and the Laurier, very little is known about the tuna. But they are learning.
"It will take at least another season of investigation before a report can be made and larger than that before we can hope to get any comprehensive knowledge," he declared.
Meanwhile, Capt. Earnshaw plans to leave again Friday to remain out another 10 days or more. His interest in the tuna investigation is so great that he hopes the weather will allow him a considerable time on the grounds yet.
Weather permitting, he plans to make an off-shore investigation to complement the in-shore work which was done earlier.
How far he plans to go westward he did not say, but indicated that it would be "a long way off."
Capt. Earnshaw said that he had a report Wednesday from the Kluksman in the tuna project. She was heading for Barclay Sound on the west coast of Vancouver Island after a cruise south.
"Capt. Sheppard reported that he had been 100 miles south of the Columbia River mouth, running 150 miles off-shore," he said. He was in water temperatures of 60 to 61 degrees, but failed to find any tuna.
Which confirms Capt. Earnshaw's supposition that tuna, like gold, are where you find them.

REDS GIVEN U.N. POSTS

PARIS (C)—Russia and Communist-ruled Poland won vice-presidencies in the United Nations voting Wednesday, giving the Slav bloc two places in the powerful 14-country steering committee of the assembly.
High United Nations sources expressed relief, because a move was reportedly under way to freeze the Russians out of the steering committee. The Russians had been pictured as ready to protest bitterly.

MERCY FLIGHT SAVES GUIDE

BURNS LAKE—An emergency flight in a hastily summoned plane was successful in bringing Tim Tierney, of Paradise Lodge to hospital at Vancouver after he had been stricken with a serious stomach disorder while on a hunting trip.
Tierney, who with his partner Harrington J. Grainger, was guiding a party of California hunters in the area west of Francois Lake when he became ill. Russ Baker, noted bush pilot, flew from Poplar Lake and had the sick man in hospital within two hours. He is reported to be recovering following an operation.
Tierney and Grainger were guiding Henry J. Hopkins of Englewood, California and Jack Greenburg of Los Angeles.

PRIVATE FLYING CLUBS BACKBONE OF AVIATION

VANCOUVER, (C)—Private flying clubs and commercial flying schools form the backbone of Canada's air defences, D. Yorath of Calgary, president of the Royal Flying Clubs Association, said here Wednesday.
In an address to the Northwest Aviation Planning Council convention he said 80 per cent of Trans-Canada Air Lines original pilots had come from clubs. Early in the Second Great War, 35 amateurs went to Britain and joined the R.A.F.
"Today, flying training cannot be considered apart from the threat of war," he said.
Mr. Yorath forecast federal financial assistance for private and commercial units "before the end of the year." Training clubs and schools should be on a "sound financial footing." He also advocated standardization of light training aircraft.

Search For U.S. Plane Continues

THE PAS, Manitoba (C)—The search continues for the missing United States Navy plane with five men aboard. Radio Station CFQC, Saskatoon, said that an American blimp would join the air search, but U.S. officials here said they knew nothing about it.
Every possible lead is being checked, but the wilds still hold the key to the puzzle.

HURRICANE DAMAGE GREAT

MIAMI, (C)—Florida today began a mammoth clean-up job in the wake of a hurricane which left three dead and an estimated $25,000,000 damage. The great storm picked up forward speed as it crossed the coast and moved in the direction of Bermuda.

THE WEATHER

Cool, unsettled weather still persists over the greater part of British Columbia with considerable thunderstorm activity being reported over Vancouver Island for the second successive night. Hailstones up to three-eighths of an inch in diameter were reported in a thunderstorm which occurred early this morning at Comox. Frost was reported at quite a few points in the central interior when skies cleared overnight. Smithers was the coldest spot in the province with a low temperature of 22 degrees. Clearing skies are expected along the coast today and tomorrow but showery weather will continue in the interior.

Forecast
Queen Charlottes and North Coast—Cloudy today with scattered showers during the morning. Variable cloudiness overnight and Friday morning, clearing about mid-day. Light winds. Continuing cool with low tonight and high Friday at Prince Rupert 42 and 52.

BRITAIN READY FOR EMERGENCY

LONDON, (C)—Plans to prepare Britain for any emergency were announced by A. V. Alexander, defence minister, today. Mobilization machinery has been overhauled and if, unhappily, such machinery had to be used it would be found to work satisfactorily.

FELLER LEADS CLEVELAND TO TOP-PLACE TIE

CLEVELAND, (C)—Bob Feller cooled off the Boston Red Sox last night, pitching the Cleveland Indians into first place in the American League to tie with the Sox.
The Cleveland tribe exploded for three runs in the first inning and then coasted to a 5-2 victory.
Each team now has eight games left to play, but Cleveland has a theoretical advantage.

NEW TORY CANDIDATE

OTTAWA, (C)—Donald M. Fleming, member of Commons for Toronto-Eglinton announced today that he will be a candidate for the Progressive Conservative leadership at the national convention on September 30.

'TREACHERY' CRIES SMYTHE

ST. CATHERINES, Ont. (C)—Managing Director Connie Smythe of the Toronto Maple Leafs yesterday charged an official of a Quebec senior hockey team with raiding his training camp with offers of good jobs.
He said that Punch Imlach, coach of the Quebec Aces, offered $3,500 and jobs to at least two players.

WARNS AGAINST TERRORISM

TEL AVIV, (C)—Lives of Israeli government leaders are "in danger as long as terrorism survives," Justice Minister Felix Rosenbleth said today.
"No Jew has been killed yet by terrorists," he said, "but that's no guarantee."

CHURCH REJECTS COMMUNISM

VANCOUVER—Stern warning that Communism can never be accepted by the church was sounded here Wednesday night by Rev. Gordon A. Sisco of Toronto, general secretary of the United Church of Canada.
In a speech prepared for delivery to an open session of the thirteenth assembly of the church's general council, he said that Communism's materialistic determinism, emphasis on the proletariat and redemption of man by mere historical processes are reasons for its rejection by Christianity.
"The church must press on," he declared, "by peaceful means for seeking solutions to social and economic ills in the light of Christian revelation."

Four Killed In Ambush

TEL AVIV (C)—Four persons were killed and others wounded when a United Nations convoy from Tel Aviv to Jerusalem was fired upon near the Latrun pumping station, the United Nations headquarters said Wednesday.

Canada's North, "Sentry Box" Explorer Says

VANCOUVER (C)—Arctic Explorer Sir Hubert Wilkins said here that the Arctic should be regarded as a "sentry box" under present world conditions.
He told the Northwest Aviation Planning Council convention that he did not think either North America or Russian study of Arctic regions were necessarily aggressive moves.
Much of the Russian development had been economic, and not military, but he stressed the Russians had made far more use of their resources in the Arctic.

He disclosed that United States Navy submarines are undergoing tests beneath Arctic Ocean ice. In the event of a future war, submarines hiding under Arctic ice would be used to control guided missiles. Radar would be unable to detect the submarines through the huge thicknesses of ice.
They would carry radio-control equipment, rocket bombs and boring tubes to enable their crews to reach the surface.
Wilkins said that in the new version of the "cold war," bases would also be established on the surface of the Arctic ice cap. It would be strong enough to support them.

In a talk Wednesday, D. W. Rentzel, United States civil aeronautics administrator from Washington, told of plans for the construction of 30 modern airports in Alaska at a cost of $8,249,000.

Norman Allen, vice-president of the Boeing Aircraft Company, Seattle, said jet propulsion eventually may help the aviation transportation industry to reduce operating costs. He said the industry must continue to learn heavily on military production to stay in business.

Juneau Convention Would Make Prince Rupert Shipping Centre For Region's Lumber and Coal

JUNEAU, Alaska—Prince Rupert loomed large in late Wednesday deliberations of the Associated Boards of Trade of Central British Columbia and affiliated Chambers of Commerce of Southeastern Alaska here.

