Pipe Line Job Starting Next Week

First Major Operation in Connection with Port Edward Celanese Mill

Construction of the five-and-a-half mile pipe line, the driving of 5000 feet of tunnel, through which will be taken from Prudhomme Lake to an Island celanese mill of the Celanese Corporation of America, will start next week. First operation will be the building of a road from Watson Island.

DAMAGED PLOW DELAYS TRAIN SERVICE EAST

Damage to a rotary plow while it was clearing away a slide five miles west of Kwinitsa. Thursday morning delayed traffic on the railway line another 36 hours, causing a train that left Prince Rupert at 1 p.m. yesterday to turn back.

Railway authorities hope to be able to clear a train for Jasper at 8 o'clock tonight. If it leaves, it will be the first train to get through since the line was covered by tons of rock following a blast near Salvus on Sunday.

A diversion around the rock barrier was completed yesterday and work of clearing a 500-foot long snowslide was almost completed when the rotary plow broke down and had to be brought to Prince Rupert for repairs.

The train which left here at 1 p.m. yesterday went as far as Tyee, 20 miles east, then returned to the city.

The snowslide came down at 8 o'clock Thursday morning. It was immediately attacked by the snow plow which had cleared 450 feet of its 500 feet when it broke down. Gangs of men using hand shovels have been working on the remainder of the slide since.

The snow plow was expected to be repaired in time to return to the slide at 2 o'clock this afternoon.

Last night's westbound passenger train turned around at Terrace and returned east. Included in the list is an entry by Canadian National Railways contesting assessments on various properties which it owns in the city. The others are all by private property holders. The appeals:

Vivian Garten, lot 13, block 18, section 5, Seventh Avenue West, $400 land assessment too high.

John D. Morrison, lot 1, block 6, section 1, Second Avenue, $500 improvements too high.

Joseph Oskey, lot 30, block 19, section 5, Seventh Avenue West, $400 land assessment too high.

T. Prystay, lots 27 and 28, block 10, section 1, Second Avenue at Eighth Street, land claimed too high.

E. Cavenall, part of Waterfront block "I" Seal Cove, improvements $4,530 too high.

Albert E. Stiles, lot 21, block 25, section 6, Eighth Avenue East, land $350, improvements $2,300 too high.

John Tokar, lot 2, block 32, section 5, Comox Avenue, land $400, improvements $500 too high.

Mrs. Irma Johansen, lots 19 and 20, block 39, section 7, Eighth Avenue East, land $400 too high.

Canadian National Railways, various properties, assessment too high.

C.P.R. Makes Request in Event of Mountain Differential Being Removed

OTTAWA—The Canadian Pacific Railway today asked the Board of Transport Commissioners for an immediate two percent general increase in freight rates if it removes the mountain differential rate. R. M. D. Spence, C.P.R. associate counsel, made the request as he concluded final argument for the company in British Columbia's application for removal of the

RUSSIANS ESCAPE FROM SOVIET WITH MESSAGE for COMMUNISTS

WESTOVER, Mass. (UPI)—Two Russian Air Force officers who escaped from Russia by plane landed here today—delighted to reach the United States.

They had a message for American Communists:

"Instead of making all their noise they should volunteer to go over to Russia for one month. They would be glad to return here and resign from the Communist party."

CHIEFTAIN EXECUTED?

ATHENS, (UPI)—A general staff spokesman said tonight that the Communist guerrilla chieftain, Marjos Vafades, is believed to have been executed by the rebels for having failed to conquer Greece.

The guerrilla's underground radio said that Vafades had been ill for several months and was unable to carry out important talks.

FOREIGNERS IN ISRAEL

Story of Jewish Volunteers
Is Hard to Tell

By JAMES LONG

TEL AVIV (AP)—The story of the foreign volunteers who helped the fledgling army of Israel win the battle of Palestine is one of the hardest to tell here.

Censorship doesn't like it. At the outset it was not permitted to write about foreigners in the fighting forces. Even now correspondents are not permitted to speculate on the round numbers of, for example, Americans who are in military service here.

