Flood Victims Hit Winnipeg

WINNIPEG (CP)—Most of the 25,000 persons left homeless by Southern Manitoba flood waters are crowding today into stricken Winnipeg, itself a victim of the rampaging Red River. The influx has posed more problems for harried city officials in the prairie city.

They have already appealed for the evacuation of the city's 200,000 women and children. A track wash out eight miles south of here has stalled a Canadian National Railways train carrying 550 evacuees from the flooded Red River valley, but a Navy ferry service began the task of carrying passengers across the water gap to safety.

Meanwhile, "Get out while you can go in comfort," was the army's warning to Winnipeggers. Extra coaches were hooked onto trains moving in and out of the city to carry evacuees. At the same time pumping equipment and supplies continued to move in from cities all over Canada.

Citizens Warned To Boil Contaminated Well Water

CABANO, QUE (CP)—To prevent an epidemic starting from polluted well waters in this devastated lumber town, Quebec Health Department authorities today issued emergency orders. Doctors found residents, deprived of their normal water services, turning to abandoned wells. Physicians warned that all water from stagnant wells should be boiled before drinking.

There are 1,500 homeless in this isolated community where the industrial community and 118 homes were reduced to ashes in a few hours Monday.

A Montreal dispatch says the St. John's Ambulance Association today received word from its Cabano representative that homeless residents are "coming down with flu". Medical supplies are needed.

QUEBEC—Quebec Health Department officials said today they had not been informed of any outbreak of influenza in fire wrecked Cabano. A department spokesman said two doctors, four provincial health inspectors and 12 nurses are working among the 1,500 homeless and are taking all precautions for the protection of public health. The spokesman said there is less danger of disease after a big fire than, for example, a flood.

ICE BROKEN

FRANCOIS LAKE—The lake is now open for traffic. The ferry crossed for the first time this year yesterday afternoon pushing through the rotten ice.

Water Expert To See System

Ald. T. B. Black, at the regular meeting of Prince Rupert City Council asked about a report from the Provincial Underwriters Association engineer condemning the waterworks and suggesting a possible raise in insurance rates.

Mayor George Rudderham replied Mr. Ford had called at his office and mentioned that insurance rates might have to be increased because of the condition of the water system. Asked what line the engineer referred to, His Worship said the line from the power house down to the passage.

City Clerk H. D. Thain told the council it was part of an underwriters' engineer's job to frighten cities into having perfect conditions.

Ald. Black asked City Engineer D. Stewart what he thought of the condition of the line.

Mr. Stewart replied the line on this side was safe and in secure condition and that lines on the other side that had been exposed were all right. However, the line across Hays Creek had suffered during the severely frosty spell. It was the weak link, he told the council. Asked the daily consumption, Mr. Stewart replied 3,750,000 gallons.

Ald. T. B. Black, on being told Mr. Ford had not looked over the line asked how he could be in a position to know its condition. "Does he pick it up from street corner gossip?" he queried.

Ald. George Casey said a complete report from a hydraulic engineer would be obtained as soon as possible. With the Daily News plugging away at the poor condition of the water system, the city was getting a lot of bad publicity, he said. Negotiations to get an engineer were being followed, he continued, but locating a man who had been recommended to the council was hard.

The subject was dropped with little more discussion with the idea of reopening it when the engineer's report came in.

Unions Must Have Right to Strike

"When unions are deprived of the right to strike," George Wilkinson, Labor Relations Board, Victoria, told last night's regular meeting of the Canadian Legion, "we will see the end of democracy in Canada."

Mr. Wilkinson said unions were growing up and realizing their responsibility to the community as well as to their own members. They realize their actions can affect, for good or bad, the welfare of the whole community, province and country. People must realize unions have their place, he said.

The speaker asked the co-operation of Legion members in helping bring about an understanding between labor and management. The co-operation of everyone is needed to retain peace, he explained.

Questioned on Communist personnel in high union positions, Mr. Wilkinson said there was some, but that both the Canadian Congress of Labor and the Trades and Labor Congress were taking active steps to rid unions of that influence. The membership, he felt, would not be swayed by any influence that threatened the Canadian way of life. "Canadian unions," he stated in conclusion, "are one of the strongest forces in the country in supporting that way of life."

MONTREAL — Railways announced today they are sending extra equipment into Winnipeg to meet the heavy demand of passengers leaving the flood stricken area. A Canadian Pacific Railway spokesman said a total of 65 cars was on the way west today. In addition, extra cars are being attached to every C.P. R. train leaving or entering Winnipeg.

Labor Relations Best In Dominion Says Wilkinson

Industry in B. C. may have a bad time this year, but extra effort in conciliation and appeals for reasoning to both labor and management may still get us out easily, declared George Wilkinson of the Labor Relations Board, Victoria. Mr. Wilkinson delivered a powerful and thoughtful address to members of the Junior Chamber of Commerce last night following the club's monthly dinner in the Civic Centre.

He spoke of the work done by the board which administers the Industrial Conciliation and Arbitration Act of B. C. and how, since its inception, has helped to conciliate strikes and lock-outs. It is the opinion of many people Mr. Wilkinson said, that the overall labor picture in this province is the finest in the Dominion and no doubt better than in many states across the border.

In 1948, through bargaining of labor and management, man time loss dropped to 105,000 days. Best records were shown in 1949 as only 14,722 man days were lost. The board was set up in 1948 although the original act was put into effect in 1937. A few years later, revision of the act was the basis for a great deal of controversy.

Primarily, Mr. Wilkinson pointed out, the act was designed to protect the welfare of the entire province. Before the act was initiated, trade unionists fought to get toe holds in industry. They met with a great deal of resentment from management. As a result, the government was forced to pass legislation to protect this province from the effects of wild-cat strikes and work stoppages.

The act has been amended many times, Mr. Wilkinson stated. It is far from perfect, but in the main it functions well.

"You may not realize," said Mr. Wilkinson to members, "that every time an industrial upset occurs in B. C., Prince Rupert helps to pay the shot." One of our difficulties is to convince people that all citizens are affected by industrial unrest."

