Salmon for Sport

IN THE EAST, particularly New Brunswick, American sportsmen pay up to $1,500 for the privilege of being well looked after while they fish with barbless hooks for salmon in the swift water rivers of the east coast. Perhaps it is more sport to tie into a 10 to 25-pound salmon in a river than in the salt chuck but it is doubtful. In the sea the salmon has all the room it wants to fight and 90 percent of them do just that if the angler is using light tackle as he should be if he is out for the fun of it. On the B.C. coast there are dozens, perhaps even hundreds of spots where the fun of landing a fighting spring salmon or coho can be had for nothing. Even a licence is not required for residents; all that is needed is a boat or skiff, fishing tackle and some little knowledge of when and where the fish are likely to strike. In the north the pursuit of salmon by sportsmen is not highly organized but in the southern part of the coast hundreds of ordinary citizens enjoy their week-ends and holidays on the salt water, trying to outwit the king fish of the north Pacific.

JUNEAU

HISTORY OF the Juneau mining district extends back as far as the days of Captain Vancouver, who was the first navigator to explore and survey the area in 1794. It was not, however, until 1880, that Juneau was first heard of, as a community. In that year, two prospectors, Richard Harris and Joe Juneau struck gold, and the strike was rich enough to attract a stampede out of which grew the future capital city. A year after the original discovery, quartz locations were made on Douglas Island, opposite, and here the famous Treadwell mine produced some $66,000,000. The Alaska-Juneau mine is another notable property. Juneau's average rainfall is 84.06 inches annually. The climate, generally, is not unlike most of southeastern Alaska. The city has substantial commercial fishing, timber and water power, agriculture and fur farming enterprises and educational and cultural provision. Juneau is a point of distribution, as well as being a mercantile and shipping centre. The Alaska Historical Library and Museum, established by an Act of Congress 48 years ago, and contains many articles of rarity and value. More than fifty miles of gravel-surfaced roads have been built in the vicinity of the city.

"GOT A CIGARET, CHUM?" IS FAVORITE BRITISH QUERY

By MICHAEL O'MARA Canadian Press Staff Writer LONDON. — Got a cigaret, chum? That is the question you will hear most often these days in Britain where the cigaret and pipe-tobacco shortage, worst since the war, is the chief topic of conversation. The panic has been on the last few weeks, with most smokers attempting to do a little quiet hoarding on the side. All sorts of weird and wonderful brands are finding their way into the shelves of tobacconists. Authorities say the shortage is "largely artificial" and explain it this way: The dollar shortage has meant a reduction in manufacturers stocks and the consequent narrowing of retailers "marginal" supplies. This, combined with the consumers desire to keep at least one day's supply ahead, has brought about the shortage. Sir Alexander Maxwell, tobacco adviser to the Board of Trade, told a recent press conference that if smokers would cut their consumption by one cigaret each day the shortage would practically disappear. But smokers don't seem too eager to take up Sir Alexander's suggestion and the shortage was unabated at the week-end. The shortage has meant, among other things, an increase in the reported cases of attempted tobacco smuggling. Supplies in the Channel Islands and Eire are better than in the United Kingdom and returning tourists are stuffing their suitcases with cigarets. Custom officials are clamping down, permitting only 100 to a traveller. Many smokers were figuring out ways and means to beat the shortage. Here were some of the methods reported. 1. Customers at a public house in Norwich, Norfolk, hung a rack for 16 cigarets on the bar. If one of the customers was short, he borrowed one but he was honor bound to replace it when he had a new supply. The pub keeper said many returned two for the one borrowed. 2. London urchins are reported doing fair business collecting butts from gutters and rolling the tobacco into new cigarets with little hand machines on sale at most tobacconists. 3. A prominent barrister solved his personal problem neatly. He attended a sale of lost property and managed to buy 3,600 cigarets which a forgetful traveller had left in a suitcase aboard a train.

