LABOR PARTY CRISIS

LONDON—At the seaside resort of Margate next month British Labor will make a decision vital to the economy of production-conscious Britain, whether to continue support of the government's wage-prices stabilization policy. The scene will be the annual convention of the powerful Trade Union Congress, the mother body of more than 200 British trade unions embracing eight million workers.

WHEAT VIA HUDSON BAY

REGINA—Movement of at least 4,000,000 bushels of wheat via the Hudson Bay route this year is now assured, the Saskatchewan Minister of Co-operatives said today.

HEADING FOR RECORD

PITTSBURG—Pittsburg's outfielder Ralph Kiner, making his second stab in two seasons at Babe Ruth's record of sixty home runs, is now ahead of his last year's pace with 35 homers in 115 games. Last year he had 32 in the first 115 games and wound up with 51 round-trippers.

WHARF MISHAP VICTIM FOUND

The body of 18-year old Ivan Brager, who lost his life early Thursday morning in a fall from the government wharf, was recovered at 9 o'clock this morning by city police who dragged the harbor bottom near the place where he pitched over the dock. A crew member of the fish packer Universe, chartered by the Prince Rupert Fishermen's Co-operative, Brager fell from the dock while returning to his boat at 2 a. m. Thursday. His fall was seen by other crew members who immediately began to search for him under the wharf. His body was recovered this morning 20 minutes after grappling operations had begun. Crew members of the Universe aided Constable Keith De Witt in the work. An inquest will be held into Brager's death. The youth was the son of Mr. and Mrs. Ingwald Brager of South Westminster.

Diefenbaker Gives Policy

Candidate For Conservative Leadership Makes Statement In Winnipeg

WINNIPEG—John G. Diefenbaker, Progressive-Conservative Member of Parliament for Lake Centre, Saskatchewan, mentioned as a strong candidate for party leadership, outlined here a seven-point program for consideration at the party's national convention next month. This would include reduction of government expenses and taxes and removal of the sales tax on necessities of life. Mr. Diefenbaker attacked the policies of the Liberal and C.C.F. parties, attached importance to continuation of the free enterprise system and lashed out at communists. The basis of C.C.F. policy, he said, was "hatred and envy" class for class.

Western Envoys, Molotov Meet Again

U.S. Ambassador Solemn and Silent

No Statement After Another Session Between Allies and Soviet Foreign Minister

MOSCOW (CP)—Western envoys had another conference with Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov today. It lasted for nearly three hours. At its conclusion United States Ambassador Walter Bedell Smith said flatly that there would be no statement. He appeared more solemn about the matter than had been the case previously.

Statement Said Hoax

"New Light" On Vancouver Slaying May Be False

VANCOUVER—Police here today have uncovered "documentary evidence" which conclusively discounts the possibility of a United States sailor having been involved in the murder fourteen months ago in Stanley Park of Mrs. Norma Burton. Records of a United States Marine company had been obtained which showed that the United States service man who recently told Federal Bureau of Investigation investigators that he was involved in the murder was actually in another city at the time the Vancouver slaying took place. On Wednesday the F. B. I. was stated to have "thrown new light" on the case when they informed police authorities that statement allegedly made by an inmate of a California prison concerned the slaying June 22, 1947.

Arming Alaska

Coastguard to Be Re-established on Wartime Basis

WASHINGTON, D.C. (CP)—Secretary of the Treasury Snyder disclosed yesterday that the United States is considering the establishment of a separate Coastguard district for Alaska as it did during the Second World War. Coastguard chiefs are now studying a survey of Alaska's defenses and will submit a report in a "short time."

The report is expected to recommend a strongly increased fleet and supporting shore installations for the proposed Alaska district along with establishment of "loran" stations such as were used in war-time to detect the approach of enemy ships and planes.

The Misses Peggy Pullen, Solveig Mork and Rosemarie Hartwig sailed last night on the Prince Rupert for Victoria where they will enter Royal Jubilee Hospital to take nurses' training courses. Miss Fay Ingram will leave on tomorrow's plane to enter the same school.