"Each community depends on one another," he declared. The act, he said, has been accused of fostering company unions, but out of 119 unions certified last year under the act, only six were employer dominated. They were passed under rigid examinations.

Both Sides Guilty

In his opinion unions are not the only ones guilty of causing trouble. Nor are they altogether innocent. He added that the board has seen several things employers and unionists have done to cause industrial disputes.

Mr. Wilkinson classed employers in three sections:

1. Bad dreamer—tries to hide from unions.
2. Fighter—Decides he is going to fight unions. We admire his courage—deplore his diplomacy.
3. Co-operator—Sits in a sincere attempt to reach an agreement.

He classed unions as:

1. Extremists—Refuse to see any good in management. Would rather fight than not. Take every opportunity to show that they are running the show.
2. Co-operators—Are in the majority. Try to drive a good bargain. They remember that management has rights.

He classed disputes as economic when workers battle for higher wages, better pension schemes, conditions, etc. and political when interests seek to take trade unions and use them for their own purposes. Political strikes are found throughout

Economy Must Be Balanced

IF WE ARE TO MAINTAIN faith in the democratic process and avoid the undermining of democracy by the communists, there must be no mass unemployment which will produce social and moral disgrace in any of the Western Nations.

Government works will be a palliative and help a great deal to encourage private investment if started early enough, but these will not solve the problem.

The solution of economic affairs in all our countries lies in greater production and the distribution of these goods and services internally and externally. To achieve the greater flow of trade means purchasing power in the hands of consumers everywhere.

But the Western Nations, instead of enriching themselves by increasing the flow of trade, put fences up in the form of tariffs and non-inter-changeable currency so they restrict their trading, and at the same time put their hands across the fences and pretend they are united.

The humbug of talking about unity in war and fighting each other in trade and currency must be ended if the Western Nations are to outclass the growing economic strength of the Soviet Union.

There are two main acts necessary for a solution of the pending economic crisis. First, the creation of a huge free trade area among all the Nations who are associated in maintaining democracy and peace.

This policy would necessitate the establishment of a huge compensating fund to reimburse and re-establish such industries and people as were injured.

Second, there must be one world currency interchangeable among all the associated nations.