Supplementing a declaration of policy of the Canadian Chamber of Commerce the meeting moved that the potentiality of all Canadian ports not at present being used to capacity should be given special study with a view to developing their use in the national economy.

It requested that the government of Canada make an immediate investigation of the possible use of the Port of Prince Rupert, not only in the national interest, but in the particular interests of all Central British Columbia and Southeastern Alaska.

The convention considered as one of its most vital resolutions one that called upon the federal Department of Trade and Commerce, the Industrial Department of the Canadian National Railways, the National Harbors Board and all interested public and semi-public bodies to seriously consider the provision of a lumber assembly and loading area and modern coal bunkers at Prince Rupert for the loading of foreign shipping of at least ten thousand tons capacity.

Central interior lumbermen told the convention that for the survival of their industry it was essential that deepsea shipping be developed out of Prince Rupert now that increased freight rates had made railway hauling prohibitive.

Dr. L. M. Greene, president of the Associated Boards disclosed that shipping interests in Britain were awaiting only the freeing of British capital for investment to institute deepsea shipping out of Prince Rupert for lumber, coal and grain.

The convention expressed indignation that Canada had to depend upon the United States Coastguard to rescue vessels when they became distressed on the Dominion's coasts and asked for the immediate establishment of a Canadian Coastguard service in co-operation with the Royal Canadian Navy and Royal Canadian Air Force.

With such Coastguard service lacking it was held that there was undue and unnecessary risk of lives and shipping.

