C. Has Made Out Good Freight Rates Case

Always Called Upon Justify Differential

PRINCE RUPERT (CP)—A prima facie case has been made by British Columbia for the removal of the differential freight rate over the Rock-Elton Commission M. B. Archibald of the Board of Transport Commissioners said Monday. He turned down the application of the railways, stating that British Columbia had not made out a case worthy of reply by the railways. He ordered the railways to go ahead with presentation of evidence against the removal of the differential.

DEMAND DROPPING

ALBERTA (CP)—Agriculture Minister, Gardiner warned the provincial agriculture department of Canadian farmers in an "off-the-record" speech that prospective food contracts for 1949 would probably be trouble for the 1949 food supplies.

Official version of his speech, which he said was a "leak," quoted him as saying that Canada will accept the current price for the quantity of United States wheat purchases of this product reduced.

DEGREES FROST HERE TODAY

PRINCE RUPERT (CP)—A temperature since yesterday cracked down to below zero overnight as the weather turned clear and dry. A midwinter effect was felt by the eight inches of snow lying on the ground. The overnight reading was minus eight degrees, the lowest since February 3 when the thermometer plummeted to 10 below, a record for the winter.

which yesterday had turned mushy, became again under the influence of eight degrees of frost. Householders began a grumbling about fuel.

However, they had little to grumble about completely. In Snag, Y.T. known for its "icebox" the thermometer registered 67 below. Elsewhere it was a sting below.

Killed Crossing

PRINCE RUPERT (CP)—A level crossing which occurred during a snowstorm brought down two men here late yesterday.

As T. Holmes of Salmon River and Cecil Barr of Shaughnessy, were the victims.

In which they were riding, was hit by a P.R. seaboat freight car which carried 75 feet before it was stopped.

