Yacht Club Wrecked By Sudden Winter Storm

Boat Blows Up; Two Burned to Death

Local Man Is Killed In Blast; Three Have Narrow Escape

Bert Johnson One of Two Trapped In Burning Vessel—Captain Balmer of Boat 'Pensioner' Is Other Victim

Two men—one of them a Prince Rupert resident—were burned to death and three others narrowly escaped with their lives early Saturday morning when a motor boat in which they were riding caught fire and exploded between Ocean Falls and Bella Bella, 200 miles south of Prince Rupert.

The three survivors were left in the small skiff in a heavy sea, uncertain of their position or of the nearest shelter. It was snowing and blowing at the time.

Haven of Local Pleasure Fleet Nearly Demolished

Boats Sunk and Damaged As Fierce Winter Southwester Sweeps Prince Rupert Harbor

Prince Rupert Rowing and Yacht Club floats, home of Prince Rupert's pleasure boat fleet ranging from commodious power cruisers to the smallest of rowboats and canoes, were disintegrated early Sunday afternoon when the establishment bore the brunt of a sudden southwester gale which swept the Prince Rupert waterfront.

Dr. W. S. Kergin's power cruiser Full Moon suffered a crushed stern. One of the badly damaged boats at Cow Bay floats was Dick Nobles' fishing vessel Oriole which was badly holed but was safely removed to the nearby Co-op ways.

Soviet Expansion

FUTURE HISTORIANS may count 1948 as the year in which Russia's expansionist foreign policy backfired.

Adding up its western account book, the Kremlin can claim that Czechoslovakia has been clinched to its system and that western economic recovery is being hampered by the millions of dollars diverted to defence.

But in doing so it has fanned fear and hatred of Communism to such a point that the western powers seem prepared to sink their differences in a defensive alliance of great potential strength. Western Union came into being in 1948 and promises to flourish on an ever-expanding scale.

Britain took the lead this year in rallying western Europe to a "get tough" policy with Russia. Blunt burly Foreign Secretary Bevin, who had labored with unusual patience to work in comradeship with Russia, cast aside restraint in January.

The Russians were hostile to the European Recovery Plan, he said in a House of Commons address. They seemed to think "they could wreck or intimidate western Europe by political upsets, economic chaos and even revolutionary methods."

His cry for an alliance against Russian strategy was answered within a few weeks when Britain, France, Belgium, Holland and Luxembourg bound themselves for 50 years to collaborate "in economic, social and cultural matters and for economic self-defence."

The way was left open for other nations to join and by the year-end all is in readiness for the addition of Canada and the United States, and possibly the Scandinavian countries.

Western Union marks a radical departure in British foreign policy, which had striven to keep aloof from Europe, intervening only when the scales of power tipped too heavily in favor of one nation or bloc. Russia's top-heavy position after the war destroyed the old balance of power theory.

Having decided that no immediate agreement with Russia was possible, the western powers have moved to settle the affairs of western Germany on their own. The first step was taken late in 1947 by the fusion of the American and British zones, which affected great savings in administration costs.

The following June, after months of negotiation, the United States and the five Western Union powers reached agreement on the principles on which western Germany might be re-established as an independent nation. The terms were accepted grudgingly by France, which was suspicious of any move to create a powerful Germany.

Bevin told the House of Commons Britain had not abandoned hopes of agreement with Russia over German but it would be impossible until they could reach an understanding that would permit freedom of speech and "real liberty of the person."

Meanwhile there has been a steady increase of friction in Berlin, which is administered by Britain, France, Russia and the United States though lying inside the Russian zone. This was brought to a head when the western powers reorganized the German currency. The Russians tried to prevent circulation of the new money in any part of Berlin, and eventually cut off road and rail transport to the western zones.

Responding quickly and dramatically, Britain and the United States began the now-famous "air lift." Sceptics thought it could be maintained only for a short time, but through summer, fall and winter the aircraft kept up a freight service that carried thousands of tons daily into Berlin.