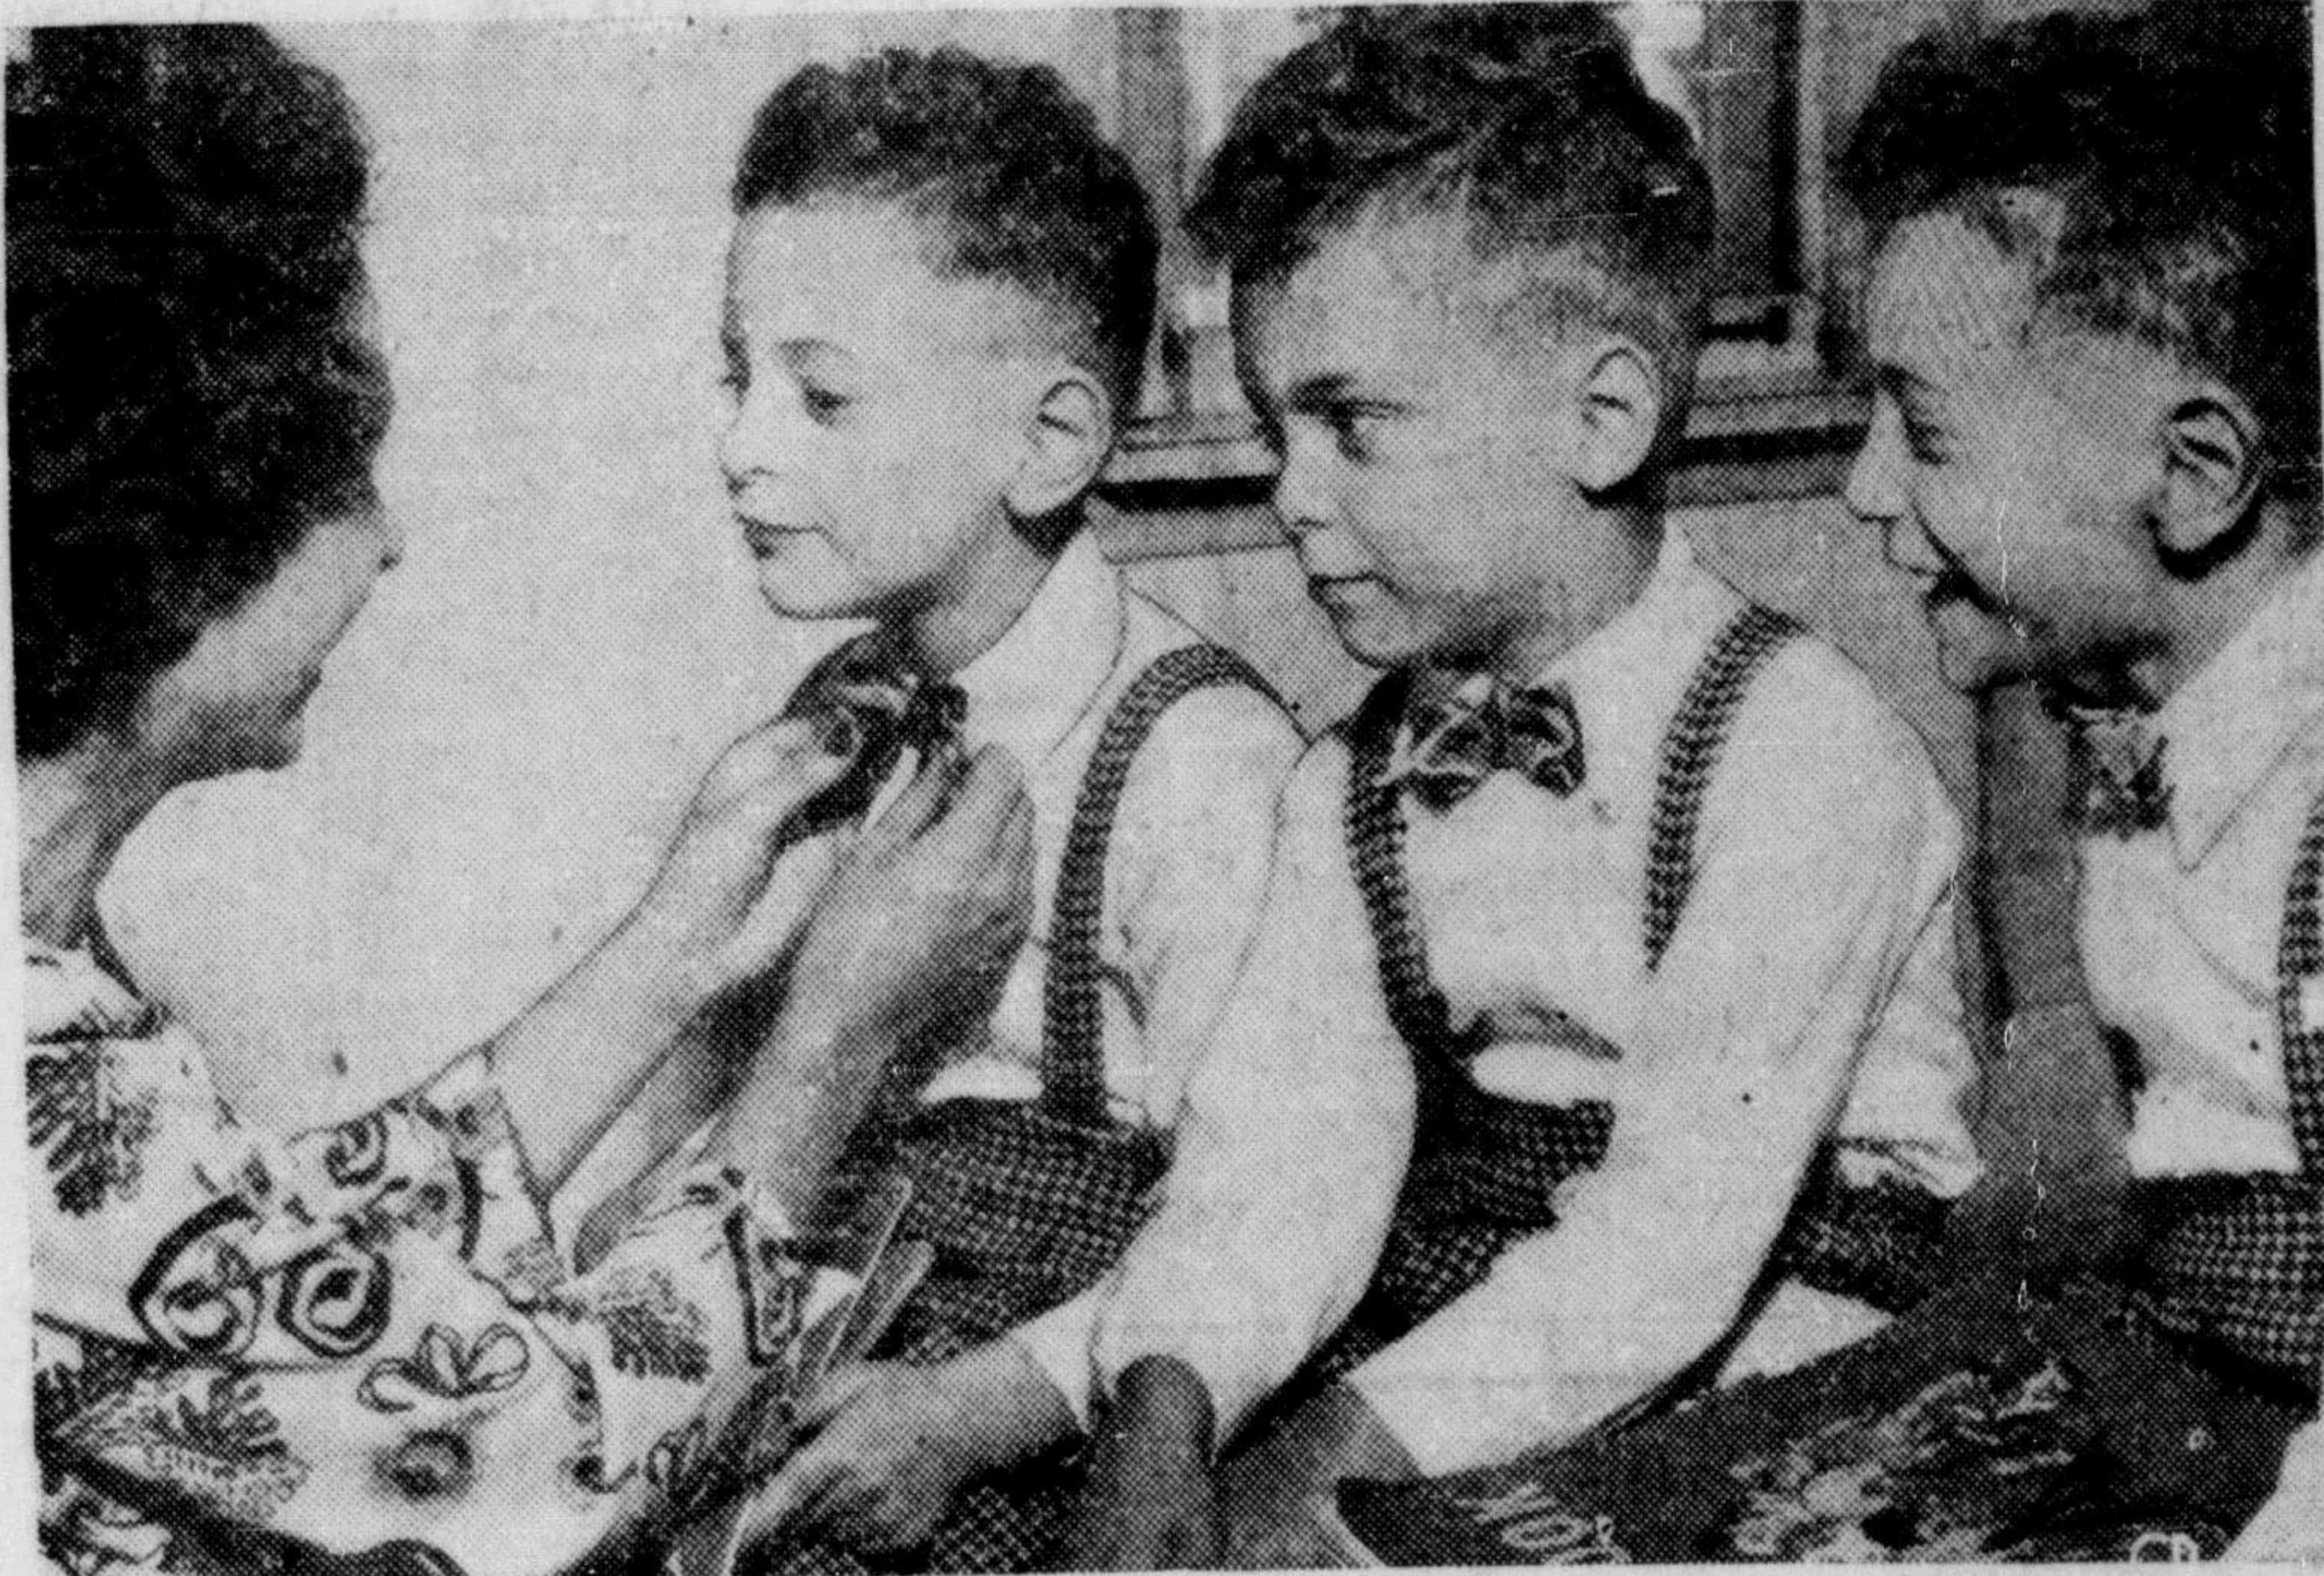

Another resolution asked for the putting of Canadian coastal freight rates under the supervision of the Board of Transportation Commissioners or Canadian Maritime Commission in a manner similar to that required for railways freight rates. The convention went on record as being opposed to daylight saving unless it was on a Dominion-wide basis.

Other resolutions called for provincial government loans to assist in the establishment of improvement of hotels, tourist camps, auto camps, or other accommodation for the travelling public so that there might be greater exploitation of the tourist industry; for the simplification of useless regulations which now impede trade and travel between Canada and the United States.

The Association is sending direct to the Prime Minister of Canada a resolution asking for an official inquiry into why the Canadian Broadcasting Corporation should continue to inadequately service Northern and Central British Columbia. In the way of radio broadcasting Prince Rupert delegates expressed irritation at the fact that choice CBC network programs were being piped into the Prince Rupert broadcasting station but was denied permission to emit them.

Principle of free enterprise was approved by resolution. The convention continued consideration of resolutions this morning with special attention to matters concerning the common interests of Central British Columbia and Alaska, including highway development and joint defence measures, year-round maintenance of the Haines Highway.

Extensive improvement of the Alaska Highway through both Canada and Alaska and the building of a road to connect Atlin with the Alaska Highway will be asked.
A. M. Patterson is slated to be elected president of the body at the closing convention session Thursday afternoon. Prince George and Smithers are expected to extend invitations for the 1949 convention.

PROVINCES TO BATTLE FREIGHT BOOST

OTTAWA, (C)—A major move is to be launched Monday to set aside the 21 per cent freight rate boost granted to the Canadian railways last March.
Representatives of seven provinces—all but Ontario and Quebec—are preparing to follow up their initial victory last Tuesday when they gained three months delay in hearings on a railway application for a new, interim 15 per cent increase and a new general, permanent 20 per cent hike.

HOPE WANES FOR SALVAGING SHIP

HALIFAX, (C)—Hope of saving the 4,900-ton Greek freighter Orion, aground in the Strait of Belle Isle, diminished today as she was reported flooded in the holds and breaking up. Eight of the crew of 35 were injured when an explosion occurred shortly after she grounded.

