Miss Lavigne and Mrs. Priest in deep concentration.

Bowling For Recreation

Beautifully Designed Building Houses New Bowling Alleys

As modern as any bowling alley to be found anywhere in British Columbia were those opened today to the public. With seven alleys upstairs finished earlier in the year, the six new alleys downstairs brought the Prince Rupert Bowling Alleys to completion.

The enterprise is backed by a group of local businessmen and will now give the people of Prince Rupert another fine recreational facility. The general manager of the alleys will be Ed Garner who will be in charge of the lower floor while Eddie Muselman will continue to manage the upper floor. Mr. Garner, who this year is serving a term as president of the Prince Rupert Kinsmen Club, has more than six years experience in the bowling business as the former owner of the Rex Bowling Alleys.

The entire building has been completely remodelled in the most ultra-modern designs and only the finest of materials were used in its construction.

The entire front is of modern glass bricks and black tile which were supplied by the Island City Builders Supplies while the sheet metal finishing was carried out by the Thom Sheet Metal Limited.

The modern streamlined alleys were installed by the National Manufacturing Company Limited of Vancouver and are made of the finest Eastern maple. The equipment installed in the pits is designed to assure accurate pin-setting while another new feature is the use of the foul line lights with switchboard controls by the referee during the league games. The fluorescent lighting installed by Grant & Newton, electrical contractors on the job, has been arranged to provide proper illumination on the alleys at all times. The pleasant surroundings created by natural finished panneling and interior fixtures were installed by Russ Gatzke, contractor. The plywood and lumber were supplied by Albert & McCaffery.

A modernistic sandwich bar has been installed as an added convenience to the patrons and it will serve both hot and cold meals and sandwiches. The cafeteria has 12 very smart chrome, plastic swivel chairs, a marble like esplanade covered counter and a smartly designed back board set off in the color theme of the alleys.

A set of specially designed curved lounge seats with natural wood finish were upholstered and covered with yellow plastic by Mattson's Upholsters.

The entire plumbing was supplied and installed by Saanich Plumbing & Heating and other materials were supplied by Philpott, Evitt Co. Ltd.

The general public are invited to attend the open house tonight at the Prince Rupert Bowling Alleys and all money received during the day will be donated to the various kiddies Christmas parties. Ed Garner stated that it was the desire of himself and the other directors to serve the people of Prince Rupert in every way possible with their enlarged accomodation and modern alleys.

Alley Proceeds Go To Kiddies Xmas Parties

The entire proceeds of today's receipts at the opening of the Prince Rupert Bowling Alleys will be turned over to Don Forward of the Civic Centre for distribution to the various Kiddies' Christmas parties which will be held in Prince Rupert during the coming month.

The alleys will be open to the general public after the official opening at 4 p.m. this afternoon.

Bowling No. 1 Sport In North America

Bowling has now become the number one sport as far as player participation is concerned on the entire North American continent with more than five million people, young and old, entering leagues during the past year.

This phenomenal growth is due mainly to the fact that there are no age barriers and whole families can play together in league competition.

OFFICIAL OPENING—

DON FORWARD OPENS NEW PRINCE RUPERT BOWLING ALLEYS TODAY

With Don Forward, Civil Centre director, officiating, the official opening of the newly completed Prince Rupert Bowling Alleys took place this afternoon with a goodly crowd of bowling enthusiasts and spectators on hand.

Mr. Forward gave the opening address and commended the young men who had provided this additional form of recreation.

Mr. Forward said: "To the development of community and neighborhood life, which is fundamental to a sound society, recreation centres are making a great contribution.

"Recreation is leisure activity engaged in for its own sake. It includes outdoor and indoor games and sports, swimming, camping, hiking, skiing, drama, playing instruments, arts or crafts and many other activities. The dictionary calls recreation refreshment. Recreation may be a personal hobby or a small or large group. It may be organized or unorganized under private auspices or governmental, commercial (as is this bowling centre) or non-commercial as is our local Civic Centre. In any event it is today cast in a greater role than heretofore since it is the principal opportunity of many people for expressive, joyous living." Mr. Forward continued: "Today it is my privilege to congratulate the public-spirited young men who have staked their future in the building and financing of this splendid bowling centre. They have provided everything imaginable for the comfort and pleasure of their guests, and they have not spared any expense in so doing.