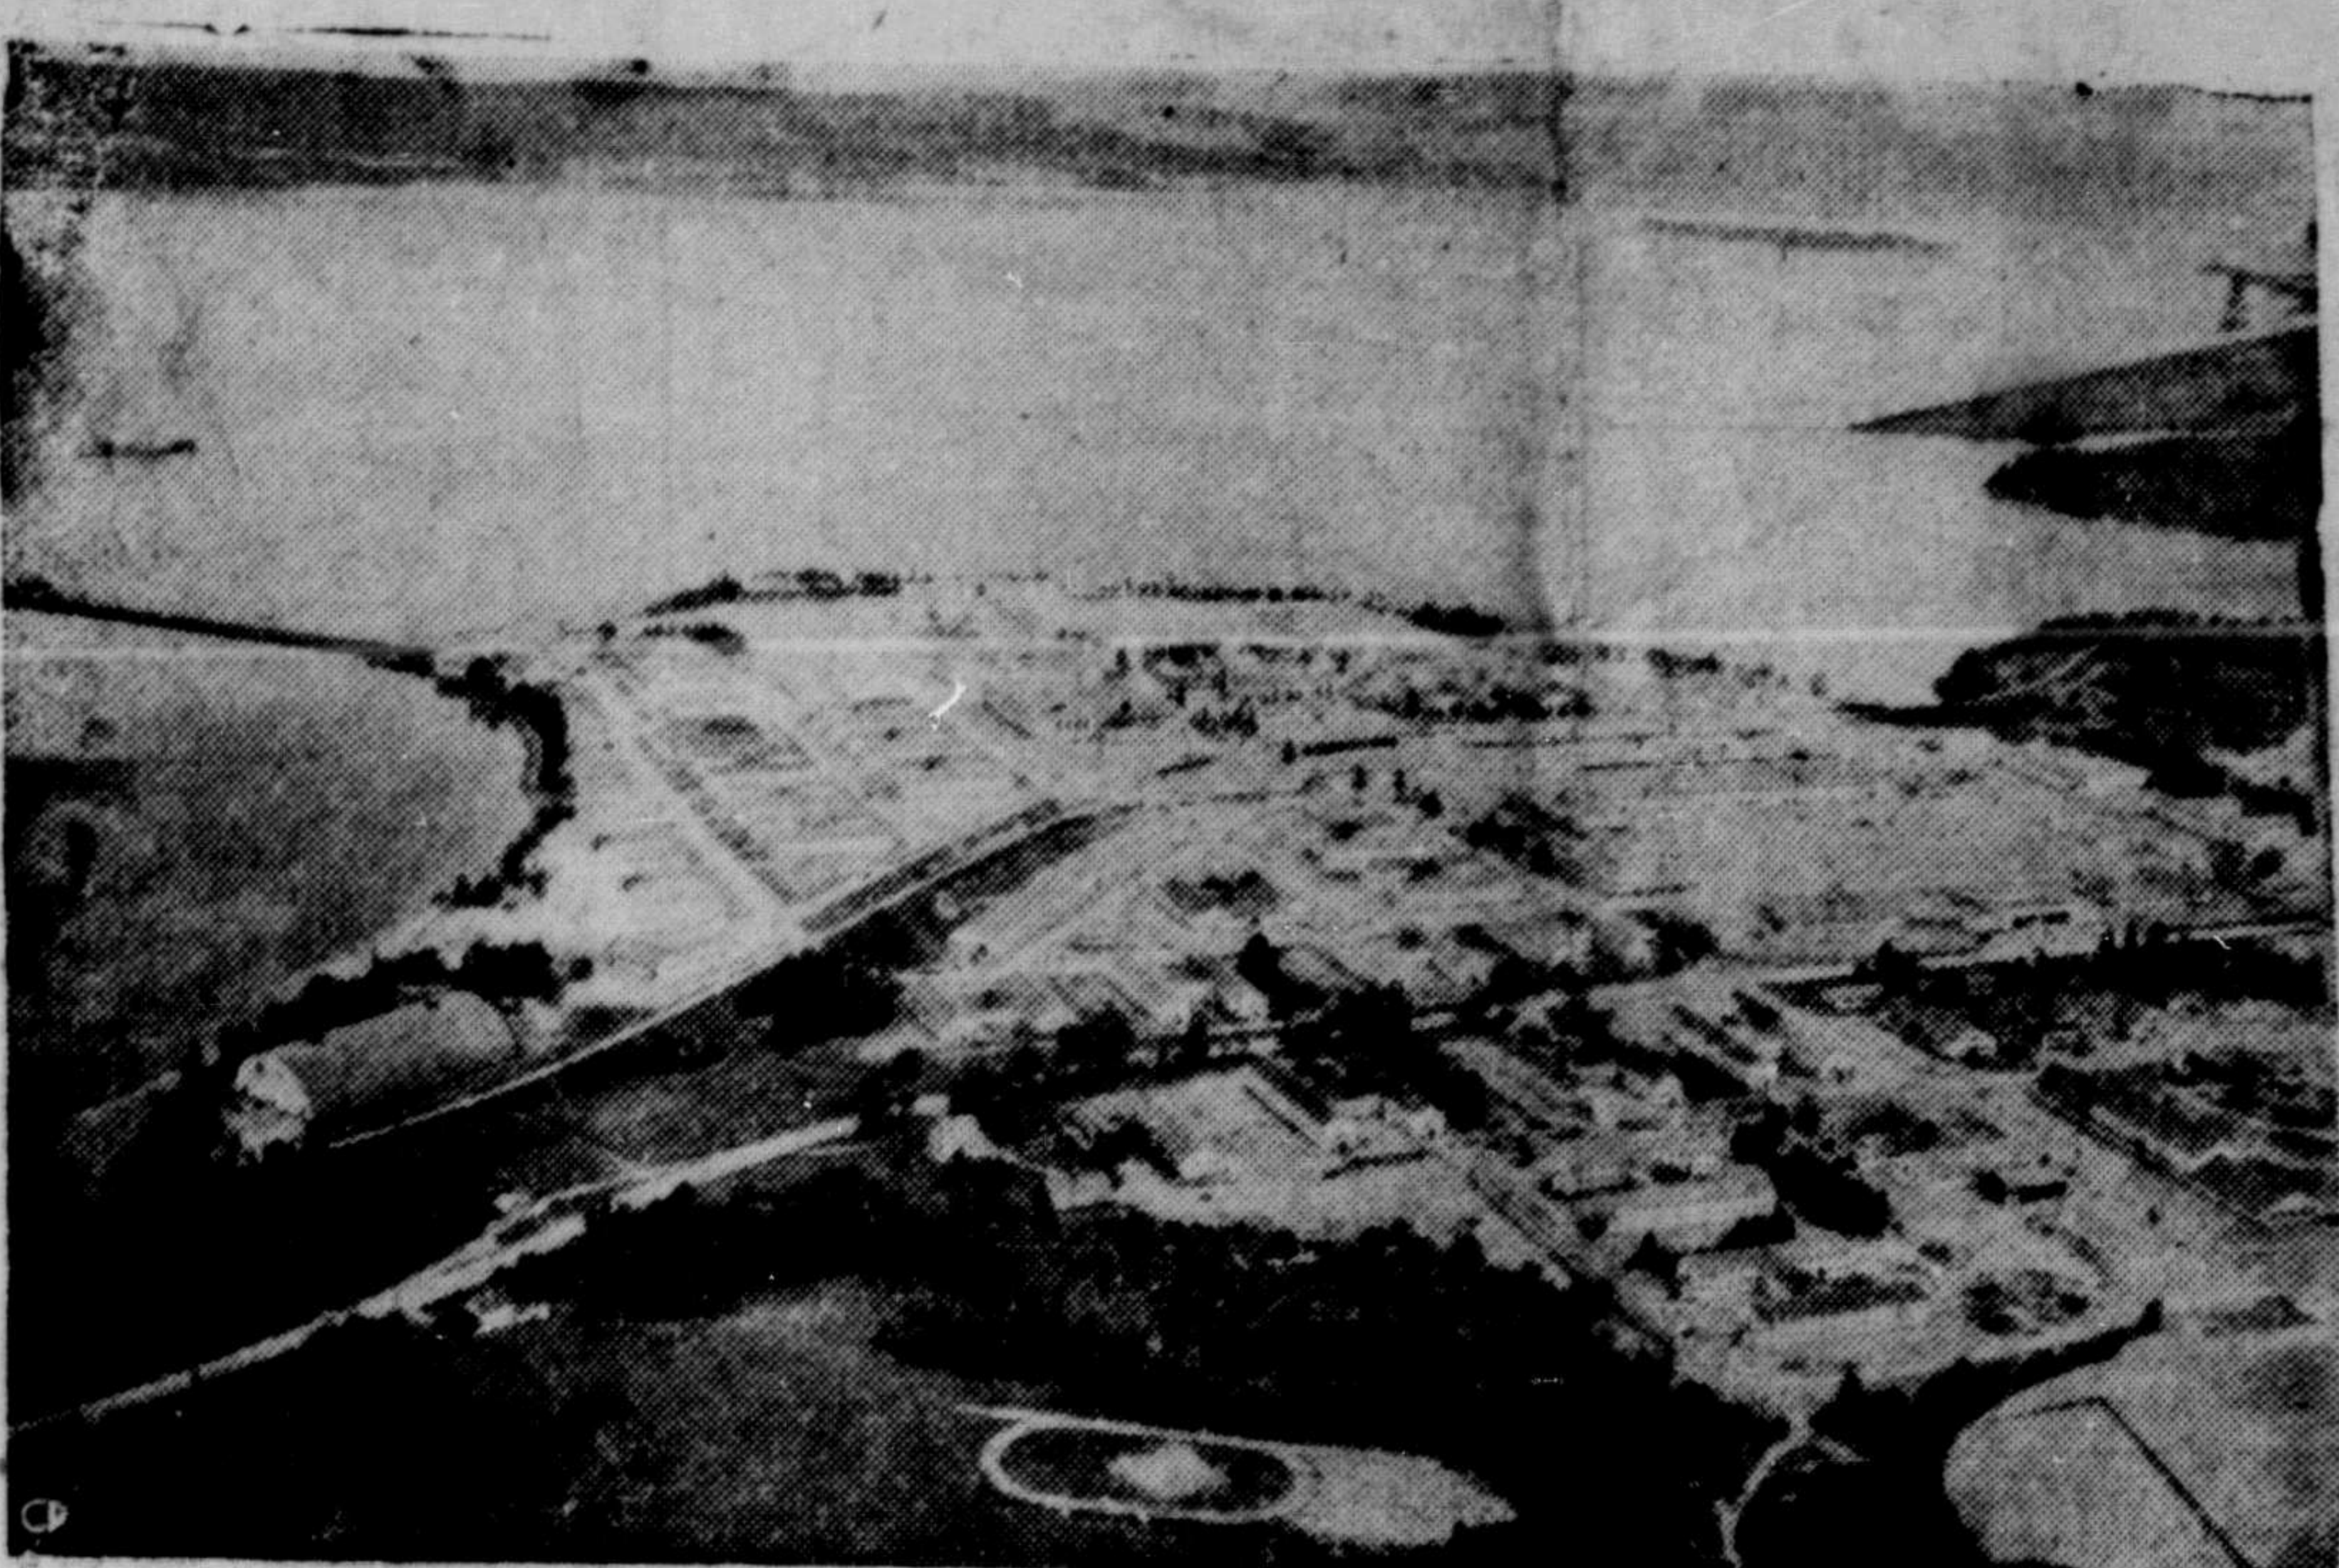

Both were dead on arrival at the hospital and Barr died less than 24 hours later.

Principal changes in the bylaws are concerned with the scale of levying fees, the procedure for the nominating and election of officers and the constitution of the executive. The new bylaw was finally adopted and a vote of thanks extended to Mr. Harvey and his committee.

Drew and C.C.F.'er Exchange Insults

Conservative Leader and Socialist Put On Scene in By-election

RICHMOND, Ont. (CP)—A stormy meeting of candidates in the Carleton federal by-election almost ended in a fist fight last night as George Drew, Progressive-Conservative leader, and William Temple, who defeated him in the last Ontario election, exchanged insults.

