OVERHEAD WIRES ARE CONDEMNED

OTTAWA—Canadian fire chiefs, in session here, condemned overhead wiring as an unnecessary hazard to firefighters and urged that municipalities consider a long-term solution of the problem. A resolution passed at the forty-first annual convention, described the "constant menace to the firefighter" and added "it is unsightly and detracting from the appearance of city streets."

Message On Labor Day

Hon. Humphrey Mitchell
Lays Stress On Responsibility
(By Hon. Humphrey Mitchell, Minister of Labor)

Another Labor Day has been reached in Canada and again it is my privilege as Minister of Labor for Canada to extend to the workers of our great and growing country my best wishes not only for a happy commemoration of the event but for the years which lie ahead.

This is Labor's traditional holiday and I am sure that the thoughts of our citizens generally will be with them on the occasion.

It is 55 years ago since the Parliament of Canada passed the amending act which included Labor Day as a statutory holiday year by year since then has seen a steady development in the importance of the place which Labor has in our country.

In the past half century, of course, there have been differences between labor and management. That was to be expected during our increasing industrial development.

I am happy to note that now, with maturity, friendly settlements around the conference table are more general.

There is a greater responsibility resting upon organized labor today than ever before. Likewise there is an increased responsibility on management.

In the past decade organized labor's strength has risen from a little more than 30,000 to almost 1,000,000. That is a considerable proportion of the total working force of Canada, excluding those who work in agriculture. It will be seen, therefore, how vital organized labor is to the economy and the general welfare of our country.

Happily there is sound understanding of this on the part of the wise leaders of most of our important trade unions. In these difficult days, 10 years after the outbreak of the Second World War, we must have intelligent co-operation between all groups in our country if we are to maintain importance in world affairs. We see the troubles of other lands still suffering from the effects of the last war, striving to regain their economic feet and making slow progress. We are adversely affected by the situation in those other countries as our labor leaders and employers realize. Our economy is built on domestic and export trade with export trade having accounted for 35 percent in the past. We must do everything we can to maintain that condition if we are to continue to prosper.

Since the war Canada has been among the best countries in the world in which to live. We have had high employment at better wages than ever before, shorter hours of labor and vacations with pay. We do not know the meaning of the austerity which they have in Great Britain and in other lands across the seas.

As we gain advantages to enjoy the better life so we assume greater obligations. It is obvious that we cannot take more unless we put more in. What I mean by that is that we cannot have better paid jobs and shorter hours with paid holidays unless there is increased efficiency in the work of each of us day by day. Otherwise, the gains would prove ephemeral, there would be no improvement in the real living standards of the workers and the interests of the people generally and our national progress would be imperilled. If the rate of production keeps pace with the improved position of the workers of Canada we have nothing to fear. We shall continue to go forward to the great destiny which is assured a country with such rich resources, human and material, as we possess.

Centralizing Defence Plans

WASHINGTON, D.C.—The twelve Atlantic Pact countries probably will entrust their defence planning to a small steering committee instead of a single supreme commander.

Diplomatic officials, reporting this today, said all countries on the steering group would have equal rank with no single boss. Decisions would be taken by unanimous vote.

Senator Ian Mackenzie, Noted Canadian Parliamentarian, Dies

BANFF (CP)—Senator Ian Mackenzie, aged 59, of British Columbia, died here early today. He had been in hospital since last Monday after suffering a heart seizure while holidaying.

The six-foot two-inch Vancouver lawyer and politician was married only two years ago. Mrs. Mackenzie was at his bedside when death came at 3:15 a.m. today.

Senator Mackenzie had been a member of the Liberal cabinet at Ottawa from 1935 to 1948 when he was appointed to the Upper House. As defence minister from 1935 to 1939 he directed Canada's military planning for the Second World War. Later he held the posts of Health and Welfare and Veterans' Affairs.

An authority on Parliamentary law, Senator Mackenzie was a member of the House of Commons from 1930 to 1948 and earlier had served for ten years as a member of the British Columbia Legislature, holding the portfolio of provincial secretary from 1928 to 1930.

Coming to Canada in 1914 from his native Scotland, Senator Mackenzie served in World War I and was active in Canadian Legion work for many years.

