Will It Succeed?

T IS VERY DIFFICULT to assess the chances of to be a non-resident of Alaska In '98, no one was bothered with Lay Leaders Solomon Doolan of will be allowed irrespetive of the Provincial success of the coming Foreign Ministers' meet-. ing in Paris. For there is one factor which may well be decisive: and it is entirely unknown. It is the attitude of the Soviet government towards its Allies.

If Mr. Vyshinsky comes to the Council Table in the mood in which he and Mr. Molotov came to it in the two 1947 sessions, then the meeting will be short and futile. For the western ministers have no intention of repeating the experience of London and Moscow. They will not again, in vain hope of reaching some measure of agreement about something, sit patiently for weeks listening to intemperate attacks on themselves, their governments and their countries. If the Russians' intention is to use the council again as an instrument of propaganda and "psychological warfare" against their Allies, it will be frustrated.

But it may be that this time Stalin really wants to come to an agreement. It may be that this is why the inflexible Molotov left the Moscow Foreign Office. It may be that this is why the Berlin blockade was unconditionally lifted. On the other hand, M. Grymyko in Lake Success still speaks in tones of rasping hostility. Nor do the manners of the Soviet press show any sign of improvement.

But the changes of Soviet policy when they come are apt to come suddenly without any sign that they are about to happen or any explanation of why they have happened. That is true not only of a major volto facto like the 1939 conversion of hostility towards Nazi Germany into effusive friendship. In 1945 Molotov's vehement objection to French participation in the making of Balkan treaties nearly wrecked the Council of Foreign Ministers. A few months later, without a word of explanation, he insisted that, of course, France must play her part. And there have been many similar instances-over the French annexation of Tonda and Brige, over the future of the Italian colonies. It seems not only a gauche but in the long run a foolish method. But it is Stalin's way. And a sudden reversal of policy and attitude in Germany is perfectly possible.

Sunday newspapers got their start during the Civil War, due to the public's desire for up-to-the-minute news from the war fronts.

FIRM WITH COMMUNISTS

THE BRITISH LABOR PARTY, which happens to be running the government of the Old Country at the present time, makes a pretty drastic move for a political group that is supposed to cherish so greatly the principles of democracy when it tells 5,000,000 party workers that there is to be no fellow-travelling with Communists. The Congress of Industrial Organization in the United States is even harsher in the ultimatum to its members that the organization is to be completely purged of Communists. All of this is getting pretty close to interference with the freedom of choice.

There would probably be a great hue and cry from the labor organizations in Canada if a Liberal government should go so far as the laborites in Britain and the United States themselves propose in dealing with the Communists. On the other hand, it might be that a Labor government in Canada might not be as patient with the Communists as the present government has been. At that, there are many in this country who feel that more firm action might be appropriate in dealing with our extreme Left Wing elements. Apparently, the laborites in Britain and the United States view them as a more serious menace or threat than we do here. Possibly, we are trifling too much with them.

HELICOPTER SERVICE, LONDON TO PARIS-A helicopter took off from the roof of a London, Eng., building for a flight to Paris recently. This new service is designed to relieve U.K. air passeners of terminal transportation problems which occur on normal flights. Passengers travelling by the helicopter service will the able to drive almost up to the roof air strip, board the aireraft, and two-and-a-half hours later find themselves in the Beart of the French capital. Here crowds watch the helicopter as it leaves on its London-to-Paris hop.

The Most Beautiful Thing on Wheels

When you've seen the attractive lines of Pontiac for '49, you only know half the story. When you glance at the prices, you'll know the climax - that Pontiac, the most beautiful thing on . wheels, can be bought for much less than you expected.

All the integrity, all the fine features you deserve . . . like thrift and power, dependability and comfort, safety and easeof-driving . . . they're all built into Pontiac.

And yet - the price is so close - so very close - to the lowest that it's being applauded all over the country!

Because Pontiac offers such truly remarkable value, more and more people, everywhere, are insisting that only Pontiac is acceptable. Such popularity means, of course, that your Pontiac dealer may not be able to make delivery without some delay. But production lines are rolling as fast as Pontiac's high standard of quality will permit . . . so keep in touch with your dealer, who is anxious to add your name to the ever-growing list of proud, enthusiastic Pontiac owners.

TRY THIS FOR YOUR DAILY EXERCISE!-Not a spectator sport, handball receives little mention in the sports pages, and the champions are virtually unknown. But in hundreds of Y.M. C.A. gymnasiums throughout Canada enthusiasts are found night after night putting as much into this game as hockey players put into a playoff series. And if you don't think it reequires skill, step on to a handball alley some time with an expert!
