Candidates Lining Up

Interest in Civic Election So Far Centering on Council — Parks Board To Be Filled

There appears to be no dearth of candidates for aldermanic honors at next month's civic election. Four seats are vacant and already there are more than enough announced aspirants. Already in the field are Harold Whalen, T. Norton Youngs, Martin Krueger, Darrow Gomez and W. D. Griffiths.

Retiring aldermen—W. A. McLean, W. J. McLean and Douglas Frizzell—are expected to run again and others prominently mentioned as candidates are George Hills, H. M. Daggett and Robert McKay.

Interest so far seems to centre in the aldermanic contest but there are also three seats coming vacant on the board of school trustees. Dr. R. G. Large, A. B. Brown and Mrs. E. W. Becker are the retiring trustees and expectation is that all may consent to run again.

In addition to the aldermanic and school trustees, there will be for the first time this year an elective parks board on which three seats are to be filled. The board, as at present constituted, consists of Ald. G. B. Casey, Ald. W. A. McLean, Ald. Don Fitch, C. P. Balagno, W. D. Lambie, Pat Forman, Harold Whalen, E. D. Forward and the City Engineer. Material for the three candidates could be found among this group.

More Pay For Armed Forces

OTTAWA — Consideration is being given a pay increase of between 10 and 15 per cent to members of the armed forces.

W. D. McAr left on Monday night's train for Edmonton where he is attending a meeting of Canadian National Express agents. He is expected to return home Saturday.

Civic Voters' List Closes

Only 21 householders and six licenceholders registered this year for the civic voters' list which closed yesterday with the end of October. Last year there were 25 and 12 such qualifications respectively which, in itself, was a light number.

However, with so many new home owners in the city, those qualifying in the category of householders and licenceholders comprise a much smaller proportion of the voters' list than they once did.

Compilation of the voters' list will be completed during the next few days with the picking up of new property owners who might have registered up to yesterday.

It is expected that this year's list will equal if not exceed the total of 2250 a year ago.

Prairie Gas Price Is Cut

WINNIPEG — A four-cents-a-gallon cut in the cost of gasoline at Regina is announced as a result of the piping eastward of Alberta oil. Other points in Saskatchewan and Manitoba will also benefit. In Winnipeg, motorists will be paying 18/10c a gallon less.

London Crash—28 Perish In Fog Disaster

Paris Plane Overruns Runway And Plunges Into Pipe File

LONDON.—A British air liner crashed into a pile of pipe beyond the end of the runway and exploded at fog-enshrouded London airport last night, killing 28 of 31 persons on board. Two men and a woman were found alive in the wreckage. Two of the survivors were identified as stewardess Alice Steen and a passenger, William Perkins, both Londoners.

The two-engined British European Airways Viking, carrying a crew of four and 26 passengers, was hunting a safe haven from ceiling-zero fog. It had been enroute from Paris to Norfolk airport but had been diverted by reason of weather to London.

Spain Is Partly In United Nations

LAKE SUCCESS.—The United Nations special political committee voted yesterday to give a measure of United Nations membership to Franco Spain. The vote was 37 to 10.

Rejecting Soviet charges that the move was in line with United States military designs on Spain, the committee approved a Latin-American resolution allowing Spain to belong to such special United Nations agencies as the World Health Organization.

The new resolution is considered at least a partial recession of a resolution of some years ago that all United States should withdraw diplomatic representation to Spain.

Hallowe'en In Prince Rupert Almost Model—"Most Orderly"

"The most orderly Hallowe'en I have ever seen," commented a senior NCO at city police headquarters of the Royal Canadian Mounted Police on the morning after. "Very satisfactory!"

There was plenty of noise, however, as young folk ranged the streets and fire crackers and other mild explosives sounded from early evening until nearly midnight.

Not a single complaint was recorded at the police station although officers were called to Rosa Lee's store on Third Avenue when a fire cracker, lodging between sidewalk and building, caused a smoulder.