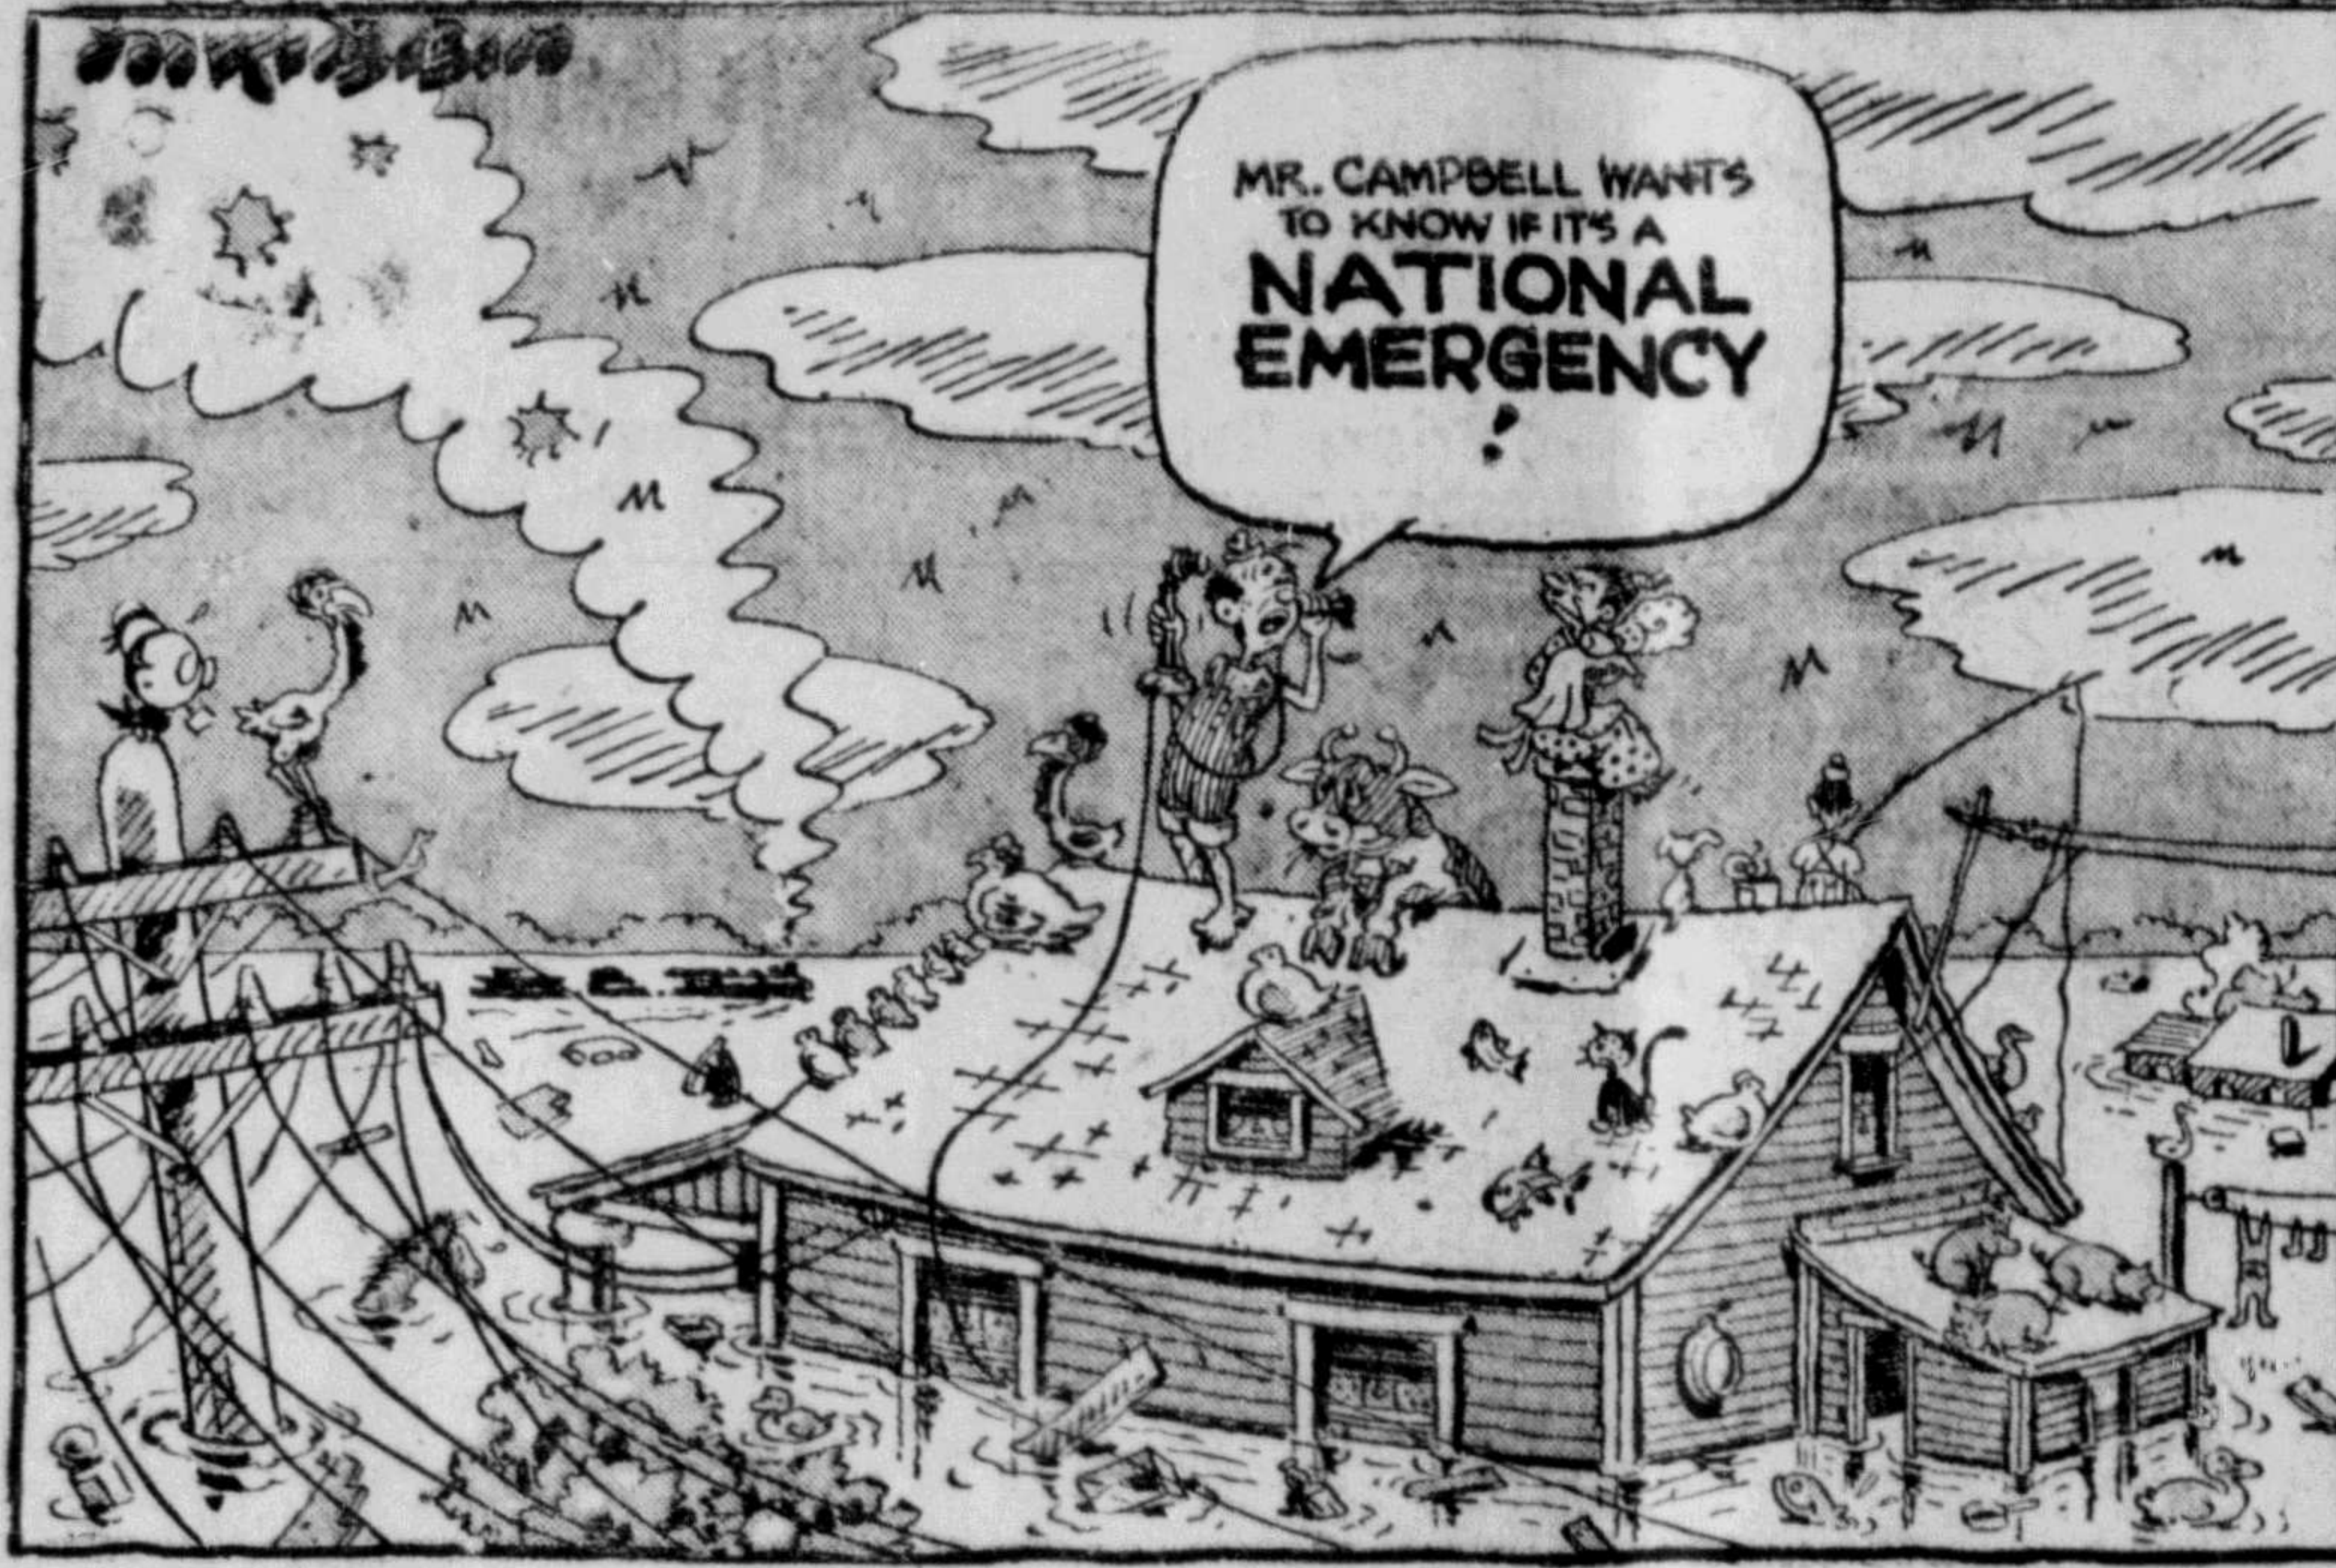

Experience teaches us that there is little hope of the various parliaments, congress and senates taking up such a problem and acting thereupon. Until they are forced by inexorable fate and circumstances that will arise if there is no war. It is likely no nation will do anything about it. So we can anticipate a slackening of trade, an increase of unemployment and of public debt and taxation by forced public works—and a crisis.

When a crisis comes, it may well be the Nations will only then see that a United free trade area and a single currency would bring to the associated nations the richest era in the history of the world and thereby create disdain for ruthless communism and faith in democracy.

SAVE THE TOTEM POLES

WHILE NO SYSTEMATIC examination has been made, there nevertheless remains the possibility of Prince Ruperts' fine collection of totem poles becoming attacked by what is known as the borer beetle. This, in many instances, can cause a pole to fall into decay, although if repair work is done in time, there can be restoration. The local poles all appear to be in good shape, but to know definitely, needs inspection. The totems are not affected by the teredos, which destroy undersea timbers only. The poles on display here remain objects of deep interest chiefly to tourists, many of whom see them for the first time.

Patting Through the S.O.S. Call

JOHNNY'S Jottings

At the Capitol Theatre last night, final showing of the Cecil B. DeMille picture "Samson and Delilah" was held. That Samson must have been a strong guy. According to the picture taken from the biblical story that enormous hunk of man extended two arms, pushed aside two pillars and killed a bunch of people. Heck of a way to act. Guess he didn't like people.

From what I've read and have been told, strong boys were at a premium in the good old days. Reminds me of the time a meek little character went visiting his girl friend. The poor lad lisped slightly. He was an agent for Watkins and the conversation gradually turned to ailments.

"Darn," he thaid (I mean said) "I got of the threecar and tripped. I'm thor."

"Ha!" said the girl friend. "What about the Samsons of today? It's like looking for the silver lining in a golden sunset. A man in New York is paying for ads in magazines. He wants to tell everybody he is strong. Funny thing—the man doesn't seem to be growing any older as the years slip by according to his picture. He says he pulled a train with his teeth. By this time he hasn't got any."

