FLOOD CONDITIONS IN B. C. STILL GRAVE

Authorities Surveying Skeena River Situation

make a survey of conditions in the central flood areas with a view to determining what relief may be necessary, Inspector F. B. Johnson, provincial police, and Ed. Coughlan, social welfare department are leaving this morning by air for the interior. They will visit the Skeena as well as Smithers and Bulkley valleys. Johnson left today. Coughlan will leave Monday. Reports from the interior indicate that the Skeena River, which reached flood height on Tuesday, has now stopped rising, but during yesterday's rain it was actually higher than it had been on Wednesday. Weather has been cooler at night, but warm by day. Fog prevails only as far up as Kwisno. From there it is bright and hot.

Communist Is Defiant

Tells United States Senate His Party Will Not Keep Law
WASHINGTON, D. C. — William Z. Foster, leader of the American communist party, yesterday attacked a bill designed to curb communism in the United States and told the senators that the party would not comply if it becomes law. As the Senate considered the Mundt-Nixon bill, Foster said the bill would create a Fascist police state and set up a caste of political untouchables.

RAIDED RED BOOK SHOP

MONTREAL, (C) — A provincial police anti-subversive squad, in the second big raid of its kind during the year under Quebec's padlock law, yesterday seized a truckload of books from a bookstore which they said was the distributing centre for Communist literature. The raid was ordered by Premier Duplessis and the police said they found copies of Karl Marx' communist manifesto of 1848 as well as pamphlets printed in Belgrade.

FLOOR PRICE UNDER BUTTER

(Via Army Signals)
OTTAWA, (C) — The federal government Friday gave dairy farmers in Canada a guarantee that the wholesale price of butter will not drop below 57 1/2 cents a pound anywhere in the country. Agriculture Minister Gardiner tabled in Commons an order-in-council which established a floor price under butter of 59 cents a pound at Charlottetown, Halifax and St. John, 58 cents at Montreal and Toronto and 57 1/2 cents at Vancouver. This means that the retail price now cannot go below 61 cents in British Columbia.

PEACE FOR PALESTINE

LAKE SUCCESS, (C) — Resolutions aimed at bringing peace to Palestine today confronted the Security Council of the United Nations with the Arabs accepting Great Britain's proposal and the Jews refusing the Russians'.

All Conscripts Are Rejected

SASKATOON, (C) — The Canadian Legion convention, after an angry debate, voted Thursday to refuse admission to NRMA troops who served active overseas in World War II in 1946. The Legion also rejected NRMA men generally.

Army Engineers Build Bailey Bridge At Angliers

A detachment of Royal Canadian Engineers from the 3rd Field Engineer Regiment of Montreal were flown north to Angliers, Quebec where they threw a Bailey bridge across the Quinze River in real Army style reminiscent of the river crossings in Europe during the last war. The bridge, which is 240 feet long, was constructed in three 50 foot spans and one 100 foot span and was quickly assembled and put across the river in near record time by the Reserve Force lads with the help of some of the company's workmen.

Larger shot shows the bridge nearing completion. All the Bailey bridge material was purchased in the United Kingdom and was brought over to the bridge site last April. Between two and three hundred people from the surrounding district were on hand to witness the construction.

Efficiency Of Pilots

Secret of Enviably Safe Record of Canadian Commercial Aircraft

The enviable record of safety achieved by the commercial airlines of Canada is no coincidence or mere matter of good fortune, according to Jack Faures, chief check pilot of Canadian Pacific Air Lines for British Columbia, who is in Prince Rupert in the course of a trip over the company's Vancouver - Prince Rupert operation. Faures attributes it largely to the strict regulations of company and government in regard to the continued efficiency of flying personnel.

Flying personnel must keep in continual training and be up-to-date and well posted at all times. "They are carefully checked up every three months and if they are not up to scratch in every phase of aircraft operation and control, they are grounded," Faures says. Examining the flying personnel is one of Faures' principal jobs as chief check pilot.

