POOLE CITIZENS EXTEND THANKS FOR FOOD PARCELS SENT FROM HERE

An outpouring of gratitude from the people of Poole, England, for the shipment of canned salmon and clothing sent by Prince Rupert citizens last February was received here this week—timed with the first anniversary of Princess Elizabeth's wedding. The food and clothing—15 large packing cases of it—was sent last February but, because of customs and excise difficulties on its arrival in England, was not distributed to the people of the Poole district until August.

Much of the shipment—1,152 cases of sockeye salmon, to be exact—was provided by money raised by a fund sponsored by Mayor Nora Arnold for a wedding gift for Princess Elizabeth last November.

This was combined with a drive for food and clothing sponsored by the Rotary Club of Prince Rupert and the whole shipment was addressed to the Rotary Club of Poole for distribution.

A parcel containing more than 120 "thank you" notes from grateful residents of the Poole district was received this week by D. C. Stevenson, president of the Prince Rupert Rotary Club.

A covering letter from C. G. H. Oxford, chairman of the English club's international service committee, describes the bundle as only "some examples" of the letters of appreciation received. Mayor Nora Arnold also has received notes of gratitude from people who enjoyed the gifts.

"It is many a long day since your valuable present left your town and also some considerable time since it arrived at our docks and came under the control of the customs and excise officers. It was only after considerable negotiations that we were able to obtain its release."

"We obtained from 24 parsons and others in the district lists of the names of the most deserving cases and we accordingly distributed your gift to those named in these 24 sections."

"We enclose herewith, some examples of letters of appreciation from the recipients."

"I would like to say how touched I was with some of the personal notes and wishes from your townspeople. The personal kindness and interest shown by you and all in this joint effort has been appreciated beyond any words or letters."

Because of delay in shipping and of officialdom, the parcels were delayed so that letters of appreciation from the Poole people were received almost a year after the Royal wedding."

Campbell said that Halifax's two thousand longshoremen would handle all goods not consigned to United States ports.

This would end a two-day partial work-stoppage that came as Halifax was experiencing a boom from diverted traffic.

OPERATION SUCCESSFUL

Six-Year Old Winifred Dobb Undergoes Delicate Surgery

Winifred Dobb, Prince Rupert's "blue baby," underwent a delicate operation in Toronto at the week-end and, according to word received by her father, George Dobb, the operation was a success and Winifred is doing well.

Six-year old Winifred has the appearance of a healthy child but last May an examination by a heart specialist in Vancouver disclosed that she was what is commonly known as a "blue baby." An operation was recommended so recently Winifred, accompanied by her mother and grandmother, Mrs. Frank Dobb, travelled to Toronto where Dr. Gordon Murray, assisted by Dr. Fred Kergin, performed the necessary surgery.

It is expected Winifred may be able to travel home within a week or so.

I.O.D.E. OPENS FUND—

Disaster - Stricken Family To Be Given Helping Hand

Convinced of a real need, Municipal Chapter, Imperial Order, Daughters of the Empire, has decided to interest itself in the case of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Wilkins and child, who suffered loss of home and all belongings in the recent destruction of Egg Island lighthouse. The family are in immediate need of temporary furnishings, clothing and provisions to tide them over until they are able to re-establish themselves.

The Daily News has agreed to co-operate with the I.O.D.E. in this campaign. Contributions to a fund which will be administered by a committee of the Chapter will be received at the Daily News office. They may be left at the office or mailed to P.O. Box 549. Checks may be made payable to "Municipal Chapter, I.O.D.E. for Wilkins Relief Fund."

Mrs. Thelma McGlasan, of the British embassy staff in Washington, D.C., and Mrs. F. R. Jeffs, of Regina, Saskatchewan, visitors to the Andrews air force base, are being shown some of the fine points of a British Vampire Jet plane, by Flight-Lieut. Carey Brown, of Odham, Hants, England. The Jets are on a goodwill tour of the U. S. and Canada.

WILL CONTEST THE ELECTION

Labor to Have Slate for Civic Honors—To Oppose B. C. Municipalities Resolution

The forthcoming civic election and other civic matters were discussed at some length at a business meeting of the Prince Rupert Trades and Labor Council Monday and a committee was set up to interview likely candidates and report back to a later meeting of the Council.