But if all you men, who are foolish enough to read this, take the advice I am about to mention, you will develop muscles so large, that I can go into the rubber shirt business. Following are prescriptions for Sure Strength:

If you feel anemic, go to the bank, draw out a few tens and see your doctor. The doctor will take your blood count. (In these modern days, M. D.'s use adding machines—much quicker.) After he has counted enough blood, he will tell you that you are sick. You tell him he is sick after he shows you the bill. After knocking him through his stethoscope, you feel better. This is a sure sign of strength. Stand for hours in a theatre. You choose a rainy day because that is when all the best pictures come to your local theatre. It will be nice, you say to yourself, to get into the theatre and dry your body. The doorman tells you to come back again as there is no more room in the theatre. You tell him that you do not care to sit if there is no room but that you only want to see the movie. The doorman is unkind and does not consider that the picture will not be shown again. You walk away and kick a cat from behind. This is a sure sign of strength.

Play a piano at a house party. You are enjoying yourself. Some joker comes along and runs his fingers over the piano keys very aimlessly. You are polite and show your teeth. "C'mon," he burps, "play this". It sounds to you like the revolution in China but nevertheless you are polite. His elbows are in the act now too. "Wassa matter", he mumbles, "Can't you play that?" They kick you out as they look for his head in the piano wires.

Other aids to strength are to tear a Knoxville telephone directory in half (Knoxville: population 37); take a swat at Joe Louis in trunks (first take the string out of his trunks) and chop down a 40 inch spruce in a few minutes (diameter 2 inches).

Once again we remind readers that letters to the editor must be signed. If the writer does not want his name used he may use a pseudonym, but the communication to the editor must be signed by his right name. RUPERT CITIZENS HEAR FROM HOME

Former residents of Winnipeg, now in Prince Rupert continue to hear from relatives and friends in the Manitoba city, as well as copies of the Winnipeg newspapers which give special prominence to the flood stories. Practically everything received in the way of news is in line with what comes over the air and in correspondence. Last night there was a mass evacuation of women and children, but not through any expectation of immediate danger. Yesterday saw sunshine, the first in a week, if not longer.

