Some Income Tax Relief Granted But Profits And Wages Still Held Down

LONDON (CP)—Last autumn's devaluation of the pound sterling turned out better than was expected. Sir Stafford Cripps, Chancellor of the Exchequer, told the House of Commons in his budget speech. Since September exports have recovered sharply and in the first three months of this year

Public Health—

Teeth Main Defect Here

Dr. Black Comments After Examinations Of Children

Following an examination of 274 children during the month of March, Dr. Duncan Black, director of the Prince Rupert Health Unit, announces that the health of city school children is satisfactory and their diet reasonably adequate.

The main defect observed and one which requires serious thought by the parents," says Dr. Black, "is the state of the children's teeth."

Out of 171 children examined only 35 mouths were considered normal, that is, eighty percent of the children in their first year of school were starting off with a definite health disability.

This state of affairs should be rectified at the earliest possible opportunity," says Dr. Black's report. "A child's 'baby' teeth are important. Poor dental health should not be encouraged by neglecting the first set of teeth."

During the month of March there was a drop in measles and chickenpox cases — eleven and 30 respectively — but mumps cases, at thirty, were nearly doubled.

"Mumps is not a disease which should be viewed lightly," comments the report. "Severe and permanent complications may follow an attack. Therefore, all precautions regarding isolation and quarantine of contacts should be strictly observed. The isolation period is ten days from the onset of the disease or until all swelling has disappeared from affected glands. The quarantine period is from the twelfth day following first exposure to the 21st day following last exposure."

The report states that a public health nurse paid her first visit to the school at Cedarvale during the month. Conditions in Terrace and Smithers districts were generally satisfactory.

On the whole health of the children of Queen Charlotte Islands was found to be good although paleness and undernourishment and lack of rest and sleep were noted at Port Clements while at Queen Charlotte City paleness and tiredness appeared prominent.

Princess Elizabeth is expecting her second baby, an announcement issued last night from Buckingham Palace indicated. It read: "Her Royal Highness, the Princess Elizabeth, Duchess of Edinburgh, will undertake no further public engagements."

This is the usual procedure for announcing an expected Royal birth. Princess Elizabeth, who will be 24 this Friday, now is in Malta with her husband, the Duke of Edinburgh, who has been serving with the Royal Navy in the Mediterranean since October, 1949.

Bechuanaland Chief is Home

SEROWE, Bechuanaland, South Africa — Seretse Khama came home before dawn yesterday on a visit to his white wife and his black Bamangwao tribesmen amid cheers, tears and kisses.

His wife, the former London stenographer, Ruth Williams, ran 500 yards, half sobbing and half laughing, over rough sand tracks into the arms of the Bamangwao chief. She is expecting a baby this summer.

Ruth had not seen her husband since he went to London three months ago to hear that Britain was going to banish him for five years from his homeland because of the fuss his marriage had stirred up.

TOKYO — Forty Japanese generals returned home Monday from Siberia "happy to be back in Japan before the war starts between the United States and U.S.S.R."

Major-General Janjiro Iketani, former chief of staff of the Kwantung Third Army, said the most of people felt "it is only a matter of time" before the shooting war starts.

The generals were among 1600 repatriates landed at Maizuru.

Guerillas Wiped Out

MANILA — Manila newspapers report that the constabulary killed thirty Hukbalahap guerrillas near Cabanatuan, 75 miles north of here. This band of Communist rebels was believed the remnant of a group of 400 which Philippines Air Force reported it strafed Friday while crossing the Chico River. The Air Force estimated it had killed 320 persons.

CONFESSES SABOTAGE

LOS ANGELES — A time-bomb plot to destroy a United Air Lines transport while it was in flight failed today when a baggage attendant dropped a gasoline-filled suitcase which had caught fire just before the take-off. Thirteen passengers and a crew of three were aboard. As the fire started, John Henry Grant, aged 32, a laboratory technician, rushed to the Los Angeles International airport ticket window and shouted: "Don't let that plane take off, I just put a bag on it full of gasoline." He is thereby alleged to have intended to thereby kill his wife and children for insurance.

