More Pay For Gov't Workers

Salary Increases of About $25 Per Month For 3,600

OTTAWA. — The Treasury Board today authorized salary increases for a further group of 3,600 civil servants. The list affected includes nearly every government department and men and women with salaries ranging from $1272 to $7,500 a year. In general, the increases, retroactive to last October 1, amount to about $300 a year or $25 per month.

STRIKE HITS JUNEAU MILL

A labor dispute is being experienced with Juneau Spruce Corporation, the plant that is shipping barges of lumber to Prince Rupert for train shipment to various points in the United States. A strike was called and there has been picketing. The picket line was established by Local 1-16 International Longshoremen and Warehousemen's Union because the company's management had refused to negotiate with them for jurisdiction over loading of the lumber barges. E. S. Hawkins, company manager, announced that the Juneau Spruce Co. had filed charges of unfair labor practices against the I.L.W.U. in Seattle.

That the Juneau Spruce Corporation may close indefinitely has been re-emphasized by F. H. Card, personnel director of the Coos Bay Lumber Co., who is serving as labor relations director during the dispute between the Juneau Spruce Corporation and the local longshoremen. Mr. Card said he had his information from the company's president, H. F. Cheney, in Portland. The latter had stated there would be a shut-down, unless a settlement was reached within a reasonable time.

Freight Rates

AFTER SOME DELAYS, the debate in the House of Commons on freight rates is drawing to a close. It has been effective in bringing to light many factors of concern to Canada as a nation. There was no serious attempt to deny that Canada's railroads needed, or would need this year, more revenue than the present freight rates would provide. But there was a strong belief that the new revenue would not be raised equitably from all Canada. The government, therefore, instituted an enquiry into the nature of our whole freight rate structure. The debate on the freight rates has been the occasion of much searching and reviewing of Canadian history by observers. If histories are authentic, the Canadian Confederation was essential to prevent the separate British provinces from being swallowed one after another by the United States. A look at the map of Canada shows that the natural flow of traffic for both the four Western provinces and the maritime provinces would be north and south—to and from the United States. One of the policies worked out over a period of time was a system of railways running east and west to build a united Canada. This policy has had the effect of directing traffic from both areas to the central provinces of Quebec and Ontario. All seem to agree that the burden of this national policy should be carried equally by all Canadians and the investigation by the Board of Transport Commissioners should show the best method of bringing this about, removing discrimination against the two coasts. It is to be hoped the inquiry will not take too long.

SAMUEL JOHN MOORE

A LEGENDARY FIGURE in international business was Samuel John Moore who died in Toronto yesterday. He remained virtually unknown to most fellow-Canadians during the three decades in which he revolutionized the world's accounting systems and founded the industrial empire bearing his name—Moore Corporation Ltd. And equally unknown to most countrymen, including many close business associates, is what has been called one of the greatest of Canada's industrial romances—how a flimsy piece of carbon paper became the means of changing book-keeping methods from Montreal to Paris, New York to Shanghai. Love of printing, learned at the case as an apprentice on the old Barrie, Ontario, Gazette during the '70's, led Moore, then in his 'teens, to Toronto—and eventually to the development and patenting of a simple counter sales book which would capture the fancy of even tough "seeing is believing" merchants like John Wanamaker of Philadelphia. One of Moore's earliest friends was John Carter, a sales clerk at the then fashionable dry goods store of John Catto.

Carter was the originator of the idea which pyramided from a humble factory (started on $2,500 capital) to what today is known as the "Moore group," controlling manufacture of filing systems, business forms, paper boxes, commercial machinery and equipment through factories from Montreal to California. Assets of Moore Corporation Ltd., totalled $23,000,000 in 1946. Perhaps the most striking feature of Moore Corporation was that while more than 80 percent of its interests lay in the United States its astute directing head at all times declined to leave Canada and take permanent residence in America.