BORN IN SUTHERLAND
Ian Mackenzie's story is deeply moulded by the experience of his youth. He was born in the parish of Assynt, Sutherland, far to the northwest of Scotland, on July 27, 1890. His people were poor. When time came to go to school, he walked miles in his bare feet to get there. But he quickly showed a brilliant scholar's brain. At Kingussie, Invernesshire, at the age of 16 he was first in the qualifying scholarship for all northern Scotland.

That was the springboard that took him to Edinburgh University but he never forgot the vast amounts of his mother's porridge he ate as his basic food there in the thin days of obtaining education. At times, years after, the memory would return, such as the time after the Second World War when veterans attending college under state aid asked for higher grants.

"Sixty dollars a month for a single man is abundantly sufficient," Ian Mackenzie remarked and only those who knew his past knew whereof he spoke.

At Edinburgh, he won the blue ribbon for Celtic in Scotland, the first laurel for his devotion to the old tongue of his native land. In his final year he won three gold medals and a year before, 1913, had acquired a further scholastic prize by winning the "Thow" Scholarship.

Much of the studious brilliance of his brain was taken up with the writing and study of Celtic. He edited the college magazine at Edinburgh and did considerable writing on the language.

But Scotland lost him as she had lost many others. He came to Canada in 1914, the year of his graduation. He headed straight for Vancouver, but a year later he was on his way back again as a commissioned officer in the 72nd Battalion. He was under fire at Ypres, Kemmel, Vimy Ridge and The Somme and finished the war as a staff captain.

Those war years proved one of the dominating influences in his life. He never lost his interest in his former comrades. In fact, one of his favorite phrases was "old comrades of the line."

Fire Destroys Juneau Sawmill

Plant Had Shipped Lumber Through Prince Rupert Last Year
The Juneau Spruce Corporation sawmill at Juneau, which last year made some experimental shipments of lumber by barge to Prince Rupert for movement East by rail, was destroyed in a $600,000 fire at the first of this week. It was a four-alarm fire, one of the largest in the history of Juneau, and was started by a spark from an acetylene torch. Two Coastguard vessels assisted the Juneau fire department in fighting the flames. Lumber piles and a nearby power house were saved.

The mill, which employed 100 men and was Juneau's principal single industry since the closing down some years ago of the Alaska-Juneau mine, had reopened in May after being struck by a fire for nearly a year.

DISCUSSION OF ATOMIC SAFETY

LONDON—British, Canadian and United States experts will meet in Great Britain from September 5 to 10 for a three-power conference on hazard and safety in connection with atomic piles and related subjects, the ministry of supply announces. No atomic weapons will be discussed.

Mrs. Ray Scherk of Seal Cove is sailing tonight on the Catala for a trip to Vancouver.

Mrs. John E. Wilson, who has been visiting in the city for the past two weeks with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. R. E. Moore, sailed last night on her return to her home in Seattle.

CANADIAN CONTENTER — Fit. Lt. James (Butch) McArthur of Edmonton will carry Canada's hopes in the annual Thompson Trophy air races at Cleveland on Labor Day. The Battle of Britain veteran, on leave from the R.C.A.F. winter experimental station at Edmonton, is shown in the cockpit of the war surplus Spitfire in which he hopes to win the international air races. B.C. PRODUCTS TO PRAIRIES

VANCOUVER—A much greater share of British Columbia's fish and farm products may go to the prairie markets with the establishment of depots in Alberta and Saskatchewan.

Richard J. Gosse, managing director of the British Columbia Ice Cold Storage, said that British Columbia fishing operators will be able to market products there any time.

American Federation Is Called Dictatorial

MONTREAL (CP)—The Canadian Seamen's Union yesterday announced its withdrawal from the Trades and Labor Congress of Canada with a statement that charged the American Federation of Labor with "dictation."

The Union, which has been on strike against east coast shipowners since last March 31, announced its action in a prepared statement by President Harry Davis and Secretary-Treasurer T. G. McManus.

The C.S.U. was suspended in June by the Trades and Labor Congress for conducting strike action without consulting the Congress first. The statement expressed concern for the "welfare" of our Union and also that of the Trades and Labor Congress of Canada.

The C.S.U. charged that President William Green of the American Federation of Labor had asked that delegates from affiliated unions vote for suspension at the Calgary conference in June. Rather than have a crisis within the Congress, the C.S.U. chose to withdraw.