The trouble started as a meeting opened. Reporters saw the pair in a heated discussion but were too far away to hear the words.

The men were separated and Drew said that Temple "made an insulting remark while I was speaking and I made what I thought was an appropriate reply."

Newspapermen reached the scene in time to hear Temple say to Drew: "You are the most contemptible character I have ever met. You are not even a man."

Temple told reporters that Drew had called him "a swine and a dirty rat." Don Morrow, Progressive-Conservative member for Carleton in the provincial house, who separated the men, said Temple was threatening to beat up Drew.

Non-Partisan Organization For Civic Election Is Being Revived

With civic nomination day due this Thursday, the election a week from then and representatives of the business community decidedly slow in entering the field for five aldermanic seats which will be at stake, an eleven-hour meeting is being called for tonight with a view to reviving the non-partisan organization and making a last minute drive for candidates. Already the Civic Labor Federation has an almost complete slate in the field.

Decision upon the final effort to bring out more candidates for the election was made at an impromptu gathering of business men last night in the Civic Centre when Ald. Robert McKay made a plea for a more active measure of interest in municipal affairs, particularly by way of entry into the field as candidates.

The most effective means of getting out candidates, now that individual personal appeals had to large extent failed, was, it was felt, to revive the organization not only with a view to getting out candidates but giving them organized support during the campaign.

After a discussion of possibilities and ways and means, T. Norton Youngs was named chairman protem to get the organization moving in a hurry since the time for action is so short.

Last Night Not Very

LONDON, (CP)—Bruce Woodcock, British heavyweight champion, beat Lee Savold of Paterson, New Jersey, on a fourth round foul last night but the verdict caused an immediate storm of protest. Dropped in the third for the count of eight, the Englishman rolled to the canvas again in the fourth after being struck by a right hand blow. When he clutched his groin and writhed, Referee Sam Marshall ruled that Savold had struck a low blow and disqualified the American.

Most British boxing writers at the ringside said the blow, if low, was a "light one."

Eleven thousand fans saw the scheduled ten round fight which was supposed to produce a summer challenger for Champion Joe Louis.

Challenge to Service

SELDOM BEFORE has there been such a low ebb of interest as appears today in civic affairs—at least as far as entry of candidates for aldermanic honors is concerned. True the Civic Labor Federation, and it is deserving of credit in the matter, has put a partial slate of candidates in the field for council and school board. However, nomination day is now only two days removed and the business interests of the city, despite exhortations by the mayor and others, have been successful so far in doing very little about getting candidates in the running. There has been canvassing of prospective candidates, it is said, but with very discouraging results. The business people of the city seem just not disposed to offer time and effort by presenting themselves as candidates for aldermanic service. From the look of things at the moment there would not even have been enough candidates to fill the vacancies had not the Civic Labor Federation entered the field.

Possibly, however, the situation may yet be changed even at this late hour. With this end in view, a hurry-up meeting is being held tonight under the auspices of the old Non-Partisan organization which has been moribund for the past few years. It is to be hoped that there will be a good turn-out at this meeting of people not only interested in encouraging candidates to enter the field but prepared to do so themselves.

Five aldermen are to be elected at the civic poll to be held next Thursday. Even with no mayoral contest at this time, this marks a majority of council members.

Surely, there must be more interest in the situation than appears on the surface at this time. The response to tonight's meeting will indicate whether such interest does exist. As a matter of fact, it amounts to a challenge to a section of the community on civic affairs. There has been plenty of outside criticism of what has been done but those who cannot or will not come out and back their criticism with offer of service are not really giving any practical help.

Now is the time, even though the hour may be late, for good men, and women too, to come to the aid of their city.

BRITISH FOREIGN POLICY

THE BRITISH HOUSE OF COMMONS will debate foreign affairs this Thursday and Friday. Ernest Bevin is expected to make a speech of the greatest importance at the beginning of it. Winston Churchill is expected to speak on Friday. The debate will range very widely.

Mr. Bevin's last two important statements in Parliament on foreign affairs were on September 15 and 22. On September 27 he spoke powerfully in the Assembly of the United Nations on the United Kingdom's stand in the great issues of the day.

With so many major topics that M.P.'s are anxious to discuss, it is difficult to isolate in advance those that will take up the most time. But Berlin and the future of Germany, the situation in Palestine, the Government's attitude to Western Union and international co-operation generally, and developments in the Far East will assuredly stand out.