G. D. Matthews, superintendent of the Dominion government experimental station at Scott, Saskatchewan, and Mrs. Matthews were among round trip Alaska passengers returning south aboard the steamer Prince Rupert which was in port last evening.

THE WEATHER

Synopsis
Skies cleared over most sections of the province this morning. Weather conditions, however, are still unsettled and a storm in the Gulf of Alaska is expected to reach the coast tonight bringing overcast skies and light rain to Western and Southern B. C. tomorrow.

Forecast
Queen Charlottes, north coast—clear today, becoming overcast this evening. Saturday, intermittent rain in the morning becoming clear in the afternoon. Light winds increasing to southeast (25 mph) tonight and shifting to northwest (20 mph) tomorrow afternoon. Little change in temperature. Lows tonight and highs tomorrow—At Port Hardy—50 and 60. Masset—50 and 60. Prince Rupert—45 and 62.

CONTRACT AWARDED

TERRACE—Tender of Martin Bros. and Campbell, being the lowest of two, has been accepted for the installation of the new Terrace water system. Approximately 22,000 feet of pipe is to be laid and the installation, reaching throughout the village limits as well as beyond, will bring in 300 connections where as there are now only 170.

Equipment is being sent by the contractors at once and work will start as soon as the material is available. The job is expected to be finished within two months.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas H. Priest left by motor today for a trip to Vancouver. They will be away two or three weeks.

RAIN DELAYS HARVESTING

WINNIPEG—Rain at practically all points on the prairies has delayed harvesting during the past week, but conditions are now improved and cutting will be general over the west by the beginning of the week, according to the weekly crop report of the Department of Agriculture of the Canadian National Railways.

The Manitoba crop is well advanced and threshing and combining are under way in the south. Returns so far are grading No. 2 Northern. The patchy crop makes it hard to estimate yields but Manitoba and eastern Saskatchewan should at least have an average crop and western Saskatchewan reports indicate a better crop than was expected a month to six weeks ago.

In Alberta the main need is for a long frost-free period to give the crops a chance to reach maturity.

The Okanagan reports a cool, cloudy week with daily rains. Peaches are now moving freely and some of the later varieties of peaches have started to move. As soon as weather permits the movement will increase rapidly.

BACK TO RUSSIA MOVEMENT IS ON

NEW YORK—A Back-to-Russia movement is under way. Most of those returning are engineers, technicians and professional men and women. More than five hundred, including families, have already gone.

COUNCIL MEETING IN BROKEN UP AGAIN

Communists and Anti-Communists Intensifies In German Capital

(CP)—A Foreign Office spokesman as "ill-timed and irresponsible" Com-munists in Berlin which prevented meetings of the city assembly yesterday. The matter was considered to be of only minor importance, the spokesman added, and it was expected that the discussions would be resumed.

HUGE SHIPMENT CANNED SALMON

SEATTLE—The largest single cargo of canned salmon to ever be unloaded in Seattle the recent year was handled last week. It was worth $8,500,000, and brought here aboard the freighter Chief Washaki. It came from the Bristol Bay area. There were 320,000 cases.

ARE CHECKING UP ON TRUTH

WASHINGTON, D.C. (CP)—United States Congressional spy probes today gave chase in a renewed attempt to prove whether Alger Hiss of Whittaker Chambers lied about the pre-war communist underground in the United States. The main clue to the truth of either's statements is a 1929 model automobile Hiss claims he sold to Chambers for party activity.

WEATHER, NAVY ASSIST IN MAKING PORT DAY POPULAR EXHIBITION

A crowd estimated at 2,000 lined the Canadian National dock Thursday to witness Prince Rupert's annual Port Day events which kept the harbor alive with activity from 10 a. m. to 5 p. m. as fishing, naval and pleasure boats went through a series of competitions which were climaxed with distribution of prizes at the Civic Centre last night.

Perfect weather added to the popularity of the waterfront gala although a shortage of entries caused cancellation of several events which in earlier years had been a part of the program. Many vessels which might have taken part are busy fishing and were unable to take the time to take part in the festival.

The Royal Canadian Navy destroyers Cayuga, Athabaskan and Crescent contributed greatly to the color and activity of the day with entries of boats in the competitions and amusing clown antics which kept the crowd diverted while the events were being lined up.

