But there is a danger in the present situation; unless the upward trend in some basic material costs levels off-lumber, for instance-a lot of potential home buyers will take themselves out of the market. That is what happened in 1919 when the continuous bidding up of material prices nipped the building boom in the following year.

Today material and labor prices are vastly higher; well beyond the reach of the majority of home-seekers. All the ballyhoo that can be shouted about low-cost homes is inconsequential unless the people are offered prices they can meet. Veteran home builders sense the danger; a large number of newcomers in the field have no realization of what the scramble for quick sales and heavy profits can mean to the future of the home building industry and the many lines of business dependent upon home construction.

THAT WELCOME WHISTLE

UMPING at the conclusion that, because a man is I a railroader, he is on strike, is to be "away off." The running trades-engineers, firemen, conductors and brakemen-are not involved in the dispute. They are not on strike. But others, like shop and maintenance men, telegraphers, and others who might be mentioned are. But it's enough to slow down and stop.

And so, when next one hears a faint, far-off whistle dead at night, and catches a glimpse of a passing light in the blackness outside, give a yawn and mutter: "welcome back, old timer."

OUR WARSHIPS IN IT

WIHEN Canada's three destroyers sailed from Esquimalt for Korea, it was with the expectation that they would see no active service for an indefinte time. Instead, their guns fired something more than salutes, early after arrival. Since then, if the Cayuga, Athabascan and Sioux have not had plenty of action, it's been mighty close to it. They have shared in more fighting in a month, than some warships have experienced in twenty years or longer.

Drawbridge Trouble At Lord's Castle

LONDON (P) - Latest story about British aristocracy comes from Lord Brabazon of Tara.

He was conducting a party of Indian businessmen round a factory when one of his guests, impressed by Lord Brabazon's bearing, said:

"Oh, my lord, it is extremely CALGARY (P) — "We're in a kind of you to take such trouble graveyard," a startled plowman with us. I suppose if you were beautiful castle." Lord Brabazon, who lives in a