While anticipating the evolution of the department store, Moore was struck with the necessity of systematizing retail selling equipment. And Carter's suggestion that a simple sales book in which a single sheet of carbon paper could be inserted between pages to give both customer and proprietor a permanent record of purchase seemed the answer. It proved a mere beginning.

Enthusiastic, Moore brought Carter's salesbook to J. L. Morrison, Toronto machinery manufacturer. With his backing, the clerk and the publisher formed a syndicate to market the patent. From that syndicate came the Carter-Crume Co. Ltd. Manufacture just kept pace with swelling orders from merchants who couldn't understand how they had ever used their "old-fashioned" systems of sales accounting—having clerks use pen and ink to copy laboriously a sales slip for each customer and account.

BURNS LAKE WOMAN DIES

Mrs. Mary Jane Patterson Passes Away in Local Hospital

Mrs. Mary Jane Patterson, for many years a respected resident of Burns Lake, passed away Thursday evening in the Prince Rupert General Hospital where she had been a patient for the past two months. She was the mother of William Patterson, 977 Tenth Avenue East, with whom she had made her home since last fall. Funeral will take place next week at Burns Lake, Mr. and Mrs. Patterson leaving for there in company with the remains on next Monday evening's train.

Born in Ireland 88 years ago, Mrs. Patterson came to Canada at the age of nine years and was raised in the St. Thomas district of Ontario. Her husband was killed in Ontario in 1905. In 1910 she moved from Ontario to Saskatchewan and came in 1919 from there to Burns Lake where she has since made her home.

Deceased leaves four daughters—Mrs. Hugh (Vina) McPhail and Mrs. Fred (Pearl) Cook of Sydney, Vancouver Island; Mrs. Del (Tilly) Cain, Iowa, and Mrs. Joseph (Mary) Lougheed, Southbank—and two sons—Peter Patterson of Vancouver and William Patterson of Prince Rupert.

TRIBUTE PAID SHOW PLAYERS

Tribute to the cast and leaders of the Rotary Club's minstrel show was paid last night by H. T. Lock, chairman of the committee in charge, at an after-show supper attended by cast members and friends in the Civic Centre dining room.

Still wearing their blackface make-up, the cheerful group responded enthusiastically to words of appreciation by Mr. Lock, directed at C. P. Balagno, the show's director, Miss Frances Moore, A.T.C.M., its pianist, young Gerry and Janet Taylor, whose pantomimes had made an outstanding hit, Nevill Gerard, conductor of the Prince Rupert Symphony Orchestra, whose members provided choral accompaniment and Thomas Christie, volatile "end man" of the show.

To these, Chief Lock made presentations in behalf of the Rotary Club. He also thanked the non-Rotary members of the chorus, without whom, he said, it would have been impossible to present the show.

Last night, the show played to an audience of about 500, slightly larger than on the opening night. The players went through their routines with greater ease and naturalness, based, no doubt, on the experience gained during the first night before the audience.