VANCOUVER GETS HOUSING PROJECT

VANCOUVER, (C) — Reconstruction Minister C. D. Howe said yesterday that the federal government was to build one thousand homes here early this fall at a cost of $7,000,000. The low rental project will be handled by the Central Mortgage and Housing Corporation and veterans will receive priority.

BILL WRATHALL BACK IN ACTION AS HAMS HANDLE TELEGRAPHIC TRAFFIC

Veteran operator of Government and Canadian National Telegraphs, retired these last several years, W. W. Wrathall is back in action again, pressed into service as a result of the tie-up of normal communication services through Skeena River flood conditions. In fact, his home on Fifth Avenue East, where he has his licensed BETLK amateur radio station, is a virtual signals centre these days of emergency as he leads local "hams" who have stepped into the breach to help handle commercial traffic following the normal wire failure.

Handling traffic both by key and radiophone, Bill Wrathall reported yesterday afternoon that he was still being able to keep up with the demands. Local hams are handling business for such points as Alice Arm, Stewart, Hazelton, Smithers and Terrace, the first outgoing link being from here to Jimmy Walsh's station BETAGO at Terrace whence it is relayed further along.

Naval Task Force Bucks Fraser River to Rescue Deluge Victims

Families Waded Out of Torrent in Sorry Procession—Army Given Complete Control

VANCOUVER—Early this morning, a task force of the Royal Canadian Navy began bucking the turbulent waters of the Fraser River to carry out flood rescue work. Thirty ships, in all, including the frigate, Antigonish, are taking part in the evacuation of hundreds of homeless women and children. Entire families, carrying all their worldly goods, are wading knee deep in the waters, along the river banks.

All the Navy units will operate on a 24-hour shift basis. Shortly after the naval auxiliary vessel Laynor arrived from Victoria last night, with her decks laden with power boats, she was sent up river, to move the stranded ones. The naval tug, London, is already in the Mission City area. A radio centre has been established at Mission and small radio units will go along with the rescue teams.

Meanwhile the Canadian Navy has officially branded the floods, in the Fraser Valley, as "Operation Overflow." It is predicted that the peak of the water, is only a matter of hours away. Across the line, the Governor of Idaho, has asked Canadian officials to confer with United States authorities on the flood crisis in the Pacific Northwest. Governor Robbins made the request for an immediate meeting, as the wild waters, pushed the death toll, in the Northwest States to ten and devastated new areas. National Guard units of Washington have been called into service.

The Attorney General of British Columbia has announced that the army has been given an absolutely free hand in the present emergency. Mr. Wismer has issued an order under the Militia Act, which gives the Army, full power to mobilize men, to meet any situation, arising from the floods. He said he had been assured by Army officials in Vancouver that men were being called out and mobilized where and when needed. The Attorney General has offered suggestions that the Army, Navy, Red Cross, Public Health officials, police and other public organizations, get together to appoint one man to direct flood relief operations. He said that his proposal had been well received and that meetings of the various groups were expected immediately this morning.

Another trainload of flood refugees arrived in Vancouver late last night. The latest group, numbering about 300, had been evacuated from Harrison Mills, Dewdney and Agassiz, three of the hardest hit spots in the Fraser Valley. They were brought into Vancouver in a special relief train of two coaches and a baggage car. Altogether 539 evacuees have been brought into Vancouver from the stricken areas.

ELSEWHERE IN PROVINCE
At Trail, a close watch is being kept on the movement of the Columbia River. Civic officials there, predict that the strength of the banks will be put to a major test on Sunday. Meanwhile another 20,000 sand bags are being sent from Vancouver to Trail today.

The town of Princeton is reported to be practically isolated by flood waters. However, there have been no reports of water actually reaching the town itself. Princeton is located on the Similkameen, a branch of the Okanagan River system. The situation at Kimberley seems to be slightly improved. The town was hard hit this week, when the waters of Mark Creek went on a rampage. However, in last reports, the town is getting back to normal, as the creek

TO RECLAIM MARITIMES

OTTAWA, (C) — Agriculture Minister James G. Gardiner yesterday outlined to the Commons an $880,000 program to reclaim 80,000 acres of wasted and water-logged maritime farmlands. The area is known as the marsh lands and twice daily is normally submerged in flowing tides. The money will be used to build dykes and protective works in Nova Scotia, New Brunswick and Prince Edward Island so that the land may be returned to agriculture and productivity increased. The program may last from five to 10 years.