Only indignation heard this morning was from Dan Williamson, chairman of the Junior Chamber of Commerce street signs committee, who reported that a number of the recently installed signs had been removed from the Conrad Street School area. He appealed to any citizens who knew the whereabouts of the signs to advise himself or other Jaycees so they may be picked up and re-installed.

A few gates were lifted around the city but these were soon recovered. Five cars of Jaycees members placed themselves and their cars at the disposal of the police and each, manned with an officer, assisted in the patrol. Kinsmen's campfires kept hundreds of children—and adults too—amused.

Teen-agers congregated for a fine evening's fun at the Booth Memorial High School senior's Hallowe'en party at the Civic Centre.

Secretary General of UN To Serve Another Three Years
NEW YORK.—The United Nations General Assembly today extended the term of Secretary General Trygve Lie for three more years in spite of a Soviet bloc threat not to deal with him.

By a vote of 46 to five with seven abstentions, the assembly re-elected Lie to the $40,000-a-year job.

Russia's foreign minister, Andrei Y. Vishinsky, leading Soviet opposition, charged that Lie was a stooge of the American Department of State.

George Bernard Shaw Is Dying
AYOTT, St. Lawrence, Eng.—George Bernard Shaw lapsed into what seemed to be a dying coma today. The 94-year-old playwright lost consciousness at 3 a.m. and several hours after his condition showed no change. The spark of life flickered weakly.

HEADS RADIO STATION—Mrs. T. W. (Mary) Sutherland, 59, of Parksville, B.C., prominent Vancouver Island woman and a former governor of the Canadian Broadcasting Corporation, has been named station manager of radio station CHUB at Nanaimo. Mrs. Sutherland has served on various commissions including the National Employment Commission, the Royal commission on prices, and the Royal commission on the care of evacuated Japanese. She entered newspaper work as women's page editor of the Regina Leader-Post. She was appointed a CBC governor in 1943. Her husband, Major T. W. Sutherland, was in charge of the Canadian Army Medical Corps here during the war and is now operating a hotel in Parksville.

Hallowe'en "Bang" Foiled

Could Have Been Serious Blast in Vancouver—Was Quiet Night

VANCOUVER—Six youths prepared for a real bang-up Hallowe'en plans. The police last night seized ten sticks of dynamite when they halted an automobile. The dynamite was found under the front seat of the car. Eight of the sticks were "capped" and ready for a shattering detonation.

"The slightest jar could have exploded the cargo," said Police Chief Walter Mulligan today. The dynamite was driven down streets crowded by thousands of unsuspecting Hallowe'en celebrants.

Three youths have been charged with illegal possession of explosives. Three others will be charged today, police said. Generally it was "one of the quietest Hallowe'ens in years."

The worst incident was the burning of an unoccupied house.

Crescent To East Coast

OTTAWA.—The destroyer Crescent, recommissioned as the first destroyer to be brought out of mothballs under the Canadian Navy's expansion program, will sail from Esquimalt November 6 for a new station on the east coast, naval headquarters announced today. The Crescent will arrive December 10 at Halifax.

Ben Hogan Is "Year's Golfer"
CHICAGO.—Ben Hogan, 1950's gallant come-backer, today was voted PGA's "golfer of the year."

Hogan was named 112 times in overwhelming support by 173 sports writers and radio broadcasters voting in the third annual Professional Golfers' Association poll.

Sam Snead, 1949 winner, was second, 43 votes behind the little Texan who a year ago met with a motor accident from which it was believed he might not recover—let alone resume big time golfing.

MOONSHINE IN JAIL—
Women's Hallowe'en Frolic At Pr. George Becomes Riot

The "witches' brew"—the police called it "moonshine"—had been prepared for a Hallowe'en party by the women prisoners.

The fight started when one prisoner accused another of sampling the brew before it was ready.

The fight developed into a riot and it took police, firemen and ambulance attendants to restore peace.