Alderman Geo. Rudderham, who addressed the delegates, congratulated the Council on their decision to contest the election and hoped the delegates would rally behind the candidates elected to run.

The meeting was also addressed by Ex-Aldermen Hills and Black.

The Council also endorsed the action of the Vancouver Council that all candidates for municipal office should be opposed who were in favor of a resolution of the Union of B. C. Municipalities whereby certain sections of the Industrial Conciliation and Arbitration Act would not apply to municipal workers.

Credentials were received from the Teachers' Federation and delegates were seated.

It was announced that the Trades and Labor Council of Vancouver was to go on the air and sponsor other forms of publicity to inform the general public that the Vancouver Daily Province was still being produced behind a picket line.

DISCUSSING THE REDS— Russian obstruction of proposals for settlement of the Berlin problem in the United Nations Security Council brings the foreign ministers of the "Big Three" western powers together for this dramatic, but informal huddle in the French foreign ministry in Paris. From left to right are Ernest Bevin of Great Britain, George Marshall of U.S. and Robert Schuman of France.

League basketball Tuesday night had excitement, color and closeness. The games provided everything for the enjoyment of a large number of fans.

The Senior game saw Co-op defeating Brownwoods 63 to 53 for their second win which kept them on top of the loop. The first quarter started off fast with one team matching the other for baskets. Co-op, led by MacPhee, took a three-point lead 16 to 13. The fast-breaking game continued with Brownwoods fighting hard to take the lead. They tied the score 21 to 21 with 5 minutes to go but from then on Co-op pulled into a lead which they never let go. The half ended 36-27 for Co-op. The first half pace was fast and furious, set by Brownwoods, and, at times, got the better of the players, leading to rough and aggressive playing. Every ball was fought for and it was Brownwoods' poor passing and shooting that was their downfall. Co-op, with their wealth of experience to draw on, played a steady, hard-driving half. The third quarter kept up the terrific pace with Brownwoods striving hard to cut down the lead. However, Co-op kept on scoring as their forwards drove through the shoemen's defense. The final quarter saw Co-op relaxing and Brownwoods putting on a final drive that cut the margin to 10 points at the final whistle.

OUT OF THE WEST—Calgary's swashbuckling Stampede players are just one big team to eat as they huddle around Captain Poul Rowe (50) and quarterback Keith Smith (48) in their dressing room following their victory over Saskatchewan Roughriders in the western championship. They now meet either Hamilton or Ottawa for the union title. Rowe is holding the N.J. (Piffles) Taylor memorial trophy, emblematic of supremacy. Spait is clutching the Jeff Nicklin memorial trophy which he won as a valuable player in the west.

The referees, to keep the game under control, had to bench Pierce and Lindsay for too aggressive playing. Outstanding in the game was MacPhee, who showed the fans he could still score points and play a heads-up ball game. Holkestad displayed good ball-handling and shooting, especially of set shots, which is becoming lost in the one-handed orgy of shots today. Beynon, in his first game, played his usual good defensive style. Fitch was strong on defense. Shier and Thompson were tops offensively for Brownwoods. Both these players came through with shots that had the fans cheering. Brownwoods, who rely mainly on a strong offensive game, had a defense which left much to be desired.

Co-op took 92 shots and scored 26 field goals. Brownwoods made 23 field goals from 89 shots.

Legion Billiard Tourney Resumes

After an interval of one week during which time the club rooms of the Canadian Legion have been devoted to activities in connection with "Legion Week," play in the English billiards handicap tournament was resumed during the week-end.

Geo. J. Dawes (plus 25) won over R. H. Simonson (minus 20) by a score of 150-76 only to go down to defeat in his next match with Alex Harvey (who had a handicap of minus 20) with a score of 106 to 150. Harvey played a steady game throughout, his best breaks being 23 and 25 (unfinished).

Alex Harvey went on to meet A. M. Hurst (scratch) in the semi-finals of this tournament and Hurst won over Harvey after an interesting game by 150 to 93.

Both players gave a good exhibition of the game, which was fairly even until nearing the century mark when Harvey failed to take advantage of some good opportunities and Hurst forged ahead to win. A well-played score of 23 by Harvey was the only break of the game.

A. M. Hurst will now meet James Nicoll in the final match of the tournament at a date to be announced this week. The game will be for 200 points.