Mr. Bevin can scarcely fail to repeat in appropriate terms the solemn assurance given so often before that if the Soviet Union is living in fear of any aggression by the United Kingdom on its territory, it may rest in peace. On the other hand, if having obtained an assured security in their own Soviet Territory, they then use the territory of people of other states to prepare attacks on the United Kingdom, a very different situation will be created in which she can only look to her defence.

Some of the critical tone that the Opposition has come to adopt over defence policy may come to be heard in the debate on foreign affairs. It is still true that the Opposition supports the Government in its broad policies. But that will not prevent some Opposition speakers from deploring Mr. Bevin's handling of the policy over Palestine. And certainly it will not prevent it from disagreeing very strongly indeed with the decision to send Hugh Dalton, former Chancellor of the Exchequer and now Chancellor of the Duchy of Lancaster, to lead a United Kingdom delegation to Paris in the discussions on closer unity with Western Europe. Complaint is that Mr. Dalton is opposed to a United Europe except on a Socialist basis.

Economic Regimentation Would Menace Everyone, Warns B of M President

B. C. Gardner Says High Tax Levels Have Adverse Effect on Capacity for Saving

GENERAL MANAGER, GORDON BALL, REPORTS RECORD ASSETS, DEPOSITS—LOANS LEVELLING OFF

Montreal, Dec. 6—No Canadian can "hope that it will be possible to establish in this country some form of selective economic dictatorship that will apply to others but leave him unscathed. The experience of other countries makes it perfectly clear that once regimentation is established, no interest or class in the community can escape its toils." It was with these words that B. C. Gardner, president of the Bank of Montreal, summed up, at today's 131st annual meeting, was his warning that the policy and plans of doctrinaire socialists were a danger to Canada.

Sound and vigorous economic growth, he said could not flourish in an atmosphere where the kind of enterprise that created wealth and well-being was held in low repute. "And no realistic appraisal of present day conditions," he observed, "can ignore the fact that our system of individual enterprise is under attack."

While this was a challenge to all Canadians, it placed a particular responsibility on business men. "I hold no brief," said Mr. Gardner in a forceful passage, "for any concern that in this day and age operates without regard to the public interest. Good business practice is the basic essential of good public relations. Business must tell its story more completely, and in terms more readily understood by the man in the street, than it has done in the past."

Technical Progress Vital
Mr. Gardner prefaced his comments on the economic state of the nation by pointing out how much more rapidly price levels had risen than actual output. It was extremely important to realize the true situation behind the peak dollar figures that would appear in the 1948 statistics. For, on a broad front, there were many evidences of the strains, frictions and hardships that were the inevitable accompaniment of an inflationary period.

"Can we regain the benefits of a stable price level?" Mr. Gardner asked, and pointed out that, while Canada could not remain an oasis of prosperity with continued disequilibrium in the world outside, there were certain positive steps that should be taken in the national interest. Increased productivity was the first essential, and in the final analysis, major gains in output depended on more rapid technical advance. During the past two years there had been a boom in capital expenditure in Canada on new plant and equipment of all kinds, and this might be regarded as an encouraging development. But at the same time such capital expansion has not been matched by an offsetting increase in saving. The result had been "conflicting and competing monetary demand for ing business. There had been a moderate program of branch extension, and the bank was proceeding only with projects that were essential for the maintenance of its services.

Staff Training
The staff of the bank now numbered 9,300. "Since January last I have traveled over 13,000 miles for the express purpose of meeting as many of the staff as possible," said Mr. Ball in reviewing the staff situation. "In my travels from coast to coast I visited 135 branches in Canada, as well as in our offices in the United States. This was a most inspiring experience. I cannot speak too highly of the fine spirit of teamwork, enthusiasm and devotion of which I found evidence on all sides."

The rapid increase of personnel in recent years had brought special problems of staff training, and the bank was now operating schools for entrants in Montreal, Toronto, Winnipeg and Vancouver. It was intended to extend these schools to include classes for intermediate groups during the coming year; in the past year senior staff courses had been instituted at the head office.

Loan Policy

Mr. Ball referred to the consultations between the Bank of Canada and the chartered banks last February, following which it was considered advisable with a view to limiting inflationary pressure—to discourage the financing of capital expenditures through the expansion of bank credit. He noted that the upward trend of the bank's loans in Canada reached a post-war peak of about $420,000,000 in November 1947, and now stood at $403,000,000, compared with $320,000,000 at the end of the previous financial year. "In the light of the surrounding circumstances we regard the leveling off of commercial loans as a constructive development," he said. "While a substantial part of the increase in bank loans reflects the more normal use of bank credit for peacetime activities, many of our customers are adopting a more cautious attitude in their commitments in view of rising prices and costs."