HEAVY SALMON SHIPMENTS HERE

Salmon, the canned variety, is literally pouring into the port of Prince Rupert. The former Liberty ship, Chief Waskakie, hadn't completed the discharge of her large cargo of salmon when the Alaska Transport Company ship, the Reef Knot entered the harbor Wednesday.
She stood out in the channel for more than an hour before moving into the Ocean Dock and commenced unloading her cargo of 95,000 cases of canned salmon.
The little Dagney also was in from the north with 5,700 cases of salmon and the Tolstoi arrived Tuesday night, discharging about three carloads of fish.
The Sword Knot, sister ship to the Reef Knot is expected to arrive today from Alaska and the Palisana, another large vessel belonging to the Alaska Transportation Company, is due to dock in the near future.

REDS THREATEN CHINESE CITY

NANKING, (C)—The fall of Tsinan was imminent today, the last main Nationalist base north of the Yangtze River in the eastern zone of central China was besieged by overwhelming Communist forces and military experts conceded the loss of the Shantung province capital.

CANADA MAY JOIN AIR LIFT

OTTAWA (CP)—Canada's stand against participation in the Berlin air lift may be reconsidered if the lift continues throughout the winter, according to indications today in government quarters.

Seasonal Notes

IT ISN'T JUST the "turning" leaves, going from thirsty August green to autumnal yellows, reds, purples, browns. These change the already changing light that filters through elm and oak and beech along many a shady and erstwhile drowsy street.

But notice, too—as if you could have missed them!—the tawny tops, the golden braids, the shadowy tresses, the short-cropped towheads that catch the morning sun. They reflect it back like rays of laughter, as this year's first-graders march bravely into that no man's land called learning.

Among the compensations that the fall season brings—for coming cold, for November rain, for winds whose howl is no worse than their bite—these waves of children, multicolored as a scurry of frost-touched leaves, musical as a chatter of grackles congregating for southward flight in a maple etched bare against the late afternoon sky, make these edges of autumn warm and shining.

And if winter comes, what then? Longer family evenings, fireside conversations, less adventure afield, more companionship at home. And another season of unfoldment in thought, as pleasant to behold as the unfolding of leaf and flower in months just past.

THE CHICKEN OR THE EGG?

WHEN WE WERE CHILDREN, the next most popular riddle to "Why does a chicken cross the road?" was "Which came first, the chicken or the egg?" The answer to the first was easy, but the answer to the second was, and still is, somewhat beclouded.

The chicken and egg riddle can be brought up to date in these postwar years and it would read like this: "Which came first, the price increase or the wage increase?" It is a question that is not designed for children and even intelligent adults who argue it will only suffer needless headaches for their pains. The argument would lead nowhere as far as an answer is concerned, but there would certainly be food for thought in the discussion. Like the chicken and the egg, you can't have a wage increase without a price increase and vice versa!

Management granting a wage increase is forced to increase the price of its product to the consumer and who is the consumer but the chap who just got the wage increase? This chap, in turn, argues that the price increase originally came first and he and his union go after another wage increase. And so the spiral, viciously twisting heavenward, hoists the cost of living another notch or three while Mr. and Mrs. Public groan. The end? Quite possibly in the weird bubble of the Chinese dollar and economic self-destruction!

Yes, wage increases and price increases are absolutely inseparable, but if you stop and think a minute you must realize that there is a solution, an all-powerful remedy to this spiral of inflation. If production per man-hour increases first, then a wage increase is in order, because increased production will stabilize prices. The goods will be there for the added money to buy. But if production does not increase, it simply means that the added money in the consumer's pocket will be chasing a vanishing product higher and higher in price. posefully.

DESPITE SHORTAGES, CANADA NOW IN BIGGEST HOME-BUILDING PERIOD

By JOHN LEBLANC
 Canadian Press Staff Writer

OTTAWA—Despite a merry-go-round of shortages, Canada is heading into the last quarter of 1948 sure of the biggest home-building year in her history.

For citizens plagued by the housing squeeze there is added comfort in the fact that the estimate of 90,000 new dwelling units is linked with evidence that the brakes are being applied to the cost of home construction.

These costs are still going up, but the rate of climb has slowed noticeably.

For the first six months of this year, figures compiled here by the Canadian Construction Association show house-building costs up five percent from last year. This was about half the rate of rise for the same time last year.

The easing of the cost rise has developed in the face of a cycle of shortages—of both labor and materials—chronic in some essentials and recurring in others.

At the moment, the biggest building bottleneck is in cement, though Canada is turning out more of this product than at any time in her history.

Last year, the Dominion had a peak output of more than 12,000,000 barrels of cement. This year, for the first quarter, production was up by almost 25 percent.

But still cement is in tight supply because of unprecedented demand. What cuts down the supply is the construction of such projects as hydro-electric dams, which eat up millions of bags at a crack.

Another vital building element hard to get is soil pipe. Availability of this product in Canada depends to a large extent on imports from the United States, and these have been curtailed by scarcity of U.S. dollars and by a U.S. pipe shortage of its own.

On the other hand, the lumber picture has brightened after a long period in which that material was a headache.

The shortage headache has broken out in another direction in recent weeks. The new sore spot is the bathtub.

ALASKA CALLS EX-KETCHIKAN BUSINESSMAN

R. E. Hardcastle, former Canadian National Steamship agent at Ketchikan, accompanied by Mrs. Hardcastle, was in Prince Rupert Wednesday enroute to Ketchikan.

Mr. Hardcastle first went to Ketchikan 32 years ago where for many years he operated an insurance business. Two years ago he turned his business over to his son, Richard, and with Mrs. Hardcastle, he went to California. But California isn't Alaska and now Mr. Hardcastle has sold his property in the sunshine state and is looking for another place to settle.

He plans to stay in Ketchikan for about three months this time and he isn't at all sure that he won't stay there longer. If he doesn't make his permanent residence in Alaska he will locate in or near Seattle, so that when he feels like making a trip north, he can do it without much difficulty.

Mr. Portman is leaving the News company after more than 30 years of service but he is not planning to retire. On his way back from the prairies he will visit his brother, Fred, in Kamloops and travel on to Vancouver Island, where he will spend a holiday with his sister, Elizabeth Hess, residing near Duncan. Following his holiday, Mr. Portman will return to Prince Rupert and expects to be back in the city by Christmas.

CANADA LACKS NATIONAL DISH

CALGARY—Canada's home economists, in conference here, say they think the Canadian people are somewhat indifferent as to where or what they eat. They feel there is no national dish, nor is there a demand for original food.

"Outside of Quebec's pea soup," said a delegate, "we have no national dish."

"And Western Canada," remarked another, "is less discriminating than the east. Westerners have only Chinese dishes—good, but at that mostly concocted in the States, if they want something different."

But she hastened to say Alberta has the world's best beef.

Whalemeat Gets Little Demand

VANCOUVER, (C) — British Columbia whalemeat, retailing at about half the price of high-cost land meat, has little market value in Vancouver.

For some weeks no whalemeat has been on the market here, although plenty is available. Western Whaling Corporation has, however, shipped some to Seattle, Portland and Sacramento.

Vancouver butchers have declined to handle the product, which some consumers have difficulty distinguishing from beef when cooked.

One reason given is that its status, from the government inspection standpoint, has not been clarified.

WEATHER HITS GOLF OPEN

VANCOUVER—After two days of steady rain, the Canadian Open golf championship is out of the hands of the golfers and into the hands of the weatherman. The practice rounds yesterday, over soggy fairways and semi-flooded greens, was largely a face. But some of the contestants and all die-hard spectators, took the weather in stride. Today 150 registered golfers started out in three-somes over the par 72 layout. Tourney ends Saturday.

NOTED PAINTINGS, BRIGHT COLORS USED TO MAKE BANK ATTRACTIVE

Following the announcement by the National Gallery of Canada that the Bank of Montreal has arranged to purchase quantities of the gallery's silk screen prints, screen prints, the bank's Prince Rupert office has now received a selection of the pictures. Full color reproductions of interesting subjects strike a new note in bank decoration, and will make the office more pleasant for both customers and staff.

