The 1950 Outlook

FTER a 1949 of unusual prosperity for most a likelihood of Doukhobors being go back, then. This isn't supparts of Canada, the coming year can be expected to be one of flattening out in Canadian business. Employment has ceased rising and may present more serious problems than since before the war. Consumer spending is becoming more limited and discriminating. Capital investment, although still at a high level, is slackening. Export demands are declining somewhat sharply.

In spite of some of the less promising factors. however, there is good reason to expect continuation for some time of the high level of capital investment in connection with resource development, housing, public utilities, roads, health, education and municipal services, most of which should be all this talking and thinking in out more than 25 per cent of inapplicable to Prince Rupert and district.

In short, there is every indication that the economic picnic is over but that is not saying that be at each other's throats. there may not still be reasonable good times in store for a time at least.

WHERE CREDIT IS DUE

THE season of municipal elections prompts the Financial Post to suggest that this is a good time to render honor and thanks to he people Jew nor Greek, bond nor free, thought to be to cover living exmainly responsible for the generally high level of male nor female. We make a penses except food, rent, clothintegrity and efficiency in municipal affairs.

- Financial Post says:

We salute the permanent municipal officials-the professional hired hands of municipal government.

It is these people we have chiefly to thank for the smooth operation of civic services.

They are our effective protection against the misguided and uninformed schemes sometimes dreamed up by elected representatives.

They are the people who get the blame when things go wrong, and who seldom get the credit when things go right. For them we propose a !usty round of applause.

AN EVENTFUL YEAR

THE joy of Christmas and the lift of a new and exhilerating 200-inch mark in rainfall are blending into a double climax this December for the eventful year in Ketchikan, Bill Baker, pub-Tisher of the Ketchikan Chronicle, breezily aditorializes. 'Santa will come in a diving suit this year,' he observes.

Continuing, Baker says:

"More important, but of course unnoticed by our con-"temporaries, is the fact that this is the last fortnight of the first half of the 20th century, and if Ketchikan had not set itself a record on this auspicious occasion, thousands of the finest sourdoughs of the north-those who trod the uncharted trails beneath the midnight sun of '98, might have gone to their maker without the satisfaction of having seen the year of the mighty big rain, or, in Eskimo, the puk puk precipitation. It might well have remained for our children's children in some dark republican day along toward the dawn of the 21st century and the Fourth World war to have arisen some refreshingly dewey morn to realize what we of the Panhandle have just realized with hardly a modest blush or boatful bit of persiflage. History, of course, can repeat itself if it chooses along toward the dimly lighted turn of the century, but this year will mark well both the first explosion of an atomic bomb in the Union of Soviet Socialist Republics and the dropping of the gentle rain from heaven upon the place beneath which was thrice blessed-Alaska's First city.

"Anything that happens from here on in to New Year's will be anti-climax, of course, although a few anonymous raindrops may make their way to earth during our holiday festivities. And who is there to say them nay, even though they don't really count in the pedigreed championship class? Surely, goodness and mercy, our cup runneth over. Or, as our Tlinget friend (Chief Swimming Bull) remarked last night: "Low man on totem pole, him slightly liquidated now." Which is to say that the carvers and casters of historic poles will have much to chronicle of anno domini 1949, of the new deal, the 16th annum."

CONQUERING WILDCATS AS THEY RETURNED HOME FROM "THE OLD WEST"- Hamilton football fans were able to give out with a resounding cheer when their junior Wildcats returned from Vancouver where they successfully defended their Canadian football crown against Blue Bombers. Fred Veale's conquering heroes are shown in the above shot as they detrained at Hamilton, Ont., with the junior championship cup still amongst their possessions. Several of these starry juniors are ticketed for delivery to the senior Wildcats, if Gnup and company can top tempting offers from other cities.

DEER MAKES UNDIGNIFIED EXIT-This undignified position for a deer was the result of an eight-mile swim which ended at Queenston, Ont., in the hydro-electric generating system. The buck, 170 pounds, entered the forebay of the system, was lassooed, .32 trussed up like a cooked ham, then hoisted out of the forebay, as shown here, and released in the woods along the Niagara River.

Especially to all our customers and friends who have been so nice to us in the past.

Also to everyone else in Prince Rupert, as a Merry Christmas makes our little city a nicer place to live in.

We'll even go so far as to wish the season's happiness to those who don't like us, as that makes us feel better and anyhow maybe they'll change their minds sometime.

So let everyone help himself to as nice a Christmas as he can get.