Oil On Charlottes

THERE IS OIL on those Islands. At least, we hope so. And there seems good reason to believe that there may be.

Oil drilling is nothing particularly new on the Queen Charlottes. It was carried out in the very early days and, on occasions, since then. Pioneers can remember the stir that was caused at various times by the prospects of oil there. And very good prospects there are, it has been reported.

With pulp mill building at Prince Rupert, seeming certainty that an aluminum plant will be established somewhere down the coast not so far away, big scale mining likely again in the north and to the east, other industries active, what would be more timely than to find British Columbia's own oil supply on the Queen Charlotte Islands?

The fact that a big company is going to carry out rather extensive exploration work and that the government attaches such importance to it as to declare a blanket reserve for the protection of the public indicates that the oil possibilities of the Islands are taken seriously.

Prince Rupert is more and more becoming the centre of things.

GIVE FROM THE HEART

LET US GIVE generously to the Salvation Army in its annual Red Shield appeal now under way in Prince Rupert! Here, indeed, is one of the best of good causes.

The Army does not loudly parade the good works that it is doing day after day, year in and year out, much of it among an element of the people who are most direly in need of succour and real salvation.

The Salvation Army is to be found in those places where many others do not enter. It is constantly carrying out disaster relief of type which is seldom of the spectacularly emergent character.

We know the work of the Army among the poor, among the downfallen, among the people whom some of us do not often see and, not seeing, may not always fully appreciate.

And when we think of the Salvation Army, we like to think of the work of redemption by those unselfish officers and workers whose reward is not in the pay they receive but in a soul-satisfying satisfaction which must be theirs.

Yes, we know of no better cause than the Salvation Army—incidentally, too, a business-like organization, whose every dollar is carefully accounted for and efficiency employed.

Yes, with the Salvation Army, we know we are offering safe advice when we urge—"Give from the Heart."

VICTORY IN JAPAN

THIS IS "V-J" DAY, four years since Japan formally surrendered and World War II came to its close. Four years ago at this time we paraded and rejoiced. It was a memorable night in Prince Rupert and the more serious of us contemplated a better world, not because a nation and a people had been defeated by the terrible modern weapons of war but because a tyranny had been overthrown and an aggressive autocracy had been brought to its knees in defeat.

General Douglas MacArthur assures us that Communism, the world's newest and possibly most subtle form of expansionist aggression, is no serious menace in Japan. There may be some satisfaction in that, even though it may have required some stern rule to bring about the situation.

We watch the situation in the Orient, after all so close to us right here, with some misgiving. There may be some reassurance to be derived from General MacArthur's statement that Japan is secure, even from the standpoint of the attitude of its own people.

Under the iron hand of MacArthur a great post-war experiment is being made in Japan. And, at least, there does not seem to be the strife and discord that prevails in some of the other occupied countries.

Maybe it is real "Victory in Japan," a victory in economic rehabilitation and benevolent, if not easy, rule.

Ray Reflects and Reminisces

Oil is an old story on the Queen Charlotte Islands but it never went beyond that stage. Later developments would indicate that whatever is required to bring this field into production, providing such is possible, will be put to work. Why shouldn't there be something more than seafood and lumber come from the isles to the west?

The Irish Weekly Independent says: "During an electric storm turn off your radio, which is inclined to be very noisy then." There are times when a change can be so refreshing.

The closer that what the late Premier Oliver used to call the "Pee Gee and Hee" gets to actual extension between Quesnel and Prince George, the more frequent do stories appear in the American press, concerning railway contact from the United States into Alaska. Reminds one of a continued - in - our - next serial.

Not so long ago, they were drilling for "Exercise Eagle" in Alberta. This month, there will be drilling for "Exercise Oil" on Graham Island. That's better.

A U.S. investment banking company offered Ottawa's newest offering of $100,000,000 of two and three quarter percent, 25-year bonds. The issue was a sell-out in the first hour. Some of the bonds were promptly traded in the open market. American investors have a healthy regard for Canadian economy, if Canadian youths who cross the border do not.

History keeps repeating itself! One hears that in the Fraser Valley are three, if not more, former Prince Rupert families all now dwelling within a few miles of each other. Old timers lay the groundwork and the oncoming generation build the city-to-be.