Simultaneously, at high level conferences in Berlin and Moscow and at the United Nations Assembly in Paris, the western powers strove for settlement of their differences with Russia. They insisted that the blockade of Berlin must be raised before other matters could be discussed.

Commonwealth countries were kept informed of Britain's international plans and a comprehensive exchange of views took place when Dominion's prime ministers or their deputies met in London in October. This conference approved Britain's efforts toward western European unity.

Many voices were raised in Britain and France urging that Western Union be expanded quickly into a European Federation, but the Labor government, while approving in principle, said a long-term program of education was necessary before definite steps could be taken.

On a lesser scale there is agitation for a rapprochement with Spain, but Bevin and other Labor ministers steadfastly refuse to invite Spain to join Western Union while a totalitarian government is in power.

While the East-West struggle in Europe remains the dominant theme of British foreign policy, there are indications Britain may soon have to take part in a unified democratic stand in the Far East, where Communist successes in China alarmed New Zealand and Australia.

Relations with the western world continue on a friendly basis.

Claims of Chile and Argentina for bases in

Hacen of Local Pleasure Fleet

Varying degrees of hull damage were suffered by many boats as they pitched at their mooring lines at the exposed wharves.

Earl Mah's speedboat sank at her lines after she filled with water over the stern. A small gillnetter at the Cow Bay fishermen's floats suffered a similar experience and rode out the blow with all but the pilot house top and masts under water.

There was a general exodus from Cow Bay and the oil wharves to less exposed spots. Boat owners say the blow was the worst experienced along the waterfront in years. The wind swept in over Metlakatla pass, whipping up the harbor with its full force, smashing at wharves and small craft over a mile-long stretch of waterfront.

Yacht club vessels which left their badly damaged home float sought shelter at various points, many of them heading for the shelter of Seal Cove, which afforded probably the best protection.

No damage was reported from the Fairview Bay floats at the extreme west end of the waterfront, despite lack of an adequate breakwater. Wind direction was such that it could get only a slight sweep at the many boats moored there.

At least a half-dozen cruisers cleared for new moorage spots from the Yacht Club at 3 p.m. when Capt. Charles Currie's C.R.C. put a line over the forward end of the wharf and pulled back into a position where craft on the weeward side could get free. For hours prior to that time, Dr. W. S. Kergin's Full Moon had borne the weight of the floats and the vessels which pressed against it from windward. After these boats were towed clear, the float was moved and the exodus began.

Some boats at the Yacht Club were hampered in their movement to shelter by the fact that their engines were under repair and could not provide power. They were towed to shelter.

Floats of the McLean ship-building plant at Seal Cove, where 75 boats and three scows were moored, sustained no damage. It was not even necessary to move any vessels from there. Some of the vessels forced to the central waterfront found moorage there but not all could be taken care of.

Home Oil Distributors Ltd. and British-American Oil Co. floats suffered damage. Imperial and Standard got off lightly. A gillnetter sunk at Home Oil and another gillnetter between Home Oil and Lipsett's.

British Antarctica led Prime Minister Attlee to declare the British government would not be "cheeked or chivvied out of British territory anywhere in the world" and to dispatch the cruiser Nigeria to those waters. Subsequent suggestion by the United States that the area be placed under international control was rejected by Chile.

Britain has also acted firmly on reports that irresponsible forces in Guatemala are considering the invasion of British Honduras. Warships were sent to Belize and the Guatemalan government was peremptorily informed the colony was under British sovereignty.

Must Count Votes—
Election is Not Decided

By George Ronald
Canadian Press Staff Writer
WASHINGTON, ©—The United States election—even most of the shouting, as a matter of fact, is over but there'll be official election whispers for another couple of weeks yet.

The traditional anti-climax is part of the complicated electoral college system which many a critic calls not only historic but outdated.

Although Harry S. Truman is safely back in the White House the "real" election still hasn't happened.