For one thing, the Israeli state does not want to be accused of importing mercenaries or bringing in adventurers. Undoubtedly, some did come here for both reasons, but it was felt here these were not representative.

The announcement said that the embargo had been ordered because of restrictions placed by the Soviets on travel.

Officials said the effect would be "considerable" but refused to elaborate.

Clamp Down New Embargo

Britain and United States
Blockade on Soviet Berlin is Tightened

BERLIN (UPI)—Great Britain and the United States clamped down an embargo today on all freight passing through their zones of Germany from European countries to the Soviet zone effective Sunday.

The embargo affects all rail and road shipments heretofore travelled across the bi-zone into the Soviet zone from countries like Belgium, France, Switzerland, the Netherlands, Luxembourg and Denmark.

The announcement said that the embargo had been ordered because of restrictions placed by the Soviets on travel.

Officials said the effect would be "considerable" but refused to elaborate.

Thinks Election Coming June 27

OTTAWA (UPI)—Senator John T. Haig, Progressive Conservative leader in the Senate, is the first prominent political figure to pin-point a date for the next general election. He thinks it will be held June 27. He made the forecast of election day during Throne Speech debate.

Archbishop Takes Back

Strange Case of Roman Catholic Primate Takes Another Turn

BUKAPEST (UPI)—Josef Cardinal Mindszenty recanted in court today a letter he wrote before his arrest saying, if ever he admitted his guilt to government charges against him, it would be because of weakness of the flesh.

The Cardinal, being tried on charges of treason, espionage and black market operations to which he has pleaded partly guilty, declared, "I wrote this letter some time in November 1948. Now I want to state that I see things differently. I regret my error."

Earlier the court said that the Cardinal, 56-year old Roman Catholic Primate of Hungary, admitted writing a letter to United States Minister Seldan Chapin, asking him to furnish a plane for his escape and offering $4000 for a pilot.

FULL AUTONOMY IS DESIRABLE

St. Laurent Does Not Like Asking London for B.N.A. Amendments

OTTAWA (UPI)—Prime Minister St. Laurent said last night that Canada should have the right to amend its own constitution without reference to the United Kingdom Parliament.

The Prime Minister said he did not like the idea of having to go to London to get amendments to the British North America Act and said he was sure the British people did not like it either.

Mr. St. Laurent gave no details of a proposal forwarded by a former government which it is commonly believed would call for consent of the nine provinces for a request to the United Kingdom for legislation necessary to rid that body of all authority over Canada.

The Prime Minister also proclaimed the government's determination to work for conclusion of the North Atlantic security pact. He said that Canada could not withdraw from world affairs.

Critical Of St. Laurent

Progressive-Conservatives
Still Seeking Dominion-
Provincial Parley

OTTAWA (UPI)—Donald Fleming, Progressive Conservative, Toronto-Eglinton, said yesterday that Prime Minister St. Laurent had apparently made up his mind not to call a Dominion-Provincial conference. He said that the Prime Minister had indicated in his speech Monday that he had neither time nor patience to attend further conferences. Apparently, he said, it was all right for the government to attend international conferences, whether they succeeded or not, but the same government would not sit on its own affairs.

One of several to participate in debate on the Throne Speech, Fleming charged the government with attempting to rip up the Canadian constitution, practicing extravagance and failing to make headway in the housing field. Therefore, he said, "the government does not possess the confidence of the people nor does it deserve the confidence of this House."

MAKING COMMUNISTS

ROBERT FAIR (Social Credit, Battle River), said that government policies were helping to create Communists in Canada because the potential production of the country was not being made available to the people. They were dissatisfied and were turning "perhaps to the Communist way of life."

New Set-Up On Cannery Fires

JUNEAU—Because of the increase of cannery fires in Alaska, all of the west coast insurance groups have agreed to a blanket 50 per cent raise in rates for all canneries or any property identified with the fishing industry. Large canneries which have been recently burned include the plants at Hydaburg, Excursion Inlet and Kodiak. With one exception, none rebuilt.

Department Of Interior Asked For Appropriation

WASHINGTON D. C. (UPI)—Representative Jackson (Democrat-Washington), member of the House sub-committee on Department of Interior appropriations, has asked the Department to start immediate planning for a survey to determine the cost of a railroad to Alaska.

