Luxury Cruiser Badly Damaged In Stranding

Ship Piles Up At Mexican Port

PULCO (CP)—The luxurious cruise ship formerly the private yacht J. Pierpont Morgan ground on the rocks as she was leaving Acapulco early today. About 45 passengers and 22 crew members were taken off safely by a flotilla of small landing lifeboats. No loss of life or injuries are reported.

Vets Celebrate—

As if taking a cue from the idea of Col. S. D. Johnston M.C. V.D., who spoke on the Armistice Day theme, the Canadian Legion banquet and smoking concert yesterday afternoon in the Armory took something the form of a Highland Scottish funeral. Some two hundred and fifty vets of two world wars and at least two of the South African campaign turned out under the leadership of Legion President James Nicoll and, after revering the memories of the "Glorious Dead" with prayer and silence, turned to thanksgiving at their own good fortune in, as the colonel put it, "still being here." Among the official guests at the head table were Mayor Nora Arnold and J. D. McRae M.L.A. Rev. Charles Lomas asked the blessing and after full justice had been done to a banquet spread, served under the direction of the Woman's Auxiliary, there was a program of speeches and musical entertainment.

Remembrance Day Banquet

Speakers were Col. ohnstone, Zone Representative J. S. Wilson, Immediate Past President Ralph Smith, Mayor Arnold, Owen Brown was master of ceremonies and those contributing to the entertainment program were, besides himself, J. A. Teng Leonard Sykes, Mrs. Ralph Smith, Stella Chuprun, Robert Wood, Bert Cameron and Les Parkes with Mrs. J. S. Black as accompanist.

Taking Over City

Eric Moore Elected Mayor For Junior Citizens Day

"Mayor" of Prince Rupert for one day will be Eric Moore who won a decisive majority as the Students of Booth Memorial High School went to the polls on Thursday to elect a "Mayor" and "Council" to take office in the City Hall on Future Citizens Day December 6.

The election was on a basis similar to the Civic Elections and "City Clerk" Mona Lykegard and her assistant Benita Windle report that a total of 373 ballots were cast during the day in the two polling booths.

The "Mayoralty" candidates standing were:
Charles Forbes, 29
Frank McFadden, 76
Eric Moore, 195
Irene Reccie, 63
A total of 28 ballots were spoiled.

"Aldermen" elected were John Antrobous, Carol Brentzen, Irene Hansen, Iona Hardy, Ray Hunter, Robert Jones, Arnold Olsen, and Janet Rackow. Two of the "Aldermanic" candidates were disqualified when it was found they would be "teachers" on Future Citizens' Day and therefore not eligible to hold office.

A third ballot was cast to choose a cheer leader for the school and Lenora Faught was the successful candidate. The Future Citizens' Day program is being arranged by the Junior Chamber of Commerce and will include every sphere of business and professional life in Prince Rupert.

Bo-Mc-Hi students moved en masse to the Civic Centre one afternoon this week to hear their favorite candidates wage civic political battle for an hour and a half prior to the election. Sponsored by the Junior Chamber of Commerce and introduced locally by Alf Worthington of the Daily News Staff, Future Citizens Day is promoting a keen interest in civic affairs. The idea, which has been successful in Victoria, is to let the elected students take over the reins of civic government for a day, thus giving them an insight into administrative functions of the city.

A. M. Hurst introduced all candidates for mayor and aldermen. Candidates for mayor were Chas. Forbes, Frank McFadden, Eric Moore and Irene Reckie. Aldermanic candidates were John Antrobous, Nadia Beketov, Carol Brentzen, Irene Hanson, Iona Hardy, Esther Harrison, Ray Hunter, Robert Jones, Arnold Olsen, Mary McAfee, Janet Rackow, Edna Ronald, Betty Prince.

The election was conducted like a regular civic election. Voters checked their names on voters lists posted throughout the school. On Thursday between 9 a.m. and 3:30 students cast their ballots with a returning officer and his deputies in charge of the polling. Several Jaycees were in attendance at the polls on voting day.