Developing At Sandspit

Sandspit, on the Queen Charlotte Islands, is to become the midway point for aviation between the Pacific Northwest of the United States instead of Port Hardy on the north coast of Vancouver Island.

This would appear to be the underlying reason for projected permanent improvements now being undertaken at Sandspit by the Department of Transport where a crew of 20 men is now assembled.

Plans call for a new administration and operational building there as well as two new residences for a permanent D.O.T. staff.

With the increased range of aircraft operation, a single hop for a distance of about 400 miles from Seattle or Vancouver and Seattle is no longer an extensive jump.

It is a matter of speculation as to whether further development of Sandspit may have any significance relating to a possible landing stop at Prince Rupert which is a matter of live agitation with the Prince Rupert Chamber of Commerce.

An indication of the increase of air travel along the coast is the fact that Canadian Pacific Air Lines is now operating at least two flights a week between Prince Rupert and Vancouver via Sandspit in addition to the regular daily flights.

Regular business dinner meeting of the Gyro Club was held in the Civic Centre last night with President A. J. Dominato in the chair.

Routine business meeting was held by the Moose Lodge in the Moose Hall Wednesday night. President E. G. Holliston was in the chair.

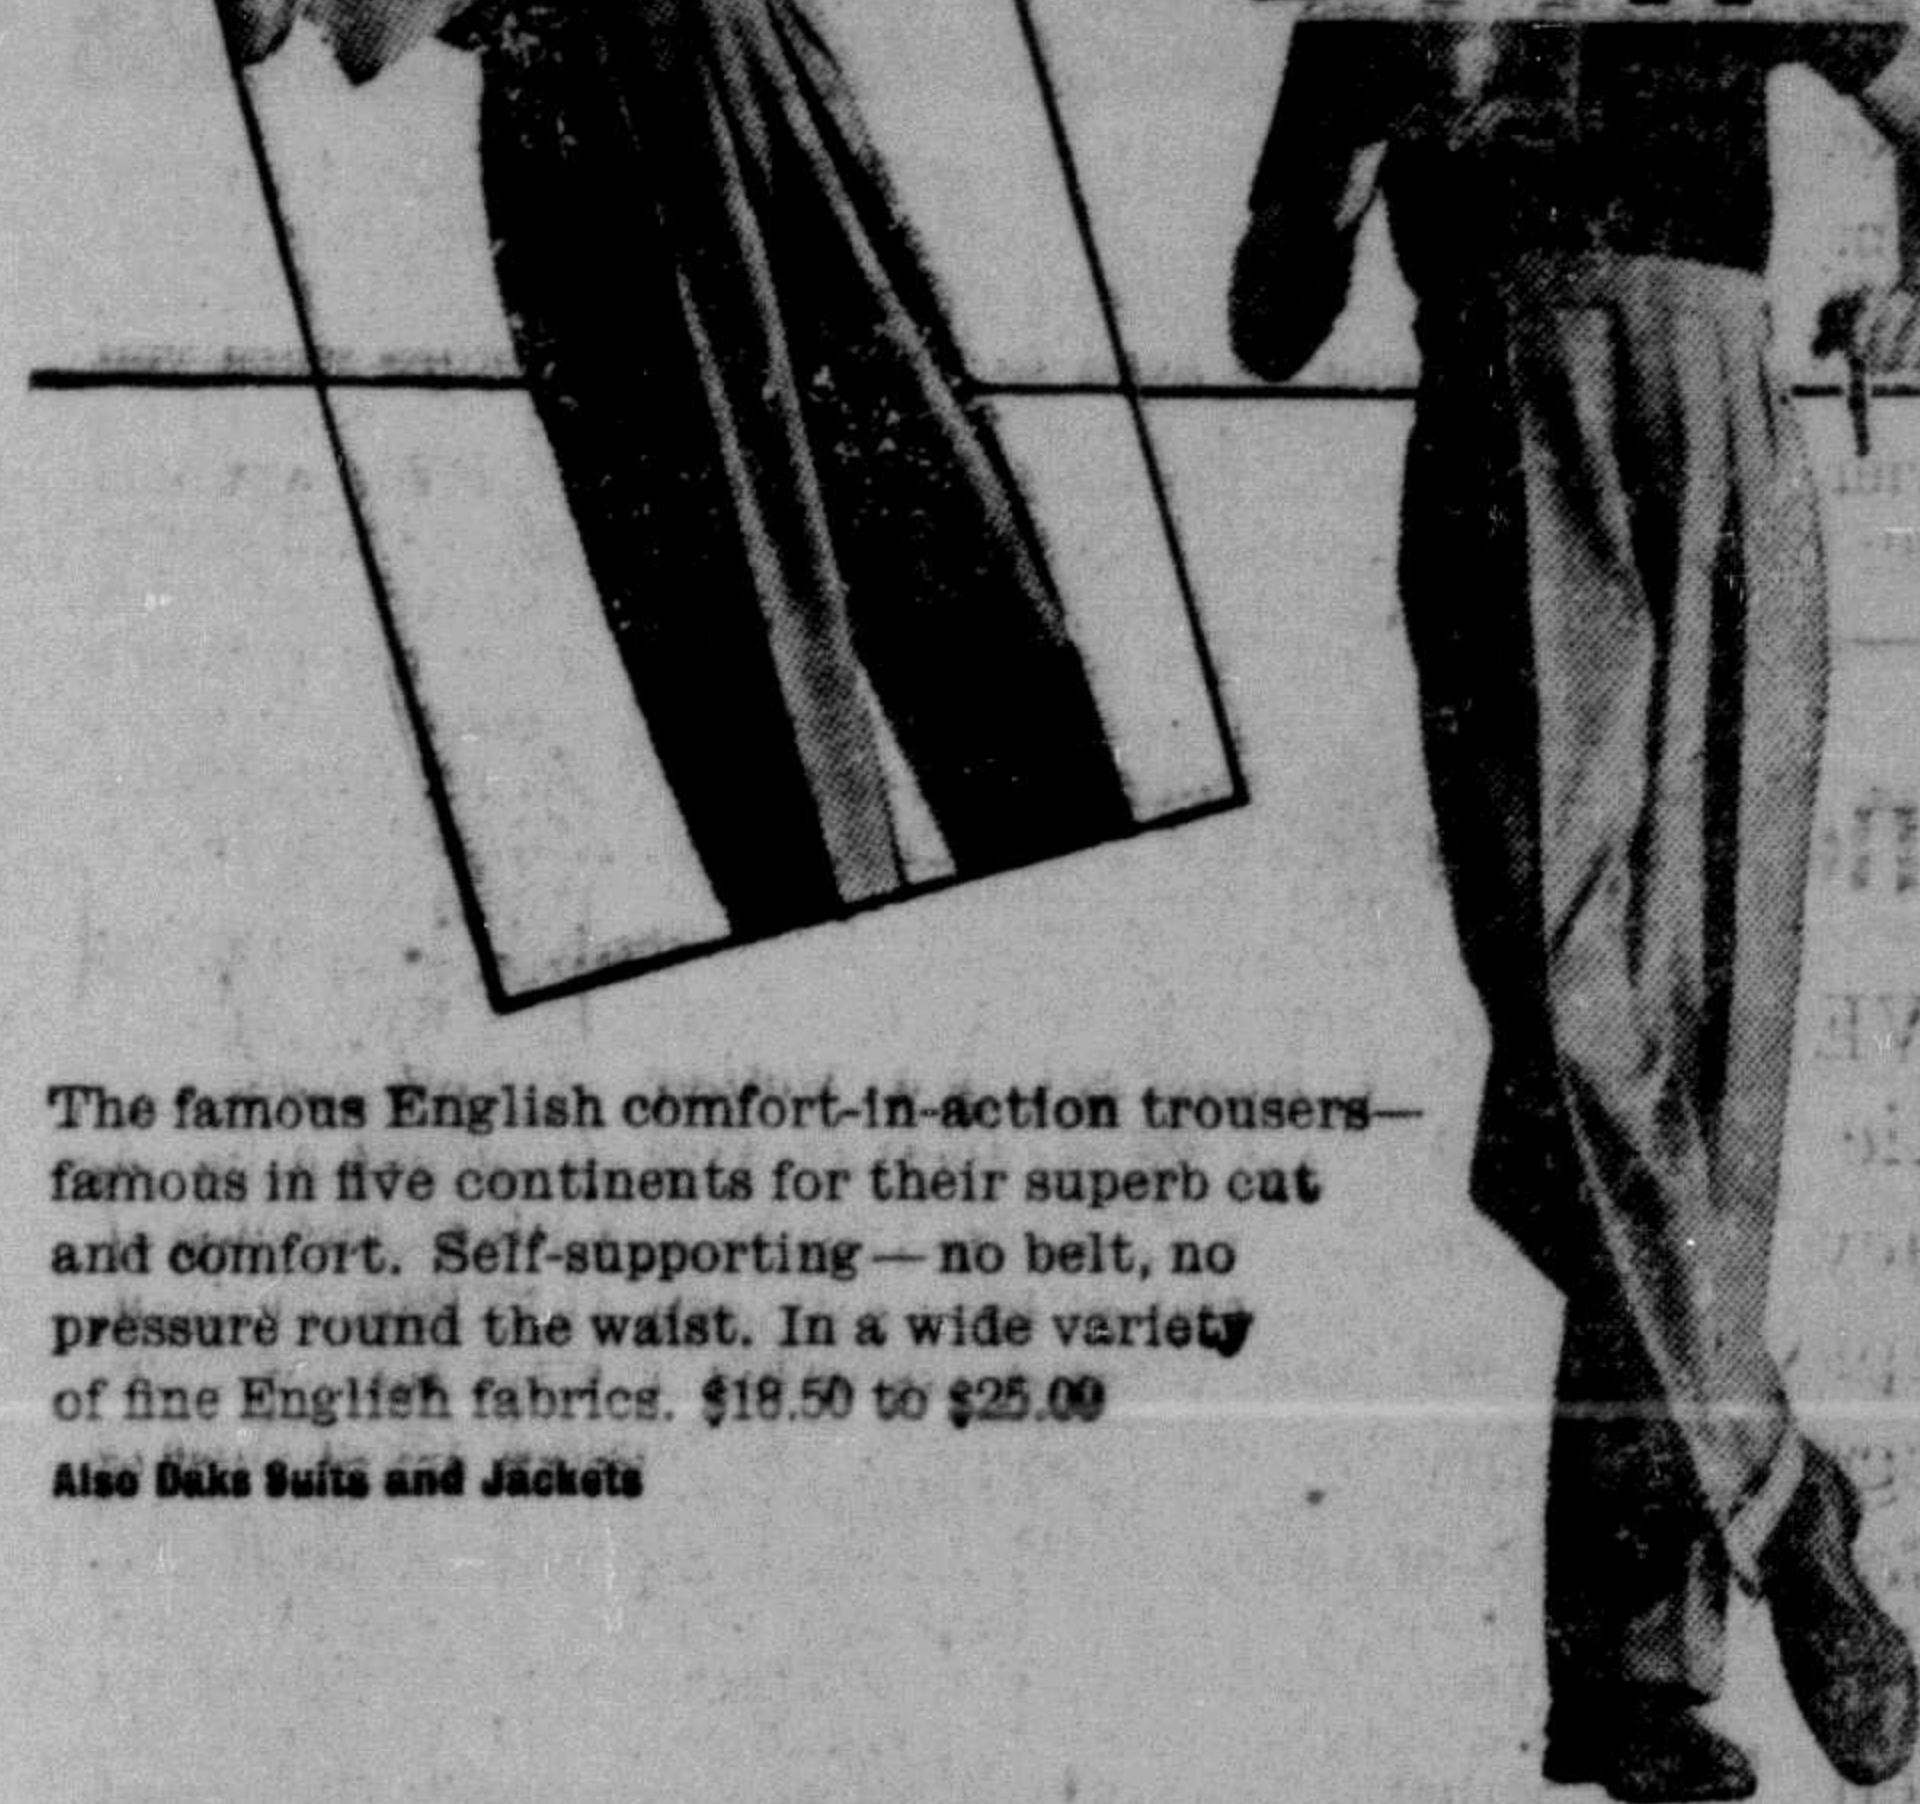

Hugh Tenant, shore steward with Canadian National Steamships in Vancouver, is a city visitor. He arrived here aboard the Prince Rupert Wednesday from Vancouver. The two men, S. E. Brennan of Winnipeg and T. V. Clare of Edmonton are here on company business.

May Is A "Spring Fever" Month when we're all just a little "run-down" after the harsh weather of Winter and Early Spring. Well—there's nothing better for that lackadaisical feeling than this wonderful "health habit"—the juice of one lemon in a glass of water taken first thing on arising always makes me feel like a new woman! Yes, it's the best way I know to banish that "slow-poke" feeling without the use of harsh laxatives. You see, this natural fruit juice gently helps your system regulate itself... helping you keep regular the healthful way! So, for good health's sake, keep a supply of lemons always on hand!... Chill at fastest freezing speed for 1 1/2 hours. Remove to bowl, gradually add 1 cup cream (whipped) mixing well. Freeze 1 hour longer. Return to bowl; beat with fork until smooth but not melted. Complete freezing.