Advances to the grain trade, as well as loans to farmers and primary producers had increased over the past year. "The Bank of Montreal has always welcomed the opportunity to co-operate to the fullest possible extent with agriculture and we are pleased that our facilities have been more widely used in this respect. This applies particularly to loans under the Farm Improvement Loans Act, which showed an increase of almost 50 per cent compared with the previous year."

Concluding his review of the bank's loan structure, Mr. Ball said: "In our general lending policy we have been particularly anxious to meet the requirements of small business concerns and individual borrowers. Despite this, it has been alleged from time to time that because of a concentration of financial resources in the larger centres, Canadian business concerns, and small ones in particular, are at a disadvantage in dealing with branch banks in the smaller centres, the inference being that only relatively few have access to credit."

"With this view I emphatically disagree. The full facilities of the entire bank are placed at the customer's disposal at all of our branches and the number of borrowing accounts on our books is to us a clear indication that our customers' requirements are being properly and promptly met."

"I may say that as at September 30th last, of the total number of loans on the books of this bank over 99 per cent were made directly by and at the discretion of our branch managers and local superintendents."

"You'll either have to put something on or leave. Your interfering with the floor show."

CANADA CHARGES SOVIET RUSSIA

PARIS, (P)—Hughes Lapointe, Parliamentary assistant to Hon. Brooke Claxton, minister of defence for Canada, today accused Russia of violating the United Nations charter by refusing to permit Russian wives of foreign citizens to leave Russia. Lapointe told the 58-member legal committee of the Assembly that Canada has had experience with the "paradoxical attitude" of the Soviet towards marriage and the family.

LETTERBOX

TELEPHONE QUESTION
Editor, Daily News:

I was very interested in Alderman Casey's letter published recently in your paper regarding the city's telephone system. It seems to me quite reasonable to ascertain the cost of building another telephone exchange to take the overload of the present exchange and what service this second exchange would give. We have examples of other cities in our own province which have added new exchanges as the city expanded. It is reported that the proposed new telephone system, to be built at the cost of half a million dollars, will provide out of revenue the funds to pay off the debt created in its building. Who is to guarantee that the new system will provide the revenue to pay off the debt? If under present rates the new system does not provide the revenue necessary to retire the debt will telephone rates be increased or will taxes be increased in our own home or our business we would save expense wherever possible and municipal business should follow the same principle. We all like service and no doubt the city telephone department would like to give us service but let us creep before we walk.

Thanking you Mr. Editor, INTERESTED.

PEARL HARBOR RECALLED TODAY

Seven years ago today, December 7, 1941, a gloomy Sunday, Japan precipitated the Pacific War with an attack on the American naval base at Pearl Harbor, an attack which within six months was to see Prince Rupert set up as one of the major military bases of the continent.

The attack was launched with devastating shock effect by more than 100 Japanese planes which caught a large part of the American fleet at anchor and resulted in the sinking of eight battleships and the sinking or damaging of 10 other craft.

More than 3,000 men were killed or missing.

As a result, Canadian forces in the Prince Rupert area were strengthened and American troops and civilians were rushed here to establish an embarkation port which, during the next three and a half years, was a supply base for the whole Pacific area.

Seven years ago today Prince Rupert took a front line position in the world picture, a place which, because of today's events, it still retains.

THEY HAD TO WIN—One of the reasons Calgary Stampede turned in such a spectacular victory over Ottawa in the Grey Cup football final recently was little Robert Rowe, shown here with his mother. Robert, a healthy seven-pounder, was born a few hours before Daddy Paul Rowe helped the Stampede take their first Dominion title. November 27 will always be remembered by the Rowe family. Not only did Paul become a father, he helped the Stampede win the crown and played his last game of football. His other son, Barrie, was born on the same date two years ago. (CP Photo)

PIONEER PERSONALITIES

WESTON COYNEY
Most of his life, Weston Coyney had never been far from a newspaper office or things pertaining to the press. He had been nearly everywhere. He could spin good yarns half the night, for he had seen history in the making.

Coyney, coming down from Dawson when the boom showed signs of fading, arrived in Prince Rupert a few years before the railway came through. He was sent by the New York Herald to describe the strike. He did just that and never returned East.

No longer young, his manner and general personality rarely hinted the approach of age even if his appearance did. Gray hair was abundant. A small almost-white beard, he kept, in the main, neatly pointed, and trimmed. He was of average, slender build, carried himself nimbly and well, always dressed no matter how lavish or otherwise life was treating him. He had an easy, debonaire way with him. He might have possessed a temper but did not show it. England was his birthplace, but much of his active career was spent in the United States. He served some of the largest of the metropolitan papers and probably, on occasions, had something to do with public affairs. It was said of him he had been private secretary to a Vice-President. He certainly was no stranger to Washington. He knew the world and its ways.

