

Provincial Election Called For June 15

NEW PREMIER OF BULGARIA

SOFIA, (CP)—Foreign Minister Vassily Kolarov is a likely candidate to succeed the ailing and absent Premier Georgi Dimitrov for the time being at least. Informed circles deride suggestions that Dimitrov's trip to Russia means he has retired as Premier or secretary-general of the Bulgarian communist party.

NEW TENDER IS LAUNCHED

Minister of Fisheries officiates at Ceremony For Local Vessel

VANCOUVER, (CP)—Minister of Fisheries R. E. Mayhew today "well and truly" laid the keel for a lighthouse supply and buoy vessel for use in serving Department of Transport facilities on the west coast out of Prince Rupert.

Would Ban Sales Tax

C.C.F. Also Favors Increased Workmen's Compensation Benefit

VANCOUVER, (CP)—After three bitter hours of argument, the C.C.F. provincial convention adopted a platform plank calling for removal of the three percent sales tax.

POLARIS-TAKU MINERS STRIKE

Some 150 miners of the Polaris-Taku mine at Tulsequah are being ferried out to Juneau by plane today with the closing of the mine which followed a strike vote Thursday. The men voted 135 to 16 to go on strike in an effort to obtain higher wages.

COALITION TO REMAIN FIRM

WINNIPEG, (CP)—Four members have bolted the ranks of the Manitoba coalition government in the current session of the Legislature and there may be further defections. However, unless unexpectedly large numbers withdraw from the government caucus, a break-up of the coalition is not considered imminent.

The mine is the second in the northern part of the province to close in less than a year as a result of labor disputes. Silbak Premier mine, near Stewart, was closed last July when members of the International Union of Mine, Mill and Smelter Workers voted to strike.

A few of the workers at Polaris-Taku, a gold producer owned by the Taku River Gold Mines Ltd. with head offices in Vancouver, will remain on the job to arrange for shipment of ore concentrates which have piled up as a result of the winter's operations.

SKY HAWKS ARE CHAMPS

Basso Thrills Big Audience

Kenneth Spencer Displays Exquisite Artistry In Recital Here

Kenneth Spencer, American basso, whose huge physique is matched by the greatness of his voice, captured an audience of 500 in the Civic Centre Thursday evening in a recital which was, without doubt, one of the finest vocal treats ever enjoyed by Prince Rupert music lovers.

Dock Workers Will Not Handle Vessel

ESQUIMALT, (CP)—Dockyard workers here have refused to complete repairs on the steamer Riverside which is being picketed by Canadian Seamen's Union strikers. The ship is idle with a broken propeller and workers refuse to cross the picket lines.

In a program, which brought out not only the scope of his wide repertoire but the magnificent range of his voice—a half tone more than two octaves, down to D-flat below the bass clef—Mr. Spencer clearly demonstrated why he is hailed as one of the most promising of America's great singers.

Seldom will a Prince Rupert audience have the opportunity to hear so wide a variety of songs grouped on a single program and rendered with such exquisite artistry as those presented by Mr. Spencer. These opened with three groups composed of English, German, French and Russian classics which paved the way for the folk fare from England, Ireland, Scotland and America which made up the post-intermission program.

PRINCE RUPERT FISHERMEN'S CO-OPERATIVE ASSOCIATION MEMBERSHIP MEETING

SATURDAY, APRIL 16, 1949 at 2 p.m. SONS OF NORWAY HALL 5th Avenue East (93)

His climatic presentation was a moving rendition of the negro spiritual "Crucifixion" (Were You There When They Crucified My Lord?) sung with great compassion and reverence. Its sincerity and suitability on the eve of the Easter season set it apart as perhaps the greatest offering of the performance.

The recital began with a sensitive rendition of "It Is Enough" from Mendelssohn's oratorio "The Elijah," following by a felicitous version of Purcell's "Passing By." The group was concluded with the passionate, yet lifting "Reclatative and Air" to Galatea from the Handel opera "Acis and Galatea" and "Drink to Me Only."