Jackson and Senator Magnuson (Democrat-Washington), introduced bills directing President Truman to authorize study of a route for a proposed railroad from Prince George to Alaska.

Jackson said he planned to ask that funds for survey and planning the railway be included in the Department of the Interior appropriation bill for the fiscal year beginning July 1.

RESULTS IN PALESTINE

TEL AVIV (UPI)—Final election results for the Israeli constituent assembly, announced today, gave Prime Minister David Ben Gurion's Mapai (Labor) party 46 seats of a total of 120.

The Mapai, Left Wing Socialist party, received 19 seats, the United Religious Front 16, and the Herut (political party representing the former Irgun terrorists), 14.

MARINE TRAFFIC TO WEST INDIES

MONTREAL—Various phases of marinetransport in connection with the Canada-West Indies trade agreement will be the subject of discussions at Barbados next week when F. M. MacLennan, assistant deputy minister and comptroller, Department of Transport, will meet with representatives of the British West Indies and Bermuda.

Mr. MacLennan left here Thursday night accompanied by Captain R. A. Clarke, general manager, and J. M. Gauthier, freight traffic manager, Canadian National Steamships, who will act as his advisors during the meetings which open February 7.

The party will act as a fact-finding mission for the Dominion to gather data concerning future shipping requirements under the trade agreement.

THE WEATHER Synopsis

Cold polar air pushing southward over British Columbia has brought clear skies to the northern and central portion of the province. Clearing skies and lower temperatures are expected over the southern portion of the province later today. A weather disturbance in the Gulf of Alaska is expected to bring cloudiness to the coastal districts tomorrow.

Forecast

Queen Charlottes and North Coast—Clear and cold today. Increasing cloudiness tomorrow, becoming overcast in afternoon. Wind, northerly, (20 m.p.h.) today, light tomorrow. Lows tonight and highs tomorrow—at Port Hardy 22 and 32; Massett, 25 and 30; Prince Rupert 20 and 28.

Paying Teachers

SCHOOL TEACHERS of Prince Rupert will, no doubt, derive some measure of satisfaction from the finding of the board of arbitration which this week sat in their dispute with the board of school trustees on the salary question and awarded them a compromise salary increase. The trustees will now have to dig that much more money—$13,541 over 1948—out of the long-suffering taxpayer who sees so many other municipal needs staring him in the face these days.

There is no disputing that, in the case of the school teacher, the workman is worthy of his hire. There are very few of us who in our daily avocation have a greater responsibility than the school teacher. The teacher has as the material on which he works, the most important of our assets—the children and the youth.

To chisel on the teacher's salary is the last thing which any taxpayer would desire to do. The more we can pay them the better quality of people we will get in the profession and the more ample the supply will be.

Meanwhile, the harassed local taxpayers are laboring under the financial demands of ever increasing local needs and there would appear to be ample justification for a greater measure of external support for the communities in this matter of education.

Our children being not merely a local but a national asset, their development would reasonably appear to be more than a mere local responsibility.

The dispute between teachers and school trustees over wages merely points another aspect of the necessity for a new deal on the matter of school financing, something which has already been recommended but not fully implemented.

TRUTH ABOUT WEATHER

WHILE it must be admitted a few squalls have been felt in Prince Rupert, there has never been the faintest desire to deceive—never the slightest urge to have created the impression that conditions were other than the absolute truth. Therefore, when from tempest-lashed Vancouver come statements suggesting it's worse in Prince Rupert, we raise a work-hardened hand, and utter a resounding protest. When there's no fog, no snow, no slush, no rain, when the air is clear and crisp, the sun beaming from dawn to dusk (and it's been like that for days) we want the world to know it.

FISH AND WORLD FOOD

FISHERIES are said to be vital to the food supply and economic prosperity of at least sixty-one nations and some producers are declaring that the supply of sea food is by no means as great as it could be without risk of depleting the source. On the other hand, some industrialists are eager for agreements to restrict what is called over-fishing.