Commanding officers of the three ships also played an important part by joining Prince Rupert citizens as judges. Chief of the judges was Commander O. G. S. Robertson of Cayuga. With him was Commander J. S. Davis of Athabaskan and Lieutenant Commander John Charles of Crescent.

Hard-working Port Day officials on the judges' scow, moored off the Armour Salvage Co. dock and on the starting boat Naskeena, at the starting point near the Canadian Fish and Cold Storage Co. plant, labored throughout the day amid the beat of engines and the blare of loud speakers.

A popular feature was the bandstand and where the Prince Rupert Shrine Club Band, conducted by Peter Lien, played between events during the morning. The 42-piece Greenville Gold Medal Band, conducted by Fred MacKay, provided the music during the afternoon.

The day opened with a grand parade of boats featuring the government snag boat Essington which was Queen's Barge, and imaginatively decorated naval cutters which provided one of the highlights of the celebration.

The Essington was made available by Capt. W. F. Robertson who took more than 80 people for harbor cruises during the day.

Humor was added by the antics of Stoker Mechanic Bob Siasor and A. Hampton of Athabaskan and A/B James Tyre and Leading Shipwright Charles Butterworth of Cayuga. The former were made up as glamorous redheads in a rowboat and the latter as gaudily dressed sirens. The quartette met a damp and bedagged fate by finally falling into the water with considerable damage to their oakum wigs and flaming make-up.

Supervising the events was Stuart Furk, chairman of the Port Day committee, who dis-

Holiday Shut-Down

A GOOD MANY FIRMS appear to be adopting the practice of closing down for a week or so in the middle of summer so that everybody may take annual leave at the same time. One wonders if the practice, which might become a permanent custom, is a very sound one and where it might all end.

Just suppose the local dairy decided it would not deliver milk for two weeks, what howls there would be from the very people who would gladly shut up shop for a couple of weeks! How would it be if the public services—electric light, telephone, garbage and such like—decided to take a couple of weeks off? Suppose the people in the Post Office should knock off and no mail was serviced for a couple of weeks! What if the doctors and dentists all went on vacation at the same time. Let us suppose that the newspapers closed down for a couple of weeks. What a chance that would be for the bureaucrats to pull a fast one!

When one considers the whole thing, it would seem that the holiday close-down has gone about as far as it can.

REAL PIONEERS

IT'S A CENTURY since the days of the "covered wagon." One hundred years ago this month—August, 1848—the territory of Oregon was organized. That far back, what is now the State of Washington was also included in the region.

It was during the early forties, across two thousand miles of wilderness that thousands of families blazed the way and followed the trail toward the sea.

The course they took was, in many important respects, copied in the building of the first transcontinental, the Union Pacific. Their descendants helped the people till the land and found cities.

The indomitable pathfinders took chances. They braved river crossings, mountain passes and sometimes Indian attacks. They were exposed to illness and hardships.

Even now, there are still traces of those heroic days. Low-flying planes can plainly see signs of wagon ruts, winding across the turf, where lurching prairie schooners and dusty horsemen once passed. There are still relics. Perhaps carvings on rock, old iron tires, or even ox yokes that have not quite disappeared. Years later, but not so long and on a smaller scale, Western Canada was to witness similar migrations.

These were the pioneers, the real ones!

TOKYO ROSE

TOKYO ROSE is on trial for treason. The news arouses more interest than the trials of General Tojo and a sample group of leading war criminals in Tokyo.

G.I.'s in New Guinea and the Solomons had desolate island evenings enlivened by the soft chirp of a radio voice reminding them of the pleasures—the less ethereal pleasures—they were missing in America. Of course, there was not a single Tokyo Rose handing out this line of crude and largely absurd propaganda. The name was a collective one for a group of feminine broadcasters, only one of whom was American-born and thereby open to treason charges in the United States.

At any rate, a petite Nisei propagandist who buttered her wartime bread by buttering up American combat men with seductive appeals to stop fighting and go back to normalcy is likely to have more news value than, let us say, little Marquis Kido, on trial with Tojo and Company, who whispered bristling words into Emperor Hirohito's frightened ears and helped precipitate a war.