No Word to Say

WHEN WE WERE chatting with a good friend awhile ago, our talk drifted to the subject of communism. Our friend is honestly opposed to communism but he is of the elect few who try to see the element of good in even the worst cause. "Why," he asked, "when you write of communism, do you never have a good word to say? Sometimes even the communists are right, you know. They are human, like other people, they like people to think well of them. But don't you think, that when you can see something to praise, you should give them a break and praise it—praise it without any 'buts' or 'of course, on the other hand' tones, just praise without qualification?"

It is difficult not to feel like a bit of a heel in taking this argument as a text for doing the exact opposite. We are quite in accord with our friend's statement that sometimes the communists are right in their acts or contentions. No one can always be wrong. But—there goes the 'but' that we were to avoid—on thinking over our friend's argument, we were brought up short by this very patent fact that actions or words don't stand by themselves. It is the directing intent behind them that determines their character. When communism walks softly, and deals justly, and speaks with reasonableness with deluding mankind into believing that the creed is not as bad as it is painted, then the bearing of the deed itself is bad.

The obligation on us, we think, is no to sentimentalize our reasoning by believing that a pat on the head will make bad boys good. The obligation is to be a little in the image of God, not looking only at the outward appearance, but at what is in the heart. To give credit for what appear to be reasonable acts, to look for good where we do not sincerely believe good is, but only the devious semblance of good, is to add another voice, not to the chorus of free thought, but to voices keyed to delude and destroy.

THE LUMBER INDUSTRY

THERE ARE GROUNDS for somewhat greater optimism toward the outlook for the lumber industry. Demand continues unabated, both abroad and from domestic markets, a recent survey shows. Many of the smaller independent producers have been forced to close and this has caused some embarrassment but the main factors which lend optimism to the lumber outlook are: Construction needs here and in the U.S.; the world-wide reconstruction program. Countries needing to rebuild will find dollars with which to pay for purchases even at the expense of food.

FIRST WAR VET DIES

Frederick Pearson, heating engineer at the Miller Bay Indian Hospital, was found dead in bed Friday after having apparently passed away quietly in his sleep. He was 54 years old and was born in Carlisle, England.

An overseas veteran of the First World War, serving from September 22, 1914, to June 21, 1919, Mr. Pearson came to Canada from Bradford, England, shortly before that conflict. He served in the Royal Canadian Horse Artillery, "B" Battery, overseas for three years.

On his return to Canada, he went to Anyox in 1922 where he took charge of the laundry for that company mining town, remaining there until the smelter closed in 1935. In 1940 he went to work at the Prince Rupert Dry Dock and Shipyard where he remained five years as a charge hand plate hanger. He had been heating engineer at the Miller Bay hospital for the last two years.

Mr. Pearson had been a member of the Prince Rupert branch, Canadian Legion.

He is survived by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. George Pearson, and a brother at Bradford, Yorkshire.

SATURDAY SERMON

HE IS RISEN

(By Rev. Earl Solland, Pastor of St. Paul's Lutheran Church)

"He is not here; for He is risen, as He said. Come, see the place where the Lord lay." Matthew 28:6

Perhaps the greatest mystery is life and death. There is something about life that God has never revealed to man. We can analyze a body and find its chemical contents but that is only a beginning. We can explain how certain parts of a body functions and yet we cannot tell what makes it do what it does. For want of a better term we are told that the body has some compensating features that make up for certain deficiencies. No matter what we try, we finally come to the conclusion that man is wonderfully and fearfully made.

The life principle is inseparable from the soul. So when we have our body and soul intact, we have life. When the soul is separated from the body we have death. Even when one is living, his life is not satisfactory unless the soul has an additional form of life, namely the spiritual life. So it is that man is restless unless he is united with his maker. When he is united with his maker by faith in Jesus Christ, he finds satisfaction and contentment for himself. It answers the persistent question, Is there life beyond death? For every person who trusts in Jesus Christ is united with the true source of life.