MAYOR, CLERK TO LEAVE FOR CONVENTIONS

Mayor Nora E. Arnold and City Clerk H. D. Thain, Prince Rupert's two delegates to the third annual convention of the Union of Central B. C. Municipalities, will leave Wednesday for Vanderhoof, where, with other northern communities they will co-ordinate their stand on resolutions to be dealt with at a province-wide municipal convention later. The Vanderhoof convention will open on September 3. Following it, Mayor Arnold and City Clerk and Mrs. Thain will motor to Harrison Hot Springs, where the U.B.C.M. convention will open on September 7. Prince Rupert's stand on the 63 resolutions which will come before the U.B.C.M. meeting was defined at a special council meeting earlier this month. The Vanderhoof convention will deal with regional matters and strive to co-ordinate the attitudes of its member municipalities toward the provincial briefs so that the central area will present a unified front. Resolutions approved by the U.B.C.M. will be passed on to the provincial government with recommendations for action. Following the U.B.C.M. convention, Mayor Arnold and City Clerk Thain will be joined by Alderman T. B. Black, city finance chairman to meet cabinet members in an effort to gain approval for a $500,000 loan to rehabilitate the city telephone system. Prince Rupert city council has prepared five resolutions which will come before the U. B.C.M. convention. They urge: 1. That the amusement tax be rescinded on amateur games without private benefit. This would remove the provincial levy on gate receipts at amateur sports events where proceeds are used for the contribution of such sports. 2. That the public libraries act be amended to permit assistance to any public library at the discretion of the Public Library Commission. 3. That the provincial statutes be amended to define the amount of business tax payable by each type of business. 4. That the government be requested to establish an assessment commission following the recommendations of the Goldenberg Report on provincial-municipal relations with a view to standardizing assessments throughout the province. 5. That the cost of social assistance be borne entirely by the province. At present, the government pays a large portion of the costs, but it is felt that they should be assumed wholly by the province.

FARM DECREASE CAUSES CONCERN

Population Drops In Sask.— Farms Are Bigger REGINA. — The decrease in the number of farms operated in Saskatchewan is causing the government to express concern. Higher operating costs have forced farmers to cultivate more and more land in order to show a profit and Agriculture Minister I. C. Nollet thinks it time something was done about the situation. Either co-operative use of power machinery or co-operative farming is Mr. Nollet's answer to the problem he says exists. There are currently nine co-operative farms in the province established for veterans who own about three-quarters of a section each and use machinery communally. Their holdings are small compared to some larger farms where 10 sections aren't uncommon. DOESN'T EXPLOIT SOIL "Some people may call it socialization of the land and a step towards what the Communists did to the Kulaks," says the agriculture minister. "But I call it common sense. It allows the kind of cultivation that won't exploit the soil as some farmers are forced to do in cultivating more and more acreage to stay on top." (The Kulaks were the independent Russian farmers who were forced to give up their farm holdings in the collectivization of agriculture that followed the Russian revolution. Many of them were "liquidated" in the process.) Now favored with good crops and prices, farmers are settling in town and villages for the winter. They return in the spring to sow their crops. In building up the urban population, they have abandoned much of the poultry, livestock

ROADS TO EMPIRE

Leader of the Liberal Party, and Canada's Prime Minister for more than a score of years, William Lyon Mackenzie King is soon to step down from leadership. Replacing him as key figure in Canada's Parliament buildings (above) will be Louis St. Laurent, who was chosen leader by a convention of the Liberal Party at Ottawa earlier this month. Roads made by Roman armies formed a very important factor in extension of Roman power and the spread of Roman civilization. Joe Lindsay, Don Brown and John Bulzek have returned to the city after a month's holiday at the Frizell Hot Springs on the Skeena River. Most of the time there was splendid weather.

TO COMPLETE HART HIGHWAY

VANCOUVER. — The Vancouver Sun said Monday in a Victoria dispatch that Public Works Minister E. C. Carson had announced that the provincial government will call for tenders for the completion of the southern end of the John Hart Highway into the Peace River district. About 42 per cent of the 94 miles of road to be constructed has been completed. No work was done this year because Campbell Construction Co. which was granted the original contract, claimed that the road is costing twice as much as the government price allows.

Reminiscences

By W. J. - and REFLECTIONS

What there is about the Nahanni Valley, away up near the Yukon border of the Northwest Territories continues to have an attraction not yet fully explained. It will be recalled that a Vancouver newspaper plane, about a winter ago flew there, but did not remain long...

experienced loss of sleep, dis- appointment, and tried to get a lead from the few more or less inarticulate natives they met. It was a job to find even a good story. And now, it looks like another attempt to reach that remote vale of the north- land. Nine United States citizens, who applied to the Federal government to fly there, have been refused permission because, as Ottawa authorities declared "the chances were it would be necessary to send in rescue planes."

Timely Topics from Terrace

Mrs. C. R. De Kergommeaux, Terrace Reporter

Mrs. M. Lemon and children left on Saturday morning's freight train for their home in Prince Rupert after spending the summer holidays with Mrs. Simpson. Mrs. S. Ayres returned last week from Winnipeg where she has been on holiday. Mr. and Mrs. O. T. Sundal drove to Prince Rupert this week to take in Port Day.