Of the four prints now hanging in the B of M's Prince Rupert office, perhaps the most striking is that entitled "Wild Geese," and original design for the silk screen process by the noted Canadian artist, Thoreau MacDonald. This vivid portrayal of birds in flight against a dramatic sky was an overwhelming public favorite when this series of silk screen prints was exhibited by the B of M in Montreal.

The two pleasing compositions, "Indian Children" and "Evening, Nipigon River," are by Yvonne McK. Housser, R.C.A., well-known for her portrayal of Canadian scenes. In the fourth picture, "The Waiting Ones," the artist, Harold Beament, has portrayed an Eskimo family group against a majestic Arctic background.

In the silk screen process, by which these pictures were made, a series of silk stencils is used. Through these, color patterns in oil paint are impressed directly upon paper. The resulting print has a freshness and brightness difficult to obtain by other methods, and ideal for business offices. Though many duplications may be made by this process, the prints are not reproductions in the ordinary sense.

In designing this series of pictures, the artists worked directly for the silk screen process, and most of the prints sponsored by the National Gallery are original works for this medium. In the rare cases where the pictures have been adapted from other originals, the unique possibilities of silk screen reproductions have been fully exploited. The resulting changes in treatment give the prints an individual character.

H. O. McCurry, director of Canada's National Gallery, says the bank's plan to supply these pictures to its branches from coast to coast "will have far-reaching effect on some phases of the work the Gallery is trying to do." G. R. S. Blackaby, manager of the B of M's local branch, is pleased that his office has been included in this scheme. He hopes that Prince

Reminiscences and Reflections

By W.J.

Householders, tea drinkers a moment's notice, entertainers and others in England complain from the ends of the caucers. This growing scarcity is found most annoying. Possibly the missing saucers are the ones seen flying over Canada and the United States last year, and are taking their time returning home.

Whalemeat is losing its charm. Somebody, months ago, when there was a shortage of honest chow, such as beef and mutton, said referring to whalemeat, "eat it and like it." So, under compulsion, the consumption of monsters from the sea was large. Consumers even acknowledged liking the stuff. But now, with butchers in white aprons again on duty, the whale market is on the skids. People must enjoy being ordered around sometimes.