One woman suffered serious injuries. A meagre police report said: "We are investigating."

Blaze At Executive Mansion

Would-be Assassins Laid Low by White House Guards

WASHINGTON (CP)—Two men rushed on President Truman's residence, today, armed with pistols in their hands and were shot by White House guards. Three officers were wounded.

In the first confusion, police gave no coherent answers on the side. The shooting started when two men, armed with Ger-9 pistols, tried to force their way into Blair House.

One man was preparing to fire a shot when a White House guard fired a shot into the air. The man was shot in the chest and fell to the ground.

The other man was shot in the arm and fell to the ground. The shooting occurred about 10:30 p.m.

Police said: "I was an attempt to assassinate the President." The man who was shot in the chest was screaming from all over the city.

The man who was shot in the arm was tentatively identified from papers on them as Preston, dead, and the other as O. Oloskin.

Civic Interest

IT IS still only November 1, yet already more candidates are offering than are required for the number of aldermanic vacancies in the civic election next month. As many more may still enter the field. This is a gratifying sign of active interest in civic affairs and bodes well for a good number of candidates from whom to choose when election comes around.

With no apparent dearth of aldermanic candidates for the pay jobs (there is no mayoralty election this year) it should not be lost sight of that good material is also required for three vacancies on each of the school board and the parks board. Complying with a plebiscite that was approved at the 1949 election, the parks board is now an elective body.

Education involves a big portion of the municipal spending, particularly at this time when big jobs are on in new school construction and will be followed by considerable new organization and policy-making during the coming year. If the retiring members of the school board, who have proven themselves competent, conscientious and hard-working, decide to carry on, it will be well and good although there might be other candidates who would do an equally good job.

The first elective parks board will also have a job of work to do and has plenty of scope for action and imagination. At long last, something may be really accomplished in the way of city beautification along planned lines. In fact this is long due in Prince Rupert and it is to be hoped that good men and women will also be offering themselves for service in this sphere.

A GOOD HALLOWE'EN

IT WAS a good, wholesome Hallowe'en in Prince Rupert with activities of the evening being kept in due bounds and few untoward incidents such as have occurred on occasion in the past, although the removal of the Junior Chamber of Commerce signs, the erection of which was a real public service, was a rather stupid thing. Of course, it is to be expected that there will be always among us people who may think such acts as that are smart.

Bodies and groups might be named who contributed to this satisfactory state of affairs. The police were vigilant and watchful and undoubtedly played their part in the satisfactory outcome. But it was the young people themselves—and possibly they are sometimes unduly blamed—who, by their conduct, really kept Prince Rupert safe and without serious harm. They are the ones who are to be most commended for keeping their activities confined to, on the whole, reasonable limits.

SCRIPTURE PASSAGE FOR TODAY

Employment Steady Here

Mining Helps To Keep Picture Bright—Strong Demand for Loggers

Mining is a bright spot in the employment outlook as November opens. Near Smithers it is better than it has been for many years. A few placer mining men have moved into the area from the Yukon and have found employment. Silbak-Premier at Portland Canal district is operating steadily as is also Silver Standard at Hazelton. Glacier Gulch mine near Smithers is expected to be in production in the near future. Silver Standard is also operating the old Duthie mine. Columbia Cellulose Company will be drawing its coal supplies from Telkwa and is expected to start stockpiling in the near future.

Fishing is nearly finished for the year but the strain on the employment situation has not been great. The claims load has been about normal. The reduction plant at Port Edward is working intermittently. There are a few black cod and flatfish being landed. Herring fishing will start after the new year.

There is a strong demand for loggers on the Queen Charlotte Islands. Some river men have been transferred in from Quebec to handle log booms from Terrace down to Watson Island. There is a strong demand for tie and pole makers from Smithers. It is expected with weather conditions normal, logging will be generally good.

There is still a shortage of good office help.

There is a considerable amount of local building in sight, more than last year. The Columbia Cellulose dam and pipeline from Prudhomme Lake are nearly finished but, in spite of that, the construction outlook for the winter is good.