MEMORIAL WINDOW AT OCEAN FALLS

Rev. H. Stewart Forbes, United Church minister at Ocean Falls and chairman of the Prince Rupert Presbytery, who has been in the city to officiate at the induction service of Rev. L. G. Sieber as minister of the First United Church, returned to Ocean Falls last evening. He will conduct a special service at Ocean Falls on Sunday next when he will dedicate a new stained glass window given by the teen-age girls who were in her Sunday School class, in memory of Miss Ada Cook, for many years faithful teacher in the church.

Mrs. Glen Martinson arrived on the Prince Rupert Wednesday from Ocean Lake, Oregon, to visit with Mrs. A. Bendrikson, 642 Eight Ave. East.

FROM BANKER TO SHOWMAN

Henry Meyerhoff Has Had His Ups and Downs

Guest speaker at the regular weekly meeting of the Prince Rupert Rotary Club on Thursday was Henry Meyerhoff, proprietor of the Crescent Shows now staging a carnival in the city. He gave a racy account of his experiences from being a director of various banks to his present business of showmanship. He told of the strain he and other bankers had experienced in the United States when they were trying to protect their clients' investments prior to the depression of the 1930's. His own personal experiences then and in succeeding years are a record of varying successes and failures. He is a great believer in the value of travel as a broadening experience. His resourcefulness and perseverance, in spite of the many vicissitudes, were always treated in his talk in a humorous vein but there were many times when he was at bedrock. How he got into the show business and built it up from a one-piece attraction, with frequent recourse to selling "needles, Bibles and crucifixes" to his present equipment with a maximum payroll of 150 employees, revealed some of the trials that showmen encounter.

Mr. Meyerhoff told of how he finally arrived in Penticton and some of his early experiences there. He is very appreciative of the consideration and help he has received from Penticton citizens and businessmen.

While Mr. Meyerhoff did not say so, it is a matter of record that he was voted the "best citizen of the year" in Penticton last year. He has given playgrounds to that city, and scholarships and headed the flood relief fund with a donation of $10,000.

On behalf of the Rotary Club, President R. G. Van der sluyts thanked the speaker for his entertaining talk. Visiting Rotarians were J. "Pat" Mangan of Edmonton and Edwin Fiato of San Francisco. Other guests included Reg. Beattie, Penticton, W. McLean, Vancouver, and J. S. Wilson, Prince Rupert.

City Clerk H. D. Thain, who is attending a meeting of the Central British Columbia Municipal Association at Terrace, will continue from there east by train with Mrs. Thain to Vancouver and then return after attending the annual meeting of the Union of B. C. Municipalities at Victoria.

DIAGNOSTIC CLINIC HERE

Cancer Society Makes Arrangements for District Meeting

Establishment of a diagnostic cancer clinic in Prince Rupert by the Canadian Cancer Society which is contemplating the setting up of such clinics at various points in the province outside of metropolitan Vancouver is being sought by the Prince Rupert branch of the British Columbia Division of the Canadian Cancer Society.

Support of the resolution asking for such a clinic will be sought by the local Society next Wednesday when a regional council meeting is held in the city with delegates also from Ocean Falls, Terrace and Smithers.

The great advantage of a local clinic would be that it would save local cancer sufferers the time and expense of having to go to Vancouver for early diagnostic treatment.

The local branch was in session yesterday afternoon to make final arrangements for next week's district council session.

Illustrating the help that the Society renders with the money it raises, the meeting heard that one local cancer sufferer was now in Vancouver receiving treatment by means of financial assistance which is given in cases of need. The Society has assisted in the financing of two other local cases in a similar

FOOTBALL SHORTS

This evening's feature sports attraction in the city is the final of the Stuart Shield football competition with the Canadian Legion team meeting the General Motors. Both teams are looking forward to the game with the Legion hoping to repeat their win of the Dominion Day Cup while the General Motors will go all-out to win at least one trophy this season.

The General Motors will be without their brilliant young goalkeeper, Tommy Boulter, who was unable to resist the call to the wide open spaces and has gone for a hunting trip to the interior. To fill the vital position of goalkeeper the General Motors have been fortunate in getting the services of Bob Moxley. Bob was one of the crowd who hoped earlier in the year to organize another football team but this did not materialize. He has played in past years and has been up to the football field. The Motors appreciate his sportsmanship in assisting them and are confident he will give a good account of himself between the sticks.