It is one of today's ironies that the trial of a colorful minor traitor or the well-publicized "confessions" of a small-time ex-spy can snatch public attention away from far graver issues. The Tokyo war crimes trials, for instance, have fallen on deaf ears, yet they provide an education in the way aggressive war is planned—and the way plain issues are confused afterward.

Perhaps Tokyo Rose's words did take effect after all and Americans hustled back to would-be normalcy without troubling to examine the serious causes—as distinct from the sensational trimmings—of international rivalry and war.

THIS AND THAT

"I know this is your first fire, Brogen, but try not to be so tense!"

Reminiscences By W.J. Hand Reflections

The Uranium rush in British Columbia continues strong. Prospectors and other optimists are exchanging warm beds for blankets and the wilderness. They are becoming more accustomed to bacon and beans and early rising! There will soon be only one thing missing—a poet laureate.

The greater number of warships anchoring at Prince Rupert, the more does it seem the natural thing to do. To be somewhat on the spacious side is better than being one of a crowd in a pocket-size harbor.

A British military command, unveiling a war memorial recently, scorned the saying that "wars are inevitable, and acts of God." "Nothing of the kind!" declared this forthright man. Wars, he stated, are caused by the folly and gross materialism of men. There is something miserable and cowardly in blaming God when a homely truth is uttered.

The twentieth Century belongs to Canada, said a forward looking statesman once. Perhaps, but there's no time to be wasted. What of Prince Rupert, say half a century hence? Will this be the Dominion's major naval-air base on the Pacific? Will lofty buildings tower all over Kaien Island, and long bridges link with thickly populated Digby Island? Will we breakfast in Rupert, and enjoy luncheon in Hawaii, or Suva? Will there be bluejackets up town—only more of them?

Robert Service, reciting "The Spell of The Yukon" came over the air Tuesday evening. Given in such a masterly way, one cannot but fail in even trying to imagine how it must have all but overwhelmed the dwindling soundwaves at the golden banquet—bringing back with magic touch, a time, a place and a world that had gone.

It would seem that not having had quite sufficient water for all ordinary or extraordinary purposes early last summer, the Fraser Valley is having a daily deluge, as autumn approaches. Driven from their homes by flood, thousands of families are still far from settled, being, so to speak, between the devil and the deep sea. They can still stand a helping hand.

Letters to the Editor

HIGH-HANDED?

Editor, Daily News:
In your issue of August 25 there appeared a news item headlined as "Unfair Poll Tax" which shows those who sit on the inside that those on the outside do not get in on the inside news. A situation brought to attention a quarter of a century ago by Upton Sinclair remains to be explained to the public in your report but why was reference omitted to a workman seeking a refund of $5 for deduction in his pay for poll tax when he had paid his annual property tax?

When Ald. Brooksbank and myself submitted a motion to council asking that the workman in question be refunded his poll tax, the Mayor ruled the motion out of order. When I appealed from the ruling to the floor of the council, it was only to have the high-handed ruling sustained by the council.

Alderman.

NON-POLITICAL

Editor, Daily News
I would like to explain to the public just what the Home Makers' League is trying to accomplish. We are endeavoring to bring back controls on all foods in order to curb the prices from going higher. This can only be accomplished with the full co-operation of the public. Our meetings are not political as some of the citizens seem to think. We are urging everyone to attend these meetings to give help to a worthy cause.

CANNING SEASON—The quantities of fruits beginning to appear on the market these days will keep the housewife busy in her kitchen for the next few weeks.

Black currant jam is always a favorite on the breakfast menu and home economists have produced a recipe guaranteed to bring out the best in this delicious fruit.

Ingredients: Six cups black currants; five cups water; 6½ cups sugar.

Wash, top and tail currants, add water and bring to a boil. Pre-cook uncovered for 15 minutes. Add sugar and boil, five to eight minutes, or until it reaches the jam stage. Yield: about 7½ cups.

ICE COLD DRINKS—High temperatures always bring on a craving for ice-cold drinks, and here are recipes for two thirst-quenchers that are different.