WASHINGTON—The United States today chided Russia for lack of "calmness and restraint" in dealing with the alleged clash of American and Soviet planes. The criticism was in a formal announcement that the U.S. will delay its reply to Moscow's note until all possible information about the incident can be collected and "the true facts determined by calm and thorough appraisal."

Division of Shooting to Police is Allowed in Evidence

Lonely Upcast Logging Camp Man And Wife Tell Of Incident At Court Assizes here on a charge of wound-intent to murder Oscar Dunlop at a logging camp on Kluksamaten Inlet on March 1 last, told H. Taylor and Constable Fred Gibson after trial in the city jail here the day after the incident had been made public. He testified that, after a normal conversation with the accused, he found no trouble in making conversation with him.

"I understood him and he understood me," said the corporal. In the cell block, Rozin remarked that he had no tobacco. Corporal Taylor, in the presence of Defence Counsel, asked the accused why he had no tobacco.

"There was too much rush about midnight last night at the camp. I was mad at Dunlop because he wouldn't give me any money," the accused is alleged to have said. "So I got a gun and shot him in the shoulder. I was sorry afterwards."

Const. Gibson corroborated Corporal Taylor's evidence. Following submission of evidence by the two officers, T.W. Brown, prosecutor, submitted the accused understood and appreciated the warning and that his remark in the cell block later was "completely voluntary."

In asking to rule out Rozin's statement, defense counsel R. M. MacLeod said that the accused should not have been bound to answer Corp. Taylor's question. Seeing that he had never been confronted by court procedure previously, he did not appreciate the nature of the warning, said Mr. MacLeod.

But Judge Coady ruled the statement admissible. Mrs. Dunlop testified that, following the shooting affray late during the night of March 1, Rozin was bound and placed in the hold of Dunlop's boat. As Ray Jetter and Ernest Musto were loading freight and supplies for the trip to Prince Rupert, they asked Mrs. Jetter and Mrs. Mrs. Dunlop to watch the prisoner. Mrs. Dunlop said she was afraid to enter the hold so her husband accompanied the two women.

Upon entering, she said Rozin, looking at Dunlop asked: "What happened to you?" (Continued on page 6)

Question of Markets

A VERY SIMPLE FACT, one that is none the less very hard for us to accept, is that sooner or later we must have lower prices all round. Now we only want low prices for the things we have to buy. Looking at it from our individual points of view, we find that very reasonable. It isn't easy for us to recognize that the cheap eggs and butter and bacon and cheese that please us as consumers aren't pleasing to the producer. To him it seems obvious that these farm prices must be supported, at least until other prices those of the commodities they use, come down, and that of course doesn't please us.

But there is still another angle to the problem. Roughly one third of all the commodities we produce, whether basic farm output, raw materials or fabricated goods, must be sold abroad and, in all the world, there is only one country that is as prosperous as we are ourselves. It would be wonderful if we could sell all our surplus goods to this one market at sustained high prices. But that country is facing the same problem that we are facing and it also has more than it needs of many of the products we could supply.

So, if we are to keep producing at our present rate, and so maintain fairly constant employment, we must sell many of our products to less fortunate sections, where the price ticket is of first importance, where indeed the ability to pay must establish the price on the home market. Unpleasant as such a realistic policy must appear at first glance it is inevitable if we are not to lose the markets on which our prosperity depends.

LET'S KEEP PORT DAY

IT WOULD BE SOMETHING to be regretted indeed if Prince Rupert's Port Day were allowed to go by the board for lack of interest and support.

Port Day has become something of an institution here. It not only is a sort of a get-together of the public at large with the men of the sea but has in the past been an enlightening and highly interesting display as well as a competitive event of excitement and color.

Port Day has also been considered of sufficient importance to intrigue outside visitors and, on occasion, publicity men seeking something different from the ordinary.

Port Day is still distinctively a Prince Rupert affair even though Vancouver has in recent years been sufficiently impressed to copy it.