"This is an important addition to the recreation facilities of this city. Far from feeling that it is a recreation centre that will interfere with the activities of our most valuable asset, the Civic Centre. I feel that the bowling alley adds another form of recreation and enjoyment that will make Prince Rupert a happier community in which to live."

In his first official act Mr. Forward bowled the first ball on the new alleys.

Mr. Ed. Garner, general manager of the Alleys, who will be in charge of the downstairs section, thanked Mr. Forward for his many compliments and expressed the wish that the Civic Centre will continue to grow and prosper under his guidance.

New Leagues To Be Formed At Alleys

With the completion of the second section of the Prince Rupert Bowling Alleys it was announced by Ed Garner that there will now be alleys open at all times for the use of the general public and all leagues will continue to play on their allotted evenings.

The bowling executive plans to start new leagues in five pins and any interested persons are invited to leave their names at the bowling alleys.

There will also be ladies bowling during the afternoons during which time tea will be served.

Definite plans are being laid for organizing leagues to take care of the Ten Pin enthusiasts in the city. Ten pins will be played on the lower floor only.

Editorial SCHOOL SPIRIT

THE "Spirit of Bo-Me-Hi" seems to be taking a back seat. At the recent assembly it was discovered that only a few students knew the school song. The situation concerning the various cheers was even worse, the members of the Cheer Squad being almost the only ones knowing the words. Perhaps they could be persuaded to issue copies of the songs and cheers as they did last year. With the projected Kay-Hi basketball series in December, this is not a very good state of affairs. Let's do our best and make the "Spirit of Bo-Me-Hi" something to be proud of.—C.W.W.

Did You Notice—

- ... that report cards have come and gone? What, students, would you most like to see abolished in the present school system?
- ... that George Furniotis has been walking out with Sherrie Ingalls?
- ... the comedy team of Olsen and Johnston (Gr. 13) rolling wooden balls down an inclined plane in physics class? Anything for a laugh.
- ... that Claire Ritchie has become extremely popular with the boys on the Catala?
- ... that Junior Council President Jack Leighton has resigned?
- ... that another window in the school is broken as a result of a too-small football field?
- ... that Joyce Strand has become the idol of several Grade 12 and Senior Matric boys?
- ... that Mr. Cleland considers Lee Faught to be an "Intelligent B'l thing?" (ha! ha!)

Kay-Hi Coming for Hoop Basketball Series Here Next Week

THE annual Kay Hi-Bo-Me-Hi Series will be played on Friday and Dec. 2 and 3, with both teams fielding ten players. The Ketchikan team will arrive here Thursday afternoon and will or early Monday morning.

According to Rain-makers Manager Henry Martniusen, arrangements for billeting the group have already been completed. Plans for entertaining the players consist of a banquet on Thursday evening and a private party Saturday night.

Because both teams are so evenly matched sports fans may expect a special treat in this series.

Journalism Club Is Ambitious

The wheels have started turning already in preparation of the school annual. Many ideas have been presented and it is only fair that all should know what is being done to make this one of the best yet.

So that this book will represent the whole school, each class has been asked to send a representative to the noon-hour meetings. Not only the annual, but also the weekly school news published in the Daily News is discussed at these meetings.

The Art Club has promised its help in drawing the mascot for the annual.

There is a Literary Contest going on right now. Ten dollars in prizes are being offered for your efforts. Easy money can be earned by some pen-pusher. Any contributions will be welcomed.

Another point that has come up for discussion is the possibility of having an Ex-Bo-Me-Hi column. In this column one could hear about old friends. It's nice to think, too, that when one graduates, one doesn't drop out of the picture altogether.

And a parting thought; Keep the Contributions for the Contest Coming in.

Ray Reflects . . . . . . and Reminisces

"Say, which way is the Bank of ---?"
"Would you mind telling me how one gets to the waterfront from here?"
"Where's the vendor's shop?"
"Thanks."
"Where do you ask about trains?"

"I've made a wager that the land across the harbor is Alaska. Am I right?"
Yes Prince Rupert is full of strangers. And it's becoming more that way. They ask questions but that is their privilege. And it gives a hint of what's in the other fellow's mind as he roams around.