CUSTOMS AND CEREMONIES ROYAL BIRTHS DATE BACK INTO HISTORY

By KATHLEEN COURLANDER

Although the baby born to Princess Elizabeth and the Duke of Edinburgh is a commoner at the time of its birth as its father is not a Royal Duke, it stands, nevertheless, in the direct line of succession to the Throne, second only to its mother. The birth, therefore, recalls some historic customs which have long been maintained when a Royal infant arrives in Britain. One of these, now dispensed with, was that a Minister of the Crown should await the birth of the newborn in an adjoining room. Stress was long laid on this tradition, especially if there was any likelihood that the child would one day become the reigning sovereign.

This attendance was due to a famous constitutional crisis which occurred in Britain 260 years ago. Queen Mary of Modena, second wife of King James II, whose previous babies had died in infancy, gave birth prematurely to the child who was known later as "The Old Pretender." Although when this baby was born at St. James' Palace the Queen's apartments were thronged with Royal adherents, no Minister or responsible dignitary such as the Archbishop of Canterbury, was present. The Whigs, a political party who opposed James II and wished to see his son-in-law, William of Orange and his Protestant wife Mary on the Throne of Britain, maintained that the new prince was an inconspicuous infant who had been smuggled into the Royal bed-chamber in a warming pan, and that he was not the legal heir to the Throne.

After that occasion it became usual for a Minister who was constitutional representative of the government to be present in the palace or in the mansion where the birth was imminent.

Thus, for the birth on November 9, 1841, of the eldest son of Queen Victoria (afterwards Edward VII) the infant's father, Prince Albert, summoned for the event the Prime Minister, the Archbishop of Canterbury and the Duke of Wellington. Mr. Asquith, who was later Lord Oxford and Asquith, Home Secretary of Britain in 1894, hurried to White Lodge, Richmond Park, when Prince Edward of York (now Duke of Windsor) was born. Similarly on April 21, 1926, Sir William Joynson-Hicks (Britain's Home Secretary at the time) went in the early hours of the morning to 17 Bruton Street, London, to be present in the house when Princess Elizabeth was born.

POMP AND CEREMONY

In olden times much pomp and ceremony preceded a Royal birth. It was the custom to prepare the Royal bed-chamber by hanging arras (tapestry) on the walls of the Queen's apartment. This usually had a design of fleur-de-lys on a blue ground; no tapestry with figures woven into it was permitted as it was feared this might possibly frighten the Royal mother. The confinement pallet of Queen Elizabeth (Henry VII's wife) had a velvet canopy of many colors, and was striped with gold and garnished with red roses. Some days before the birth of her child this Queen bade farewell to the courtiers and retreated to her own apartments, where no man was allowed to enter. Her women acted as stewards and butlers.

Britain's present Princess Elizabeth was christened five weeks after her birth in the Chapel Royal, Buckingham Palace. The occasion was a family one, and only her relations were present in the chapel (which had been built for Queen Victoria). This chapel, which was converted from a conservatory, has a flat coppered ceiling and is supported by 16 white columns. At the west of the altar, and at the east a gallery containing a Royal pew. The gold vessel known as the Lilly Font, designed in 1540 for Queen Victoria's children, was brought from Windsor for the occasion. According to an old custom it was filled with water brought from the river Jordan. This tradition has been adhered to in the British Royal Family from the days of the Crusaders, who first brought this water to Britain from Palestine. The Princess was baptized Elizabeth Alexandra Mary by the late Dr. Lang, Archbishop of Canterbury.

IMPRESSIVE CEREMONIAL

The first Royal child to be christened in this chapel was the Princess Royal, Queen Victoria's eldest daughter, and on this occasion the furniture and

Reminiscences and Reflections

By W.J.

"Male child," whispered a Buckingham Palace servant to a police officer on duty near the main entrance last Sunday. Outside, an eager multitude pressed and guessed and wondered.

"It's a boy," shouted the constable. And for once, a policeman became the most popular man in town.

According to advice from Ottawa, no investigation of an official character will be made into the wrecking of the Egg Island light and the thrilling escape and days of exposure and hardship suffered by the Wilkins family. Could it be possible for Ottawa to unbend enough to establish and maintain a coast guard on what is, in certain seasons, one of the wildest and most dangerous shore lines in all Canada? The expenditure of public money is often spent for far less useful purposes.