TO DETERMINE SMUTS FUTURE

PRETORIA—General Smuts, whose government has been defeated, met his followers today to consider whether or not he will remain in politics. The newly elected Nationalist Government will shortly study the question as to whether or not they will study the issue of framing an entirely new Nationalist administration.

He said "Peace, and scientific surprise of modern war make the old military machines useless. The morning flight is scheduled to leave at 8:30 daylight time, arriving Smithers 10 a.m., leaving Smithers 10:30 a.m. and returning here at 12 noon. The alternate afternoon flight leaves at 5 p.m. daylight time, arriving Smithers 6:30 p.m., leaving Smithers 7 p.m. and returning here 8:30 p.m. The passenger fare has been set for $20 one way and $40 return with the express tariff 10c per pound. Capt. Larry Daykin, at present pilot on the Vancouver-Sandspit run, will take the Smithers service on in addition. C.P.A. has two Canso amphibians stationed here, the regular passenger plane and a freighter.

MARSHALL URGES "FIRM" POLICY

(Via Army Signals)
PORTLAND, Ore. — Secretary of State George Marshall last night warned the United States against falling into a Russian trap baited with "cynical" peace propaganda. In a speech prepared for delivery before the General Conference of Women's Clubs, he said that the western democracies can only win the cold war if the United States sticks to a firm policy toward Russia. "I am absolutely certain," he declared, "that such a firm and determined course can save the situation for the democracies."

Challenge to U.N.

IN THE HOLY LAND today is a strong challenge to the United Nations. If the modern powers cannot patch up a truce for Palestine, the UN might as well pack up and go home.

Both Jews and Arabs have historical or "aboriginal" rights in Palestine. Both have some claim to right on their side in the present war. The Arabs have been kicked around rather badly since the fall of the Ottoman empire, beginning with the declaration of Lord Balfour of Britain during World war 1 that Palestine would become the Jewish national home. It happened to be in conflict with the promises made by Lawrence of Arabia in that same conflict. The world has been side-stepping the issue of Zionism (Jewish national home) ever since.

If the Arabs can drive the Jews partly or wholly from the Holy Land, where does that leave the western powers that have supported the Jews these last few years in their dream of a national homeland?

What the UN may do to stop the fighting in Palestine is yet to be seen. Its members can be assessed a few planes and troops apiece and an international army can go into the war zone and force an end to hostilities. But that will only mean that a compromise must then be worked out acceptable to both sides and that seems to be as difficult a task as the UN ever may tackle. Be that as it may, there is a good chance that bigger wars may follow this little one. Russia, for instance, is playing the role Hitler and Mussolini played with the League of Nations, except that it is boycotting by inaction while the axis boycotted by separate action. So it may suit Moscow's longtime ends to have the UN fall apart at this stage of history. Certainly the western powers that so bravely fathered the UN and now so bitterly criticize the Russians for sabotaging it have their chance now to make it work. If they fail—which they must not—Russia will laugh at them. And if they act, they must watch the force Russia posts for the Palestine squeeze. For Russia may harbor ambitions to dominate the Moslem world even though she has gone along with UN thus far in its policies on Palestine.

WHEN NATURE RAMPAGES

TRUE Prince Rupert is far from being isolated in spite of the floods which have put the railway, the highway and the land communication systems out of business for a period of time that, at best, may run into weeks. Yet every day the tie-up continues the greater and more serious is the economic impact upon the normal business and industry of the port.

With the railway out of commission, the fish movement is diverted elsewhere, at least in part. Timber and lumber products, to which speedy and regular transportation is vital, are immobilized. The normal movement of supplies, in itself an important industry, is reduced from the ordinary heavy flow to an emergency basis if it moves at all. Soon the effect will be felt in unemployment and shrinkage of payrolls and the falling off of business generally.