From Great Britain comes the warning that, if the North Sea is to remain prolific, special care will be an absolute necessity. Heed must be given the scope of operations. The catch, today, is said to be back to the 1938 low levels. During the years of war, with the suspension of fishing, there was an immediate and far-reaching increase in all kinds of this great natural resource.

Not long ago the United States received a request to assist in bringing about an international agreement between England, France, the Netherlands, Denmark, Iceland and Norway to limit the size of whitefish catches. This was but one of several conservation projects.

The depth of ocean waters largely determine the number and relative importance of the world's chief fishing grounds. They are almost all within a 200-fathom depth, many being on the shelves of continents, or banks of the oceans. The major sources are the Asiatic shores, and the coasts of Europe, and the eastern and western zones of North America.

To a somewhat lesser degree the same may be said of the Arctic and Antarctic and certain parts of the East Indies.

Production is not less than a billion dollars. The effect of two vast wars caused disastrous consequences for the feeding of untold millions of human beings. Cultivation of the soil decreased in extent, or ceased in different parts of the globe. The labor that planted and reaped died on thousands of battlefields, became hopelessly crippled or yielded to disease. Reserves, stored away for emergencies were destroyed, or made use of earlier than had been intended. Development of fisheries could help.

IN HIGH C.P.A. POSTS.—R. W. Ryan of Winnipeg (left) and W. G. McConachie of Vancouver (right), who have been named to important posts in Canadian Pacific Air Lines by G. W. G. McConachie, president of Canadian Pacific Air Lines. Mr. Ryan becomes executive assistant to the president in Montreal, while Mr. Townley has been made general manager of operations with headquarters in Winnipeg and later in Vancouver when trans-Pacific services to Australia, New Zealand and to the Orient are started. The appointments are designed to co-ordinate the new Pacific services with existing domestic operations.

Farm Prices Major Issue

By GEORGE RONALD
Canadian Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON—One of the big battles of the year is expected when the government's Farm Price-Support program comes up for congressional review.

The issue is whether the prices of major products should be maintained beyond January 1, 1950, at the mandatory 90 percent of parity. A long-range, flexible support system is scheduled to go into operation on that date but some groups in Congress have indicated they will seek to ditch it and keep the present program in effect.

Parity is a legal standard for measuring actual farm prices. It is declared by law to be fairly equal to farmer and consumer. Price prices are set by complicated government formula for every major farm product. All are based on price and cost levels as they existed in the 1939-41 period.

Farmers are getting much more than parity prices on beef cattle, veal calves, lambs, hogs, turkeys, rice, flaxseed, cottonseed and milk. Close-to-parity prices are being paid for cotton, soybeans, wool and chickens.

Less-than-parity prices are being received for rye, corn, oats, barley, hay, peanuts, potatoes, sweet potatoes, beans, tobacco, apples, grapefruit, oranges, lemons, butter and eggs.

Senator George D. Aiken (Rep. Vt.), the man who almost single-handedly pushed the flexible Price-Support program through Congress last June, contends:

"With rigid 90 percent price supports, farm commodity prices would collapse and pull the whole national economy down with them."

The flexible system, due to take effect next January 1, unless the law is changed, would tie farm prices to the general trends of the United States economy. It is approved—in principle—by such organizations as the National Grange, biggest farmer group in the country.

A big question facing the government policy-makers is whether it is possible to have government aid programs without measures which would tell the farmer just how much land he could plant to particular crops and how much he could sell.

Supporters of the 90 percent Supports argue that over-production and surpluses could be prevented by the use of controls over production and markets. They would bring back acreage allotments and marketing quotas, inaugurated by Henry A. Wallace when he was agriculture secretary in the 30's.

Foes of the high Supports argue that farmers don't want to go back to controls.

RETURNING TO NORWAY

Bjorn Selvig, Norwegian artist, and Mrs. Selvig, who will be remembered by Prince Rupert friends, will sail from New York City February 22, for Norway. They will resume residence in their native land after a sojourn in British Columbia and Alaska.

They lived in Prince Rupert for a while travelling from here to Juneau and other northern centres.