It got under way last Monday when the 531 men and women elected to the Senate and the House of Representatives last month met in the various states to cast ballots for "the next president."

FOUR OFFICIAL STEPS

But even then the election wasn't over. The four official steps:

1. The governor of each state collects these ballots and forwards them to the Secretary of State in Washington.

2. The Secretary of State bundles them off to Congress.

3. The Senate and House meet in joint sessions January 6.

4. The presiding officer of the senate opens the ballot box and starts counting.

Only then will the world learn officially—that the majority of the electoral college (the same number of persons as there are Senators and Representatives) has voted for Truman.

SYSTEM UNDER ATTACK

The electoral college system has survived to become as much a part of the American way of life as peanut, popcorn and the seventh-inning stretch.

In recent years, however, it has been under constant attack; not the "real" election ceremony itself but the provision whereby a state's entire electoral vote goes to the candidate who gets a majority of the popular vote in that state.

Senator Henry Cabot Lodge, Jr. (Rep.-Mass.) and Representative Ed Gossett (Dem. Tex.) are sponsoring a constitutional amendment to divide a state's electoral votes among the candidates in proportion to their percentage of the state's popular vote.

POPULAR VOTE PROPOSED

As things stand now, the choice for presidency is made by the House of Representatives if no candidate receives a majority—266 of the 531 electoral votes. Lodge and Gossett proposed to this possibility, but it is not clear whether they plan to introduce it.

They argue also that the proportional system would make the possibility of a presidential candidate being elected minority popular vote.

LEGION HOST TO 300 KIDDIES AT YULE PARTY

Santa Claus, complete with jingle bells, gifts and a jovial line of chatter, made a personal appearance before 300 children Saturday afternoon at the Canadian Legion Christmas party in the navy drill hall.

Legion members and the Women's Auxiliary combined their efforts to make the event one of the best in the organization's history.

The Christmas atmosphere was made authentic with a large decorated tree from which Santa Claus presented presents for the excited crowd of youngsters.

The party was opened with the showing of children's films by Mr. Miller after which the children were served ice cream bars, soda pop, candies and fruit.

Childish voices were raised to sing "Jingle Bells" as the patron saint of the Yule season entered the hall.

Ladies in charge of the party were Mrs. Frank Ellison, convener, Mrs. J. S. Black, Mrs. P. Dvornak, Mrs. Dan Parent, Mrs. V. Duncan, Mrs. P. Bond, Mrs. P. Yalloway, Mrs. P. Anderson, Mrs. F. Hardy.

In charge of ice cream were Mrs. W. Rothwell, Mrs. G. V. Hanley, Mrs. A. Wallin, while Mrs. Henry Smith sr., Mrs. A. J. Croxford, Mrs. B. Guyan and Mrs. S. L. Peachy were in charge of distribution of the soda pop.

A number of children failed to claim their presents, and these may pick them up at the Canadian Legion Hall in the afternoon or evening until Wednesday.

Q. Is it wise for the mutual friends of a divorced couple to invite them to the same party?
A. If the party is a large one, it is all right to invite them and let them fend for themselves. It is best, though, to avoid inviting both to a small gathering, unless you are sure they are still on good terms and frequently attend the same parties.

Beverage Room, Guest Quarters Are Modernized

Purchase of the Commercial Hotel by Harold Helgerson, one of the city's progressive, young businessmen, has resulted in the pioneer hostelry's modernization, making it, in some respects, the most up-to-date in central British Columbia.

First phase of the modernization program was completed at the week-end and the Commercial Hotel today presents to the public its smart, new ladies' beverage parlor and renovated rooms, product of a month of reconstruction at a cost of more than $12,000.

"Our aim," says Mr. Helgerson, "is to make the Commercial a hotel in which even the most critical person will feel at ease and find comfort. I think that so far, we have succeeded."

Renovation work so far, has included the ladies' beverage parlor, which Northwest Construction Co., the general contractors, describes as the finest in central B.C., brightening of the lobby and renewal of many of the rooms, some of which now have attached bathrooms with complete plumbing.