If there is any event here that should not be allowed to lapse it is Port Day since our very existence is so closely linked up with the men of the sea, fishing and ships of all sorts.

Another meeting is called for this Thursday night for the purpose of organizing the 1950 Port Day. We shall see then just how many are interested enough to turn out and offer their assistance and their suggestions, particularly the latter which could be of such value in making a bigger and a better Port Day.

THE TAKU HIGHWAY

THE INTERNATIONAL MOVE for a road which, with the assistance of a short ferry, would connect the Alaska capital of Juneau with Tulequah, Atlin and the Alaska Highway, is of particular interest to Prince Rupert and something which, in the general direction of developing and opening up the great mining country of northwestern British Columbia, we can readily approve.

Already the establishment of a car ferry service from Prince Rupert to southeastern Alaska ports is much to the fore. The principal argument in its favor has been the utility that such a ferry service would be in connecting this strategic railhead with the Haines Cut-off and the Alaska Highway. The Juneau-Atlin link would be an artery of similar character, opening up a new and even more direct alternative route to the Alaska Highway and an important mineral area of the Alaska panhandle and northwestern British Columbia.

At present the operation of a car ferry from Juneau to Taku Harbor is mentioned. The Prince Rupert car ferry could be operated to the port of Taku and the end of the highway there without any trans-shipment at Juneau.

Shuffle In Cabinet Likely—Big Ball Coming Up

By J. K. Nesbitt

Legislative corridors have heard in recent days that when Premier Johnson returns from California at the end of the month he may shuffle his cabinet.

Hon. George Pearson, who is Provincial Secretary and Minister of Health and Welfare, has not yet returned to his office, following his collapse at the start of the session. He is reported to be improving, but he is not a well man. He will be 70 this month. The Ministry of Health and Welfare is a constant strain with many difficult problems and the worries of spending more than $20,000,000 of the people's money each year.

Mr. Pearson's cabinet colleagues believe it's time he had the Health and Welfare Department he will carry on as Provincial Secretary. If he leaves the position of representative of the Queen seemed to become him. Mrs. Nelson also looked quite charming and gracefully and graciously seconded her worthy husband. The toilets of the ladies were bewildering—and contrasted with the sober garments of the men and the bright uniforms of officers of the fleet and the militia. The entire building was thrown open to the guests and never did it appear to better advantage than when filled with the beauty, wealth and fashion of the entire province. About 300 ladies and gentlemen made the drawing rooms musical with their soft laughter, enjoying their tete-a-tetes in half forgotten nooks and corners—or whispered merry nonsense in the fragrant conservatories. The tables in the dining room presented a picture in themselves, glistening with silver and crystal and loaded down with all the delicacies and substantial that go to make a first-class spread.

Who will become the new Minister of Health and Welfare is anybody's guess. There are 11 cabinet ministers at present. Under the Constitution Act there can be 12 paid cabinet ministers. Perhaps the Premier had in mind appointment of another cabinet minister when he would have nothing to do at the recent session with a suggestion that the cabinet ministers have their salaries increased. He knew the public wouldn't look with favor or such an increase and an addition to the cabinet at the same time.

There's going to be a Government House ball April 25 and that, of course, has all capital society agog. It recalls the elaborate parties of the past, when Government House was more the centre of high, privileged society than it is today. One of the most brilliant of such events was in 1889 when the Lieutenant Governor was Hon. Hugh Nelson and Government House was Cary Castle, built in the early 60's by Hon. George Hunter Cary when he was attorney-general. The castle burned down in the late 90's and was replaced by the present Government House shortly after the turn of the century.

Ray Reflects . . .

. . . and Reminisces

The Sons of Freedom, after having given a solemn pledge to behave, are at it again. A revision of antecedents might not be out of place, just now.

A forty-two pound red spring salmon, full of nourishment and fight, was caught off Seal Cove wharf during the week-end. It struggled to the bitter finish. There are few cities anywhere else in Canada where a catch like that can occur but salmon fishing over the dock is not all uncommon in Prince Rupert. Many a sportsman down east would cheerfully pay big money to have Joe Caze's experience Sunday afternoon.