A letter has been received from Mr. Selvig, written at Port Hope, Ontario. He mentioned that they hoped to end the series of mishaps which occurred since they left the north. Mrs. Selvig still wears a neck-to-hip cast following injuries received in an accident on the Skeena Highway when a hawk flew into their car, hitting Selvig in the eye.

Passage on the steamer sailing from New York has been booked.

LOCAL PIONEER IS BURNED OUT

Sid Hardy, who many years ago lived in Prince Rupert and has been for a long time in the grocery and meat business at Forest Grove near Portland, Ore., had the misfortune to be completely burned out recently. It was a $75,000 fire which destroyed his premises. However, there was insurance coverage and Mr. Hardy is going back into business again. He was a well known football player here in the early days and is a brother of Fred Hardy.

Gowned in white satin brocade cut on princess lines, with train veil crowned by a coronet of orange blossoms, the bride was given in marriage by Nelson Roye. She carried a colonial bouquet of orange blossoms and red roses. A pearl necklace enhanced her costume.

Matron-of-honor was Mrs. Margaret Mathew, wearing a gown of blue crepe, cut on princess lines. She wore matching accessories and carried a bouquet of pink carnations.

Groomsman was Milfred Mathew.

Modern Etiquette

By ROBERTA LEE

Q. Would it be all right for a man to buy an engagement ring before he proposes to the girl?

A. No; unless he thinks there is no possibility of the girl refusing him. Usually, though, the girl should have something to say about the choice of the ring, its style, color, and so forth.

Q. How should one place the knife and fork after finishing a course at the dinner table?

A. Parallel across the plate, with the handles to the right.

Q. If someone "cuts in" on one's partner at a dance, would it be proper to "cut back" on this man a few minutes later?

A. No; but you may "cut in" on the third man if you wish.

You Saw it in The News.

ARGUMENT ON TUBE BABIES

By CYNTHIA LOWRY

NEW YORK (AP)—How is society going to accept test tube babies?

That's a question currently confronting jurists, lawmakers, sociologists and moralists in the English-speaking world.

Are they to be considered the legitimate children of husbands and wives when the husband is not the actual parent? If the answer is yes, when is a test tube baby illegitimate? What legal rights has the child? The husband of the mother? Does she submit to artificial insemination? At the moment, religious and lay opinion on the status is divided.

In Great Britain a woman received an annulment of her marriage on the grounds her husband was incapable of normal relations. The court ruled to be infant child as illegitimate—despite the fact the husband himself was the father of the child. Conception had been aided by a physician.

With this as a springboard, demands were made that the British government settle by law the social status of children born of artificial insemination.

Elsewhere, it's up in the air, subject to legal interpretation by the courts.

CANADIAN DECISION

In a recent Canadian case where the husband did not consent to the pregnancy by a donor—the child was held to be illegitimate, and the wife guilty of adultery.

There was no moral turpitude involved in the adultery, the Canadian court held, but the pregnancy of the wife without her husband's approval constituted "an invasion of the reproductive function." Earlier, an English court held the same opinion in another case.

The journal of the American Medical Association editorialized in 1939 that "the concept of legitimacy seems to demand the child be the actual offspring of the husband of the mother of the child," and added that if a third party were the donor, "it seems the child is illegitimate."

The actual number of test tube babies today is unknown. A survey made in 1941 disclosed that 3,649 children had been born by artificial insemination in the United States.

It is generally conceded that an accurate estimate is hard to make because the parties involved do not want it known.

"With adoption it (the test-tube method) is the latest resort of the childless," an official of the Planned Parenthood Federation said, "but as long as there is any doubt whatever as to the status of such children, couples will think a long time before they go ahead with it."

Q. How can I remove warts?

A. Castor oil, lemon juice, or kerosene, applied several times daily for a few days, will cause them to disappear. Applications of oil of cinnamon three times daily will remove them without soreness.

Q. How can I treat house plants that have become infested with insects?

A. Try sticking a few sulphur matches, heads down, into the soil around the plants. Spraying with a solution of naphtha soap and water is also effective.

Q. How can I impart a creamy flavor to soup?

A. Place a piece of cheese, about the size of a walnut, in each quart of soup, before serving, and it will impart a rich, creamy flavor.