PENITENT EX-SOLDIER GETS SIX MONTHS FOR 1947 CHEQUE FRAUDS

A penitent ex-soldier, recently released from San Quentin prison after serving part of a 14-year sentence for forgery and fraud, was sentenced to six months in Oakalla by Magistrate W. D. Vance after he had pleaded guilty to three two-year-old charges of issuing worthless checks here.

William D'Aunay De Coste, who admitted to the court that he left a trail of worthless checks and forgeries along the west coast in the summer of 1947, pleaded guilty in Magistrate's court Thursday morning to defrauding three local banks out of almost $240 in August of that year.

De Coste, who posed as a divinity student during his visit here, later was sentenced to from one-to-14 years in San Quentin state prison in California for forgery and fraud. He was released after serving two years of the sentence and deported to British Columbia a month ago. He arrived here Wednesday to answer the three charges of issuing worthless checks.

What De Coste termed was a "spree" of drinking, fraudulent check writing and forgery resulted from an emotional disturbance when his fiancée died in 1947 shortly before their intended marriage. He said that he had taken to liquor and deceit.

"When I lost my fiancée, I took off on a drinking spree," the short dapper former school teacher and soldier said. "When I got to San Quentin, I took hold of myself and made an effort to correct this defect in my character."

De Costa said that in the California prison, he had had psychiatric treatment, and had joined Alcoholics Anonymous and now he felt that he had "what it takes to make good."

'COURTESY CORNER' GOOD IDEA BUT CONFUSING, PUBLIC FEELS

"Courtesy Corner," Prince Rupert's latest traffic innovation, is being met with apparent general approval although its restriction on uninterrupted passage at the five-way intersection at McBride Street and Third Avenue has been causing some confusion which is gradually becoming composed.

The confusion arises from the fact that motorists approaching from all directions must stop before crossing the intersection—a previously unheard-of thing in these parts.

Anticipating a fifty-fifty split in opinion between motorists and pedestrians whose interminable war is reaching an acute stage here, a Daily News reporter set out on a public opinion poll this week.

The motorists turned out to be human after all. "That has always been a bad corner and I'm glad to see that something has been done about it," said one driver who preferred to remain anonymous. "Now everybody has to stop and then the ordinary rules of the road apply. It's a good thing for drivers and pedestrians alike."

"If it was an ordinary four-way intersection, a traffic light would be the ideal solution," said another. "However, that Court House rules out traffic lights."

ARMY'S RADIO-TELETYPE IS NEW COMMUNICATION INNOVATION HERE

"Yr yr yr yr yr yr . . . Van testing Van testing . . ." That garbled series of letters does not mean anything to the average person as they click rhythmically onto a sheet of teletype paper but to Lieut. M. J. Stapleton and his staff at the Royal Canadian Army Signal barracks here, they mean considerable.

They mean that somebody at Army Signals headquarters at Vancouver is pounding them out on a keyboard and that a typewriter in Prince Rupert is recording them on a roll of paper. It means that radio-teletype—"RTT"—is in action.

Radio-teletype is definitely no new innovation in communications—it has been used in many parts of the world for years—but it is new in Prince Rupert and, consequently, of interest to a Daily News reporter who accepted an invitation from Lieut. Stapleton to look it over.

Its use may be old stuff to communications men but to the layman, its fascination is endless. The idea of bending radio to man's craftiness so that its impulses will activate a glorified typewriter over 500 miles is fascinating.

SPEEDY ACTION—

Metlakatla Enfranchisement

Special Board Which Sat Here This Week Favorable
Speedy action in the matter of the enfranchisement of the Metlakatla band of Indians is expected to result from a report to be submitted by the enfranchisement board which met this week in Prince Rupert and Metlakatla.

The Board, composed of Indian Commissioner W. S. Arnel, Indian Superintendent F. E. Anfield and Peter Leighton of Metlakatla, concluded a series of meetings late Thursday and are preparing their report for submission to the Indian Branch of the Department of Mines and Resources.