Blueberry Quench—Ingredients: One cup boiling water; one cup blueberries; grated rind of one orange; grated rind of one lemon; one-third cup sugar; few grains salt; three cups cold water.

Pour boiling water over blueberries. Add grated orange and lemon rind and simmer slowly for five minutes. Press through a sieve. Add sugar and salt and stir well. Cool. Before serving add three cups of cold water. Yield: six servings.

Raspberry Egg-nog—Ingredients: Two cups raspberries; one-half cup water; two-eggs; one-eighth teaspoon salt; two tablespoons honey or sugar; one cup milk; one-eighth teaspoon nutmeg.

Crush raspberries with water, bring to boil and boil for three minutes. Drain through a moist jelly bag and then add sufficient water to make one cup of juice. Beat eggs with salt and honey, or sugar, until light. Add milk, raspberry juice and nutmeg and beat well. Chill before serving. Yield: four servings.

VEGETABLE COMBINATIONS

—Try novel combinations of vegetables if you want to sharpen the family's appetite when dinner-time comes around.

Home economists of the consumer section, Dominion department of agriculture suggests the following combinations: Green beans with sliced carrots; sliced carrots with celery; shredded carrots with onion rings; butter beans with small white onions.

A slight difference in seasoning also is attractive. Butter is always a good dressing for vegetables and such seasoning as a tablespoon of chopped parsley, one-quarter teaspoon of celery seed, or just a sprinkling of rosemary, thyme, or basil, always lend interest.

Miss Rose Marie Hartwig left last night on the Prince Rupert for Victoria where she will enter Royal Jubilee Hospital to start nurse's training.

SEES CHANGE AFTER YEARS

A great change in Prince Rupert is noted by J. Ernest Rushbrook, brother of Canon W. F. Rushbrook of Overlook Street, Rushbrook Heights, who is paying a visit here.

He was in the city as long ago as the early railway building days when Prince Rupert was little better than a collection of tents and shacks in the neighborhood of where the railway station now stands. It was of particular interest to know of what is being done at Port Edward and the establishment there of a cellulose industry that will mean a year around payroll. Seasonal activities, he said, are to be valued, and rightly so, but it is the steady employment, with no suspension of work, because of changing season, that counts.

Mr. Rushbrook's home is in Toronto. Speaking of that great and growing city, he mentioned that the population must be advancing well toward the million mark. Because of this growth, the problem of housing and handling of traffic is becoming acute. Being a port, Toronto can only develop on three sides and the most must be made of all available room. The city's streets, never remarkable for width, experience congestion. An example is Yonge Street, one of Toronto's main arteries. The parking of cars is an ever-present question.

One of the consequences of this mass increase of people and buildings, remarked Mr. Rushbrook, has been the necessity of removing large numbers of beautiful old shade trees on residential streets which, as Toronto expands, are drawn within the business areas.

ARE MARRIED AT CATHEDRAL

Miss Muriel Webb Bride of David McNab in Double Ring Ceremony

A double ring ceremony united a southern girl in marriage to a Prince Rupert man Thursday evening when Muriel Janet, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Webb, of Sydney, Vancouver Island, became the bride of David William McNab, eldest son of Charles McNab of Prince Rupert and the late Mrs. McNab. The rite was performed by Archdeacon E. Hodson in St. Andrew's Cathedral.

A double strand of pearls, gift of the groom, encircled the neck of the bride as she entered the chancel on the arm of her brother, Douglas Webb. She wore a floor-length gown of white silk jersey with floor length veil. Her bouquet was of red roses sweet peas and white heather.

Bridesmaid was Miss Evelyn McNab, gowned in pale blue silk crepe with shoulder-length veil crowned by a floral halo. She carried a bouquet of gladioli, carnations and sweet peas.

Groomsman was James Laurie. During the signing of the register, organ music was played by Peter Lien, Cathedral organist. Ushers were John Strachan and Charles Stokoe.

Following the ceremony, a reception was held at the Odd-fellows Hall where many friends of the couple extended felicitations. Receiving the guests were Miss Mary McNab, aunt of the groom and Mrs. H. C. Webb, the bride's mother. The former wore a street-length dress of grey crepe with corsage of roses, sweet peas and white heather. Mrs. Webb was gowned in floor-length figured grey silk crepe with corsage of roses and sweet peas.