The rest of the team will be selected from the following: Arce Lien, John Wilson, Glen Olson (captain), Maurice Bishop, Joe Ward, Charlie Currie, Bob Currie, Oscar Mercer, Pat Wilson, Wally Price, Andy Owens, Rod Robinson and Alvin McKay.

The Canadian Legion team will be selected from Gus Krause, Charlie Sunberg, Jack Eby, J. Bremner, K. Yelland, Jimmie Greer, Baxter, Aird, Smith, Bowman, Armstrong and Alexander.

entered a number of the Ontario and Quebec ladies who recently competed in the Canadian Ladies' Championship have registered in and will be competitors. Generally speaking it looks like the finest field of both ladies and men ever to take part in the Totem Pole Tournament. J. T. Becket of Prince Rupert is an entrant.

BETTER THAN EVER—Les Lear's Calgary Stampede, who looked potent enough when they won the Dominion football title last year, have some impressive reinforcements as they go after a second Grey Cup victory this season. In front of coach Lear, left to right, are: full-back Mickey Hajash with the University of Alberta in 1948; flying wing Vern Graham, up from Calgary junior ranks; centre Ken Kier, a Calgary product with a year's experience with the University of Washington; backfielder Walt Chahley, from Vancouver Blue Bomber juniors, and Sugarfoot Anderson a highly-touted end who caught passes for the professional Los Angeles Dons last year. SPORTS

Sport Shots

For the first time in many a moon, most of the west's top shotmakers will meet on one golf course to give old man par a knocking around in a revival of the $2,000 Western Canada Open Golf Tournament at Edmonton. The last time the Western Open was played is lost somewhere in the dim past, but the Alberta Golf Association which is staging the event here Sept. 3, 4 and 5 at the Canadian Golf Association's request is talking it up as an annual affair. The tournament is being held in conjunction with the Alberta open, so the top player will carry off the oil province's open title along with the western crown.

Officials have been dusting off shelves in overlooked corners to see if they can't locate a Western Open trophy—if one ever existed. If they don't find one, they are hoping some golf enthusiast will put one up for any future competitions. For his effort during the three-day tournament, the winner will pocket a $600 first prize as well as the two open crowns. That is if he is a professional. If he's a simon-pure, he'll just take the honor while the cash goes to the low-scoring pro. That takes care of two of the titles. The hazy third is the western amateur title which, though officially non-existent, can be claimed.

ed by the top amateur of the day. The only thing that might invalidate this claim is the fact that most of the British Columbia amateurs will be absent fighting it out for their provincial crown.

The tournament will have something of an international flavor. Former U. S. amateur champion Bud Ward, now a pro at Spokane, Wash., has entered. Two of British Columbia's standout Willingdon Cup team, Walt McElroy and Bill Mawhinney, have entered along with Vancouver pro Stan Leonard. Other coast pros include Fred Wood, Benny Colk and Jock McKinnon. Alberta Open champ Buddy Loftus of Edmonton will be playing as a pro this time, defending the title he won as an amateur last year. Other Alberta entries include Vern Mohs, Jim Harper, Henry Martell, Pete Olynky, Henry Logan, Jack Cuthbert and Otto Anderson. Winnipeg is the only western backslider as far as entries are concerned. Regina will have its money on Tom Ross, Pat Fletcher and Ben Reid.

SALVATION ARMY DRIVE

Three Thousand Dollars is Objective of Annual Red Shield Campaign

Confident of a cordial greeting and a generous donation as they go from door to door, canvassers for the annual Salvation Army Red Shield Appeal have started out on a drive to raise $3,000 in Prince Rupert. Hope is that it will be possible to conclude the effort with a minimum of delay and, in that regard, it is felt that the public understanding of the Army and its good work will expedite the canvass.

Canadian Legion Women's Auxiliary has undertaken to carry out the general canvass of the city with Mrs. William Rothwell as convener and Mrs. Henry Smith, jr., Mrs. S. L. Peachey, Mrs. J. M. Keays, Mrs. A. Gillis, Mrs. R. Marshall, Mrs. L. Everleigh, Mrs. M. Hill, Mrs. W. Ballinger, Mrs. L. Marshall, Mrs. N. Watson and Mrs. G. Garbutt among her assistants.