We often need objective demonstrations to convince us of the truth. God has told us about the life beyond death. It is difficult for many to accept this unless they are convinced that Jesus Christ rose from the dead. We have that truth stated simply in our text. At the tomb of Jesus Christ on Easter Sunday morning, before the sun had arisen, Mary was greeted with the words: "Ye seek Jesus of Nazareth which hath been crucified; He is risen; He is not here; behold the place where they laid Him!" These words tell a simple, but wonderful story. Yet men are slow to believe. The disciples of Jesus needed several demonstrations to convince them. God has also given to us a number of illustrations which will aid us to see the facts if we wish to.

We have the angel's story of the resurrection. We have the account of the many times that Jesus appeared to men after His resurrection. We have the account of Stephen, who as he was being killed, looked up into heaven and saw Jesus standing to receive him. We have the testimony of the early Christians who proclaimed what they had seen and heard concerning the resurrection. And we have our own lives that demand a resurrection to compensate for the inequalities of the present life. Nowhere is there a satisfying answer to the craving of the soul than the message of Christ and the resurrection.

The resurrection means that we shall be able to enjoy the blessedness of the victory Christ won for us when He was crucified. It means a restored hope. It means that the devil has been overcome. You and I can look forward to the glory of eternal life when we trust in the victory won and demonstrated by His resurrection.

ROTARIANS HEAR ABOUT WILD LIFE

Prince Rupert Rotary Club Thursday made note of the current national Wild Life Week when it had as its guest speaker District Game Warden Edward Martin, who told of the continuing campaign to restore Canada's game animals and birds to something like their primitive abundance.

A provincial game warden for more than 20 years and a trapper before that, Mr. Martin has seen British Columbia's wild life diminish because of poor management coupled with natural and other human agencies. "The last 10 years have seen a great depletion in migratory bird life, caused mainly by poor management of our wild life resources," he declared. "Lack of foresight years ago has been responsible for 50 per cent of the loss."

Major cause of the depletion, he asserted, was the indiscriminate drainage of ponds and sloughs on the prairie flyway by homesteaders and pre-emptors, which robbed the migrating birds of resting places on their trips to and from their Arctic nesting grounds.

On the coast flyway, in which Prince Rupert lies, the migration has diminished too, he said, but was unable to give the reason for it.

"Most of the birds here, while classed as migratory, actually spend the whole year here. They received a setback when their nesting grounds were flooded in the floods of 1936 and were coming along nicely again when the 1948 floods struck. "That was even more serious," he told the Rotarians.

Mr. Martin asserted that "in this locality, no harm is done by hunters at all," mainly because few hunters ever obtain their bag limits.

Commenting on the trapping of small fur bearing animals, he said that up to 1926, unlicensed trapping had caused a dangerous depletion, which, however, was halted when the practice of licensing trap lines was adopted.

"Prior to 1926, we had no trap line registration and animals became scarce. Then, it was decided to put fur-bearing animals on a sustained yield basis," he said. "Today, we see the results of that planned management."

At the present time, about 95 per cent of trappers in British Columbia are natives and these co-operate well with the game department.

"Today our trappers are no longer merely trappers. They are fur farmers in a natural state," he said.

Result of this management has been an increase in the value of furs sold through Prince Rupert from $100,000 a year to more than $250,000, mostly in mink.

"That money means a lot to this city, particularly when it comes in during a slack period in the fishing season," he declared.

The bounty system for controlling predators, mainly wolves and coyotes, has failed, Mr. Martin declared flatly. Game authorities are beginning to realize this and are planning to train predatory animal hunters to rid game areas of the marauders.

"No matter how big a bounty is allowed, the system has proven that it will not work," he said. "The millions that have been spent on bounties in the last few years could have given us an efficient group of predatory hunters."

Mr. Martin disagreed with the argument that nature maintains a fine balance which would be upset if the predators were killed.

"Nature's balance undoubtedly exists where it has not been disturbed by the advent of man," he said. "However, when man disturbs the advent of man," most crafty animals survive. In order to protect the weaker animals, we must control the predators."

Mr. Martin was thanked for his address by Rotary Club President D. C. Stevenson. Guests at the meeting were B. J. Bacon, A. R. Nichols and W. J. Scott.