More than newspapers make mistakes now and then. The other day what was thought to be a mite was reported on the beach five miles from Sitka. It turned out to be part of a plane's fuel system. Soviet submarines have been believed sighted off San Francisco. The Navy call them whales, being able to detect the difference. This is called spring—but with reservations.

British Columbia is said to be facing the possibility of being a

INTERFERENCE APPROVED

I don't like to interfere, but when I found that my youngest daughter-in-law didn't know that bluing is the only safe way to keep clothes white, I felt I just had to say something. 'Reckitt's Blue prevents clothes turning yellow', I told her. 'Just a swish or two in the final rinse and your wash will be sparkling white.' Blue is necessary to obtain true white. At the same time she takes no chances with anything that may damage fabric.

Polish Church Pact is Denied

VATICAN CITY (CP)—The Vatican press office Monday denied that the Roman Catholic hierarchy of Poland has signed an agreement with the Polish communist government. Warsaw had announced such a pact Saturday.

A high Vatican source said if such a pact had been promulgated, it would indicate the Polish Government had laid down the way of death for the church there.

Is Charged With Grandson Murder

MONTREAL (CP)—Police said Monday, Mrs. Joseph Lucas, aged 51, will likely be charged with murder in the drowning of one of two grandsons on January 17. Body of one of the two boys was recovered Sunday from the St. Lawrence River.

Mrs. Lucas last January told police that she had drowned the two boys to keep their unmarried mother from placing the boys in a foster home.

Miss Jean Williams, local High School student, returned Sunday afternoon on the Chilcotin after spending the Easter holidays visiting at Port Clements with her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. T. L. Williams.

Where does the money go?

At times most of us have looked at purse, wallet or bankbook, and wondered: "Where does the money go?"

You may have wondered, too, where does our money go—the money we receive for gasoline, fuel oil, lubricants and other products we sell. Well, last year each dollar we received went this way:

CRUDE OIL and other raw materials took more than half of each dollar.

MANUFACTURING AND PACKAGING took more than 11 cents. Costly equipment and skilled workers were needed to make the 640 products we supplied for thousands of uses.

TRANSPORTATION took the next big bite of the dollar. Products moved over wide areas to serve every community in Canada. During 1949 we paid more than $34 millions for railway freight alone.

MARKETING was next. Marketing brought you the products you needed when and where you needed them... power, heat and lubricants for factory, home and farm. Marketing supplied your neighborhood dealer, that independent businessman, so that he could serve you conveniently and dependably.

TAXES to provincial and federal governments took 7.53 cents. And this did not include gasoline tax, which—depending on where you live—took from 21 to 33 cents out of every dollar you spent for standard grade gasoline.

PROFIT was 3.89 cents out of each sales dollar. Of this 2.25 cents went to shareholders as dividends. The rest—along with money we borrowed and obtained by sales of investments—was put back into the business to replace worn out equipment, to provide new equipment and make sure that we can continue to supply your needs in the future.

Bringing you oil is a big job
...and a costly one

Popular Bride-Elect Honored

A delightful kitchen shower honoring Miss Margaret (Mickey) Murray, whose marriage to Howard Lavigne will take place tomorrow, was held by co-hostesses Jean Faught and Anne Dumas at the former's home.

During the evening many amusing games were enjoyed, contest winners being Betty Stordale, Yvonne Morin, Lorraine Barbe and Marjorie Shrubbsall.

Seated in a colonial chair between her mother and the mother of the groom, the bride-elect was presented with a gaily bedecked wishing-well adorned in spring colors and overflowing with many useful and lovely gifts.

Later in the evening delicious refreshments were served by the hostesses.