Light-Hearted Spring Clothes lose some of their light-heartedness when your complexion isn't at its very best. So keep your skin looking its prettiest this Spring... avoid soaps that chap and dry your skin... insist on only WOODBURY FACIAL SOAP! Truly—it's kitten-mild. You see, soothing, smoothing Woodbury Soap contains a beauty-cream ingredient used in fine face creams. Doctors' tests among women show that, with Woodbury, there's no "skin-burn", that roughened condition of skin resulting from the use of harsh soaps. Woodbury Facial Soap is the true beauty soap... and just 10c a cake! It's a marvelous idea to use it in your bath, too... for an all-over beauty complexion!

Mrs. C. R. Newhouser, Terrace Reporter

TERRACE—The May meeting of St. Matthews W. A. was held at the home of Mrs. H. Houlden last Thursday, when final plans were made for the spring tea and sale to be held next Saturday in the Oddfellows' Hall. A few small house plants will be sold instead of having the usual novelty stall. Replacing Mrs. Dover on the Altar Guild will be Mrs. H. King as Mrs. Dover expects to be away for several months. Mrs. West presided at the meeting and, following the close of the business session, refreshments were served by the hostess Mrs. G. Hamlin.

The Board of Directors of the Civic Centre Association decided at Thursday night's meeting to make quarters for their new director, Nick Schmebel, at the front of the bowling alleys in the room which has been variously used for ping pong, a canteen and kitchen.

There was a small turn-out of members at Thursday night's meeting of the Terrace Parent Teacher Association presided over by Mrs. Alice Campbell. Various matters were discussed including graduation banquets for grade 8 and grade 12 students. The members could not see their way clear to having these banquets, as a convenor for them could not be found. So it was reluctantly decided to drop the grade 8 party and to have the president of the Students Council at the June meeting to discuss the grade 12 graduation. It was disclosed that final plans for the dental clinic will be made by the committee at an early meeting. With Mrs. G. Haugland leading, an entertaining discussion on child training was held. Refreshments followed and the showing of two interesting films by