CIO's Philip Murray Says this about Free Enterprise

"The rights of private property and free choice of action under a system of private competitive capitalism, must continue to be the foundation of our nation's peaceful and prosperous expanding economy. Free competition and free men are the strength of our free economy."

Canada's CCL unions are affiliated with the CIO in the United States. But some Canadian leaders of the CCL are advocating Socialism. They take a position directly opposite to that of Scottish-born Philip Murray who is outspokenly opposed to Socialism, Communism or any form of collectivism.

Like William Green, president of the AFL, Philip Murray sees Competitive Free Enterprise as the foundation of the rights and security of organized labor.

Mr. and Mrs. W. M. Watts sailed Thursday night on the Prince Rupert for a trip to Vancouver.

BRIDE-ELECT IS HONORED

Shower at Mrs. Saville's For Donna McEwen

Seventeen ladies gathered Thursday evening at the home of Mrs. Stan Saville on Graham Avenue to do honor at a surprise shower to Miss Donna McEwen whose marriage to T. Lloyd George takes place in the United Church next Wednesday.

Three notable out-of-town guests were present at the shower. One was Mrs. J. L. McEwen of Victoria, mother of the bride-to-be, who arrived in the city on the Prince Rupert Wednesday to be present at her daughter's wedding. Mrs. McEwen moved to the southern city in September after several years' residence when her husband, the former administrator of Wartime Housing Ltd. here, was transferred to Victoria. Mr. McEwen arrived in the city on yesterday's plane.

The other two out-of-town guests were Mrs. C. T. George and her 1 year old daughter, Gwen, mother and sister of the bride-groom-elect, who made their first trip to the coast from their home in Milden, Saskatchewan, in order to attend the wedding.

The evening was spent chatting and was climaxed when the guest of honor was presented with several armfuls of gaily wrapped gifts all of which proved most interesting and useful when opened.

Just before midnight a delightful lunch was served by the hostess.

The seventeen guests present were Mrs. J. L. McEwen, Mrs. C. T. George, Mrs. S. E. Parker, Mrs. S. Saville, Mrs. T. B. Black, Mrs. A. M. Martinussen, Mrs. James Forman, Mrs. Robert Parker, Mrs. Wilford Taylor, Mrs. J. Hopkins, Mrs. Helen Marchildon, Mrs. Ralph Hood, Mrs. T. Johnstone, Mrs. Tommy Fraser, Mrs. C. A. Kellett and the Misses Donna McEwen and Gwen George.

BEAUTIFUL MARRIAGE

Miss Bernice Eastwood Becomes Bride of Jack Evans

Popular local business girl, Prince Rupert-born Bernice Isabelle Eastwood, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Eastwood, Fulton Street, became the bride of Jack Michael Evans, son of Mr. and Mrs. John E. Evans, member of the Prince Rupert city school teaching staff, at a beautiful marriage, Thursday evening in First Presbyterian Church. Rev. George Sendall officiated before a large congregation.

The double ring ceremony took place before the chancel which was adorned with large baskets of spring flowers—yellow daffodils, pink tulips, red carnations, white iris and pussy-willow boughs. It was an attractive setting for the bridal group.

Entering the church with her father, who gave her in marriage, the bride was preceded by a maid of honor and bridesmaid. The wedding March was played by Mrs. E. J. Smith.

The petite bride was a charming picture of young beauty in her wedding dress of white brocaded moire. Her finger tip veil was held in place with a coronet of pearls. Her colonial bouquet was of white Easter lilies with centre of pink steffantis.

The pretty bridesmaid was Miss Jeanne Thompson who had a becoming gown of blue moire with matching gloves and pink colonial bouquet.

Gladys Foster, the maid of honor, was charming in blue net lace taffeta with blue lace gloves and pink colonial bouquet. Jack Eastwood, brother of the bride, was groomsmen. Ushers were James Densmore and Peter Adlem.

Following the marriage rite, the bridal party retired to the vestry where the register was signed. During this time Mrs. George E. Sendall sang sweetly

"Because" with Mrs. Smith as accompanist.