Those present, besides the guest of honor and the hostesses, were Mrs. G. Murray, M. Beaton, W. D. Faught, S. Dumas, Paul Quick, Dave Slader, Len Youngman, Ralph Heaton, and the Misses Betty Stordale, Yvonne Morin, Lorraine Barbe, Marge Brain, Frances Webber, Frances Olafson, Marjorie Shrubbsall, Herdis Holkestad, Edith Jordan,

Joint Hostesses To Moose Women

Mrs. J. R. Carr and Mrs. C. Lundstrom were joint hostesses at the home of the former on Borden Street when the home making committee of the Women of the Moose met to make plans for the forthcoming bazaar and tea and also for a social evening after the next regular meeting of the Chapter. The rest of the evening was spent in entertainment. Two special prizes were won by Mrs. B. J. Bacon and Mrs. G. Foster.

Present were Mrs. R. B. Skinner, chairman; Mrs. Harold Muncey, senior regent; Mrs. Richard Giske, Mrs. C. H. Collins, Mrs. G. Foster, Mrs. F. De Blais, Mrs. G. Robinson, Mrs. Sam Haugan, Mrs. B. J. Bacon, Mrs. P. Pond, Mrs. O. Stegavig, Mrs. C. Lundstrom and Mrs. J. Carr with Mrs. E. Blair as a guest.

Marie Boulter, Joyce Tattersall, Beth Astoria, Lenora Faught, Irma McKinnon, Rosalie Thain. Those sending gifts but unable to attend, were Mrs. Rupert Holkestad, Mrs. Carl Johnson, Miss Jeanne Husoy and Arletta Hamilton.

Carnival Dates Still Unsettled

Further consideration by city council of the application of the Shrine Club of Prince Rupert requesting to stage a carnival here July 29 to 31 was deferred for one week at a special meeting of council last night. At city council last week, the club asked to extend their previously requested dates, July 3 to 8, because Crescent Shows would not be able to set up a midway here during the latter dates. The Civic Centre opposed the Shrine Club holding a carnival less than three weeks prior to their August 19 to 29 annual carnival. City Clerk H. D. Thain told council that both parties have met in an attempt to compromise but were not able to reach a decision last week. They asked for a further one week extension.

ould be a deficit on the arrangement. Mr. McRae suggested it should contact the provincial government to find out if the government would put out 75 percent of the costs of construction and the provincial government and municipalities, 25 per cent. The city would cooperate by making available serviced property for purchase.

At present, he said a bill is going through the provincial legislature for a $5,000,000 loan for assistance to municipalities—a revolving fund.

Service in City, Burial at Terrace

Arrangements have been completed for the funeral service for the late John Edwin Boddie, chief engineer of the Canadian Fish & Cold Storage Co., at St. Andrew's Anglican Cathedral here tomorrow afternoon followed by interment at Kalum Cemetery, Terrace, on Thursday. Rev. Canon Basil S. Prockter will officiate both here and at Terrace.

Mrs. E. J. Smith will be organist at the Cathedral rites and "Abide With Me" and "Peace Perfect Peace" have been chosen as the hymns. Members of the Oddfellows' Lodge, of which deceased was long a prominent member, will attend as a body. The Prince Rupert Chamber of Commerce and Prince Rupert Rotary Club will also be represented. Honorary pallbearers will be H. M. Daggett, Gilbert Campbell, James Simpson, W. B. Skinner, Alex Newton and S. V. Cox. Active pallbearers will be Robert McKay, W. J. McLean, M. B. Lemon, John Davidson, Neville Gerrard and J. L. McIntosh.

Pallbearers at Terrace will be W. Bailey, C. J. Norrington, J. H. Smith, John Barman, Fred Thomas and Will Robinson.

HARD AGROUND—A 40-mile gale last week drove the schooner-rigged yacht Edna Elaine ashore near Oak Bay in suburban Victoria. Here owner Jack Smith and a companion are seen wedging timber and tires between the boat and the rocks. The 39-foot yacht was badly holed but was refloated later in the week. It was built in Nova Scotia and shipped to the west coast by rail.

"Well you know what you done," said Dunlop. "If I did that," Rozin replied. "I must have been crazy. You can kill me right now if I did a thing like that."

Later in the trial, Mrs. Dunlop said that Rozin remarked that he wished he was killed.

Dunlop then said: "Killing you would be too good for you."