In all, the picture has not changed from the optimistic outlook of previous months.

As I See It

By ELMORE PHILPOTT GILBERT

McALLISTER, M.P.

WHAT IS THE difference between a Canadian burdock and a Scots thistle?

The former won't let you get away.

Although Gilbert McAllister has a burr on his voice as Scottish as the poems of Robert Burns, he is very definitely more like the Canadian burdock than the Scots thistle. For the Labor M.P. for the constituency of Rutherglen clings like a burdock to the idea of world government. He is the chairman of the group of 44 British Members of Parliament who believe that we can never get peace between the nations, except by the same method that we got peace within the individual nations—that is, by setting up a world democratic parliament with real power to make law.

EVEN ON HIS PRESENT TRIP to New Zealand, where he will act as deputy leader of the British delegation to the Commonwealth Parliamentary Association, Mr. McAllister is telling his main story on Canadian stopovers.

That story is very simple and very big. It is the same as has been told over and over again in this column for twelve years:

There can be no certainty of peace till we establish responsible democratic government on the world level.

The 44 M.P.'s call themselves "The British Parliamentary Committee for World Government." In addition to the elected members of the House of Commons they include also several noted peers, like Lord Boyd Orr (Nobel Peace Prize winner) and Lord Haden Guest.

They meet every second Tuesday at 5 o'clock. That seems to me a grand omen. For just as ancient Greeks said, beware of the Greeks when they come bearing gifts, or as Kipling warned, beware of the Russian when he tucks in his shirt; so also you might say:

Beware of British M.P.'s, when members of all three parties are willing to get together for a constructive purpose over the almighty pot of tea.

NOT LONG AGO in the British parliament they had an historic debate on this question of world government. A Conservative M.P. pointed to the historic resolution just previously passed by our own Canadian Senate. This called for a convention of representatives of the North Atlantic allies to consider ways and means of transforming the present alliance into an out and out federation.

All the British M.P.'s who spoke hailed the Canadian move as a distinct step forward. Several of the speakers also referred to the resolutions still pending in both houses of the U.S. Congress along this same line.

The world is certainly moving massively towards what Tennyson called "the parliament of man, the federation of the world."

Serving the Public of Prince Rupert for Over 33 Years

Ray Reflects and Reminisces

Service ribbons, shining boots, large size packs and general air of fitness and experience were quickly noticed when the Canadian advance party for Korea paraded at Fort Lewis. Later, aboard ship, Yanks and Canucks were playing poker. Sometimes, becoming acquainted is a simple affair.

Victoria announces the wettest October in forty-four years. The total may be more, this figure having been quoted Sunday. Then, it was five inches. Previously, no monthly rainfall had been much in excess of two or three inches. Victoria accepts the situation with calmness. Anyway, what's a little extra moisture? We'll be broad-minded and add—"Prince Rupert should know."

Increased outlay for newsprint should be passed on to the newspaper reader and advertiser, says E. H. Thompson, president of the Canadian Daily Newspapers Association, Toronto. The general rise in newsprint cannot be absorbed by publishers. Mr. Thompson made reference, as well to the advancing costs in zinc, mats labor, ink and other requirements. Does a reader ever stop to think that for a few cents a day, he's getting what represents millions in investments and tax charges, and armies of men and women whose technical toil and talent find expression day and night, all over the earth, year after year without ceasing?

It's looking like a long term development program for the Silver Standard Mines Ltd., something that is much to the liking of the people of Hazelton (or should it be New Hazelton, South Hazelton and Hazelton?) Anyway, it all means work and wages. Silver Standard was first heard of when the Grand Trunk Pacific was building through the region and for a while there was exploitation of the property. For a lengthy spell, after this, the Hazeltons were flat enough. Some made what seemed to me the finest speech in the British debate. He pointed to the racks, with hanging tapes, where in earlier centuries M.P.'s parked their swords before they entered the House. Just as civilized men had "surrendered" their right to fight with swords, he said, so nations are now compelled to "surrender" their right to make war on other nations. This necessitates two things—a change of mind by individuals, and inauguration of the reign of law on the world level.

folks were sufficiently sincere to suggest that if there was not much else, there was no lack of scenery. Which, in a way, was not inaccurate.