Mr. R. Bray is a patient in the local hospital and was unable to conduct services in the Anglican Church on Sunday. However the leaders of the Anglican Sunday School van took over the service on Sunday morning. Mrs. Donald Wood, who has spent the summer months with her parents Mr. and Mrs. H. Frank, left with her small daughter on Saturday morning's train to rejoin her husband in Alberni.

Mobley Cup Standing
W L D F A P
20th Battery 2 0 1 7 3 5
Can. Legion 2 1 0 7 4 4
High School 0 3 1 6 13 1

The league statistician was wrong in yesterday's Mobley Cup standing and he heard about it... as a matter of fact he heard about it before he even saw the paper. He knows now that players and supporters do read the paper, even if they only say so when he is wrong.
However, the corrected league standing is above. It will be seen that it will be necessary to play the postponed game between the Battery and the Canadian Legion to determine the winner of the Mobley Cup. The date has not been set yet but it is expected that the executive will arrange for the game at a meeting to be held as soon as possible. The Canadian Legion will need to defeat the Battery to win the trophy and the way these two teams have been playing lately this game should be a real battle.

Stuart Shield
The first game in the Stuart Shield is scheduled for tomorrow, Wednesday evening when High School and the Battery meet. The winner will play the Canadian Legion, who got a bye into the final, on Labor Day.
High School and the Battery fought to a three-all draw in their last game with the Gunners having to come from behind. The students are counting on going ahead and staying ahead tomorrow evening. Well, goals determine, and the side that gets the most goals will win.
These two teams will meet again on Friday in the replay of a Gilhuly Cup protested game.

AMATEUR SPORTS ROW DEVELOPING

MONTREAL.—George C. Machum, president of the Amateur Athletic Union of Canada, Monday called upon President A. Sydney Dawes of the Canadian Olympic Association to resign immediately if he wishes to continue "undermining" the AAU of C with plans to set up the Olympic body as a separate sports organization.
At the same time, Machum outlined to the Canadian Press a four-point program for the development of amateur sport, including "immediate steps toward modernization of the amateur code insofar as competition within Canada is concerned."

Sport Shots

Close association with John Barleycorn is frowned upon by most Canadian coaches. But things are different in Europe. Hamilton's rowing leaders, just returned from the Olympics, report that the standout Portuguese crew trained on wine and fish.
And the English crew found that draughts of ale helped them to retain their weight. Pondering all this, Baz (Montreal Star) O'Meara recalls that the Montreal Canadiens used to drink beer in their dressing room back in the days when they were burning up the National Hockey League.
Who knows but what a few suds in the gridgers' training diet might not help the west win the Grey Cup once in a while?

Who, asks Elmer, Can Contend With Fistic Abilities of Greco?

By DAVE McQUEEN
Canadian Press Staff Writer
MONTREAL. (C)—The Canadian Boxing Federation has sorted out the contenders for Johnny Greco's Dominion welterweight title, and Elmer (Montreal Herald) Ferguson says most of the gentlemen named have no more business in a ring with Greco than the Christians had in the Coliseum with the lions.
"Gaby Ferland is rated No. 1," he says. "Let's not get ridiculous by going into that, Gaby being one of Greco's sparring partners. Joe Pyle is rated No. 2. Greco broke Pyle's nose and wrecked one of his eardrums in training... Tommy Spencer, who beat Pyle is, for some strange reason, rated at the bottom of the list."
But what really burns Elmer is that the Montreal Athletic Commission, after being a party to all these incitements to manslaughter, proceeds to cancel next Thursday's non-title match between Greco and Larry Cisneros on grounds Cisneros isn't good enough.
Cisneros's fine record in 1946 and 1947 gives the lie to that, Elmer says. Furthermore, he lost his only 1948 decision to talented Jesse Flores, who's taking a crack at Ike Williams' world lightweight crown next month.

How is it that a scrapper like that is rated lower than Greco's "logical contenders," some of whom have been knocked out several times in preliminary bouts?
Elmer hints darkly that the commission's thumbs down on Cisneros was really due to a feud between the chairman and promoter Raoul Godbout. Anyway, Godbout says he is taking court action to see that the

P. T. BARNUM RIDES AGAIN

OTTAWA—Old Phineas T. Barnum, the circus man, was right. There is one born every minute.
And Ottawa's prize example is the candy stand clerk of this city who accepted—and cashed—a ten dollar bill that had stage money written all over it. The bill looked genuine at each corner, in that it had the figure "10" in big size. From there on, it screamed "fake" as loud as any money can scream.
Across the top of the green bill was "Unique Skates of America. In the centre was the portrait of a man who was named "Wash In Ton." Near the middle of the left side of the bill was a small type statement that said "Anyone Who Can Redeem this phoney certificate is a Magician."