After the church ceremony, 175 friends gathered at the Sons of Norway Hall where a reception was held. The guests were received by the mothers of the bride and the groom, Mrs. Eastwood wearing rosewood crepe with matching hat and Mrs. Evans a shade of burnt toast, also with matching hat.

The couple received felicitations before a bower of green foliage and pink and white buds. Decorations both in church and hall were arranged by the Job's Daughters under the leadership of Mr. and Mrs. Alex Mitchell.

The pastor, Mr. Sendall, proposed a toast to the bride to which the groom responded. Toast to the bridesmaids was proposed by M. M. Stephens with the groomsman responding.

Presiding at the serving table, the feature of which was a handsome three-tier wedding cake, duly cut by bride and groom, were Mrs. M. M. Stephens and Mrs. Joseph Peterson. Servers were Miss Dorothy McLeod, Miss Margaret Murray, Miss Mary Strachan, Miss Lorna Donaldson, Miss Marjorie Eby, Miss Pat McRae, Mrs. James Densmore, Miss Donna MacArthur, Miss Mary McAfee and Miss Joanne Langridge. Assisting with the cutting of the wedding cake was Mrs. Andrew Thompson.

Later in the evening, there was dancing with Mrs. Nora Thompson presiding at the piano.

Accomplished pianist, former leader of Job's Daughters, born and raised in Prince Rupert, the bride is a member of the staff of H. G. Helgeson Co. Ltd. The groom has been engaged in school teaching here for the past couple of years.

Mr. and Mrs. Evans have taken up residence on Falton Street.

The veins are blood vessels which return the blood from the capillaries toward the heart.

BASSO THRILLS

The German group, which he sang with much beauty, included "Der Tod und das Madchen" (Death and the Maiden) by Schubert, in which the singer's soft notes were remarkable, and two Lieder by the same composer "Wohin" (Whither) and "Der Jungling" (The Young Man).

Enriching this same part were the brief and languid "L'Heure Exquise" (The Perfect Hour) by Reynaldo Hahn, Moussourgsky's delicious and ludicrous ballad of "The Flea," sung in English and Figaro's comic lecturing to Cherubino "Non piu andrai" from Mozart's "The Marriage of Figaro." The first section of the program concluded with the Irish song "She Moved Through the Fair."

A Scottish, Irish, American ballad and English folk song made up the first section of the post-intermission performance. They were the "Bonnie Earl of Moray," arranged by Kreisler, "The Ballynure Ballad," arranged by Hughes, "The Rio Grande," composed by Cellius Dougherty and "O No, John," a humorous English folk song arranged by Wilson. The latter and the "Big Brown Bear" which he sang as an encore, demonstrated, along with "The Flea," Mr. Spencer's flair for the humorous.

His selection of negro songs was satisfying, yet unusual and he gave the audience a lavish number beyond those on the printed sheet. In these, as in all his singing, Mr. Spencer's clear diction was appreciated. The negro groups consisted of "Water Boy," "Scandalize My Name," arranged by Johathan Brice, his talented accompanist, "I Hear the Lambs a Cryin'," "Honor, Honor," "No Hidin' Place Down There," "Joshua Fit the Battle of Jericho" and "Old Man River." The last-mentioned, which he sang continuously two years ago in a Broadway revival of "Show Boat" brought storms of applause.

Jonathan Brice provided an unusually fine accompaniment, identifying himself with the singer with particular effect during the Lieder. His talent as an artist also won applause when he played three request numbers following the intermission. These were Debussy's "Clare d'Lune," "Second Arabesque in G-Major" and "The Girl With the Flaxen Hair."

Ushers for the performance, drawn from the Business and Professional Women's Club, were Miss Frances Partridge, Miss Frances Cross, Miss Honora Silversides, Miss Audrey Wrathall, Miss Joan Cross and Miss Evie Rivett. A. G. Boas was in charge of the door.

The recital was underwritten by two local business firms—Watts and Nickerson and Orme's Drugs—to whom appreciation is due.

Following the recital, there was a small reception at the home of Dr. and Mrs. W. S. Kergin when those who had taken a prominent part in connection with the staging of the recital gathered to meet personally with Mr. Spencer and Mr. Brice.