Eisenhower is expected to become supreme commander. A formidable army is coming into being, as Britain, United States and France increase their divisions. The same can be said for naval and air strength. Casualties in Korea and French China are already heavy. Canada is sending enough equipment for a war division in the Netherlands, has three destroyers in Korea, a ten thousand men special brigade at home, and an advance party about to land in Korea. There's going to be peace if there has to be war. At least, it looks that way.

The Seattle Times, among the most important dailies in the American northwest, says one of the biggest industrial developments on the Pacific Coast is taking form several hundred miles north of Seattle. This is the Celanese plant at Prince Rupert. The Times then goes on to describe the enterprise. There could not be a better boost for this city and appearing in the Times, as it does, will not lessen its value and effectiveness.

Work has begun in Moose Jaw on a school for mental defectives. It will house a thousand patients, with a staff of 350. The cost will of $2,400,000. A thousand patients cared for in a province with a small population. We'd hate like — to think they all hail from Saskatchewan.

Canadians who have been in Australia since the end of the war were included among the passengers on the RMS Aorangi, which arrived in Vancouver last week-end. They had married Australians.

They say that times in Australia are not so good and they are ready to remain in Canada and the United States.

If rents in Australia are low, so are wages.

Liquor is in short supply. Remark one man:

"I have not seen a bottle of Scotch for sale in two years."

Moratorium On War Talk

Called To Settle Campus Dispute

L. M. Felsenthal, who left on today's plane for the south, is on an unusual mission. He has been called upon to act as arbiter of an odd dispute between two college fraternities.

One fraternity at the University of Washington had been occupying a house owned by another. Notice had been given to vacate, supposedly for the reason that the building was to be demolished. The occupying fraternity, under the circumstances, proceeded to have a "wrecking" party and, apparently, a good job was made of the wrecking.

The owning fraternity has claimed $2500 in damages. The occupying fraternity has offered to restore the building by its own work.

The parties have been unable to come together and Mr. Felsenthal was asked to go to Seattle to assist, if possible, in making a settlement.

Mr. Felsenthal, although a graduate of an eastern university, is a member of the same fraternity which had the wrecking party at Seattle.

Winter's Meat In Single Day

Two bull moose, each weighing over 700 pounds dressed, were bagged at Smithers by local hunters recently.

G. R. McLean and his brother, Jack, found their winter's meat on the first day of their hunt in the Round Lake district. One shot in the neck from G. R. McLean's 30.06 Springfield dropped his moose which he measured at a 50-inch spread.

"From where I stood those horns looked like a haystack moving through the bushes," said Mr. McLean. The horns of both animals showed signs of fighting.

A farmer helped the hunters pack the meat on horseback over windfalls to a nearby mining road.

Blackwood On Bridge

By Easley Blackwood

My friend Mr. Champion plays and bids his cards beautifully—and he knows it. He tells everybody all about it. If only he could have himself for a partner he would be unbeatable. Mr. Champion scares the wits out of his partners.

In today's deal he sat across the table from Mr. Abel, who can play pretty fair bridge. But often Mr. Abel is upset by a nagging partner and does not play his best. On the hand preceding the one shown, he had been hauled over the coals for alleged under-bidding.

South dealer.

The bidding:
South West North East
1 C 1 S Pass Pass
3 C Pass 3 D Pass
3 NT Pass Pass Dbl.
Redbl. All pass

Today's bidding indicates that he is determined not to underbid this hand and catch another volley of harsh words. He goes all out with a bid of three no trump—and with a redouble after Mrs. Keen's double.