As a result of explanations given by the Board, an almost unanimous application for enfranchisement has been made by the Board. At Metlakatla Wednesday night, Chief Councillor George D. Ryan and the Y.M.B.A. entertained the board, members of the village council and leading villagers at a banquet. Indian Commissioner Arnel, who was guest of honor, was chief speaker.

He also said that there was a matter of two worthless cheques for about $70 each which he had issued in Victoria which he would "like to have cleared up."

He pleaded for leniency on grounds that prior to his "spree" he had never been in trouble with the law and that his Canadian Army record was good. He also said that he had letters to prove that his conduct in San Quentin had been good.

"It speaks for itself when you were released after only two years of a 14-year maximum sentence at San Quentin," Magistrate Vance commented. "I am going to give you a light sentence."

Each of the six-month sentences imposed by the Magistrate will run concurrently. Magistrate Vance said that he had entered in the record, De Coste's promise to make restitution of the money obtained fraudulently here.

De Coste said that he had been born in Prince Edward Island and that he had once held a teacher's certificate, now rescinded. He followed the occupation of clerk and bookkeeper now, he said.

Cenotaph Rite Honors Heroes

Solemn Ceremonies Renewed On Bleak November Day
Appreciative remembrance of those who died in the First and Second World Wars was paid by Prince Rupert Friday at traditional Remembrance Day services held at the Cenotaph and the soldier's plot, Fairview Cemetery.

The Cenotaph service, one of the best-attended in years, was conducted by the Canadian Legion members of which, with the Women's Auxiliary, made a circuitous march from the Canadian Legion to the Court House grounds shortly before 11 a.m. The Shrine Club band, led by Bandmaster Peter Lien, headed the parade of more than 150.

At the Cenotaph, the massed Legion members were joined by leaders of the city's I.O.D.E. chapters, Sea Cadets and other organizations. A crowd totalling hundreds surrounded the Cenotaph during the half-hour service.

A lead-grey sky and a chilly November wind covered the city during the re-dedication service as the multitude sang "O Canada" and the order of events proceeded. As Legion Bugler W. J. Rance sounded the "Cease Fire" call, the flag was lowered to half mast and the commemorative two-minute silence prevailed. The period of silence was terminated with the sounding of the "Last Post."

Rev. Charles L. Lomas, Honorary Chaplain of the Forces here, then led in prayer, after which the gathering sang the hymn "O God Our Help in Ages Past."

Tonight's Train Six Hours Late

A collision on the Canadian National line in Saskatchewan is responsible for a six-hour and 40 minute delay in the arrival of tonight's train from Jasper, the Divisional Superintendent reported this morning. The train will arrive at 5:05 Sunday morning. The collision, involving two freight trains, occurred at Yonkers, Sask., west of Saskatoon, delaying traffic on the line. The Jasper-Prince Rupert train was held up pending the arrival from the east of the transcontinental train.

Rev. Lawrence G. Seiber, minister of First United Church addressed the gathering on the theme of Remembrance. Using as his text, the Biblical question "What Mean These Stones?" Mr. Seiber compared the Cenotaph to a monument which had been erected by the 12 tribes of Israel with stones from the River Jordan and how it had been revered by the people as a symbol of the sacrifices of their fathers.

Peace, Mr. Seiber told the assemblage, is a way of life to be pursued earnestly and not taken for granted. "The selflessness of those who had died to preserve our way of life is itself a monument to be kept always in the consciousness," he declared.

Almost a score of organizations and individuals, headed by the Canadian Legion, the Legion Women's Auxiliary, the I.O.D.E. Chapters and Mayor Nora Arnold on behalf of the city placed wreaths at the base of the Cenotaph while Piper William McKay played the lament "Flowers of the Forest" Then, as "Reveille" was sounded by Bugler Rance, the flag was raised to full staff again. The service concluded with the singing of "God Save The King."

The unformed Cenotaph guard was headed by Regimental Sergeant Major D. E. Alvey, formerly of Grenadier guards, and consisted of Constable Len Turner, representing the provincial police, Sydney Alexander and Pete Petersen, representing the Navy, and Leslie Parkes, Army.