Coyney worked on both the Daily News and Evening Empire at different times. He was a handy man because he knew so much. This time, age, not youth, was an advantage rather than a handicap. Should a brief, but important despatch come and immediate rewriting was needed, no one could feel dismayed as long as Coyney was within hail.

One afternoon, a flash bulletin announced the sudden death of the former Empress Eugene—not exactly hot news—but, being a historic figure, her passing was of wide interest. She had been the wife of Louis Napoleon. Anybody know much about Eugene? What a silly query! Find Coyney. Sure he did! Had seen her in England after the downfall of the French dynasty at the end of the Franco-Prussian war in 1871. Fine looking woman and smart as a trap. She was of part Scottish descent. He rattled off what was precisely wanted, the chore seeming almost effortless.

Coyney was a familiar figure on the streets of Prince Rupert. If winter put on a seasonable look he did also. He wore a great coonskin coat, a garment that had gone far in repelling the biting blasts of Yukon. He was original and venturesome. To keep himself occupied, he started a monthly called "Resources"—something he cheerfully admitted he was rather shy of just then. Nevertheless, he did make a good start, and might have remained in the field indefinitely but for a variety of reasons. To be the whole staff, for example, was becoming burdensome. For a while, he took over the duties of handling the city weigh scales but this did not have an enduring charm for him. Health began to give way. Advancing age, that incurable complaint, became all too evident. And so, in the fullness of time he sighted the end of a long trail.

Light Radio Fare Liked

spot was a radio theatre presentation, followed by four humor programs, a serial play, two more humor programs and an anti-crime serial play.

Of the first 10 programs originating in Canada, the leading program of the week was a quiz with prizes—a giveaway program. Next came a play, a humorous program with music, another giveaway and then the only humor program to make the top listing for that week. Two more give-aways followed and then came a serial play, a musical presentation and another serial play.

As a medium for the diffusion of symphonic music, opera and the dramatic arts, radio, especially in Canada, has been a great broadening influence.

Although listenership of entertainment has been as large as that of news programs, the popularity of the latter has been increasing. Many of the programs heard in Canada are well liked here. Canadian listening American programs many of the first in the list of listening time in North America.

It would appear, however, that the popularity of the categories of radio and music, take up listening time in North America.

AMERICAN TUG PROCEEDS SOUTH

One of her two cribs of logs having been repaired after going aground on Dundas Island three weeks ago, the Seattle tug Monarch left port yesterday afternoon towing 3,000,000 feet of timber to Bellingham and Everett.

The Monarch, Capt. J. S. Pearson, managed to save his ship and her Davis rafts after she lost her rudder in a blow while heading south from Behm Canal.

The ship's rudder was replaced at the dry dock here and one of the cribs received rebinding with steel cables following the mishap at a cove on Dundas Island where the Monarch sought shelter.

THERE'S ELEGANCE IN ROSES AT ROYAL WINTER FAIR

Roses and lace create a charming belle today just as they did in grandmother's day. One of the spectacular attractions at the Royal Winter Fair in Toronto, Ont., this year was the large number of roses contributed by leading Canadian growers who are world famous for their quality and variety. Shown are some pink Briarcliff roses. More than 18,000 roses bowed to the rose-loving public.

WORCESTER, Eng. ☉—Bank manager Major C. Eales turned up for work in pyjamas, bed- room slippers and a borrowed greatcoat after he lost all his clothes in a fire at Worcester Golf and Country Club where he lives.

TransCanada Highway, the Chamber went on record as in support of the principle of a TransCanada coast to coast federally aided highway. It was further decided to request the provincial minister of public works, on attending the Ottawa conference, to give all support possible to the northern route—Jasper to Prince Rupert—for the TransCanada Highway. The latter request was made in view of a suggestion from the Associated Boards of Trade of Central British Columbia that now was an opportune time to press for the completion of missing links east of Prince George in the northern transprovincial highway and the incorporation of this road in the federally-aided TransCanada Highway system.

Disposal of the United States Army waterfront war installations here, including warehouse, ocean dock and administration building, came up with a report from the executive which had dealt with the matter after War Assets Corporation had given notice of the intention to call for tenders for demolition. It was reported to the meeting that there would be no advertising for bids until January 15 and meantime, Bernard Allen, manager of the Canadian National Railways for British Columbia and Alberta, would take the matter up with the Chamber. The Chamber is endeavouring to find commercial use for the installations and has a committee working on the possibility of the administration building being converted to residential use.

The aviation committee, W. F.
Stone, reported on conferences which had been held during the past month with Canadian Pacific Airlines executives on the need of a landing field at Prince Rupert. The matter is to be followed up with making of representations to the departments concerned at Ottawa seeking a survey of a site in the vicinity of the city. The Canadian Pacific Airlines has been working on a Tugwell Island site. The possibility of development on Acropolis Hill was suggested last night.