An Evening Empire personal note, November 1, 1930, says Mrs. James C. Brady and family, moving to Ottawa, were given a rousing send-off, enlivened by a pipe band. The pipers were Alex McDonald, Jim Sturgeon and Hugh Smith and Drummer Kelly. That was 18 years ago. Mrs. Brady, whose amiability and gifts as an entertainer were so well recognized, will be long remembered here.

It is planned to have Tagwell Island the site of a landing field for aeroplanes. There will be a strip 4,500 feet in length. The trim little island within handy distance of town has always been a favorite spot for summer outings. But really, my dear Watson, you cannot but admit it's much better to have passenger planes land there than picnic parties.

In some lines, the cost of goods is going down and how long this soothing state of affairs will last can only be conjectured. Let gratitude be felt. Yet, comes the disconcerting rumor that more men are being laid off. Again, the same old chestnut—"always something to take the joy out of life." Why, when things call for less cash, should earnings start shrinking or stop?

MOOSE PLANNING 'CHAPTER NIGHT'

Plans for the forthcoming "Chapter Night" of the Women of the Moose were begun at a meeting of the organization's homemaker committee held at the home of Graduate Regent Mrs. Sam Haugan. Present at the meeting were Mrs. O. Stegavig, Mrs. R. Giske, Mrs. J. Kasper, Mrs. B. J. Bacon, Mrs. R. Fossum, Mrs. R. B. Skinner and Mrs. H. Muncey. Refreshments, served by the hostess, brought the meeting to a close.

MORE JUVENILE TEAMS IN ACTION

Spirited Play in High School Basketball Section

More teams of the Juvenile Basketball League went into action Tuesday afternoon. There was, as usual, a large crowd of team supporters.

In the first game High 4 defeated High 3 by 26 to 3. The first half was slow with both teams trying hard. High 4 had the edge and shut out High 3 10 to 0 at the half. In the third quarter High 3 broke into the scoring column and made all their points, Chandler scoring a field goal and Dennison a foul shot. High 4 continued scoring and piled up a big lead. Erickson and Smith led High 4. All the players played hard and are learning the game.

The second game saw Borden School gain their second win by beating Annunciation School 12 to 7. This game was nearly an upset as Annunciation threatened to beat a more experienced Borden team. The score at the end of the first half was 4 to 2 for Annunciation. They had the edge in play in this half. In the second half the more experienced Borden players started to hit the basket and were never headed. Annunciation showed a good working game and should not some wins in their future games.

Individual scoring:
High 3—Blackaby, Chandler 2, Dennison 1, Hoggan, Leigh, Christenson, Dunn—3.
High 4—Smith 8, Brenson, Leighton 4, Erickson 14, Scherk, Antrobus, Youngs, Kaardal, Brewerton—26.
Borden—J. Parnell 6, Atkins 2, P. Parnell, E. Findlay, Nelson, Saville, Anton 4—12.
Annunciation—Fitzgread 2, Slack, Gable 5, Turcotte, Lyons, Rousseau, Dumas, Basso, Bury—7.

By midnight the mastsail was "bent," giving the ship enough canvas to provide steerage way and the crew, with the exception of a four-man watch, turned in taking off their wet clothes for the first time in five days and nights.

It took two more days for the seas to recede and then it was decided the ship could not continue on to Durban and course was set for the South American coast. Land was sighted near Deception but off-shore winds prevented the ship reaching safe anchorage and she was swung northward. After 3 days of anxious sailing they reached Valparaiso, Chile, on March 12, 1942.

The crew spent six months there until arrangements were made for disposal of the cargo and the Alberni was declared unseaworthy by a Lloyds of London representative.

"I'VE THOUGHT THIS THING OUT..."

Says Tom Franck

I think I can make up by own mind better than any government official can do it for me. And that's why I'm plugging for our free opportunity democratic system. To me, it means freedom of choice; choice of education and vocation, choice of employer and of politics.

Like most young Canadians I want to choose my education and fit myself for the job or the profession I've decided on . . . not be told how and what to do by a politician two thousand miles away. If I'm capable—and who doesn't try to be—I'll succeed.

And what's more important, our free opportunity democracy makes it possible for others like me to get ahead as far and as fast as they can. What our politics are or who our families were doesn't matter. We'll make it on how well we do our jobs . . . not how well we know a political boss or how well we serve an all powerful political party.