The Legion parade was directed by Parade Marshal J. S. Wilson, assisted by Vic Duncan. During the service, the Shrine Club Band led in the singing of the national anthems and the hymn.

UNICEF

"Hunger is a silent visitor who comes like a shadow. He sits beside every anxious mother three times a day. He brings not alone suffering and sorrow, but fear and terror. He carries disorder and the paralysis of government—even its downfall. He is more destructive than armies; not only in human life, but in morale. All of the values of right living melt before his invasion and every gain of civilization crumbles.

But we can save these people from the worst—if we will."
—Herbert Hoover, former President of the United States of America

MAYBE it should be, but the United Nations International Children's Emergency Fund is not financed by assessments on member countries so that is why the people of happy and well-fed countries like Canada are being called upon to supply the necessary funds through their donations to feed the starving, undernourished children in war ravaged countries.

Newspapers of Canada have decided to give active support to the current campaign of UNICEF and are appealing to the organizations and the citizens of the country to raise or donate funds to this worthy cause.

Only we and our neighbors can give meaning to UNICEF and put food in the stomachs of children who are otherwise starving or undernourished to the point of malnutrition. The one thing most of us would be most happy to be taxed for, we are not! Only we can impose a tax upon ourselves to feed the starving children! Only we can decide how much that tax shall be. If we stood among them for five minutes we would give them the shirt off our backs and the last dime we had. Won't we close our eyes for just a minute, visualize these thousands of hungry little kids and then send a donation to UNICEF—we'll sleep better tonight if we do!

SOCIAL SECURITY

BASIC to much of the unhappiness, insecurity and frustration uncovered by social workers delving into the whys and wherefores of disturbed human relations, are the changing economic facts of life—developments affecting working and living conditions, price trends, business ventures, labor problems, and the dozens of other factors bearing on the pattern of social security.

Social security may be bandied about politically and many who talk about it may do so from selfish motives. Nevertheless, social security is one of the world's most serious and fundamental problems of today. Its lack is destroying bodies and minds.

SATURDAY SERMON

PRAYER

(Rev. Fred Antrobus, First Baptist Church)
"After this manner, therefore, pray ye." Matt. 6:9.

In the paragraph, Matt. 6:1-18, in the Sermon on the Mount, our Lord deals with man's relationship to God. He says: "Take heed that ye do not your righteousness before men, to be seen of them." This principle is first applied to the matter of alms-giving; secondly, to prayer; and finally, to fasting; which three things, alms, prayer, and finally, to fasting, are great means of grace.

Fasting is the denial of everything, even quite proper and legitimate things, which may interfere with the direct and intimate fellowship between a Christian and God. Fasting, rightly understood, is the Christian in his life, suffering the loss even of rights in order to come into a more devoted, useful and faithful relationship with his Father. This is the consecrated life, the surrendered, separated life. See Paul's declaration of himself, in Phil. 3:5-11. "I count all things but loss, for the excellency of the knowledge of Christ Jesus my Lord: for Whom I have suffered the loss of all things, and do count them but refuse, that I may know Him..." This is the deepest means of grace. Our life is open to the sweep of the Spirit; for the shaping of the Master Potter; and for receiving of the infinite resources of divine grace.

To such a fasting life, prayer is natural. It is spontaneous and it is delightful. It rises within the heart often as the Spirit prompts. Prayer is only possible when it is free from the pressure of cares, from the sensuality and sordidness of today and thus can hold unhindered spiritual communion with God. Prayer is a warrior's task.

Our Lord here gives instructions for prayer. It is to be private—"Go to your inner chamber and shut the door." It is to be direct—"Prayer to thy Father." It is to be simple—"no vain repetitions."

The Master gives in the Lord's Prayer a pattern, not a formula. It falls naturally into two halves; the first has to do with God's Kingdom; the second with our needs. The first concern of prayer is that His Kingdom may come and His will be done on earth. Prayer is not first of all a usually, a man alone with God; socially, the world upon his heart, as the prayer is offered. If we learn to pray this way, a great deal of praying will cease and a great deal of praying will begin.