Maybe Mr. Champion slipped a little when he bid three diamonds and maybe he slipped again when he stood for three no trump redoubled. But he felt that if Mr. Abel had a sure spade stopper and the ace and one diamond, the contract would be cold.

Miss Brash opened the four of spades and Mrs. Keen won with the king. Her spade return trapped Mr. Abel's queen. On the fourth lead of spades Mr. Abel made the good discard of the ace of diamonds. But when Miss Brash led her last spade, the mounting criticism from across the table got him completely flustered. He discarded his five of hearts.

The ladies thereupon ran five heart tricks, thus winning the first top tricks on the hand. Down 2,800! Mr. Champion said some things he shouldn't have said in the presence of ladies. But they didn't seem to mind as they entered the fat penalty on their score.

Perhaps you know some Mr. Champion of your own. Some day Mr. Champion may learn the humanities of bridge. But I doubt it. He is too busy giving lessons. And contrary to the customs of the teaching profession, he does not collect for the lessons he gives. He pays. He pays dearly.

Says Woman Cannot Handle Two Careers

MONTREAL (C)—A woman cannot be a complete success both as a housewife and career-woman. That was the theme of an address by Dr. Charlotte Whitton, C.B.E., at a recent meeting of the Montreal Business and Professional Women's Club.

"No woman's job and no woman's home can be balanced or subdivided, and each receive a woman's best," Dr. Whitton said. "One or the other is going to be short-changed."

In the pursuit of her career a woman entrusts the care of her home to another woman, then it remains a home, not a home. Yet it is the "standard of the day" for a woman to be both mother and bread-winner, she said.

Dr. Whitton also spoke on discrimination against women in the business field. She noted that, in spite of woman's importance in the consumer market, few women could be found on the directorates of banks or corporations which deal with the Canadian market.

There is definite need for women in the business world "for leadership of women," she said.

Modern Hockey Stick Kingston Invention

VICTORIA (C)—The modern hockey stick was invented in Kingston, Ont., by a schoolboy who later became a dean of the University of British Columbia, a Victoria writer claims.

In his column in the Victoria Times, David Brock said that his father, the late Dean R.W. Brock originated the stick when he was a small boy.

Mr. Brock writes that when a Kingston team was formed and played the first hockey games as distinguished from shiny, his Uncle Frank Jenkins was a member of the team. The team used shiny sticks, much like those used for grass hockey. Mr. Jenkins noticed the stick his nephew had invented. The uncle grabbed the stick, threw 50 cents at young Brock and skated off. Next week the Kingston team all had new sticks, the first of the design that has been used since.

Mutual Respect—

Main Factor In Happy Marriage

WINNIPEG — Mutual respect is one of the important factors in preserving marriage, says Judge M. S. Watson of the Winnipeg family court.

The judge, 60 years old and married with a grown-up son and daughter, was the first speaker at a series of marriage-counselling lectures for young couples.

Other important factors in preserving marriage, he said, are common interests, shared responsibility and mutual confidence.

He doesn't think that travelling salesmen make poor husbands. "A little absence from the home makes for better relationships in marriage," he said.

"The art of living together is a matter of putting emphasis on the little things." It is the little things that often become the basis of larger issues.

"Bring a bit of your courtship into your marriage," he told the gathering. "Married people should show the same courtesies and consideration for each other as they used in their courtships."

"Give yourself to the one you love. You'll find a greater love will come back."

Many modern marriages fail because the principals "don't know each other," he continued. Preparation for marriage should involve no short-cuts. There must be transition from "I-mindedness" to "we-mindedness"; from infatuation to real unity.

DEPLORES HASTE
It was his experience from watching thousands of cases in family court that "hasty marriages just don't work out."

"Love at first sight is often cured by a second look."

Judge Watson said his family court experience proves that very few persons coming there have any church connection.

"Religion is the greatest force in the world for changing marital unhappiness into happiness."