A feature of which both Mr. Helgerson and Northwest Construction Co. are proud is the fact that the whole job was done with local labor, including several local firms who worked as sub-contractors.

In addition to Northwest Construction Co., which designed the beverage parlor and also did the work, there were Saanich Plumbing and Heating Co. which installed new heating and plumbing; Woodbilt Products, makers of desks and furniture for the lobby and rooms; Refrigeration and Electric Service, which installed the modern, indirect lighting and outstanding roof sign; James Bremner, plasterer and tile and brick layer; Albert and McCaffery, suppliers of the finished building materials, and Andrew Anderson, painter and decorator.

Effect created by the beverage parlor is one of smartness and ease. This is pointed up subtly by the low "honeycomb" ceiling in pale green, by the glowing fireplace of Roman brick and by the cool, indirect lighting which brings out the full atmosphere aimed at by the paneled walls and hearth.

The walls are of straited fir plywood grooving of which has been laid with clever "woven" pattern on one side and "herringbone" pattern on the other. Above the hearth is a striking, three-dimensional pattern. Laid with excellent workmanship, the walls demonstrate the versatility of such material.

Jack Martin, of Northwest Construction Co. was in charge of carrying out the designs which the company developed.

The modernization has been extended to the bar, which is of Westpac Marwood plastic construction, part of which is on the men's side and part in the parlor for ladies and escorts. An alcove behind the bar features another straited plywood effect described by Mr. Martin as "three-dimensional overlay."

The floors are covered with Kemtile block surfacing in maroon marble pattern.

More than 300 lineal feet of cold cathode neon tubing provide indirect lighting in the beverage room. This Neolite tubing was installed by Harry Fernie, of Refrigeration and Electrical Service, who also supplied the large roof sign which will shine in two directions, over the harbor and toward the city.

Lettering on the sign is partly 24 inches in height and partly 27 inches tall.

Renovation of the upstairs rooms has included redecoration, new furniture and installation of modern bathrooms for three of the rooms. Future plans call for the placing of more private bathrooms.

Preparatory to the upstairs alterations, Northwest Construction Co. renewed the substructure of the building, putting in concrete foundations and making

Reminiscences and Reflections

By W.J.

A parcel addressed to a local newspaperman arrived yesterday. Carefully wrapped and weighing about three pounds, it aroused, in the mind of the recipient, a not unpleasant anticipation considering the season of goodwill. It was a book, and we're fond of reading, too. It was entitled "Report of The Superintendent of Insurances For Canada For The Year Ended December 31 1946." Should anyone, throughout the coming year desire to be enlightened on insurance matters, kindly call.

Winston Churchill is 74 but he does not allow a little thing like that to worry him. He remains engrossed in public matters, keeps himself interested in literature, paints, lays bricks, rides horseback, drinks, eats the best food he can find and does not neglect tobacco. Had he been regarded as too old at 40, he might, later on, have been missed.

Stomachs Upset By Bread Change

JOHANNESBURG, (P)—The first few weeks of white bread have caused a nation-wide upset in South African stomachs. Chemists report that there has been a sudden demand for laxatives recently. They say this is due to white bread. A medical expert said "Many people will find that their stomachs do not function nearly as regularly nor will they feel as comfortable as when they eat brown bread. It is only natural. Standard brown contained a fairly large amount of material such as bran." "People will probably tend to eat more fruit and vegetables to make up for the lost roughage," said a doctor at the S. A. Institute of Medical Research.

OWEN SOUND, Ont. (P)—Early-bird Dr. J. R. Fraser from five to nine o'clock each morning plants trees near Port Elgin. In five years the medico has covered 17 of his 22 acres with 35,000 trees—pines, fruits, shrubs, walnuts.

The question of liquor has been definitely decided so far as Prince Rupert is concerned. It was resolved, officially, on Thursday to drink—that is to say a liquid known as chlorinated water. T here are other forms of refreshments available, however.