PROSPERITY IN HAMBURG

By GEORGE BRIA

HAMBURG (AP)—The sign on the door of the plush Atlantic Hotel still says Verboten to all Germans.

Sickly kids beg cigarettes as the British cars roll up.

Half a mile away, right in the middle of Hamburg, stands another hotel, the Esplanade. There are no signs here because this is a German place.

Inside the panelled rooms of the Esplanade, waiters in tails hover over prosperous-looking men with beautiful, expensively-dressed women. A dance band plays far better jazz than one can hear in a British-requisitioned club.

Outside stand the kids, this time begging from Germans.

This is Hamburg, 1949. The feverish pulse of currency reform has given the city a Parisian glow. Everyone agrees it's the most luxurious place in Germany. One reason may be that it's a port; another that the bombs which wrecked the outskirts spared the centre. At night thousands of lights twinkle around the beautiful alster.

It's night life one wants, one can go to the Esplanade, or the Tarpantella, or a place called "Er Und Sie" ("He and She"), done in cream and dark blue.

A bottle of good champagne costs 35 Deutsche marks. At the export-import rate of exchange, the only official one, this is $12. On the Black Bourse, which is the way most foreigners get their marks, it figures to about $2.

The aura of prosperity has got under the skins of the British occupation people. Verboten signs on British clubs don't mean much in the way of who's who when the Germans have better clubs.

The Esplanade had a fashion show just before Christmas. Statuesque blondes paraded about in rich costumes for the bejeweled clientele.

Actually, it's the rare German who can afford the clubs.

BROAD SURVEY OF NORTH SEA

By CHARLES CROOT

COPENHAGEN (Reuters)—

Large-scale and detailed plans have been drawn up here for a thorough exploration of the North Sea, in the hope of covering the answers to questions which are puzzling Europe's fishing fleet.

Some of the questions which experts of six nations will pool their knowledge to answer are:

1. Why do certain varieties of fish suddenly disappear from areas in which they have been found for years?

2. How much of the water in the North Sea comes from where—and when does it come?

3. Are fish in the North Sea changing their feeding grounds?

The plans for the survey were drawn up at a recent meeting here of the International Council for the Exploration of the North Sea.

For the purpose of this survey, six areas of the North Sea will be examined by the appropriate one of the six participants in the survey—England,

Scotland, Norway, Sweden, Denmark and Holland.

The work will be carried out by the fishery research vessels, lightships and some of the weather ships stationed in the Atlantic.

WIDESPREAD SURVEY

A survey of the North Sea, according to the experts, must be carried out by the fishery research vessels, lightships and some of the weather ships stationed in the Atlantic.

In Greenland, he said, increased temperatures had become particularly noticeable.

This had caused certain mammals such as the seal—the Eskimo's main food supply—to retire to colder districts further north. Of interest to the fishing industries was the fact that higher sea temperatures had resulted in enormous catches of cod off Greenland.

He added that cold streams

from the melting Greenland glaciers, similar to those which had driven herring from Icelandic waters, were threatening the cod fishery along the Norwegian coast.

FACTS FOR YOU...

ACCIDENT REPEATERS...

A Menace to your Life and Property!

• Statistics show that 40% of fatal accidents and 36% of all accidents are caused by the "accident repeater."

Safety Responsibility (Pink Slip) Laws are the only known means by which the motorist who continually has accidents can be taken off the road and kept off.

Why? Because under this law the accident repeater, if refused insurance by three companies, must apply to a committee who assign him to an insurance company at an increased premium rate. If he continues to have accidents due to negligence he is then refused a license to drive and rightly so.

COMPULSORY INSURANCE (Government or otherwise) does not protect the public, motoring and pedestrian, against the "accident repeater."

Ontario, Manitoba and the State of New York rejected compulsory types of insurance in favor of Safety Responsibility Laws because there was no evidence that compulsory insurance reduced accidents or fatalities. In Massachusetts (the only locality in North America with compulsory insurance where statistics are published) experience showed heavy increases in death and damage tolls.