I've thought this thing out. By comparison and on its own merits, our free opportunity democracy offers more to me—a student—than any Socialist or Communist state would. And by more, I mean more choice of what I want to do, more opportunity to succeed, more rewards if I make good, and a higher standard of living for everybody.

Certainly I want a free opportunity democracy. And because I want it, I'm going to work to defend it and improve it in every way I can.

Tom Franck, University Student

Customs and Ceremonies of Royal Births

plate had to be brought for the ceremony from the Chapel Royal, St. James' Palace, London. In this old palace for many years Royal christenings had always taken place and the order of ceremonial preserved on such occasions was impressive. Nevertheless in 1842, the Princess Royal's new brother and heir to the Throne (Edward VII) was christened at St. George's Chapel, Windsor. The old Duke of Wellington, hero of the Battle of Waterloo in 1815, carried the Sword of State. The Princess Royal wore a blue velvet infant's robe trimmed with ermine at her christening; Queen Victoria's other children were attired in crimson velvet.

Nearly 600 years before the christening of the future Edward VII another English Prince Edward, who was to become Edward III and found that great Order of chivalry known as the Order of the Garter, was baptized at Windsor in the old chapel of St. Edward.

It is interesting to compare the simplicity which surrounds the christening of modern Royal children with the great ceremonial which was emphasized centuries ago. Let us consider the baptism of that other Princess Elizabeth, second daughter of Henry VIII, which took place four days after her birth at Greenwich Palace in 1534. The Lord Mayor of London and the Council were commanded to row in state down the Thames to Greenwich for the event. The walls between Greenwich Palace and Grey Friars Church, where the ceremony was to be held, were hung with tapestries and the streets strewn with rushes.

In the church noblemen with aprons and towels round their necks guarded the font. This was of silver and over it was a square gold-fringed satin canopy. Between the chancel and the choir a closet had been prepared with a fire to prevent the infant from taking cold. Citizens who were debarred from the church led the Royal procession. The Earl of Essex bore gilt-covered basins and the Marquess of Exeter carried a taper of virgin wax.

Lastly, the Royal infant appeared in the arms of her great-grandmother, the Dowager Duchess of Norfolk. Her kinsmen held a canopy over her head. The baby was wrapped in a purple velvet and ermine mantle, her train of regal length held by important noblemen. A flourish of trumpets sounded as the Royal infant was borne to the altar. The Bishop of London conducted the ceremony. And that high, official, the Garter King of Arms, cried aloud, "God of his infinite goodness send a prosperous life and long to the high and mighty Princess of England, Elizabeth."

Stone's in overtime 33-29. Fashion started out strong with Bud Pierce leading the way. Their passing attack was fast and accurate which enabled them to score. They piled up a 10 to 0 lead before Smith scored for Stone's. The play was even in the second quarter with the Stone defense tightening up and their offensive starting to work. The half ended 21 to 9 in favor of Fashion. In the second half the game was all Stone's as their hard-driving play put Fashion back on the defensive. The quarter ended 25 to 19 for Fashion. The final quarter had Stone's breaking in fast and working hard to score. With 5 seconds remaining McChesney scored a lay-up which tied the count, sending it into overtime. The score at the end of regulation time was 27 all. In the 3-minute overtime Fashion settled down to their first half playing and outscored the fighting Stone's team to gain the win. Stone's played a very hard and fast game and, being younger in spirit, gave Fashion a scare that will probably warn the other teams in the league to watch out. Christoff was tops for Stone's with a lovely display of left-handed shots from the corner. Fashion was strengthened with the appearance of Bud Pierce, from last year's Co-op team.

LADIES' LEAGUE
The Ladies' game went to People's Store 26 to 4 over Miller Bay. It was their first win of the season. Miller Bay made its debut and scored a hit with the fans. Many of their players are just learning the game and their play was good considering the short time they have had to practise. The game was never in doubt as People's scored freely.

The Junior game saw Norton Star go into a tie for first place with Kinsmen, as they won their second game 37 to 10 while defeating Rupert Hotel. North Star had too much experience for their opponents and quickly jumped into the lead. Rupert Hotel's defense was very weak and North Star's forward line broke through to score many times. The passing of North Star was weak but this didn't hold them down. Rupert Hotel's offense was alright but their shooting was poor.
