City Faces Crisis

\V/ARNING has been given the city council by W its finance committee chairman and indirectly by the provincial Department of Municipalities that the time has come to call a halt to plans involving financing by borrowing on the municipal corporation's credit. In addition to that we are well aware already that the limit of taxation has been about reached as far as general expenditure outlays are concerned. So the city is finding itself about at the end of its financial tether although the requirements of even ordinary maintenance and upkeep are hardly being met, let alone making provision for expansionary requirements that increased industrial activity, business and population is bringing to the community.

There is much the city of Prince Rupert should be doing today. Large problems have to be grappled with. Schools, public services, streets and utilities are crying for attention. A nigh emergent state of affairs exists. The day of small town municipal administration and petifogging is over. To be realistic, it is a serious situation which is going to require competent and objective handling on a really business-like and long-range scale.

CONSIDER NEW ZEALAND

THE ISSUE of private enterprise vs. socialism | PRESENTATIONS I is much to the fore these days as British Columbia faces two general elections within the coming six weeks or so. We have been hearing of the good things that are being accomplished where socialistic governments are in the saddle.

Of remote New Zealand we publish today a direct report on conditions after years of socialistic regime and it makes interesting reading. A well known local professional man gave his observations before a city service club yesterday and we commend to our readers a perusal of what he had to say as reported elsewhere in this newspaper. Dr. Montgomery admitted that much has been done in New Zealand in the way of social benefits and the bettering of living conditions but he pointed out, however, the high cost in taxation and the bureaucracy and loss of incentive and enterprise which has resulted.

The doctor's report on New Zealand is of timely interest and gives good food for thought at this time when we are being offered here alternative idealogies of government in both federal and provincial fields.

It is hard for an empty bag to stand upright.

BRITISH LIBERALISM

THE SHADOW cast by Britain's Liberal party still seems a bit blurred around the edges. Whether it will loom large before the 1950 general election, or fade into political oblivion is not yet clear.

The party's three-day annual conference at Hastings, Sussex, did not supply an answer. Amid the crowd and clamor—some 1,400 delegates attended—there were fighting speeches and scenes of high enthusiasm.

But it was difficult to determine whether the Liberals will be able to increase their tiny team of 11 members in the 640-seat House of Commons. Clement Davies, 64 - year - old Parliamentary leader, was sure it can.

In general, the Liberals' recovery program calls for strong anti-monopoly measures, progressive reduction of food subsidies, close scrutiny of government expenditure, reform and control of the structure of nationalized industries and "coownership" in industry.

One thing emerged definitely—the Liberals will not make common cause with the Conservatives.

We're kinda proud of the fact that businessmen make it a practice of bringing their friends and associates here for

Drop in the balls and simmer gently until the meat balls are tender and the sauce has simmered down to desired thickness. This takes about forty-five minutes, but it can be cooked longer for a thicker, richer sauce. Or it can be prepared ahead of time and re-heated.

Serving-To serve, place the hot fluffy cooked rice by spoonfuls on a hot platter. Indent top of each serving with back of spoon to form a ring or nest. Fish out the meat balls and put one in the center of each rice nest. Pour sauce, re-seasoned to taste, over the meat balls.

DEAR CUSTOMERS:-

Well here I am a long way from home trying to find new and beautiful things for your 1949 gift occasions.

I have looked over the samples of over fifty five factories and wholsale houses and when the goods arrive in Rupert during the next few weeks I really hope our customers will think I have done a good job. Many of the pieces have never been shown anywhere till this year and most of the items have been from present stock before the new 10 per cent sales tax. They will include china, silver, copper and glass as well as the new jewellery and many interesting new things.

Hope to see you soon.