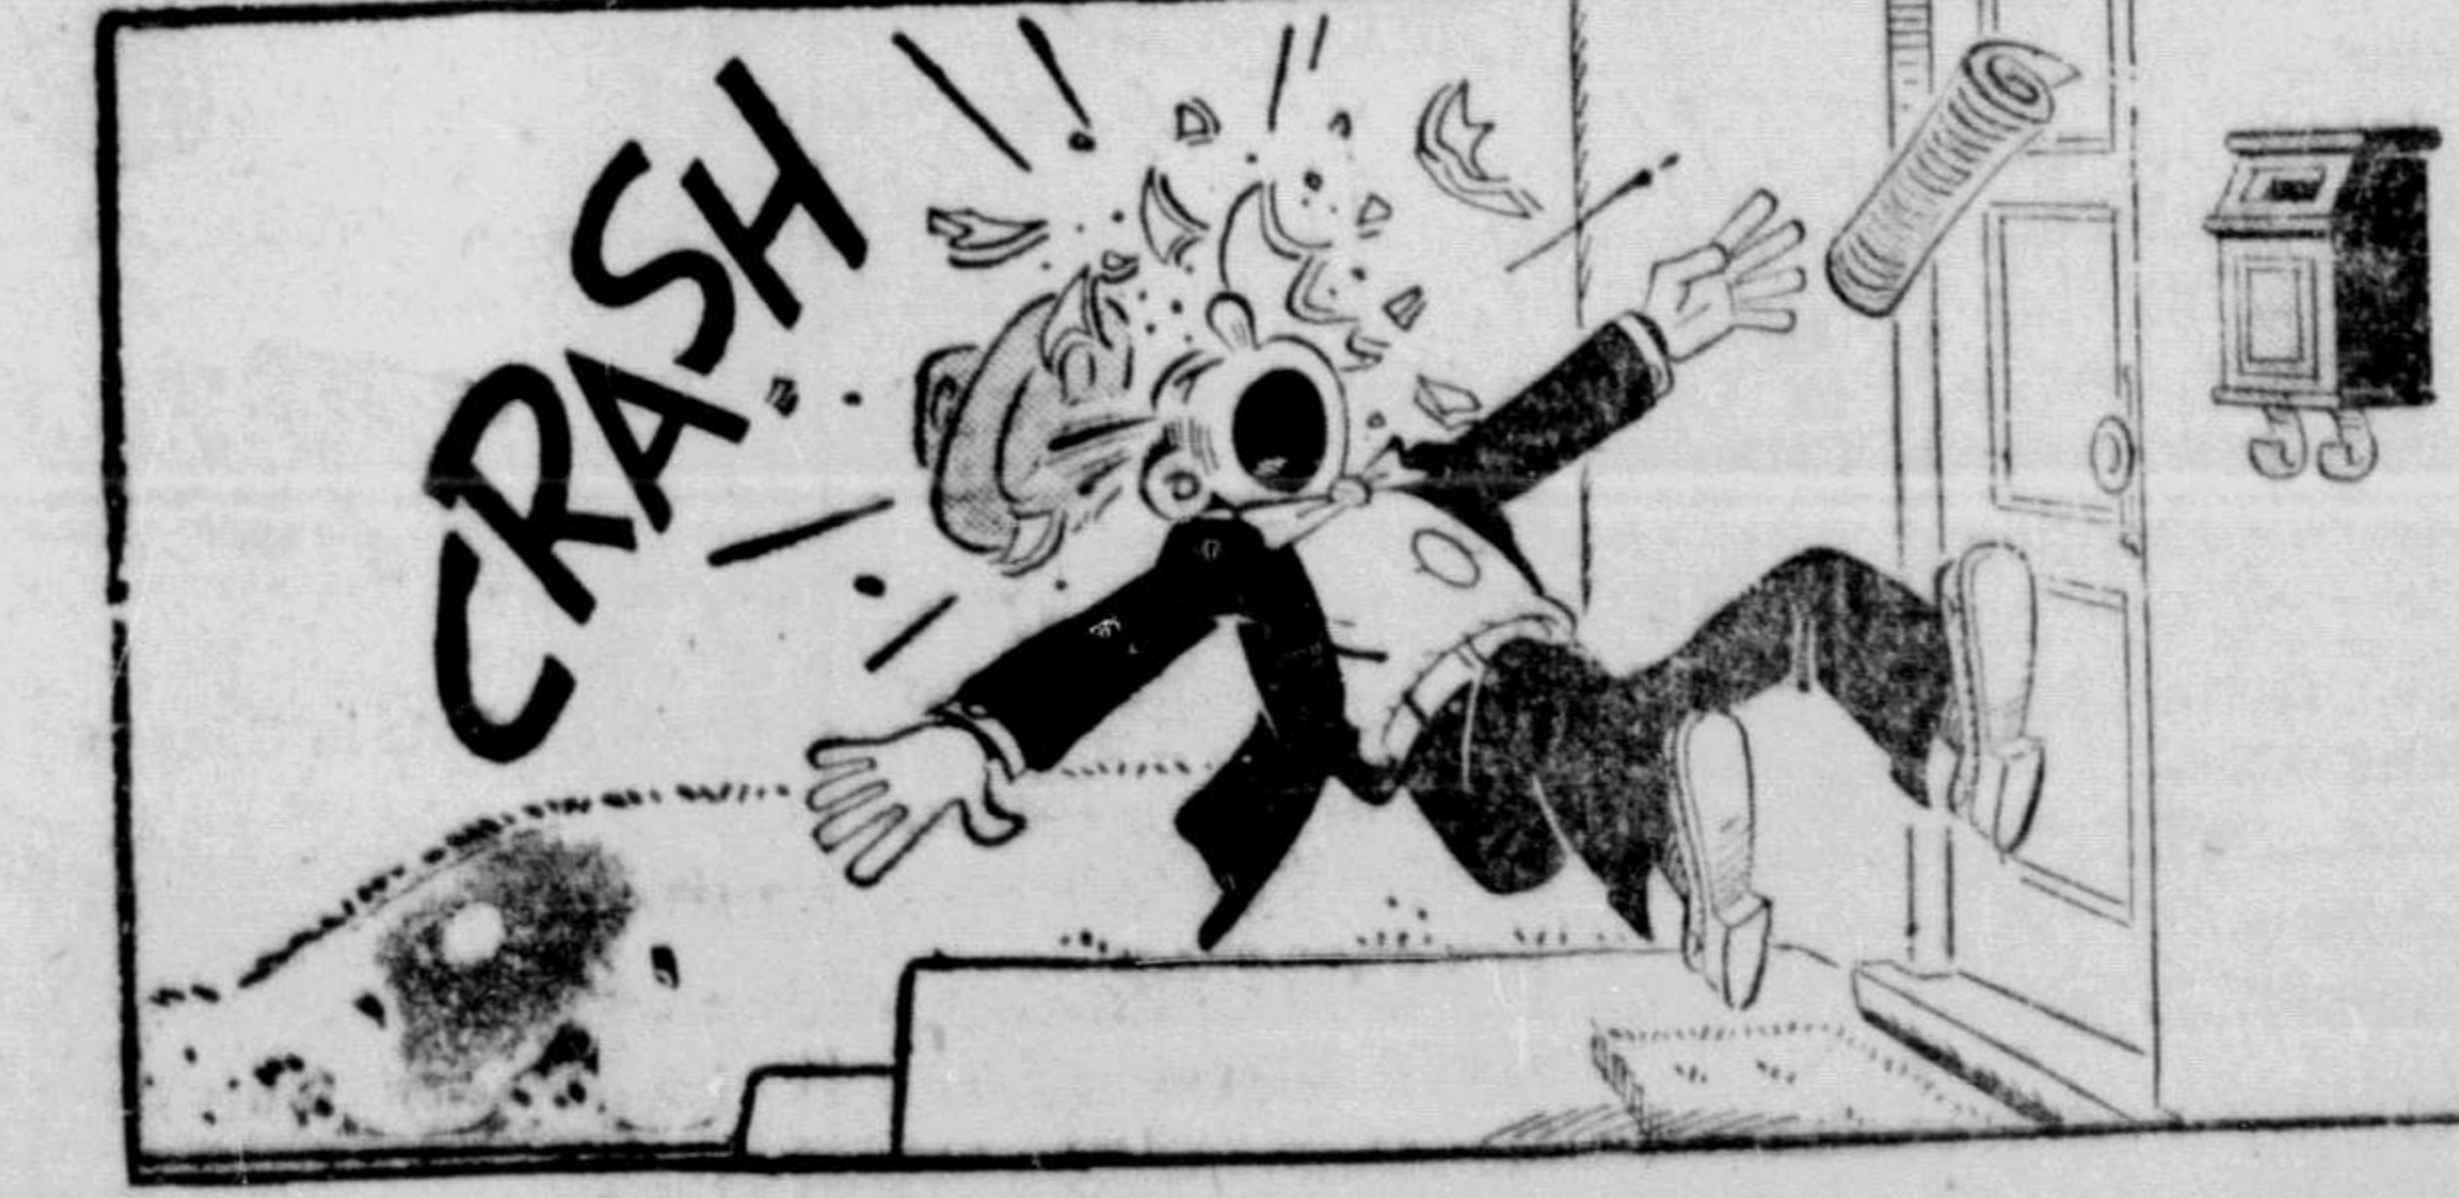

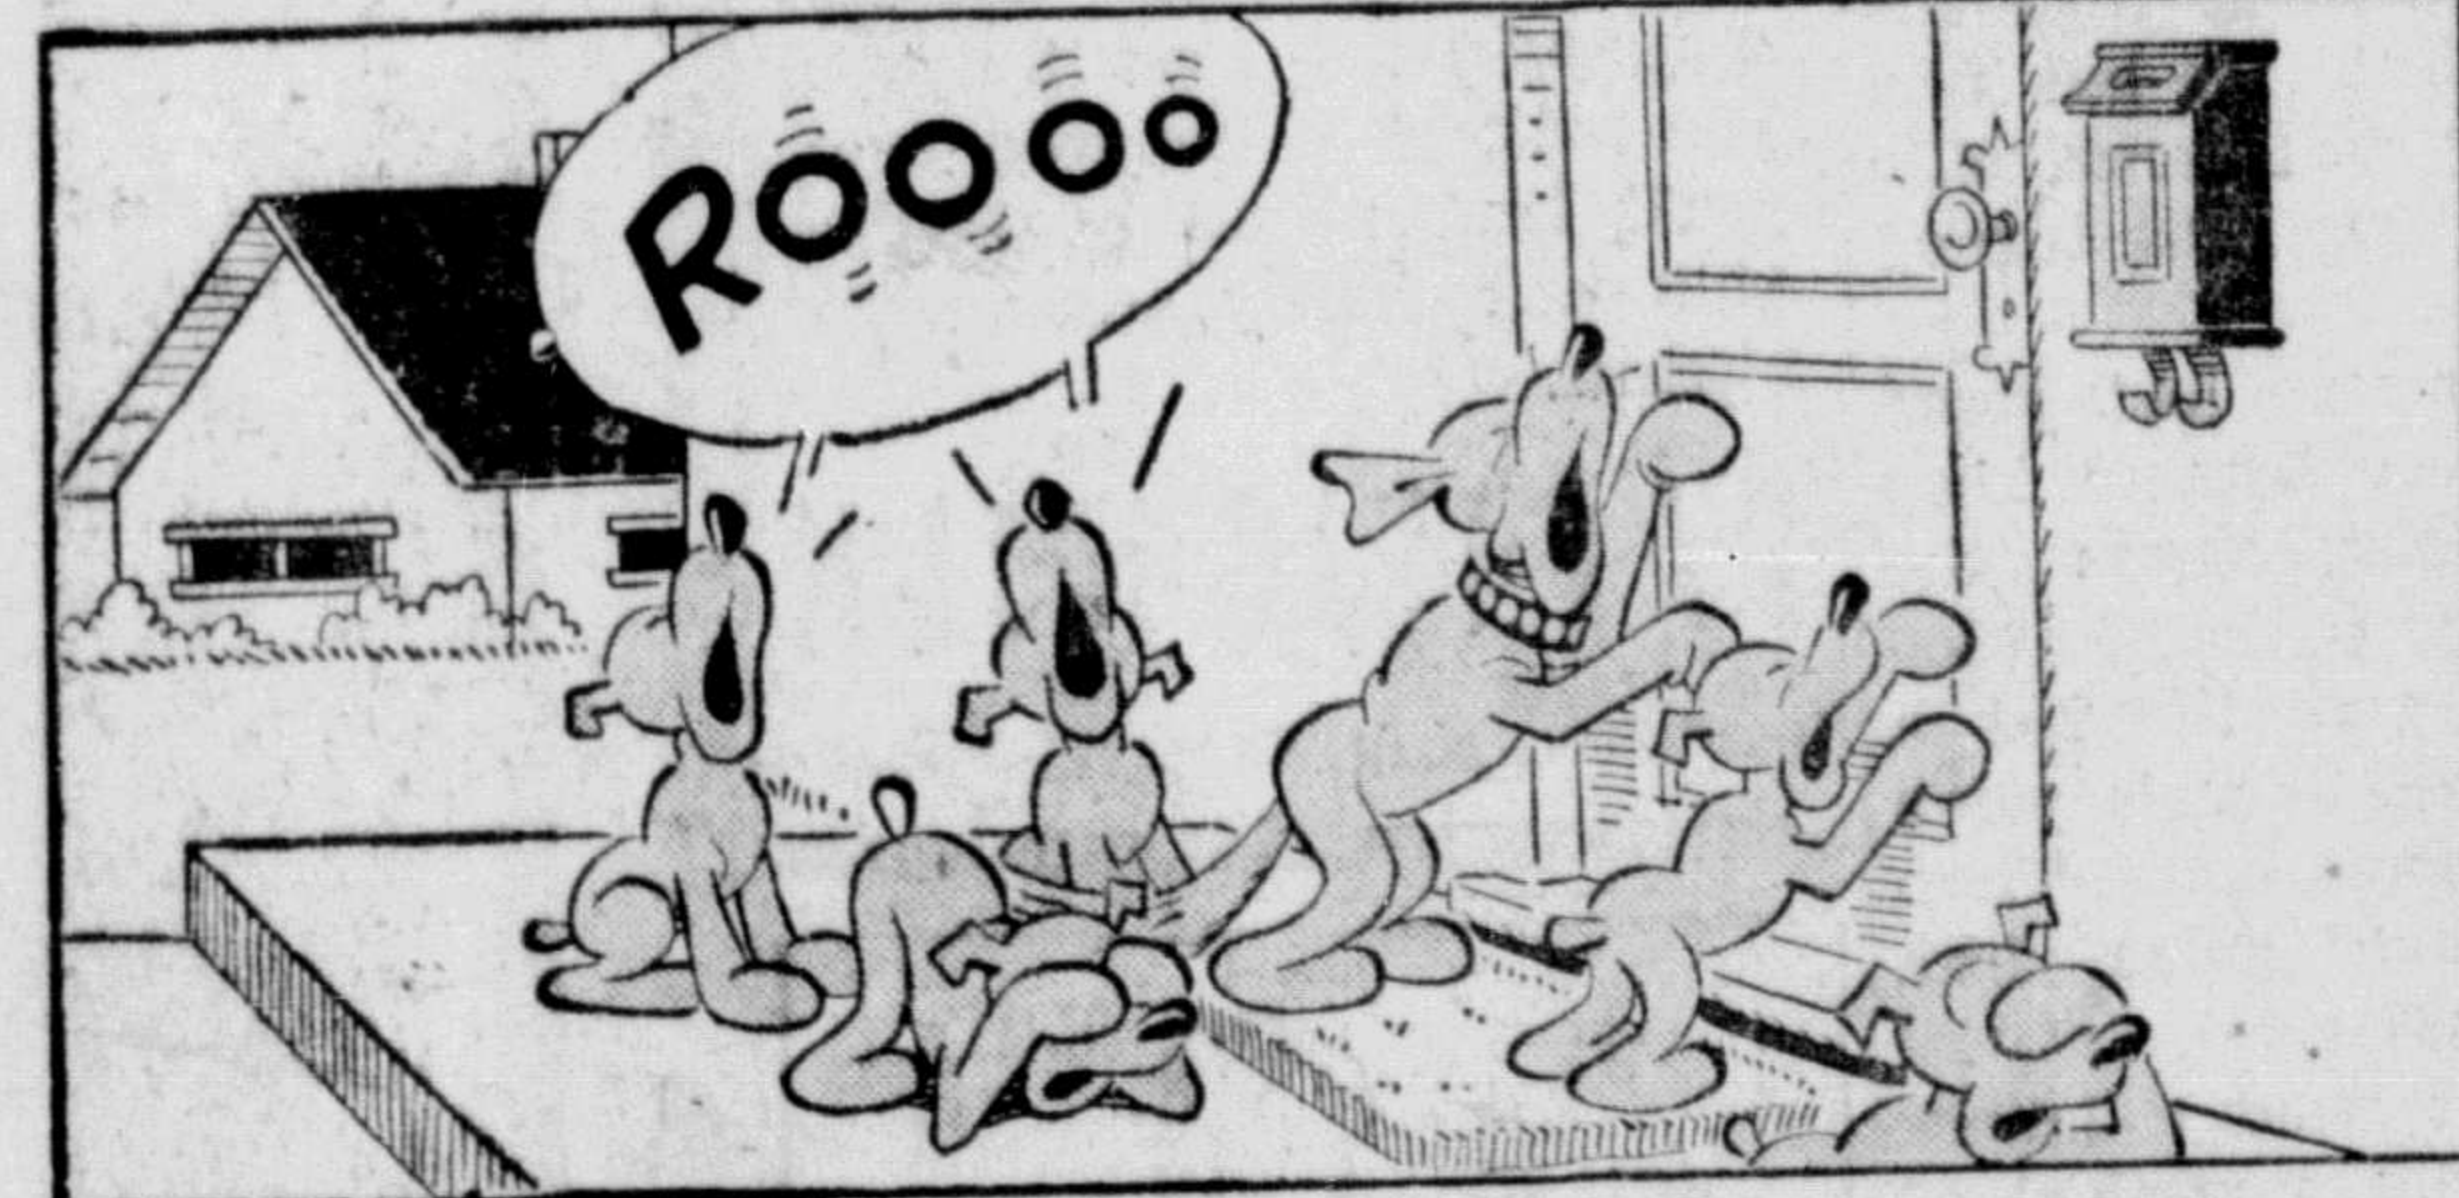

It's been a popular summer for beauty contests. Down east, in the south, out west and as far north as Prince Rupert competition has been brisk, and attention sharp. And now, with the excitement all over, it is discovered that the girls, wherever they were, once it was known who the winners were, all felt the same — plenty of restful slumber, and then, a bee line for home.

Margaret Makes Hit by Distaining Career in Motion Picture Capital

The Los Angeles Daily News carried the following story on Prince Rupert's Miss Margaret Brain, Miss P. N. E., when she visited the film capital in a cloud of publicity and not earlier this month.)

Hollywood played host yesterday to that rarity among actors—a beauty queen contender with positively no previous aspirations.

Although she demurely conceded that it will be nice to be at Randy Scott and Frank Sinatra and all the rest, 17-year-old Margaret Brain made clear that she's really a good emissary from a Canadian festival.

The clear-eyed high school beauty won the trip to Hollywood along with the queen of the Pacific National Exhibition at Vancouver, British Columbia.

She chatted gaily with her host, Miss Susan Fletcher of Canadian Broadcasting Corporation, and V. E. Duclos, Canadian government trade commissioner here.