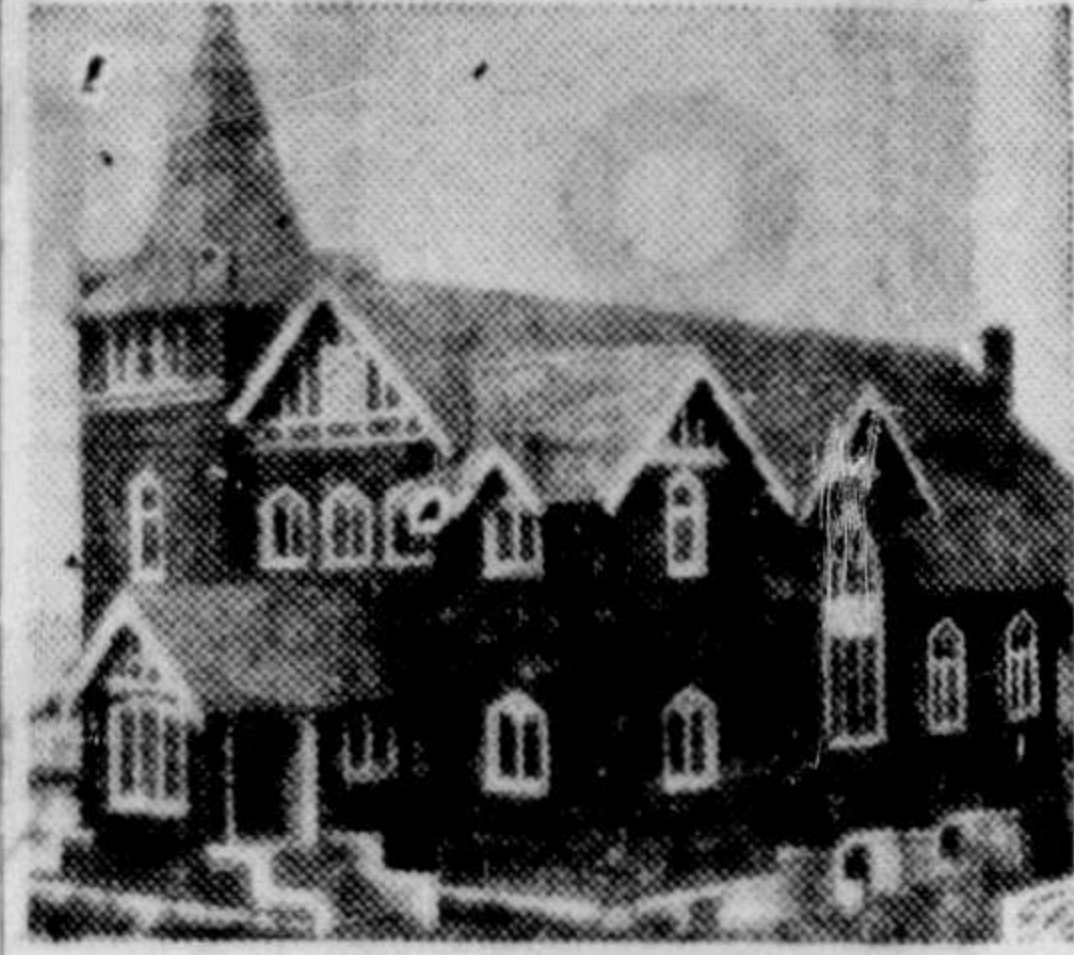

The performance had its third showing in the Civic Centre auditorium this afternoon, especially for school children.

SATURDAY SERMON

THE BLESSEDNESS OF KNOWING GOD

By CAPT. EARL JARRETT, Salvation Army

"Know therefore that the Lord thy God, he is God, the faithful God, which keepeth covenant and mercy with them that love him and keep his commandments to a thousand generations."—(Deut. 7:9).

This was the glorious designation Moses gave to the children of Israel concerning his God. This was what Moses wished them to know and it will be well for us to know the same—to know that our God is "the faithful God." If we are fully persuaded of this we shall have no difficulty in knowing that He "keep-eth covenant and mercy with them that love Him or with them that are willing to have His Blood shed abroad in their hearts by the Holy Ghost, so as to be able to 'keep his commandments.'

If we know He is the faithful God we need not be afraid of temptation for God is faithful and will not suffer us to be tempted above that which we are able, but will, with the temptation, also make a way of escape, that we may be able to bear it.

If we know He is the 'faithful God' we may come to Him with faith and confidence both for pardon and purity, because, 'if we confess our sins, He is faithful and just to forgive us our sins and to cleanse us from all unrighteousness.' Further too, if we know He is the faithful God, and we fully believe it and rest upon Him 'keeping us from falling, He has promised to establish us and keep us from evil.'

In conclusion, let us sum up the whole matter with this, if the Lord our God is 'the faithful God' and we fully believe it and rest upon Him, we shall have the power that comes from living a holy life and also a useful one. Let us trust in God and His ability to do all things for us.