Reminiscences By W.I. and Reflections

Wednesday was the second of February! The playful tradition of a close affinity between that day, the groundhog seeing, or failing to see his shadow, and the state of the weather for a specified length of time is nonsense. The groundhog legend stays. It comes and is discussed, perhaps in a whimsical way. But, come it does, just as regularly and surely as February itself.

City and district school teachers will draw more money and no one will quarrel with that decision. There is greater responsibility attached to the position of a teacher than the most of us think. Far higher salaries are paid many whose importance to society is not to be compared with that of those who assume the obligation of making the first imprint on expanding minds.

Mention has been made of the increasing number of the aged, who spend their declining years in British Columbia and citizens who would like to do so. There is nothing surprising reflection once was considered about it. Dwelling on the part of the soul.

Grandmother of Prince Charles Enters on Austere Life as Sister of Greek Orthodox Church

By L. S. CHAKALE

TENOS ISLAND, Aegean Sea (AP) — The paternal grandmother of Britain's young Prince Charles is wearing the sober grey of a sister in the Greek Orthodox Church.

The 63-year old mother of Prince Philip, Princess Alice of Battenburg, in her own words

"withdrew from the world" last

July to dedicate the rest of her life to "service." She has yet to see her two-months old grandson.

"Every year" she told the Associated Press in an interview, "each sister is given four weeks' holiday. I hope to use those this summer to go to London to see my son and grandson and other relatives, including my 86-year old mother."

Princess Alice lives in four simply-furnished rooms on the first floor of a two-storey villa on the end of this Aegean Island town where thousands of persons make bi-annual pilgrimages to the miracle-working icon of the Church of the Virgin Mary. She has no servants. Living with her as a companion is black-robed Sister Sophia Dimitriou Alverti, a nun in the Greek Orthodox Church.

Between them they perform all household duties. There is no telephone. They have electric power only a few hours each night.

On rare occasions Princess Alice goes to Athens to visit her nephew and niece, King Paul and Queen Frederika.

Asked if there were a possibility that Prince Philip might visit her here, she declared it would be "impossible" in less than a year. He would be required to stay in England because of the King's illness.

DEMANDING SCHEDULE

Tall, erect and vigorous despite her 63 years, the British widow of the late Greek Prince Andrew maintains a demanding schedule. Usually she arises at six. With Sister Sophia she goes each morning to the Church of the Virgin Mary for worship.

The entire community knows "The Princess." She neither receives nor expects any more favors than are granted to the other sisters. The priests describe her as a "loyal and faithful servant of the Lord." She has adopted with the approval of the church, the task of starting a nurse's school so that each of the villages on the island of 12,500 persons could be assured of at least some form of medical assistance.

The project hasn't been eminently successful because of lack of money. Princess Alice is also having difficulty in recruiting enough Greek maidens who want to make nursing a career.

While the nursing school is her primary work, Princess Alice also crowds numerous acts of charity into her crowded day. Personal friends in London, Athens and other European capitals constantly send her packages and gifts. These she distributes to the poor and underprivileged of the island.

"I don't approve of publicizing our work, because it is sufficient in itself," she said. "It is a duty and duty is its own reward.

"I am neither statesman, politician or movie star," she said smilingly, in declining to be photographed. "Making pictures of me at work would be

ABSTINENCE PLEDGE ASKED

Appreciative Farewells Are Said at Presbytery Session

Congregations of the United Church of Canada will be asked to commit themselves to a voluntary pledge of abstinence from intoxicating liquors. This was resolved at the annual meeting of the Prince Rupert Presbytery which concluded sessions here Thursday evening.

The proposal was made by Dr. Hugh Dobson, secretary of evangelism and social service for western Canada, who deplored the waste of money and human lives caused by the liquor traffic. He emphasized, however, that the pledge should be purely a voluntary one, inspired by the consciences of church communicants.

Dr. Dobson stressed the growing need for care of aged people and told the delegates that church congregations will be asked to contribute toward larger pensions for elderly people.

Health, in all its phases, he declared, is a matter of Christian concern and beneficial legislation, such as the provincial hospitalization plan, should receive the support of the church. He asked that congregation members keep their legislators advised as to Christian opinion on health matters so that they might be aided in their work.