A month from today won't be Christmas. It has, however, a name and is part of the Yule season. Boxing Day has its place. Who wants to even think of the job, right after December 25th.

Discovery of midget livestock in a "lost" canyon by a North Dakota resident has been played up for the past few months. It even caught the attention of the London press. The owner of the bull and four heifers (small enough to walk under a card table) refused to disclose the location of the canyon. This led to inquiries. He was just another liar and faker. He had given $100 for the little cattle to a Montana rancher who for years had experimented in growing stock of miniature size. After all, it's best to be honest. You can't stage a hoax so easily today. Someone or something will show up, to expose it.

In many cases, a story can be told about a building, if it's old enough. There are no real old buildings in Prince Rupert unless we are generous enough to admit that anything built since 1910 is getting along. But somewhere, as a rule, there's a yarn. You know that two floor frame block on Second Street, just below the corner of Second Avenue. Years ago, one afternoon, the entrance platform on which dozens of Japanese waited to join in the funeral procession of a fellow countryman, suddenly gave way while the casket was being carried out. No one was seriously harmed, but each was given the surprise of his life. And each looked it.

United States and Canadian forces will devote a few weeks in mid-winter to training away up in Yukon, Alaska, Behring and the near Arctic. In future no one will dare tell them January is a pleasant enough month in the north.

Fisheries Department Army Housed — Doldrums
Along Waterfront

Imagine an army, normally spread over a wide area of territory suddenly called to a central base for strategic reasons. The problem of providing them with space would loom as one of the major concerns for those charged with their directing.

That, exactly, has been the problem of the local Department of Fisheries with their host of inspectors who normally are in the field, spread over a wide area of the coast, but who, at the present time are concentrated at the Prince Rupert office.

The Fisheries offices in the Federal Building are normally no more than adequate for the permanent staff of six or seven but, with an invasion of the field staff, it assumes a slightly more-than-crowded aspect.

The matter was recently solved in a reasonable enough manner, although considerable negotiations were required for it. The Department has taken over part of the office formerly occupied by the Harbor Master. Growth of the Department's protection and investigation staff, comprised of inspectors who cover widely separated areas, has increased the administration problems connected with the local district headquarters. It is inevitable that more office space would be required, but where to get it was a poser.