GEORGE DAWES IS BILLIARD WINNER

George Dawes Wins In Semi-Finals—Final Match Tonight

On Saturday afternoon, in the semi-final of the second handicap billiard tournament to be held at the Canadian Legion Hall this winter, George Dawes (plus 25) led his opponent, R. H. Simonsen (scratch) from the start, winning out by 150 to 129 thereby earning his place in the finals for the first time. The final match of the tournament will be played tonight, and will be for 200 points. John Bulger's handicap is plus 5 while George Dawes is 20 points higher.

George Abbott's break of 39 made early in the tournament remains unbeaten.

BASKETBALL—

Co-ops Win Over Brownwoods

Senior—Co-op 63, Brownwoods 51
Ladies—People's Store 25, Miller Bay 6
Junior—North Star 41, Rupert Hotel 15

Three games on Saturday night brought down the curtain on league basketball play until after the holiday season. League basketball will start again on Tuesday, January 4.

In the Senior game Co-op continued to hold mastery over Brownwoods by winning 63 to 51. Play was even until the fourth quarter when Co-op, with a burst of scoring power by Holkestad and Beynon, gained a 10-point lead that was never diminished.

The first half play was close with Co-op starting out to pile up a lead only to have Brownwoods bounce back and tie it up at 21-all. Basket was matched with basket until just before the half ended Co-op spotted in a couple of hoops to give them the lead at half time 30 to 26.

Brownwoods started out the second half trying to put together an attack. This was stalled as Co-op took control and wheeled in to build up an 8-point margin only to have the shoemen come back just before the quarter ended and cut the lead to 3 points 44 to 41 as the quarter ended. The final ten minutes was all Co-op as Brownwoods fought hard but vainly in their attempt to gain the win.

Jack Lindsay continued his national scoring with 22 points. Lindsay is having his best scoring spree this season and his shooting percentage of 33 percent for these two games is among the highest of the year.

Co-op came up with many fine bucket plays with pivotman Macphee doing the hand-off and Beynon, Holkestad and Fitch the cutting in for the lay-ups.

With offense and scoring accentuated in their play Brownwoods left their defense wide open and let their opponents break in for many easy shots which could have been obviated with a little tightening up.

Co-op scored 28 field goals from 92 shots. Brownwoods scored 22 baskets from 95 shots.

LADIES' LEAGUE

In the Ladies' League game People's Store came up with their second win of the season by defeating Miller Bay 25 to 6.

The nurses continue to improve in their floor play but their shooting is still weak. People's Store scored freely during the game. Their offensive was built around a fast passing game that shook players loose for easy shots.

Miller Bay scored 3 field goals from 22 shots. People's Store took 55 shots and made 11 of them.

JUNIOR LEAGUE

In the Junior game North Star gained a tie for first place with Kinsmen by defeating Rupert Hotel 41 to 15. North Star used a fast-breaking passing game that caught the Rupert Hotel defense wide open and gave the pop boys easy chances to score. The hotel boys showed improved offensive play but just couldn't find the range on the baskets to finish them off successfully.

North Star came up with one of the best shooting percentages of the year by netting 19 shots from 52 taken. Rupert Hotel took the same number of shots but sank only 7.

MEN BOWLERS CONTEST FOR XMAS DINNERS

Men's five-pin league combined their weekly bowling session with a pre-Christmas turkey "shoot" at the week-end, adding the mainstay of the Christmas dinners to the glory of victory for the winners of the individual high scores for both the single and triple games.

Don McKay won one turkey for bowling a single-game high score of 318, including handicap, while the three-game reward went to Len Garner, who, bowling from scratch—without handicap—ran up an impressive total of 779, composed of game scores of 270, 267 and 242.

This week's regular session, scheduled for Christmas Eve, has been cancelled and the next play will be on the night of January 7, according to league secretary A. Taylor.