When Mother Nature decides to go on the rampage, our organization and our industry soon become impotent. We come to realize how constantly dependent we are upon her bounty and her favor.

CHLORINATION

THE COUNCIL having voted, the city will now return to drinking water, "as is." There won't be any chlorine. True it is that for many a long year, chlorinated water was consumed, and who can say this was not the safe, the prudent course to take? It is only fair to suggest that much. Anyway, Prince Rupert has tried both and so far as known, no particular harm was done. Opinion, of course clashed. It always does. Many indeed, declared with emphasis, that they could taste no difference, while there were some who seemed to think they had everything from stomach ulcers to housemaid's knee. Perennial as it may be, chlorination is a popular subject for summer discussion this way and that.

LETTERBOX

ANXIOUS MOTHER

Editor, Daily News:
It was with some concern I noticed in your paper the necessity of an apology to the doctors from Mr. Brooksbank.

I have faith in the representatives we have elected to look after our interests in the city and feel their decisions, whether they agree with mine or otherwise, are based on experience, knowledge and sound judgment; have been made after due consideration of the pertinent facts and have the welfare of Prince Rupert at heart. Such was the way I felt when I read of the discontinuation of chlorination. Now, however, I find that, in arriving at their decision, instead of relying on the medical knowledge no layman would be in a position to have, our councilmen have evidently flouted the advice of the doctors. If this is so one wonders how Mr. Brooksbank, Mr. Rudderham, Mr. McKay, Mr. Morin and Mr. Casey could justify such an action in the face of opposition from their only qualified source of adequate information, the medical fraternity.

According to Mr. Brooksbank's statement if at any time the discontinuation of chlorination should prove a detriment to the people of Prince Rupert, he would recommend the re-chlorination of the water. And who, may I ask, is going to be the guinea pig that proves the detriment—your child or mine?

To many people chlorination is just an imaginary bad taste in the water but to those of us who are raising young families and are vitally interested in the health of Prince Rupert, please let us have some facts. How about an informative letter for or against, by one or all of our doctors, or our Provincial Health Unit. We are interested and we want facts, not personal stomach aches!

Thank you, Mr. Editor, for your space.

These words were spoken of our Blessed Lord by His bitter enemies. Yet they are among the most precious words in that priceless book, "The Bible."

We are all sinners and would be rid of the burden. Our text says that Our Lord Jesus Christ receiveth sinners and the whole Gospel message is that He and He alone can release us from the burden.

Like David we cry: "My sin is ever before me." It is a burden we cannot carry. Let us go then with those secret sins and fears and lay them all bare before this Man who receiveth sinners.

SERVICES

Yes, "this man receiveth sinners." So willing is He that, as George Whitfield says, He even receives the Devil's castaways.

But when He knows what I am in my most secret soul, will He receive me? Why not? All manner of man He has received and still does, rich men like Joseph of Arimathea, poor men like Lazarus who sat begging at Dive's palace gate, learned men and doctors like Dionysius and St. Luke, fishermen like Peter, James and John, adulterers like the woman of Samaria, backsliders like St. Peter, families like that of Mary and Martha at Bethany, statesmen and courtiers like the Ethiopian eunuch, and to crown all He receives little children; for "He took them up in His arms, put His hands on them and blessed them. So why not you, whoever you are and no matter how far you have fallen from grace. "This man receiveth sinners." He came not to call the righteous but sinners. His cross enables Him, His word compels Him, and His love constrains Him to receive sinners. So we end with a question, "Wilt thou, who

Need Home Food Gardens Now as Much as in War Says Secretary Marshall

WASHINGTON, D.C.—Freedom gardens this year are as necessary to the national welfare as were Victory gardens during the war, Secretary of State Marshall told the National Freedom Garden Conference here. He said:

"Food today is just as vital, probably more than during the war. No time in our history has the production and conservation of food been so important. Anything that can be done to stimulate the growing of food by individuals in local gardens should be done, and will be tremendously helpful to meet the great problem now before us. I don't speak theoretically from a desk in the State Department. I ordered my seeds and sets this year ten days ago. My problem is, do I negotiate or do I hoe, plant and weed. I propose doing both."