He is faithful. Also, because He is faithful, He is a real companion. We read in Genesis 5th chapter that "Enoch walked with God" and not only this but he had this testimony that he pleased God. He must have then been kept from the power of sin by a faithful Friend (God) so we too may surely have the same experience, but we must ever remember that Enoch walked with God, not behind or ahead, but with Him.

Reminiscences and Reflections

By W.J.

There are boys and boys. Some are born under disadvantages. Some are not. In some cases it does not make much difference anyway. Where would you fix the blame in a situation like this? A Hazelton report says four horses belonging to Hagwilget Indians were shot while roaming over pasturage. The shooting was done by a brace of youngsters who, although it was not the season, went seeking grouse in vain. So the horses, though easily distinguished from grouse, were shot. One was killed outright, another died within a short time, a third (saddle steed) suffered a leg wound, and the fourth was badly hurt. And it need not be remarked that the Hagwilgets will miss their property. Meanwhile, what of the boys?

Jaded gentlemen, feeling perhaps a growing weariness with life will be interested in an announcement from Hollywood. Kenneth Hopkins, milliner, is offering men (men, we said) a line of hats that will provide zip, dash, authority or cold dignity.

LOCAL GIRL IS CONTEST WINNER

Vivacious Nina Youngman has had the urge to draw ever since she can remember and now her talent has brought reward. Today she was presented with a 'teen-age afternoon dress designed by herself and won in a Canada-wide contest. There were twelve prize winners from all across the country and Nina was one of the two lucky artists to be honored in British Columbia.

The dress designing contest, sponsored by an eastern manufacturer, took place last fall and they arranged through Sweet Sixteen to have Nina presented with the dress she created on the drawing board. Of wool crepe, in tones of grey with side inserts, sleeves and belt of fustia, the dress was chosen for its practicality.

Nina won't admit that she exhibited her first artistic creations on the living room walls of her home but she does say that she was keenly interested in public school and high school art. Born in Prince Rupert Nina