Mr. A. Boas. Dr. Black of Prince Rupert came into the meeting for the film showing and stated that, on his recent trip to Victoria he had approached the health organizations there to have a resident nurse for Terrace. The various organizations in Terrace will be asked to support the P.T.A.'s request for the resident nurse, as Dr. Black felt that this action would be necessary to get co-operation from Victoria.

There was a short business meeting of the Red Cross executive Friday night in the nurses' lounge of the Outpost Hospital. President Jim Stevenson was in the chair and others present were Mrs. Norrington, Mrs. W. Robinson, Mrs. R. Thomson, Mrs. Hamlin, and Mrs. Newhouser. Mrs. Thomson, works' convenor, reported that two quilts had been made and sent to headquarters. She would like to see the wool going out quicker, as apparently there has not been much call for it recently. A Holy Bible had recently been needed in the hospital and, as there had been some delay in procuring one, it was decided to ask the Hospital Auxiliary to supply the hospital library with one.

Miss Joyce Cote returned on Saturday's train from Smithers, where she took second place in the "Miss Northern B.C." beauty contest.

Construction work is starting on the new Legion quarters, the former administration building of the army camp, the work being in charge of Tom Turner.

Mr. Yates and Mr. Church, D. V.A. representatives, paid their regular visit to Terrace last week-end and gave a very instructive talk on Veterans' affairs at a well attended meeting held in the Legion clubroom. Jack Barman presided. A number of changes have been made in the Veterans' favour. At the close of the business session, A Boas and Dr. Black showed an interesting film on "Operation Muskox." Saturday night a smoker for members and their friends was enjoyed by all who attended it in the Legion clubrooms.

Mr. S. N. G. Kirkaldy and daughter, Onolee, drove to Prince Rupert at the week-end to visit with Mr. and Mrs. J. Arsenau, the former Jean Kirkaldy.

Mr. and Mrs. George McAdams left on Saturday's train for the south, where they will holiday for the next few weeks.

The volunteer fire fighting brigade was called out at 6:45 Friday morning to extinguish a fire believed to have started from hot ashes in the garbage house of the Terrace Hotel. Fortunately the air was calm because, as it was, the east side of the hotel was blistered from the heat of the flames.