He asked that congregation members study pamphlets on international affairs and Christian use of the Lord's Day which will be distributed throughout the church.

Addresses of appreciation for the work of Dr. Dobson, who is retiring next June, were made by Rev. H. Stuart Forbes, of Ocean Falls; Rev. R. A. Wilson, chairman of the Presbytery; Rev. W. P. Bunt, secretary of home missions and Rev. Peter Kelly, senior member, from point of service in the Prince Rupert Presbytery.

The work of Rev. Peter Kelly, who is also retiring at the end of June from the mariner mission, which he has conducted for the last 16 years aboard the Thomas

Democrats Chuckle Over Belated Funds

WASHINGTON (CP)—A flood of pre-dated "conscience" cheques has boosted the Democratic party's election campaign surplus to about $100,000.

National headquarters still is chalking about the belated contributions—from long-time party members who mistakenly jumped off the Truman bandwagon as the Nov. 2 election approached. Pre-dated cheques, received after the president's upset victory, provided about one-half of the $100,000 surplus.

Most tardy cheque-writers, headquarters officials say, just guessed wrong and wanted to do something for their conscience and self-respect.

SLIMNESS KEYNOTE

Classic Lines Ignores Extremes of Fullness and Lean to Femininity in Pastel Colors

By MURIEL NARRAWAY Canadian Press Staff Writer

LONDON (CP)—Ease is the keynote of linen styles in London's spring fashion shows.

All garments are easy to move in. There are no exaggerated tight skirts, no hip padding or exaggerated fullness. Instead, the classic tailor-made, with softer and more feminine lines, is prominent.

Jackets are easy-fitting, of classic length, with neat—but not tight—waistlines. Peplum fullness is slighter and concentrated at the back or front, leaving a clean hipline.

Hip emphasis is again on slimness. Skirts, however exuberantly pleated, are smooth at waist and hipline. A popular skirt style is a pencil front with back fan pleating. This gives a slim line in repose and an attractive fluid movement in action.

Pleats are popular, particularly stitched pressed pleats. The bulky, unpressed pleat is out. Unpressed effects used are the full straight skirt gathered minutely into a tight waist band, or skirts pleated by numerous tiny gores.

SKIRTS WITH SLITS

Pencil skirts are still in vogue, with slits for ease in walking. An example in rust-colored linen with plain classic jacket and rounded peplum had slits that buttoned or unbuttoned to please the whim of the wearer.

Trouser suits and slacks are definitely man-tailored. A cream linen suit with plain turn-up trousers has a square man-tailored jacket with long reverse caught by double-breasted waist buttoning. Effectively casual are the sea-blue slacks combined with a vermilion Chinese coolie jumper top with optional belt.

Dresses follow the suits in slimming design. Full flares and pleats alike leave a clean untrammeled waist, and hip-line and give a fulness of skirt.

Button-up dresses are popular for beach wear. Buttoning—either back or front—is done in many attractive ways.

Dress sleeves are squarely tailored or cut in one with the bodice with nice roomy under-arms to give a fluid look. These too are gently padded. Cuffs are important, often winged, sometimes in contrasting colors.

Some beach dresses are merely calf length, usually with the full circular swing skirt of skating suits. Others are definitely against wolves. He is plane in setting his throughout the Bullock and later will fly the collect the pelts.

Their shape should be well proportioned. They should have no flaws or spots.

Some large stones are not worth as much as others half the size.

One of our customers brought in a diamond for resetting which we sold over 30 years ago and was amazed how the value had increased.

We pride ourselves that we sell a quality good that there will never be any fault to find.

DIFFERENCE in LUBRICANT

Our Chassis Lubricant is not just a grease. Engineered B-A Product, compounded to assure maximum lubrication under extreme water and road abrasions. Yes, we do pay more for this type of chassis, but you pay nothing for your lubrication job, do not buy a WASHOUT type grease.

Our Motor Oil too are only first line, channel Pennzoil 100% pure Pennsylvania or B-A "It's Alloyed."