She testified that she had known Rozin for three years, and that he had never caused her trouble prior to February 23.

On that date, she said, he complained about not seeing the financial statement of the camp. At that time, she was alone with Rozin at the floating camp at Crow Lake, 50 miles north of Prince Rupert. Her husband, Jetter and Musto were in Prince Rupert. "Later, she continued, he threatened to blow up the A-frame and burn the camp down with gasoline." But, she added, he said that he would get my husband first."

She stated she did not go to bed that night because he kept threatening throughout the evening. She said he demanded and was given rum and about an ounce of vanilla extract.

When her husband and his two employees returned to camp, the tide was low and they were obliged to use a rowboat in order to land at the camp. Rozin, Mrs. Dunlop stated, warned her not to mention his remarks.

She said she would not reveal anything and added "mum's the word."

Cross-Examination

Cross-examining Mrs. Dunlop, defense counsel R. M. MacLeod asked why she had not warned her husband during the evening. He suggested that her testimony revealed that Rozin had left the "friendly" game of cribbage following supper, and that she had time to warn her husband that Rozin was dangerous. He had left the cookhouse once or twice for a short period during the game.

Mrs. Dunlop admitted she thought Rozin had become normal again and would not start trouble.

Her husband was unlacing his shoes, she said, when he remembered blankets near the stove that Mr. and Mrs. Jetter had forgotten. Picking them up he proceeded throughout the door. Prior to that moment, she had noticed the back of Rozin against the window.

As her husband made a right turn, Mrs. Dunlop recalled, she heard a shot and a yell: "I'm shot."

Running out, she saw her husband bleeding from a wound in the shoulder and Rozin in the water. He was fished out by Jetter and Musto, while Mrs. Dunlop attended her husband's wound. She identified a shirt entered as evidence, and said the shirt was ripped from the explosion and that she could nearly put her hand in her husband's shoulder wound.

Under re-examination by Mr. Brown, Mrs. Dunlop said that Rozin was the only inhabitant of a bunkhouse during January and February. It was during this time that guns had been moved to the bunkhouse from the bathroom in the cookhouse. Mrs. Dunlop admitted, however, to defence counsel that she had not been in the camp herself until January 19.

Wounded Man's Testimony

Oscar Dunlop said he had known accused for 25 years. Witness had been in Prince Rupert at the end of February and returned to the camp at Crow Lake in Khutzmateen Inlet on the afternoon of March 1 at 4:30 p. m. He brought with him Mr. and Mrs. Ray Jetter and Ernie Musto.

He noticed Rozin looking out of the cookhouse. He looked "sour." Before dinner Dunlop opened a bottle of rum he had brought from town and there was a round of one drink each. Everybody was sober. They had dinner together and then started to play crib. Accusec was witness' partner. They had all laughed and joked and were no angry words. They played until about 10:30 p. m. then they went outside and Mike helped witness bring the boat up to the float.

Returning to his quarters, witness was unlacing his shoes when he noticed some blankets had been left behind. Meanwhile 10:30 p. m. Then they went outside the window. Going outside with the blankets, witness made a right turn and was confronted with Rozin and the gun. "I put up my hands and shouted 'Don't shoot.' The gun was aimed at his throat. As he saw Rozin about to pull the trigger he jumped and received the shot in the shoulder. Then he knocked Rozin off the float and accused swam away.

Later he was picked up and tied up in the boat and brought into Prince Rupert. In the meantime in the bunkhouse Rozin had pleaded with the witness not to take him into Prince Rupert but to kill him instead.

After arrival in Prince Rupert, witness spent three weeks in hospital receiving treatment for his injury.

Dunlop identified three weapons—a 30-30 carbine, a shotgun and another "Long Tom". These weapons had been kept in the bathroom of the cookhouse but witness had seen them in the bunkhouse occupied by Rozin.

Witness testified he had never had violence with Rozin. Even that night he had seemed "O.K." He accused had gone out during the card playing and was noticed to be perspiring at one time.

The trial adjourned at 5:30 p. m. until 10 a. m. today.