Interment took place in the Kalum cemetery of James Ward Tuesday afternoon following a funeral service in the Parkview Chapel of MacKay and Son. Rev. Mr. Mallett officiated. Pallbearers were old friends of the deceased. The findings of the jury at the inquest Monday morning, were that James Ward had come to his death by heart seizure and that he was dead before he fell into the water.

Miss Hilton, R.N., and Dr. Black of the Prince Rupert Health Unit, spent a few days here last week inoculating and vaccinating many of the school children.

Mrs. E. T. Brooks travelled to children have taken up residence in the Whalen home on Park Avenue. Mr. Colyer is employed with the Columbia Cellulose.

Mr. and Mrs. W. King returned recently from Vancouver where Mr. King has been receiving treatments for an ear condition, for the past few months and is much improved in health.

The Firemen's Ball, an annual affair, drew a large crowd at the Civic Centre on Friday evening last and dancing to the music of Frank Gavan's Rhythmaires was greatly enjoyed. Denis de Kergomieux was in charge of the refreshments and, in the afternoon, a committee of ladies made sandwiches in the Oddfellows' Hall. All the refreshments were donated. Stu Campbell and Jimmy Procter saw that the hall was thoroughly cleaned before and after the dance and the success of the dance was due in part to their untiring efforts. During the evening the spot dance was won by Gloria Irving and Douglas Cushman. Presiding at the door was Geoffrey Lambley.

W. Bunting returned recently from a three weeks' holiday trip to Vancouver.

Mrs. A. Hinchliffe of Smithers, has been the week-end guest of Mr. and Mrs. C.L.M. Giggey, proceeding to the Diocesan Annual in Prince Rupert on Tuesday's train.

Mrs. B. West and Mrs. E. S. Laird left on Tuesday's train to attend the Diocesan Annual in Prince Rupert.

Ray Reflects and Reminisces

In British Columbia, where no one except a few fanatics want dwellings set on fire, several dozen houses have been burned. Most of the owners disrobe, or try to. In Quebec, the flourishing towns of Rimouski and Cabano have been partly wiped out by flames during a gale. And it's a cinch no one undresses in that province unless it's bedtime. Also, the last thing anyone desires to see reduced to smoking ruins, is a residence. Next!

Verily, we're all part of the machine age. What would most of us (any age) do, if a herd of goats, coits, lambs, or some lanky horseman ready to swing a lariat, suddenly appeared on Third Avenue. What would we do? Stop and stare, for everyone would be as curious and interested as all get out!

In many ways Canada, for years, has been hearing about flood control, the ostensible idea behind it all being prevention, wherever there appeared a likelihood of actual flood conditions. Planning to cope effectively with some grave mischance calls into play, as far as possible, a mental picture of what conceivably could occur. But the blow that staggered Winnipeg and is rated a national emergency, could not be foreseen. This became something difficult, if not impossible to visualize. Control is to be fought for, but the early lesson of this sort of overflow has been the lack of it.

There happen to be two Canadian grain elevator ports where it has evidently become the practice to stop handling any wheat what so ever where one is concerned, and have as small a quantity as possible, and voyages as few as weather can manage it, respecting the other. The first refers to Prince Rupert and the second Port Churchill. They somehow, might be thought of as a brace of poor relations.

During youth, a few years in the navy does take you around. Thousands have lived long lifetimes on the B.C. and U.S. Pacific coasts, yet never beheld the Hawaiian Islands. The cruiser Ontario, a while ago concluded a two weeks visit there. One cannot but wonder if the sailors really used their eyes, and will take the trouble to remember.

Bathing in water that has not been heated can be regarded as a brain stimulant, says a medical man. While having respect for knowledge and opinion, one accepts his words—yet cannot help saying he has never seen a fish with a high brow.

Urging upon the C.N.R. use of the drydock and plant at Prince Rupert cannot be made too frequently. Any pioneer citizen can look back and recall that nothing in the way of continued industry at the yards has come easily. It has demanded effort all along the line. True, a couple of fine freighters were built in the early days. There was comparative slackness in the first war, but in the second, the yards and dock were classed as among the best, busiest and biggest in Canada. All of which only goes to show that about anything can be made or performed there, given the necessity, the men and the material.

U.S. Aid Sent Fire Struck Canadians

PRESQUE ISLE, Me. ☉—Hands across the U.S. border keep thriving as United States communities come to the aid of the fire-stricken Quebec communities of Rimouski and Cabano.

A Maine power company furnished emergency electricity from here to Cabano. The $20,000,000 Rimouski blaze touched off a Rimouski relief fund campaign in Lewiston, Maine, under the auspices of Lewiston radio station WLAM and Les Vigilantes, a Franco-American club Fire department of Frenchville and Madawaska sent a fire engine and eight men each to the $8,000,000 conflagration of Cabano. Many Maine volunteers from Canadian border towns also went to the lumber mill community's aid.

Bogus Tens May Be From Mid U.S. Ring

The discovery of two counterfeit ten dollar bills in Vancouver early this week may have a bearing on a radio broadcast heard last night to the effect that a far reaching counterfeit organization is being broken up in the mid western states. Bills have for some time been circulating in Canada as well as in the U.S. Some months ago a few were reported in Prince Rupert.

Rotary Barrel To Come Down July 1 Regent Tells Of B.C. Convention

Final plans have been completed for the annual Rotary Barrel Derby to be held July 1st. Last year the barrel took 17 hours 25 minutes and 40 seconds to pass from Terrace Bridge on the Skeena to East Kwinitza. The same course will be used this year but with the varying speeds of the river anyone's guess is possibly the derby winner.

First prize in the derby will be one thousand dollars, and second prize two hundred and fifty dollars. There will be a special sellers prize of fifty dollars.

This year the Rotary barrel will be escorted down the Skeena to the finish point by Charles Richmond, experienced river navigator.

Entire proceeds of the Derby this year will go to building community tennis courts in the city.

Rotary committee members are Chairman Doug Stevenson, assisted by Bill Scuby, Tom Christie and George Green.