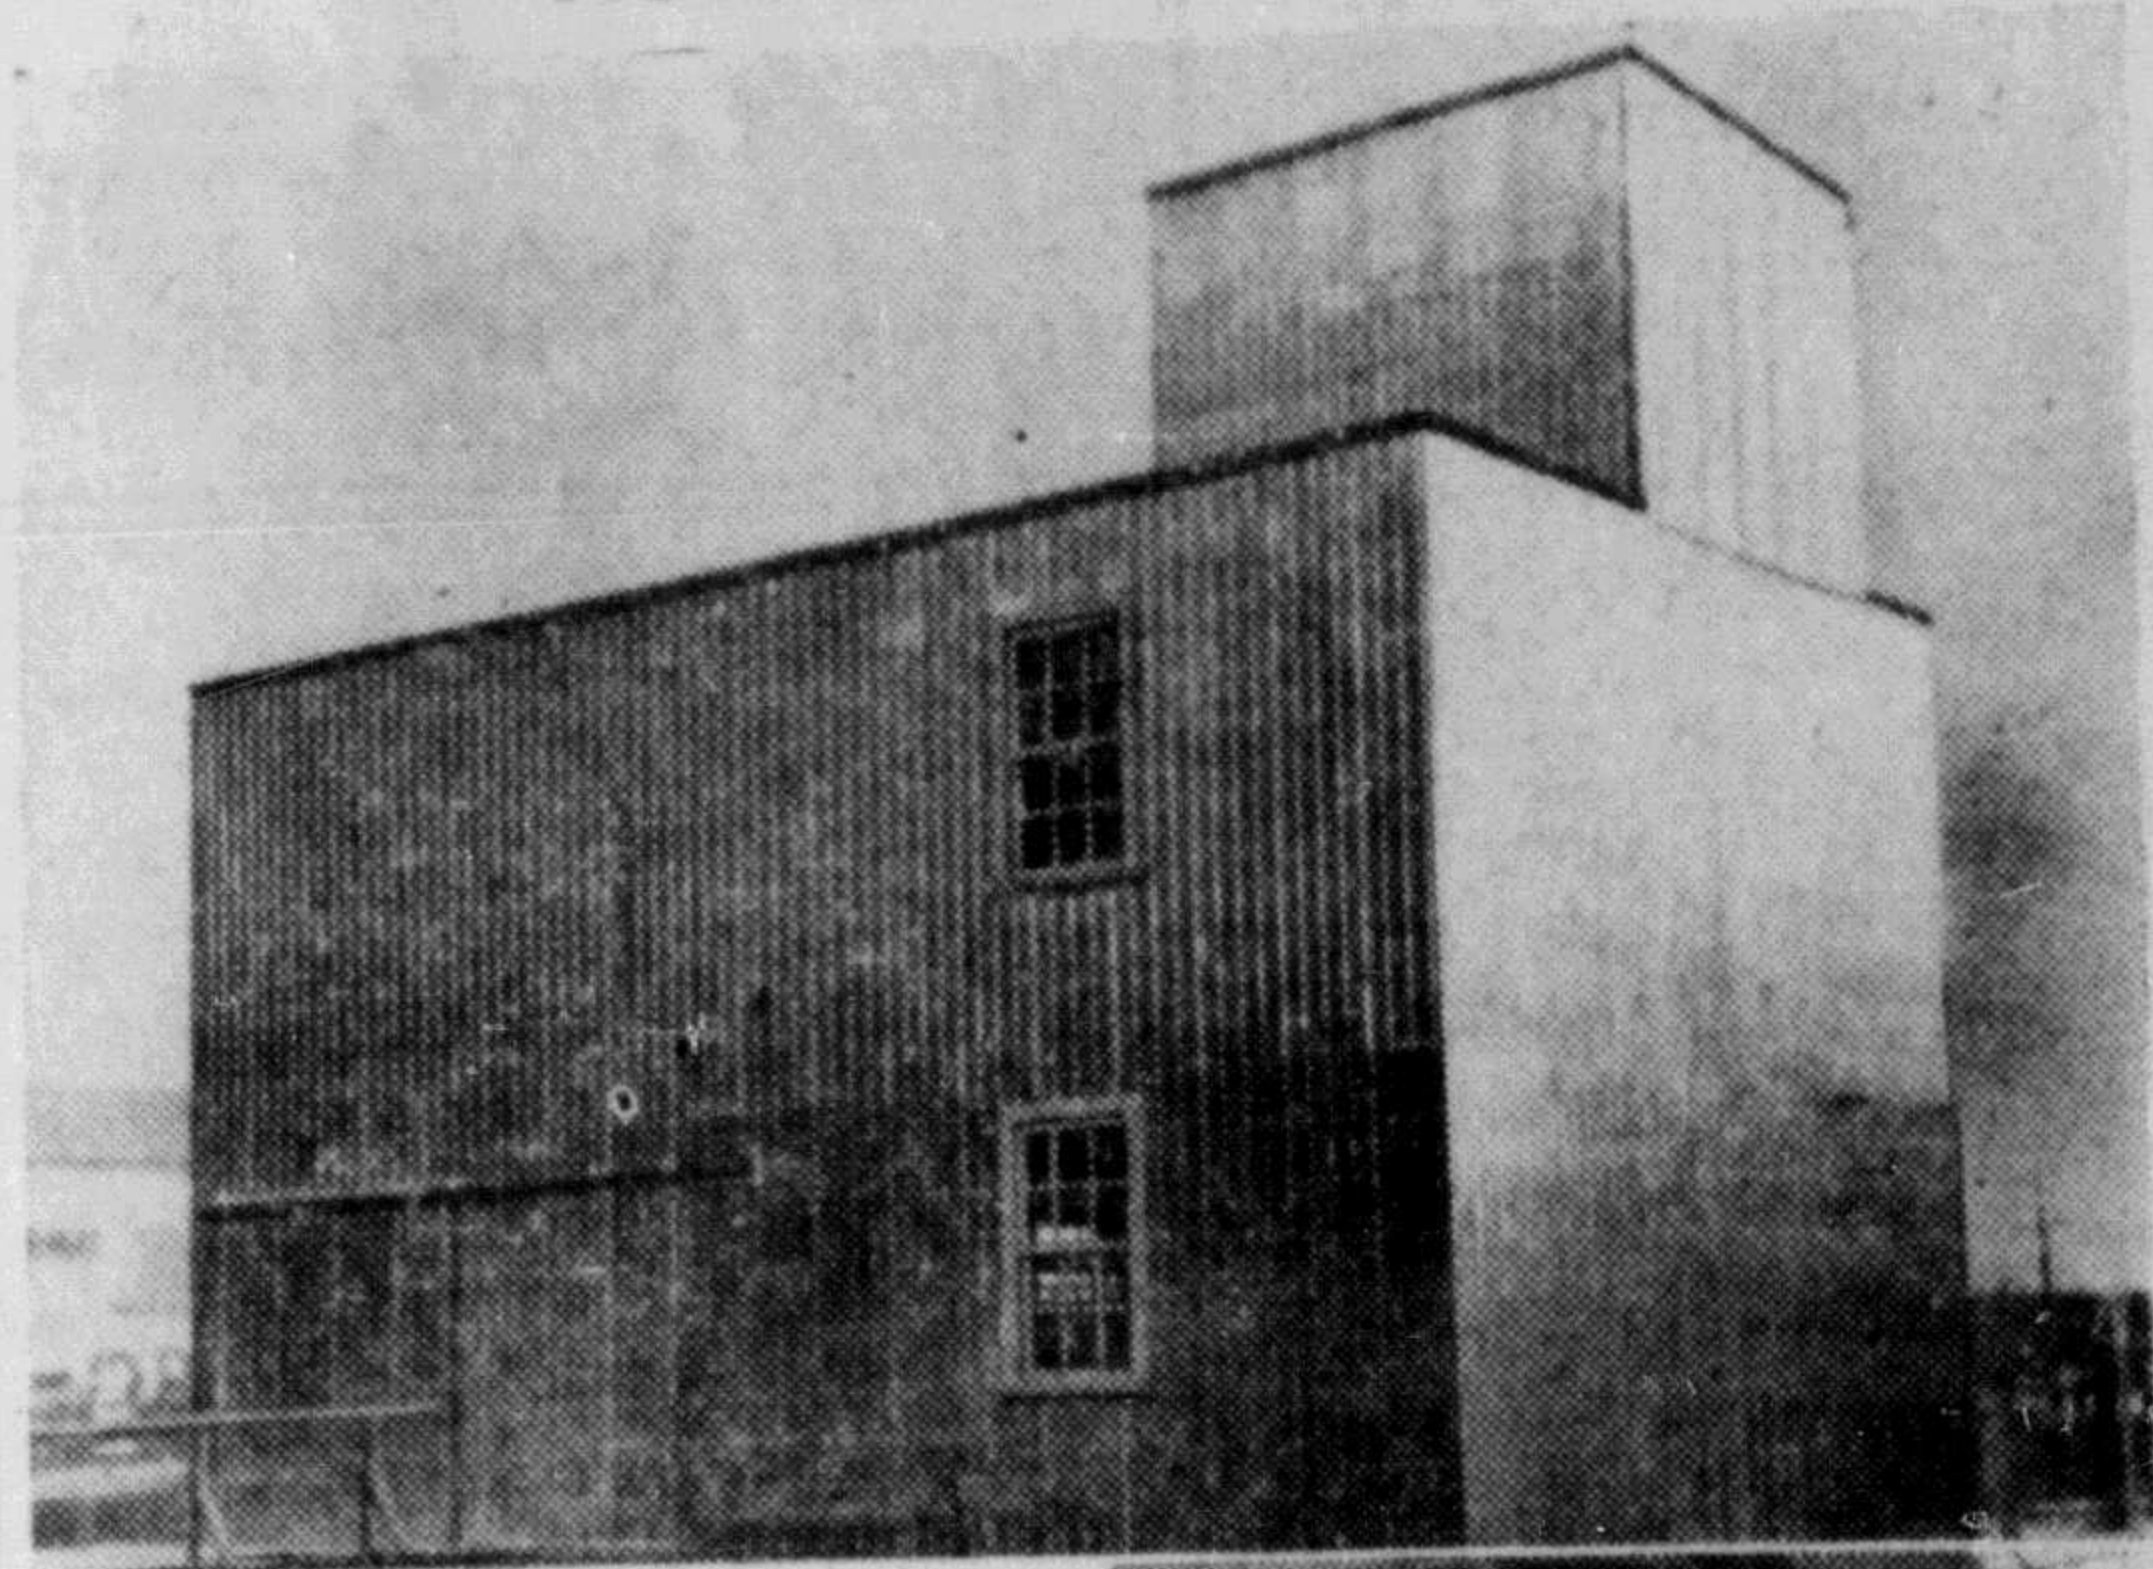

Ideal location would be adjoining offices but all were taken up, the most suitable by the harbor master, the late Capt. J. R. Elfert. With his death and the subsequent delay in appointing a successor, the Department felt justified in pressing its claim for a part of that office.

Authority to overflow into the outer office of the Harbor Master was recently given and now, at a time when a large number of field men are centred here seasonally, the enlarged space is very useful. No longer are eight or ten field men crowded into the main office with the regular staff—all trying to find elbow room to work.

While this is the pre-Christmas doldrums for the fishing industry—the slackest time of the year—the Department men are just entering into a season of great endeavor. This is the time when the results of last season's activities must be surveyed and plans for next season's work defined. The fact that the fishermen are not working means nothing to those charged with preservation of their source of livelihood. Their work continues as before.

Waterfront people feel the slackness of the season. Only fresh fish being handled at the plants are a few flatfish delivered by the beam trawlers which are winding up their work. For the last month or more only a handful of these boats have been out and their occasional cargoes make only a ripple alongshore. Most of the boats are planning to conclude their operations within the next week until after the new year.