Major W. Yurgenson will canvass the suburban business places and Miss Margaret Lee will direct the covering of the Chinese population by the Chinese Patriotic Association.

"See they're home. Their doorbell was probably out of order."

The Experts Say...

Mentally Retarded Children—Understanding, affection and patience are three factors important in helping the mentally-retarded child to lead a full life. The Dominion health and welfare department has prepared a booklet entitled "The Backward Child," to guide parents in the care and training of such a youngster.

In a brief foreword, Dr. C. G. Stogdill, chief of the department's mental health division, notes that helping these children to learn "can be a tremendously interesting and a deeply satisfying experience."

"Understanding, affection, patience, consistency, good cheer—these will unlock the doors to fuller living for your child and for you," he concludes. Good health, good manners, a neat appearance are necessary if the child is to take his place in the world with self-assurance.

His appearance goes a long way toward his acceptance or non-acceptance by others, and if he is attractively clothed, neat, and clean, "he starts with several marks in his favor."

One important thing to remember is that the child sets the pace in learning: "What the individual child can do must govern what he should and should not attempt."

While it will take a long time to accomplish anything, patience is necessary to give the slow child every chance to get what he can. For many the most that can be expected is that they learn a few skills. Others will become quite skilled in various ways and will be able to progress rapidly along those lines.

Many retarded girls have become excellent needle-women; boys have shown a fine skill in gardening, carpentering and even knitting.

Some parents may worry about a dishonest tendency in their child, but the health and welfare department says "such actions by your child may be a part of the business of growing up. You can guide him safely through these problems if you understand why he does these things—and then take the necessary action."

Should the child be discovered in a theft, the department urges—in one of its Child Training Booklets—that parents should avoid drastic measures of punishment.

"A child of school age rarely steals just to possess an article," says the booklet. "Occasionally he keeps on stealing because he's learned that his wants are easily satisfied without his being caught. But usually there's a deeper reason, the need to satisfy some driving inner need."

The important thing is to find out why the child has stolen, and correct the situation. Above all, don't let him feel that he has lost your love and confidence.

Mrs. Angus Currie and son, Archie, are sailing by the Catala tonight for Vancouver after spending the summer with Mr. Currie at Sunnyside cannery on the Skeena River.

Timely Recipe

Nectar Sunset Freeze
1 1/2 cups apricot whole fruit nectar
1/4 cup granulated sugar
1/4 cup grenadine syrup
1/2 teaspoon salt
3 table-spoons lemon juice
1 1/2 cups table cream

Combine nectar, sugar, syrup and salt; heat to boiling. Pour into refrigerator tray, place in freezing compartment with control set at lowest temperature, and freeze to a mush consistency. Whip lemon juice into cream a few drops at a time and continue whipping until cream is very thick. Remove nectar mixture from freezing compartment and add cream in small portions, beating to blend well. Return to compartment and finish freezing. When firm re-set temperature control to normal. Serve in chilled glasses. Serves 6 or more.

Mayor Nora Arnold is returning to the city today from sessions of the Central British Columbia Municipalities Association at Terrace and will sail tonight on the Catala for Victoria to attend the annual convention of the Union of British Columbia Municipalities.

The new seiner "Western Breeze," the 64-foot vessel recently completed by W. R. Menchions at Vancouver, for Nelson Brothers Fisheries, gives that firm a fleet of no fewer than 78 ships, of which forty are seiners. The new craft is a combination salmon seiner and beam trawler and provides accommodation for seven men. The Western Breeze is powered with a 150 h.p. Murphy diesel and has the latest in radio and navigation gear.

The tug D.B.M., under Capt. "Ike" Forsyth, left port last week-end with 21 sections from local logging contractors. Another 25 sections were picked up at Kumeleon Inlet, making up a total tow of well over 1 1/2 million feet. Logs are for delivery to Northern Pulpwood Ltd., a subsidiary of Pacific Mills Ltd., Ocean Falls. Prior to departure the D.B.M. was on the pontoons of the local drydock where repairs were to a faulty tail shaft.

Mrs. Art Johnson left on the Prince Rupert last evening for a vacation to the Laurentians via Vancouver and Montreal.