To prove his qualification as a "dirt gardener," the secretary told the following story, which may well become a classic.

"When Mrs. Marshall and I returned from China we brought with us a Chinese woman named Anna. She had a very definite belief in two things: one was the dominance of the male in the household, and the other was the fact that food was the greatest motivating force in our lives."

"The second day I was Secretary of State I managed to escape for a few hours and motor down to my house in Leesburg and was jubilantly greeted by Mrs. Marshall with the news that she had at last, after two or three years of effort obtained a truck load of, putting it politely, fertilizer. I was immediately put to work to distribute this great soil improver with a shovel and a wheelbarrow."

"Anna spied me. I might explain that in China probably the lowest form of human life is the man with the wheelbarrow. She was profoundly shocked, rushed out of the house and we enjoyed in a genuine struggle over the possession of the wheelbarrow. "She said what I was doing was utterly repugnant to her in that, in her belief, it lowered and humiliated the position of the Secretary of State if it did not affect the general government. My reaction was, I would enjoy doing it. I settled the argument by virtue of greater physical strength. But she remained fixed in that feeling. We all, I think, agree with her concept as to the relationship of food to the people of the world but there was a slight difference in the manner of implementation."

CROYDON, Surrey, Eng., — Children of Croydon are 30 per cent better behaved than in the rest of the country, a probation officer told 90 representatives who met to discuss charges of "child hoodliganism" in the town.

WARNS ABOUT PUBLIC DUTY

Obligations of citizens to aid the police in the performance of their duties was stressed by Magistrate W. D. Vance in police court this morning in a case arising out of a disturbance at Second Avenue and McBride Street early Tuesday morning.

Magistrate Vance bound Robert Keays to keep the peace for a year after he had found him guilty of a charge of obstructing Constable A. L. Rossiter of the city force in an attempt to arrest an intoxicated native.

The incident took place following a dance when a crowd, estimated by the police to number 80, gathered about Constable Rossiter and Robert Harmon as they struggled to put the Indian in the police van. As a result of mob action, the Indian escaped.

Rossiter testified that Keays had shouted at him to let the man go and then pushed him. Because of the push, the man arrested managed to get past Constable Harmon and out of the van. The police had been unable to close the door because the native's leg stuck out.

"Had you been doing your duty as a citizen, you would have been pushing the man's leg in. The police have a difficult job to perform and often need the aid of the public."

Sgt. L. A. N. Potterton asked the court that Keays be bound over to keep the peace for a year because "there is only one prosecution in this affair."

"If there had been several, I would have asked for stiff sentences," he said. "I don't feel justified in demanding a stiff sentence in a single case out of a mob."

The magistrate agreed to bind Keays over to keep the peace.

QUIETLY WED AT CATHEDRAL

A quiet ceremony, uniting in marriage Ronald Jago and Miss Shiela Wilcox, both of Prince Rupert, took place in St. Andrew's Cathedral Wednesday evening. Rev. Basil S. Prockter officiated. The witnesses were Mrs. Harriet Cornish of the Ocean View Hotel and Archie Hippisley. Mr and Mrs. Jago will make their home here.

LONDON, — Comforts for the blind—worth £2,000 ($8,000)—were stolen from a St. Dunstan's store.

Reminiscences By W.J. and Reflections

Jesse James is still alive, according to a responsible source in Oklahoma. He has been seen, from time to time, in different parts of the United States serving as cashier in cafes.

Deep sea fishing will conclude at the end of this month. Considering the height of Skeena water and what the railway is struggling with, perhaps the halibut season is not too short after all.

Instead of continuing to wear their uniform of blue, the post men of Canada will in future be seen in a uniform of grey, this being done as an economic measure. The news may possibly be of interest in some cities but in Prince Rupert it does not arouse a flicker of attention. It would be the same if they went naked.