New Smoke House

Shown above is the recently completed air conditioned smokehouse at the Fishermen's Co-operative plant, Fairview. Only one of its type in existence, it operates on the principle of a vertical revolving conveyor chain on which the fish are suspended. Outside dimensions of the aluminum-sheathed building are 36' by 28' and its height to the top of the cupola measures 36 feet. The tunnel also 36 feet high, is six feet by eight feet at the base.

Capt. William Eccles was in command of the Canadian National steamer Prince George this week, replacing Captain Ernest Caldwell, who currently is vacationing in Mexico. Capt. Eccles regularly commands the Prince Rupert when both boats are in operation. Capt. Caldwell has been in command of the Prince George all fall since the Rupert went in for overhaul at Vancouver.

Two coastwise ships were in port Friday afternoon. The Princess Norah, Capt. Graham Hughes docked at 12.30 bound for Skagway with a small list of passengers and the Camosun, Capt. Harry McLean, arrived an hour later enroute to the Mas-set Inlet ports. Bulk of the Norah's passenger traffic is E. Cox, Vancouver; A. Lorn, southbound as sourdoughs leave Alaska and the Yukon for the T. Berg, city.

If Boyo Gurvich weighs in at anything under his usual twenty tonight, Brownwoods, the hard luck boys of the Senior Basketball League, will give the star-packed Co-op outfit a stiff going over and should turn up with their first win of the season over the fish and liver men.

Big Angus Macphee, who early in the season was advising every other team but his own to strengthen ranks to make a race of it, has now found it necessary not only to don a strip himself but to dig deep down into the barrel for Sonny Beynon who seemed to have been a forgotten man at the start of the show.

The upstarts from the Booth Memorial seat of learning are this year doing what they have done every year since they were forced to go senior and that is refusing to give in. They have wins to their credit over both the other teams and in their last start against Co-op actually gave their big brother the game in the home stretch.

Now, with Brownwoods showing against the students last Tuesday in a high speed contest that showed remarkable shooting on both sides, the shoemen hit the wire, winners by a length or so, hence their being picked to come out on top tonight.

By the way, in passing I might urge you to either phone or get there early this evening if you are looking for a reserved seat. Don Forward and his aide, Fred Calderoni, mentioned yesterday that they expect a crowd of the young tonight's important are anxious to please. It's a case of the old first served, however better look after your