That impressed her most, said, was the "lavish" scope of the window merchandising in Los Angeles and its effective use of art and design.

The girlish champ of all the pretty girls in British Columbia plans a designing career and looks upon Hollywood only as an outsider.

She flew into town on a United Airlines Mainliner from her hometown of Prince Rupert where "Pop" handles the transport for the Co-operative fishing industry and she'll fly back tomorrow.

And if anybody thinks Prince Rupert is a foreign sort of place, think again. The girls there, Margaret says, wear everything American girls wear, from the new look to saddle shoes.

CHOOSE "MISS LAKE LOUISE" FROM THESE BEAUTIES—
The judges had a hard time picking "Miss Lake Louise" from this bevy of beauties, five of them employees of the Chateau Lake Louise and the other an entry from another local resort. The winner, Betty McNulty, 22-year old member of the Chateau's front office (second from left), was crowned by screen star Alexis Smith, a guest at the hotel, during the premiere showing of "Chateau Follies of '48." Contestants are, left to right: Doreen Hadden, Mirror, Alta.; Betty McNulty, Winnipeg, Man.; Pat Lindell, Revelstoke, B.C.; Gerry Kennedy, Winnipeg, Man.; Christmas Watrous, Toronto, Ont.; Jean Wassell, Sifton, Man.