Canada And Atom Energy

Development of "Heavy" Water Places Dominion in Strong Position

VANCOUVER — Dr. W. H. Watson of Ottawa, theoretical physics chief of the National Research Council told a meeting of mathematicians that Canada's experience in developing "heavy" water has placed her in a position regarding atomic energy quite advantageous.

Heavy water, used as a moderator in an atomic pile, slows down high speed neutrons from uranium undergoing fission so some neutrons can re-enter element and produce fresh fission in chain reaction.

council in 1947 was an official recognition of his work. The porridge-fed boy had come a long way.

In 1948 he was appointed to the Senate.

With the creation of the department of veterans affairs in October 1944 he undertook one of the major jobs in the years directly ahead.

In one fiscal year (1946-47), more than $750,000,000 was paid out to veterans through his department, a sum considerably in excess of a normal peacetime budget. His staff swelled to more than 20,000 as it accepted the full brunt of rehabilitating the hundreds of thousands who came pouring out of uniform. Ian Mackenzie avowed that their outlook would be primarily and always humanitarian. His creed was "In any doubtful case, always lean over backwards for the veteran."

Former Prince Rupert Boy Is Deputy Director, Naval Reserve

OTTAWA—The appointment of Commander Howard L. Quinn, D.S.C., R.C.N., 39 of Vancouver and Victoria, as Director of Naval Reserves was announced today at Naval Headquarters. Commander Quinn, formerly Deputy Director of Naval Reserves, will take over his new appointment September 7 and while in the post will hold the acting rank of Captain.

As Director of Naval Reserves, he will be responsible for the organizing and co-ordination of training in the 20 Naval Divisions across Canada and for the training program carried out in R.C.N. ships and establishments for officers and men of the Royal Canadian Navy (Reserve).

A native of Vancouver, Commander Quinn first joined the Naval Reserve in 1925 at Prince Rupert, as an Ordinary Seaman. He went on active service as a Lieutenant in the R.C.N.V.R. in September, 1940, and following training at H.M.C.S. "Stadacora," Halifax, was appointed in February, 1941, to the newly-built corvette, H.M.C.S. "Collingwood." He served in her on North Atlantic convoy duty until August, 1942, when he went ashore to take a specialized navigation course.

On completion of the course, in December, 1942, he was appointed for duty with Captain (D) Newfoundland, and two months later took command of the corvette H.M.C.S. "Eye-bright."

In April, 1943, the "Eye-bright" towed another corvette, H.M.C.S. "Mayflower," more than 600 miles after the latter had become disabled during convoy operation in mid-Atlantic. For his seamanship and perseverance on this occasion, Commander Quinn was mentioned in despatches. He left the "Eye-bright" in July, 1944, and a month later commissioned the new frigate H.M.C.S. "Strathadam," in the acting rank of Lieutenant-Commander. He remained in command of the "Strathadam" for a year and while in this ship served for a period as Senior Officer of the 25th Escort Group. On April 11, 1945, the "Strathadam" led two other frigates, H.M.C. Ships "La Hullose" and "Thetford Mines," in a successful attack on a German submarine, "U-1302." For his services in this action Commander Quinn was awarded the Distinguished Service Cross.

He was confirmed in the rank of Lieutenant-Commander in July, 1945, and in September was appointed Commanding Officer of the frigate "Beacon Hill." In February, 1946, he became Executive Officer, Ships in Reserve, at Esquimalt, in the acting rank of Commander, and a month later transferred to the permanent force.

Commander Quinn was appointed to the cruiser H.M.C.S. "Uganda," in May, 1946, as First Lieutenant and held this post for more than a year. In November, 1947, he went ashore as First Lieutenant of H.M.C.S. "Naden," the R.C.N. Barracks at Esquimalt. He was promoted to the confirmed rank of Commander in July, 1948, and a month later to Headquarters as Deputy Director of Naval Reserves.

HOW CAN I ???

By ANNE ASHLEY

Q. How can I shrink thread that is to be used for drawn work?

A. This can be easily done by placing the spool of thread in a vessel of boiling water for about an hour. It will not destroy the gloss.

Q. How can I use less sugar when making cake frosting?

A. When making plain white cake frosting, add about two tablespoons of cornstarch and use less sugar. The frosting will remain thick and soft.

Q. How can I remove indelible ink marks from fabrics?

A. By sponging with equal parts of ammonia and turpentine.