LIFE in this Prince Rupert by BIDDEE JINKS

The first evening spent with Jean Travis I thought "What a beautiful blouse". And then! "What patience the woman has." The blouse was red Viella flannel with horses and skaters in colored embroidery on the sleeves. It might have graced the most exclusive shop but never has. It is the work of Miss Travis' own artful fingers. And the patience, well, that rare quality bore full duty for the two weeks in which leathercraft classes were conducted in the Civic Centre by Miss Travis as a part of the work done throughout the province by the Extension Department of the University of British Columbia. Those weeks have just ended, and they have been busy and profitable for the men and women who managed to attend. For Miss Travis, they were 10 days of heaped and rounded afternoons topped with a late, busy evening which allowed barely time enough between for dinner. An average of 35 persons were at class each day. Several had the advantage of belonging to the Prince Rupert Leathercraft Group who have been fitting slippers and gloves together and duly tooling leather since last fall. It was they who made arrangements for Jean Travis to visit the city with her course of instruction. For the rest of us, it was like going back to school. Instead of the old slate and pencil, we took a piece of glass and a knitting needle. And instead of holding up our hands and saying: "Please, teacher" we felt big enough to get up and follow "teacher" until we got attention. When the class outgrew the club-room, it moved into the small gym. Tables scattered over the first half of the floor space seated two, three or four persons each as diverse in themselves as the article under their fingers. For instance, at one table a man and a woman worked. The former said: "This would be a swell hobby for long evenings on a farm. If you ran out of leather you could just go out and kill another cow." Not in reply, but not long after the lady worker was heard muttering: "The mills of God grind slowly; but they grind exceedingly small." Adults are children grown tall. Group activity demonstrates it clearly. But big children cannot be tooled in a corner, or sent to the office. Their age, if nothing else, demands different treatments which is, nevertheless, exhausting to their teacher. Many of us arrived with a burning desire to "get at that leather." We had ideas, good ideas, which should look still better made up. Having sewed a few slaps and dresses simplified everything. By that method if the pieces were not right to begin with, a slip here and a slash there would fix it. To such campaigns Miss Travis ever so gently but firmly said: "No." Leather work is not guess work. A pattern must be exact. Leather must be cut exactly with lining right, punching and thonging right and both she and her pupil having a clear picture of every detail in making the article. It was this last little item that brought a hitch into the immediate cutting scheme of a certain individual who faces me each morning in the bathroom mirror. She had a large handbag in mind - and "large" is quite the right word for it. She measured a pattern, cut it out of heavy floral wallpaper and came to class where it assembled into something strangely resembling an overnight bag. There seemed to be small adjustments necessary before her supervisor could see favorable possibilities. In fact adjusting the adjustments took hours - wherein every time Miss Travis turned around this monotony was thrust full in her face. In such extremities, Miss Travis still smiles. Her smile is the kind that shines brightest through her eyes and leaves you warmed and confident that an error, even in leathercraft, is not fatal. She has the bulwark of experience with her too. For many years she was an art teacher and, like others, was "frozen" in her profession during the war years. When conditions changed Miss Travis also felt the need of change and spent two relaxing months illustrating in an airplane factory at Montreal. Returning to this coast, she took her present position with the Extension Department. This work is a constant joy to Jean Travis. Through this department classes are held in remote districts where something invaluable is taken to people who would never have it otherwise. Twice Miss Travis has been to the Peace River where, in her own words, "she had a grand time with a grand people." "Open house" brought them for miles - mothers and fathers and small children in pleased attendance. Refreshments came with them sometimes, but at others the Institute provided. In cities, provision is made for people who want to learn leather crafts and this is done in a manner that will include outside points as well. The Youth Training Center is an example. An eight-week course has made the difference of a lifetime to many young people of the province. Indeed, our own locality has been enriched, for the two Enockson sisters from Dodge Cove, and Sydna Evans from Port Clements has already taken the course. It seems to me this project is bright in its long-ranged planning to bring happiness into homes in a recent article. "Unhappy Wives," Byrne Hope Sanders says: "Each one of us has a creative force which needs some personal statement of our own individual intelligence for fulfillment. Without it we cannot find true contentment. How wise and happy are those women who somehow find time in their busy lives for the things they want to do as individuals." Jean Travis is happy making these channels of expression available to the people of B.C. In Prince Rupert, now, and next fall when a larger class assembles, the seedlings of individualism will flower.

LOUIS DENIES SUIT CHARGES — Heavyweight champ Joe Louis, seen being kissed by his wife, the former Marva Trotter, in this picture from Paris, denies that there was any basis for the $500,000 suit brought against him by an Atlanta, Georgia, Negro minister who charges Louis with stealing his wife's affections. Louis is on an exhibition tour in Europe.

Ottawa Senators Even Up Series

OTTAWA — Ottawa Senators, underdogs in the Eastern Canada senior hockey finals, pinned a humiliating 9 to 1 defeat on Hamilton's veteran Tigers Thursday night to force the best of seven series to six games.

ALBERTA JOCKEY HAS 3000 WINS

CITY BASEBALL LEAGUE STARTS SUMMER PLANS

Devotees of swat laid groundwork for the 1948 baseball season at the annual meeting of the Prince Rupert Baseball Association Friday night and elected new officers to pilot the league through the summer months.

A May 24 opening for the league is planned.

Walter D. Vance, veteran president of the league, retired from that office and was replaced by A. S. Nickerson. Mr. Vance was named honorary president of the association. The full slate of new officers consists of:

Honorary President, W. D. Vance.
President, A. S. Nickerson.
Vice-President, George Standbridge.
Secretary, Alex Bill.
Treasurer, Carl McEwen.
Auditor, Don Forward.

Officers of the league, together with team managers, will constitute the executive council.

A deadline of April 29 was set for the enrolment of players and for the enlistment of teams in the league. In order to ensure an early season's start, names of all prospective players and teams must be turned in to the Grotto Cigar Store by that time.

Although the scheme was not worked out in detail, the association plans to supervise the placing of players in the various teams in order to balance them for strength. In this way they hope to overcome one of the previous difficulties of city baseball in which one team has too powerful a line-up for good league competition.