The Legion convention at Saskatoon appears to have been all of dash, pep, timely thinking and straight talking. They recommended more people in Canada, sang "Home on the Range," finally winding up with a grand banquet.

What a noble assortment of

LIFE in this Prince Rupert by BIDDEE JINKS

If there is anything more pathetic than a Scotsman on a Saturday night with no "loaf"
in the house it is a Scotsman with neither a loaf or the butter to spread it.

Our house is divided against itself, on this subject. I am against a bread box so full that stale bread is in the offing until next mid-week. Hub, on the other hand, thinks it does nothing to the manliness of a manly chest to be concerned about such trivialities, if indeed they are trivial. He says, "Too bad if you're short of bread because somebody eats an extra slice of toast Sunday morning." And usually brings another 16-ounce home under his arm, just in case.

But Hub is away now, (and all the time, we eat fresh bread). He left on a sunny Sunday morning for regions that will turn him into some hybrid creature, part sourdough and grizzly, with an insatiable appetite for olive-skinned maidens and the warming glass. So he was told by those that ought to know.

They stood around wrapped in smiles that made Dagwood's impish grin a pale sickly thing by comparison. They slapped their knees in deep-bellied laughter.
They smacked Hub's shoulder
as much as to say: "Sic 'em, boy, you've got lots to learn and we're with you." It seemed they might already have been, and liked it.

To date, from this distance, there seems to be no change in Hub. He writes the same, says the same things only more of them. I could be mistaken but he still feels the same about such things as the sanctity of marriage and the importance of a loaf on Saturday night. And so far, his most crucial encounter was with a beast of the animal kingdom. They both won.

It was a rat. The first round went to the rat.

mail for the long-waiting, almost-empty post office boxes at culars, dinners, love letters, propaganda by the bushel, real news and what passes for news, invitations and perhaps a bit of abuse here and there.

there by the plumber I think and then he changed his mind and brought the pipes in another way. But he left the hole behind and it sure has been handy for Mr. Rat.
"But I spoiled his fun. I took a quart milk bottle and put it in the hole, upside down, so that if the rat tries to make the hole bigger the bottle will just keep filling the hole."
It was mind over matter, and the rat didn't matter. He just didn't have a chance. Instinct never does, pitted against we say, brains.
Plainly, this was a

SOCCER LEAGUE TO OPEN PLAY ON WEDNESDAY

An executive meeting of the Prince Rupert Football Association was held last evening and reports of the various committees were heard. Sponsoring teams during the forthcoming season will be Booth Memorial High School, 120th Battery and Canadian Legion.

Play will get under way on June 2 next when High School meets the Legion in the season's opener. The first league trophy to be played for will be the Gilhuly Cup, with a knockout competition in late June for the final of the Dominion Day Cup on July 1. Play for the Mobley Cup and the Stuart Shield will follow later in the season.

It is anticipated that there will be several games played for the Hanson challenge trophy throughout the year with visiting naval vessels and, with soccer organized once again in Prince Rupert, it is to be hoped that the locals will once more be a serious threat to visiting British and Canadian naval teams.

League schedules drawn up are as follows:

Gilhuly Cup, First Round
June 2—High School vs. Legion.
June 4—High School vs. 120th Battery.
June 9—Legion vs. 120th Battery.
June 11—Legion vs. High School.
June 16—120th Battery vs. High School.
June 18—120th Battery vs. Legion.
June 25—First round of Dominion Day Cup.
July 1—Final round of Dominion Day Cup.

Gilhuly Cup, Second Round
July 7—High School vs. Legion.
July 9—High School vs. 120th Battery.
July 14—Legion vs. High School.
July 21—120th Battery vs. Legion.
August 4—First round of Stuart Shield.

Mobley Cup
August 6—High School vs. Legion.
August 11—High School vs. 120th Battery.
August 13—Legion vs. 120th Battery.
August 18—Legion vs. High School.
August 20—120th Battery vs. High School.
August 25—120th Battery vs. Legion.
September 6—Final round of Stuart Shield.