The result of such prayer will always be that we will hurry from the secret place, to give and give. The giving of alms, of course, is much more than the giving of money, but will include that. Sometimes, however, we may have no money. And yet we may be giving to God the richest of gifts—a service which is sacrificial, our talents, our time, our very life to help our brother man.

A man one day sat as he had for years, at the Gate of the Temple, Acts 3, to ask alms of those going in and out of that Place of Prayer. Who was able to give alms? Many gave coins. Peter and John saw the man and they also gave him alms, though they had no money. Peter said: "Silver and gold have I none, but such as I have, I give: in the Name of Jesus Christ of Nazareth, rise up and walk."

G. E. Moore of the fisheries department returned to the city on the Camosun yesterday afternoon from a brief trip to Vancouver.

Mrs. G. S. Mayer of Port Clements was a passenger aboard the Camosun yesterday afternoon returning to her home on the Queen Charlotte Islands after a trip to Vancouver.

Let's Talk Things Over

I was at a party the other night—just a neighbourly get-together—and I overheard one lady say: "I don't know much about my husband's business. I've a full-time job looking after the home and the children." And it's quite a job, too. Hundreds of thousands of women are doing the same thing. And the mother carries most of the load in keeping her husband and family in good health, in shaping the character of the children, in organizing the home life, and so on. But there's one important part of her husband's business that she should know about. It's important because it affects her life, and the future of the children. It might even mean all the difference between security and despair. It's the matter of life insurance. If the unexpected should happen—and it does—every housewife and mother should have the protection which only life insurance can give.

Yes, that part of her husband's business is really important, and every housewife and mother should know about it. What life insurance has to do is to give the family a reasonable chance to carry on if the wage-earner died.

I'd like to step in sometime and talk over this important business before it's too late.

Let's talk things over—today!

BIRD HUNTING SEASON OPENS—SWITCH OF UNION VESSELS—CHELOHSIN
RECALLED

This week-end marks the closing of the eastern district for shooting of migratory birds—ducks and geese—and the opening of the western district which is more handy to the nimrods of Prince Rupert. With auspicious weather prevailing, several parties have already set forth, among them Dr. R. G. Large and a group including Joe Scott, Dr.

John Macdonald and C. C. Mills on the Yaloo. Leaving Thursday noon for Kwinimass, in the eastern district, they were to move from there to Khunzama-teen, in the western district. Other parties heading out for the bird hunting this week-end have been Capt. Red Pierce with party on the halibutter Vera Beatrice and Capt. Cecil Morrison with the F. H. Hippen.

As a convenience to the public and in the hope that he will be able to save himself answering some 'phone calls, Frank Skinner, general agent here for Union Steamships Ltd., has arranged for station CFPR to broadcast the arrival times of his steamers. On Sundays at 2:30 p.m. the arrival time will be announced over the air of the steamer coming in that afternoon or evening from Van-cover. On Tuesday morning at 9:30 the time of arrival of the steamer from Alice Arm and Stewart will be announced and at 9:30 a.m. Friday there will be a broadcast of the arrival time of the vessel due that afternoon from Vancouver.

Mishap to the company's steamer Chelohsin, which stranded on S'wash Rock outside Vancouver Harbor a few days ago, has necessitated a reassignment of vessels on the Union Steamship Co.'s runs. The steamer Coquitlam will be arriving here tomorrow afternoon on the Vancouver-Prince Rupert-Alice Arm-Stewart route instead of the Catala which is transferred to the Bella Coola run out of Vancouver while the Cardena, which has been on that route, goes to the logging camp run where the Chelohsin had been operating.

The Chelohsin, about whose possibilities of salvage there appears to be some doubt, for many years operated regularly on the Vancouver-Prince Rupert-Alice Arm route and travelers of twenty-five years ago here knew her well. Built in 1911 in Dublin, Ireland, the Chelohsin is 75 feet long and of 113 gross tonnage. In her day she was one of the popular vessels operating on the northern run.