Week-end team scores: Mallets 4, Continentals 0. Ambassadors 4, Alley Cats 0. Burns 3, Malkins 1. Stone's 3, Jay Cees 1. Brownwoods 3, Maple Leafs 1. Moose 3, Scotians 1.

Deer Antler Exhibit
Yo.kton Man's Hobby

YORKTON, Sask., (P)—As far as H. R. Zacker is concerned collecting deer antlers as a hobby has its points.

Mr. Zacker started off four years ago when he picked up a set of deer horns on a walk through a bluff. He took them home, polished them up and mounted them as an ornament for his study. Now he has close to 100 sets of showy deer antlers.

Since the first find, he and his wife have spent holidays and every Saturday afternoon when the mosquitoes are "too thick," looking for antlers.

And an average day's hike of 12 miles Mr. Zacker says, meaning it's hard on one foot after another home trek. A good day's duce four to six antlers, lack some of them being Hunting hours begin at dawn and shed their antlers in preparation for a new set. Zacker has mounted some heads and used deer antlers and gun racks.

The Other Christmas

Christmas—a time of candle-light flickering on happy faces, a time of carols and good cheer, of brightly-wrapped gifts and tinselled trees.

And deep within us all is still another Christmas, the Christmas guiding our every day—a Christmas born for us of a tolerance and understanding that goes beyond words; born for us so that men may live in harmony, with purpose to their lives and benevolence in their hearts... This is the other Christmas, the spiritual Christmas.

H. Noakes, Miss B. Chester and Miss V. Booth of the local teaching staff left on Thursday for Vancouver where they will spend the Xmas holidays.

Mrs. L. Sauder left last week for Victoria where she will spend two or three weeks on holiday.

If plans materialize, as it is expected that they will a long-needed need will be filled in the town with the coming of a dentist, possibly in the early Spring. A young Ontario dentist has been making enquiries about the town and is coming to look the place over.

Mrs. Martin Miller is again a patient in the local hospital.

Mr. and Mrs. MacKay moved this week into their new home recently built on Parke avenue, east.

TERRACE LEGION NAMES OFFICERS

TERRACE—The election of officers of the Canadian Legion was held on Thursday evening in the legion clubroom. The officers elected for the coming year are:

President—R. Cooper.
First Vice-President—Frank Green.
Second Vice-President—Bob Baxter.

Secretary-Treasurer—J. Maxted.
Sergeant-at-Arms—A. Harrison.
Chaplain—Frank Morris.

The installation will take place at the January meeting. Members of the executive of the Civic Centre Association were present at the meeting to discuss the possibility of combining the two dances scheduled for New Year's Eve. The Civic Centre's Cabaret and the Legion Dance to be held in the Oddfellows' Hall. After some discussion, the Legion members decided not to make any change in their plans, so, instead of one big community dance in the auditorium of the Civic Centre, the two dances will be held as formerly planned.

T.B. CHRISTMAS SEALS KEEP DISEASE FROM CHILDREN LIKE THESE—T.B. Christmas Seals, now on sale across Canada, pay for free x-rays to find T.B. early and keep the disease from youngsters like the ones shown here. All four children got the disease from close relatives unknown to have it. The National Sanatorium association has done great work in this country and it is to help finance a widespread program for fighting tuberculosis that you are urged to buy T.B. Christmas Seals.

TERRACE KIN TEA AND SALE

TERRACE—The Kinsmen's tea and sale was a huge success on Saturday. The men being dressed as ladies, being a great attraction. There was a homecooking stall and a large Xmas cake for the one who guessed the nearest to its correct weight. Those waiting on tables were Harold Whalen, Mrs. North, Olive P... one part of white flour, adding enough water to get the proper...

Little. Mrs. Palmquist won the cake, guessing its weight as 4 pounds, 14 ounces. The correct weight was four pounds, 13 ounces.

HOW CAN I ???

To Improve Taste Of London Water

LONDON—Londoners learned recently that the taste of their chlorinous-tasting water is to be improved.