SHORT SPORT

Andy Lytle of the Toronto Star says Jersey Joe Walcott is looking through rose-colored glasses at a rosily-colored world today. "It isn't any wonder. For years Walcott was a hungry fighter. He came to fistic prominence from farther back than Jimmy Braddock did when he magically smacked Max Baer and cut into a luscious melon, led to it by the astute Joe Gould." Andy notes the Associated Press quotes the big Negro who is scheduled to meet world champion Joe Louis in a second title bout next month as saying he wants to put his six children through college and build a home for each of his six sisters. "Well, it's an ambitious housing problem," opines Andy, "and he'll make his dreams come much closer by beating Louis than if he should get stiffened instead. Win, lose or draw, Jersey Joe gets 20 per cent of the gate plus 22 per cent of the movie rights." It came to him because his legs were fast enough to carry him safely out of the reach of the Brown Bomber's thumbs while his fists found time to deck the old champion temporarily.

Closing of Area No. 3 Set for June 15, Making Record Close Season—Impact of Skeena River Floods

Closing date for Area Three halibut season has been set for June 15 by the International Fisheries Commission, terminating a fishery period that can accurately be called a "flash" because of its lightning-like duration—a mere six weeks. It will close just two weeks after Area Two ends on June 1, next Monday night—after 46 days.

Total landings at this port up to Friday from Canadian and American boats since the season opened on May 1 are 5,050,000 pounds, of which 4,080,000 pounds have come from Canadian vessels and 970,000 from American boats.

Landings this week, including Friday, totalled 1,101,000 pounds, 846,000 pounds coming from Canadian and 255,000 pounds from U. S. boats.

The Fishermen's Co-op this week landed 615,000 pounds while 486,000 pounds were sold over the exchange. Total Co-op landings from the fleet from May 1 up to Friday were about 2,760,000 pounds while 2,290,000 have been sold over the exchange.

Caught in the flood which put the railway out of commission early this week were a dozen cars of fresh halibut, destined for the eastern market but, fortunately, the railway was able to bring them back before they spoiled. The passenger train which took them out Monday night was halted at Pacific, returning Tuesday night. Cutting off of the railroad line has resulted in increased use of packers to ship halibut to Vancouver and Seattle and also a greater tendency to freeze here.

Talking about floods, H.M.C.S. Discovery, the naval reserve headquarters at Vancouver, today is being used as an evacuation centre for refugees from the flooded Fraser River area, according to Lieut. John Quinn, executive officer of H.M.C.S. Chatham here. Hundreds of persons, cleared from their homes along the lower Fraser by high water, have been brought to Vancouver. H.M.C.S. Chatham itself is standing by in readiness for disaster relief work on the Skeena River. The diesel tug Marysville and the local harbor craft are standing by for orders.

While no houses or chicken coops have been seen floating in Chatham Sound during the last week, it is not unlikely that they might be. Communities such as Usk and Salus, where the water has reached the top of single story buildings might well expect to lose a small building or two. However, there is a substantial footage of cottonwood, spruce and cedar floating to the sea. Boats on the Skeena report the river filled with snags and deadheads. The area around Haysport and other river mouth points probably will be a paradise for beachcombers when the water subsides. There is a lot more than silt being carried along.

In dry dock here is the 45-foot halibut Nornen getting her starboard side partially replanked after going aground and nearly sinking off Squadaree earlier this week. She was brought in by the Canadian Fishing Co. packer Hillside after being refloated by several tugging boats on Wednesday. Loaded with halibut, the Nornen, Capt. J. O. Nansen, was reported heading for Squadaree to unload when she struck. She will be several days receiving repairs. The Nornen is a New Westminster boat.

Halibut prices have been maintaining a substantial level of 19 and 20 cents a pound for mediums, mainly because of the United States demand. However, there have been few spring salmon showing in Chatham Sound and fishing on the Skeena has been halted because of the swollen condition of the river and the number of deadheads floating down.

Annual inspection of the complement of H.M.C.S. Chatham navy reserve division has been set ahead one night because of the rail washout. The inspection was originally to have been held next Tuesday night but owing to the inability of Capt.