Frank Waterhouse freighter Chilliwack, Capt. Walter Holmberg, was at Watson Is. Thursday afternoon from Vancouver discharging cement and general cargo for Columbia Cellulose Co. construction and arrived in Prince Rupert yesterday morning at 10 o'clock. The vessel loaded lumber here for Port Simpson and Kincolth. North of here she will also call at Alice Arm and Stewart, unloading general cargo and loading out ore at both points.

With a fair sized list of passengers and full freight cargo, Union steamer Camosun, Capt. Harry McLean, arrived in port at 1:10 yesterday afternoon from Vancouver and waypoints, sailing at 10 p.m. for Masset inlet points hence she will return here tomorrow to sail at 9 p.m. on her return south.

New crab cannery of Queen Charlotte Cannery at New Masset is now half completed and is expected to be in readiness for the forthcoming season's pack, according to word brought to the city by Bert Phillips who was here for a couple of days, returning yesterday to the Islands. Queen Charlotte Cannery, of which S. L. Simpson is the principal owner, has been operating in the old Masset Cannery plant at Old Masset for some time. Its principal output are the tasty crabs of the Queen Charlottes. H. G. Archibald, former M.P. for Skeena, is now identified with Queen Charlotte Cannery.

Holland & Phillips, contractors of Masset, are now nearly finished with their contract of building a new wharf at Port Clements, Queen Charlotte Islands, according to word received in the city.

Ketchikan motorship Robert Eugene arrived in port at 9:45 yesterday morning from Alaska and, after discharging six carloads of frozen fish for transshipment East over Canadian National Railways, sailed on her return north.

Captain P. L. Leslie, who retired recently from the C. P. R. coast service, was the guest of many Juneau friends during his last voyage north. When the Princess Louise was at Skagway, he was also honored. It was in 1911 that he joined the C.P.R.

Seventy More Names This Year than last

Prince Rupert's 1949 civic voters' list will contain some 70 more names than did the 1948 list, according to unrevised figures compiled at the City Hall.

This year's unrevised list contains the names of 2,848 voters whereas the 1948 list had 2,761. However, some changes may occur in the new list when it comes before the Court of Revision on November 15.

According to preliminary list, there are 2,652 owners, 100 householders and 96 license holders eligible to vote. Last year there were 2,561 owners, 103 householders and 92 license holders.

which can plague a transmission and cause the receiving machine to record a series of garbled letters, much to the disgust of all concerned.

Actually, the sender on a teletype hook-up does not transmit directly from the keyboard. First, he "writes" the message on a recording tape. To do this, he inserts the tape into a recording machine, then type out the message in the ordinary way. However, instead of being transmitted, it is recorded in a code on the tape. The tape can then be put through the transmitting process as many times as is necessary.

An intriguing thing is to see a technician twist a dial on the receiving apparatus and tune in several different teletype transmissions. When a wave-length is touched, the teletype machine immediately starts its rhythmic clicking and a message goes on the paper.

This sort of thing, Lieut. Stapleton feels, is probably illegal, since it is cutting in on other assigned frequencies. It was done briefly to demonstrate the full scope of radio teletype. The local Signals is assigned to a wave-length of 7 megacycles for contact with Vancouver.

Short wave transmissions, Lieut. Stapleton feels will never be completely satisfactory because of their susceptibility to static. This is particularly so in the case of Army transmissions, which are frequently in code. Straight language transmissions can frequently be "filled in" by following the sense of the message, but this cannot be done.

However, his technicians are hopeful of putting into operation a long-wave transmitter and receiver which is below even the standard broadcast band—and static-free.

However, a possible shortcoming of this long wave apparatus is that it may not carry strong enough over the 500 miles between Vancouver and Prince Rupert. It works well over short distances, however.

At the present time, the whole set-up is on more or less of an experimental basis and is subject of great interest among the dozen Army Signals staff here. If interest and pampering can contribute anything to its success, radio-teletype is in Prince Rupert to stay.

Mr. and Mrs. D. C. Stevenson sailed Thursday night on the Prince George for a trip to Vancouver.