The bride and groom received congratulations of their friends before a large, three-tier wedding cake which they cut in traditional fashion. Toast to the bride was proposed by Archdeacon Hodson.

Numerous telegrams were read from friends and relatives

QUEEN AND PRINCESSES
AID IN DRAW

Prince Rupert's Port Queen and her four princesses received mementoes from Carnival and Port Day officials on the stage of the Civic Centre auditorium last night following the awarding of trophies to winners of the Port Day marine events.

The five young girls, gowned in their colorful "royal" dresses, were given worth-while gifts by W. F. Stone, carnival chairman, and Stuart Furk, Port Day chairman, before the crowd which gathered after the early evening stage show of Barney Potts and his orchestra.

The girls also drew from the revolving wire basket, 14 tickets for prize winners in the series of drawings which had been conducted in conjunction with Port Day. All of the girls assisted in the drawing after which the names and numbers of the winners were announced by Stuart Furk.

Winners of the prizes were as follows:—

LOCAL TEAM WINS ROPE PULL

A Prince Rupert beef trust weighing 1,387 pounds outpulled an opposing force from H.M.C.S. Cayuga and Athabaskan in a tug-of-war at the C.N.R. dock yesterday as a special attraction of the Port Day program, thereby winning $30 in prize money put up by the Civic Centre Carnival committee.

Despite the fact that they outweighed the sailors by more than 300 deadweight pounds, the local six-man aggregation strained intensely for more than five minutes before they pulled the white marker over the line. The navy team totalled 1061 pounds.

Manager of the visiting team was Sub-Lieut. Stachon of Athabaskan and his team members were P/O Cram, E.R.A. Wood, Stoker Rose, and Leading Steward Roberts of Cayuga and A/B Brodeur and A/B Ferguson of Athabaskan.

Clarence Thompson managed the local team whose members were Andy Blomberg, Lloyd Lahti, Reg. Wagner, Andre Letourneau, Chris Christopherson and Abe Ostashower.

W. R. Paull, of the reservations department of Canadian Pacific Air Lines, arrived in the city Thursday from Vancouver. He plans to visit the Sandspit office of the company today, returning here tomorrow to spend the week-end.

Tom McKeown, regional representative of the Sun Life Assurance Co. left today by air on a business trip to Vancouver.

TO PIONEER FRIENDSHIP

Tribute to a friendship which has endured and grown through half a century, was paid Thursday by Canon W. F. Rushbrook, pioneer north coast missionary, in an address to the Prince Rupert Rotary Club in which he recalled incidents from the life of George Frizzell, "Port Essington's first and only mayor."

Both now octogenarians, their friendship began at the turn of the century when Port Essington was the metropolis of the north and Mr. Frizzell its kindly and imaginative outstanding character.

Father of a large family, Mr. Frizzell, now divides his time between Prince Rupert and his summer home at Frizzell's Hot Springs on the Skeena, also was "the father of Port Essington," a tribute to his leadership.

Canon Rushbrook recalled anecdotes, many of them amusing to illustrate the character of his friend whose individualism was a byword in the vigorous years when coastal boats and river steamboats made Port Essington their northern headquarters. His love of people made him a host of friends which his love of animals and its resultant menagerie of bears and wolves sometimes amused and often frightened the community, could not offset.

"George Frizzell and I have a pact," Canon Rushbrook concluded simply. "We agreed that, if he should pass on first, I would officiate at his funeral. If I should die first, he would sing at mine. I hope that neither of us have to keep that pact. Perhaps if we went at the same time, there would be room for us both on the same golden chariot."

A daughter was born. Within another few days all concerned were reported doing well and no more weak spells.

TEWKESBURY ABBEY
In the 8th Century, a hermit, Theobald, began this classic Norman structure. In the town, proper, Danish and Norman invaders have written their history, as well as many of England's ancient nobles. The tower of the Abbey is rated as one of the most inspiringly beautiful of all Norman towers still in existence.
Inevitable it is that a product of unvarying goodness achieves accepted recognition by those to whom excellence of product is a "must".