Why do some husbands leave home?
One reason, the judge reported, is that a wife sometimes will spend so much time on her children that she neglects her husband. And she may allow herself to become less attractive.

Husbands can help overcome this, he continued, by "a little praise, some help with the housework—in other words, by doing their share. Loyalty to, and pride in, your partner should dominate your marriage."

The judge says there's a sure cure solution for temper-tantrums on the part of a wife.

"The wise man will apologize, tell her how sweet she is. For a woman that's a certain cure."

Masquerade Dance at Premier—Plane Carries Patients—District Wants Doctor

STEWART—Premier Community Club held a very successful masquerade dance at the mine on Saturday. Success of the affair was largely due to the residents of Stewart who ascended to the mine in full force. The Canadian Legion cancelled their whist drive to enable all who wished to attend the colorful affair. Many and varied were the costumes worn by the Stewart contingent but all voted it was well worth the trouble.

The weekly plane arriving here last Thursday brought back Miss Joan McKay from Prince Rupert General Hospital where she had been undergoing medical treatment. On the return trip the plane had as a passenger John Hahti who had the misfortune to dislocate his shoulder and had to go to the Prince Rupert General Hospital for treatment, there being no doctor here.

Representations are being made by the Stewart Hospital Board to the government for assistance in obtaining the services of a doctor, and it is hoped that the situation will be cleared up in the near future. It is felt that, with a crew of approximately 180 men at the Silbak Premier mine as well as other residents of Stewart and Hyder, no stone should remain unturned to obtain the services of a doctor for the community and the residents of the district look to the mine and the government for a lead in the matter. The present salary guarantee is inadequate to secure the services of a competent medical man.

Refreshments were served by the young hostess assisted by Carol Jones and the party broke up about 10 o'clock. Others present included Selma and Lyn Farquhar, Ruth Amdam, Betty Hoffman, Ivy Gillespie, Betty Lee vanStolk, Patsy McLachlan, Evelyn Jackson, Barbara Gunderson, LaVerna Warner, Diane Labelle, Diane Peters, Ethel Loveless, Audrey Murie, Annette Norman-deu and Marie Smaha.

HOUSEKEEPING

FOOD FOR ALL TASTES—ALMOST EVERYBODY LIKES SOME CHEESE

Some like it mild, some like it strong, but most everyone likes it very much. What is it? To be sure, it is Canadian cheese with its many qualities that naturally appeal to the liking of all those who have a taste for good food. The daily meal-planner does not hesitate to extol cheese for in her eyes its virtues are many. From experience she knows that, money-wise, cheese is one of the best items to put on her grocery list. She knows too that cheese is a year-round standby, always to be found in the shops and above all, that it may be used in countless ways alone or combined with any number of other foods.

Canada is noted for her Cheddar cheese made in hundreds of factories dotted for the most part throughout the provinces of Ontario and Quebec. Row up on row of large cheese weighing up to ninety pounds is a familiar sight in the factory curing room where they are stored for some time to ripen or, in other words, to develop flavor and good texture. However, the family shopper may be more familiar with the wrapped pieces of Canadian Cheddar of varying sizes and shapes sold in many shops today.

Cheddar cheese comes in two colors, white and yellow. The only difference between the two is that the yellow cheese has been slightly colored in the making, while the so-called white cheese has been left in its natural color, a deep rich cream. Colored or uncolored it is sold according to age as new (mild), medium and old (strong) cheese. The age of the cheese affects flavor and price, the latter due to the cost involved in properly storing the cheese.

Strangely enough Canadians do not eat a large amount of their own good cheese. True, the consumption is slowly but steadily increasing but is still below the mark of five pounds per Canadian per year, a very low figure compared to that of many other countries.

Home economists remind all homemakers that cheese and vegetables make an excellent food team and give these three examples to prove the point.

He shot four and the rest showed no fear and kept quite close. He had a few more shells but did not use them in case of emergency. They kept him there for three hours before they decided to move off. They were quite bold and nothing he could do would frighten them off.