The Metropolitan water board gave much space in its 1947-48 report to explain it is often impossible to produce "satisfactory" water free from objectionable taste. This, the board said, was because there is little time for the beneficial disinfectant action of the chlorine to be completed before the water is drawn by consumers.

But it promised preparations now are well advanced for "contact tanks" to be provided at filtration stations where chlorinated water will be held up for two hours and sterilized before being distributed. More than one tank should be operative this year, providing non-chlorine-tasting water.

NO SENSE IN CENTS

MONTREAL @—There is no sense in cents in accounting records, Frank S. Capon, assistant treasurer of a Montreal firm contends. He told the Society of Industrial and Cost Accountants of Quebec that a company whose statement runs into the millions is not interested in cents which cannot possibly have any bearing on the figure itself.

OGILVIE Town of the Week

Prince Rupert, British Columbia

OGILVIE FLOUR MILLS PAYS TRIBUTE TO PRINCE RUPERT FOR OUTSTANDING COMMUNITY ACHIEVEMENT

It is doubtful if any comparable Canadian community came into being as quickly as did Prince Rupert. In 1908 it was a wilderness. In 1909 it was a tent town. In 1910 it was incorporated as a city. Today it is a metropolis of commerce... a great shipping centre with a spacious, well-equipped harbour, and a floating dry dock able to accommodate the largest ship afloat.

In other ways, too, Prince Rupert is outstanding. A modern, well-planned community, it boasts a Community Centre which would do credit to a city many times its present 7,000 population.

Originally built by the Government for the Y.M.C.A. War Services, the Civic Centre was purchased and altered with funds raised by The Gyro and Rotary Clubs, individual donations, and Civic Centre Carnivals operated each summer in cooperation with all community groups.

In addition to a large Auditorium, the Centre contains 3 Gymnasiums, a Restaurant, Public Library, Lounge Rooms, Meeting and Committee Rooms, Craft Room, Photo Dark Room, Teen-Age Games Room, Billiard Room, Showers and Dressing Rooms. Along with providing healthy recreation and sports for all age groups, it has made possible the reorganization of a Civic Band... the formation of a Symphony Orchestra and Little Theatre Association... and the presentation of a Music and Drama Festival.

The Ogilvie Flour Mills Co., Limited is proud to pay deserved tribute to the Prince Rupert Civic Centre Association and the citizens who support it by naming Prince Rupert the "Town of the Week". An Ogilvie contribution of $100 will be donated toward their inspiring work.

Donald Forward, General Secretary, Civic Centre Association, Prince Rupert, B.C.

The Town of the Week is selected by The Ogilvie Flour Mills Co., Limited, on the basis of outstanding community achievement. As a more tangible tribute, Ogilvie also donates $100 for the benefit of each town selected. Presentation of this award is made on the Kate Aitken Radio Program over a coast-to-coast network.

SHIPS AND WATERFRONT

Three coastal liners were in port last evening. Union steamer Coquitlam, Capt. Alf Aspinall, after having taken a lashing from the southwest gale while crossing Hecate Straits, arrived at 4 p.m. from Massett Inlet points and sailed at 11 p.m. in continuation of her return voyage to Butedale, Namu and Vancouver. C.P.R. steamer Princess Norah, Capt. Graham Hughes, reached port at 6:30 p.m. from Skagway and other Alaska points sailing at 8 p.m. for Vancouver. At 8:30 p.m. Union steamer Camosun, Capt. John Boden, reached port from Vancouver and waypoints, sailing at midnight for Fort Simpson, Alice Arm, Stewart and other northern points whence she will return here tomorrow to sail for the south at 1:30 p.m.

MINING AREA CONNECTED UP

RED LAKE — Santa Claus of Ontario, At Toronto. In quick succession a number of mines in the district called their head offices in Toronto. One conference call from Toronto tied Jack Hammel with four of his mines.

For days now a backlog of Christmas calls has been building up. Perhaps the most interesting was one placed by Fred Rocalla who started work in