Across the bottom of the bill in large type was the promise of the Unique Skates of America to "Pay Any Sucker Ten Dollars."
By strange coincidence, the man who cashed the bill at the candy vendors bought—of all things—two all day suckers and received $9.65 in change and disappeared.

OLD SCHOOL

DISCOVERED

What ever happened to Kenneth Alexander Rood? He was a mechanic by trade and for a number of years he was foreman of Parker's Garage. In his spare time he tooted a sweet saxophone in one of the city dance bands. The boys at the fire hall were wondering what had become of Ken after they discovered his high school entrance certificate among an assortment of books presented to them recently. According to the document, Ken passed his entrance at Port Essington in 1902 which entitled him to enter any high school in Canada.

Hostility Inevitable in Family Life Says Mental Health Expert

By ALTON L. BLAKESLEE
NEW YORK (AP)—Don't expect your husband or wife to love you all the time—or you're in for trouble.

And when your young child gets angry with you, even to saying he'd gladly kill you, don't punish him. Take it easy. All children feel that way at times.

And don't spoil things at home by overworking the old adage: "don't put off until tomorrow what can be done today." It makes for a neurotic kind of life.

All these are just some of the elements that can produce an unhappy home life, says Dr. Luther E. Woodward, field consultant of the National Committee for Mental Health.

A lot depends on the kind of people who live in the home, and what they do and think.

One cause of trouble is the movie and fiction idea of "they lived happily ever after," Dr. Woodward said. A wedding is pictured as the acme of happiness, and the first month of marriage as the happiest. That's nonsense, he says, and when tempers flare and quarrels start, the disillusioned spouse may start to worry and brood.

"Probably no one loves anyone 100 percent of the time. Some anger and hostility is natural and inevitable. If married people understand that, they can make allowances when a mate is upset, and avoid serious quarrels that leave scars."

SAFETY-VALVE TACTICS

And, he continued, "there's just no way to bring up children so they won't be angry with you at some time. When you do have to cross them or deny them something, they may get violently angry, hating you, even threatening you. When they talk that way, don't punish them. Punishment would only add to their resentment. Listen to the child, let him know you understand what he means, and be willing to play with as soon as he's ready. His anger blows over much sooner, and he avoids nervous reactions and lasting resentments."

Homes need a safety-valve people, Dr. Woodward said. "At least one member of the family, and preferably all, should be good at relieving others of their troubles, good at draining off their feelings of hostility, fear, and anger."

In many homes, he added, the enjoyment of today is spoiled by someone's nagging about past mistakes, or about possible future troubles.

"Families should use the present to enrich each member's joys and satisfactions as much as they can. Following the old adage of not postponing till tomorrow what can be done today can produce a nation of neurotics. Instead, people should do today what is important today, and forget the rest. That doesn't mean laziness or lack of foresight."

"Mental health suffers from wrong ideas about too much authority, or too little discipline. The mental health of children suffers when they are punished or denied too much. But it also suffers when they are made to make their own decisions too early, before they have had time to work out any set of values."

"The real goal is to teach children to discipline themselves. The way to do this is first to give them a congenial, happy home. Give them a backlog of satisfaction, so they can take it when the parents have to clamp down and say No."

Snarling Panther Loose In Plane

PARIS — A nightmare air journey from Indo-China to Paris, with an escaped panther loose in the plane, ended here today. The panther, destined for the zoo at Boulogne broke the bars of the cage. Snarling and spitting each time the plane lurched it got into the baggage department and was still there when the journey ended.

It took a trainer four hours, through cajolery and threats, to get the beast back behind the bars.

"It was this way, of course"
"For months my car acted as though it had a 10-ton trailer behind. It was hard to start, had no more pick-up than a water-logged scow and balked at every hill. I took it to Bob Parker's for an over-haul and now there is no holding it—it practically flies."

Our Ring Display

If you will take notice some day in section you will discover that it deserves than a passing glance.
You will find that all the gems are the same.
And if you should happen to be a gem you will at once decide that our qualities are the average.
We took pains to have it that way.
If you've a ring need of any kind you'll forget that our values can compare with the average.
We've lately added quite a number of which have not been in stock in Rupert.
All we ask is a look.