Heavenly— and so Simple!

● Gay, novel and appealing, this fruited self-layering mold has new interest, new designs in each slice. Some fruits sink, some float in Jell-O... so with Jell-O you can achieve no end of these "self-layering desserts", quickly and easily.

For real economy... well-loved flavor... brilliant color... Jell-O dishes like this lead the dessert parade.

Enjoy the "locked-in" flavor of Jell-O—regularly. Look for the big red letters on the JELL-O box.

There are seven famous Jell-O flavors

JELL-O

What's found only in Jell-O?
That "locked-in" Jell-O Flavor!

SELF-LAYERING FRUIT MOLD

- 1 package Strawberry Jell-O
- 2 cups hot water
- 1 cup fresh orange sections
- 1 cup banana slices
- 1/2 cup broken nut meats

Dissolve Jell-O in hot water. Arrange orange sections in bottom of loaf pan. Pour on Jell-O, being careful not to disarrange orange sections. Arrange banana slices and nut meats on top of mold. Chill. Serve in slices, garnished with whipped cream, if desired.

Reminiscences By W.J. and Reflections

Word from Toronto says it is an offence, under the Criminal Code, to tear a $100 bill in two. Something tells us there is not the slightest cause for us to worry.

Mamie Maloney, after lamenting Vancouver's weeks of rain and gales, perks up and says: "But just give us one day of cloudless blue skies with the sun sparkling on the Gulf of Georgia and the snow-capped coast range rosy in the rays of the setting sun, and we're ready to forgive." Well, after a few days of moisture in Prince Rupert, and the sun starts beaming on the world's noblest harbor, matchless mountains, verdant isles of assorted sizes, dancing waves of Hecate Straits, the sheer beauty of Tsimpsean peninsula and glittering peaks of Wark Canal—we're ready, also, Mamie!

Captain Bruce Bairnsfather is on the coast and that must mean "Old Bill" is here too. Way back in 1914-18 when men were getting trench feet, entering hospital and having plenty of mud, muck and general misery, along with heavy casualties, Bairnsfather was a priceless morale-booster. It will be a real pleasure for veterans to meet him.

STAMPEDERS HOME—It was a wild day in Calgary when the Stampeders arrived home from Toronto bearing the Grey Cup they won for the first time against Ottawa Rough Riders. An estimated 50,000 thronged the streets to welcome the team. Shown here is the parade led by supporters carrying the goal posts removed from Varsity Stadium after the east-west final. (CP Photo)

CITATION ARRIVES FOR TANFORAN CUP—Calumet Stables wonder horse Citation steps as proudly as a reigning monarch as he emerges from his private car on a railroad siding to his stall at Tanforan, Calif., in anticipation of his running in the Tanforan $50,000 handicap December 11. One of the greatest, and possibly the greatest horse in American turf history, he is considered by many racegoers to be superior even to the immortal Man O' War. Leading Citation into his stall is F. C. McMillan, exercise boy who accompanied the horse across the country. A police guard walks behind. Citation has been voted "Horse of the year."

for twenty years, without yet having succeeded.

Vancouver on Saturday had another bank robbery, the gunman getting away with the swag. Difficulty in quitting town has often been given as the chief reason why no bandit has ever introduced himself in a bank at Prince Rupert. It's a good reason as any and possibly the best. There are cars, a through motor road, planes, boats of all sorts, railway and what have you available, yet this would be a hard city to leave, pluck!

should one happen to be a badly wanted brigand. And he would be, all right, all right!

NEW COACHES ON RAILWAY

Canadian National Railways
Still Adding Equipment

MONTREAL—An order for twenty-five de-luxe passenger coaches for the Canadian National Railways was announced here yesterday by R. C. Vaughan, C.M.G., Chairman and President of the company. The new cars will be built by Canada Car and Foundry.

The value of equipment orders outstanding for the C.N.R. is now brought to $35,500,000 said Mr. Vaughan in reviewing the equipment position of the system. In addition, there is also under way a large modernization and rehabilitation program for passenger equipment in company shops.

"During the war," Mr. Vaughan said, "new passenger equipment could not be obtained and, since the end of hostilities, we have been able to introduce into service only a small number of modern sleeping, parlor and buffet lounge cars, day coaches, dining cars and various types of freight equipment. We are doing everything possible to provide good service and there is hope that the equipment situation will improve in 1949. There continues, however, to be a shortage of materials, particularly steel and there is the important factor of high costs of materials and wages to be taken into account when considering the number and types of units that can be purchased at the present time.