A letter from W. D. Lambie, chairman of the city Parks Board, informed the association that their requests for Tuesday and Thursday evening and Sunday afternoons play periods had been granted.

SPICED PEACH TARTS

There's no trick to "Spiced Peach Tarts." You can make them almost as quickly as the time it takes to roll out some of your best pastry and to open a can of cling peach halves. Serve them with a ruffle of whipped cream when you want them extra fancy.

8 canned cling peach halves
¼ cup brown sugar (packed)
½ teaspoon cloves

Few grains salt
Pastry for eight three-inch tarts (1½ cups flour)
Drain peach halves thoroughly. Blend sugar, cornstarch, salt, and spice. Divide half the mixture among 8 pastry-lined tart pans (or muffin cups). Top with peach halves, and sprinkle with remaining sugar mixture. Bake in hot oven (425 degrees F.) about 25 to 30 minutes.
Serves 8.

ALASKA FISHING HELD NO CINCH

WASHINGTON—If any young men, without experience, feel like going to Alaska to engage in the fishing industry, they had better reconsider it.

This is the advice of the Fish and Wild Life service. Here is the substance of what that organization says:

"In most cases, the hours are long, and the work is good and hard. Anyone without experience is at a very great disadvantage. Seasickness, more than often, is a real problem. The reluctance of a fishing skipper to hire inexperienced personnel is not at all surprising. The crew must be a well integrated one if the fishing is to pay."

Q. Is it proper to use "Hastily yours" or "Yours in haste" as the closing of a letter?
A. No; this is extremely bad form. The popular form for concluding a social note is "Sincerely yours."
Q. Is it necessary for a bridge hostess always to have a new deck of cards on the table?
A. The bridge hostess should have two fresh decks of cards on each table.
Q. Does a letter of condolence have to be lengthy?
A. No. A brief, but sincere, note is always in the best taste.

Waterfront Peps Up and City Feels Effect—Looks Like Halibut Rush

Activity on the waterfront has reached a pre-season peak as hundreds of fishermen prepare to sail early next month for halibut and salmon. The halibut men will set their gear on the banks in Hecate Strait and the salmon men unwind their trolling lines in in-shore waters.

As is normal, the action on the waterfront is having its reaction in the city's business life. After one of the slowest winters on record, business men report that things are picking up and give credit to Prince Rupert's industry—fishing—for the stimulation.

Providing the weather remains fair, during the month of May, fish plants here will have a hard time handling the torrent of halibut which will pour in from hundreds of boats. It seems practically certain now that all the vessels of the coast halibut fleets will head for the grounds at once instead of in sections.

The Seattle fleet of about 600 boats is plowing its way north to the Alaska ports this week to be close to the grounds when the season opens. Many of them leave their gear in the north during the winter, then pick it up just prior to the season.

It is estimated by a veteran observer of the halibut industry that about 1,500 vessels will fish in areas Two and Three this spring. This is the largest number ever to go after halibut in any one season and it forecasts a short season for both areas.

Pessimists and other gloom-casters are crying disaster to the industry but somehow, things never seem to get quite as desperate as they are sometimes predicted.

Many, but not all, of the company fish camps have been towed to their locations on offshore islands and mainland coves and bays. These camps will be clearing houses for both halibut and spring salmon, figurative "mother ships" to the Public Works department workmen have been wielding brushes for the last week.

An American coastguard cutter is expected to dock here in the near future to escort the U.S. troller Betty M to Ketchikan where her Skipper, Harley R. Martin and his crew of one will face legal action for an alleged violation of the International Fisheries regulations.

The Betty M was brought here Thursday night by the fisheries patrol boat Sooke Post, after she had been found at Atli Inlet, reportedly with 16 halibut aboard.

The Imperial Oil Co. tanker Imperial Vancouver was in port Friday unloading oil for the local distribution centre. She sailed overnight for the south.