Home Problems Melt Before Flood Of Ideas on U. S. Radio Show

By WILLIAM S. CONWAY
CHICAGO. (AP)—Lady, does your small son run around with his shirt-tail hanging out? You can put a stop to that very quickly. Just sew a piece of lace on the tail of his shirt and he'll keep it out of sight.

Are you trying to get your weight down to 120 pounds? Here's a trick that will help. Cut out a picture of a girl who is as slim as you'd like to be. Paste it on the ice box door. It will halt you in your tracks when you have a yen for snacks.

Does your husband forget to mail the letters you write? There's a remedy for that. Just tie a long string around the envelope. When he puts it in his pocket, the trailing string will serve as a reminder.

Perhaps he can't even remember your birthday. You can overcome that fault with a couple of vegetables. Spell out the date with peas in the mashed potatoes on the dinner table several nights before the anniversary.

These are examples of feminine ingenuity brought to light on the radio program "Hint Hunt." Women write out their suggestions and submit them for judgement. Authors of the best ideas win prizes.

The show has received, so far, 750,000 solutions to as many problems that confront housewives. Most of them are practical. Some are amusing too.

Cure for Crying
One mother had a child who wept without cause. So she gave him a potted plant and told him to water it with his tears. This placed the lad in a situation that was more silly than sad and his sobs turned to smiles.

Another woman had some sound advice on how to keep children who play across the street out of the paths of automobiles. Just give the kid a whistle. He will blow it when he is ready to come home. Then you get out and guide him through the traffic.

A lady didn't need a laboratory to work out a method of making sure she didn't leave her apartment without her key. She used sound effects. She tied a bell on the key and put it in her purse. Now, when she is stepping out, she shakes her

U.S. BEAUTY CLEANS UP IN GLAMOR SHOW

ATLANTIC CITY—Beatrice Shopp (Bebe) who won the Miss America beauty title after a week of competition with 54 other girls (one from Canada) says she is going to stay home for a while, after all the excitement.

Home is a Minnesota farm. She tends about 100 chickens, drives a tractor, helps her mother in the kitchen, practices on her vibraharp and piano. Her age is eighteen, and she does not smoke. She is a brunette.

She will turn down Hollywood and Broadway contracts unless they call for stage appearances in which she can play her vibraharp.

Bebe has never been so far away from home before. She received, through winning, the following plums: $5,000 scholarship; $3,000 automobile, and $8,000 in contracts to help sell a number of commercial products.

After the girls had posed and performed for a week, the committee kept them over for another day. They all said they would have preferred going home. Slumber was greatly needed.

"Convention Hall," remarked Bebe, "looked awful big. Thousands of people were staring at us, and I think some were talking about the blue taffeta strapless evening gown I sewed together."

The competitor from Canada was 20 year old Jean Ferguson of Halifax.

Bebe is 5 feet, 9, bust 37, hair golden brown, eyes blue green and shoes size 9A.

Creative Work Helps Former Concentration Camp Victims

MONTREAL, — Wonderful work is being done in schools operated by the Organization for Rehabilitation through Training, Mrs. Leon D. Crestohl, national president of Women's O.R.T. said here on her return from a European tour.

She attended the World O.R.T. conference in Paris. Mrs. Crestohl said students are getting along well since they received materials such as cloth, leather, threads, scissors and so on, which enable them to do creative work.

"When you see the fine smocking and sewing done by girls and women formerly in concentration camps you come to realize just how great is the therapeutic value of such schools," she said.

ROJECK'S DOUBLE BRINGS PIRATES NARROW TRIUMPH

BROOKLYN, (AP)—Stan Rojeck's three-run double in the ninth inning gave the Pittsburgh Pirates a 12-11 National League triumph over Brooklyn Wednesday in a protest game which once had appeared in the Dodger victory column.

On August 25 at Pittsburgh the Dodgers thought they had won the game, 11-9, until Pirate Boss Billy Meyer protested that relief pitcher Carl Erskine had not retired one batter before being sent to the showers.

Wednesday's game was started at the point where Erskine gave way to Hank Behrman a month ago, with two men on base in the last half of the ninth and the count three balls and one strike on Eddie Bockman.

Bockman was walked by Erskine today, filling the bases. Then Rojeck doubled the Pirates' bases and gave the Pirates the triumph.

Don't Retire, Surgeon Tells Elderly Folk; Keep Interests

Keep on Working and Learn to Play Second Fiddle, or Find a Hobby to Avoid Stagnation

By Stuart Underhill
Canadian Press Staff Writer

BRIGHTON, Eng., ©—Advice to old folk: "Don't retire. Keep on with the job you know."

It was given by Sir Ernest Rock Carling, consulting surgeon to Westminster Hospital, in a discussion of the Physiology Section of the British Association for the Advancement of Science.

"The most important problem for old people today is how to ensure themselves the right to continue working without impeding the promotion of those younger than themselves," he said.

"That means: know how to abandon the enjoyment of the first violin's privileges and learn to play second fiddle."

Hitherto the old had been regarded as outside the stream of active life, with the result they sank into loneliness and boredom.

"There is no scientific evidence for the selection of the retiring age of 65 for men and 60 for women. In the last 50 years the expectation of life has increased by almost 20 years for women and 17 1/2 for men."

He said that in Britain there would soon be more people over 60 and under 20. For economic reasons it would be necessary for old people to work as long as possible.

HITS MEN HARDER

Miss Barbara Lewis, another speaker, said that a survey of old people in Birmingham indicated retirement was a much greater problem for men than for women. Men did not know how to occupy their time, whereas women could find odd jobs around the house.

"We were told over and over again that the old men had gone to pieces since they had retired."

Mrs. Marjory Warren said people should be educated to meet the problems of their advancing years. They should be told of the importance of hobbies and forming interests outside their work.

Prof. Burns said that as a magistrate he often had old men brought before him for attempted suicide.

Frequently it was found the man had lost his job at 65 or thereabouts. If he was a bachelor or widower he became apathetic and neglected himself until he sank into melancholy and attempted to take his life.

H. S. Shelton said more research was needed into the approximate length of normal human life and the length of normal activity.

It should be learned how much old age was a physical condition and how much mental — in other words, how many people became "old" because it was expected of them.

"For example, all my life I've been in the habit of carrying a walking stick," he said. "Now I've had to give it up because people began to assume I carried it because I was getting old and decrepit."

IRISHMEN PAUSE ON WORLD JAUNT

Pair Take in Vancouver Sights Before Thumbing Way Elsewhere

VANCOUVER, ©—Two wandering Irishmen who think there is more to see in the world than their own Emerald Isle are in Vancouver on the first leg of a projected five-year world tour.

Dennis Lowery, 23, and Anthony Nearu, 26, both of Dublin, arrived here 23 days after leaving home. They paid their boat fares across the Atlantic but hope to make the rest of the trip "on the thumb."

Travelling light in funds as well as baggage, the pair have slept in more jails than the average crook sees in a lifetime—always, of course, with official permission.

From New York, their debarcation point, they made San Francisco in 13 days. Another four brought them to Vancouver.

After a short halt to raise funds, the travellers will move on to South America, New Zealand and Australia. They hope to return home through Europe.

CITY RESIDENT ATTEMPTS LIFE

A former resident of Prince Rupert, serving a term at Okalla, tried to take his life, according to the Vancouver Sun. He swallowed an ounce of acetone. In St. Joseph's Hospital, prompt use of a stomach pump prevented his death.

He is at Okalla on a charge of having assaulted his wife. He told the police, the report says, that he wished to "end it all" because his wife is not looking after his three small children properly. No names are given. The man is reported to be a sufferer from tuberculosis.

LONDON, ©—A sight-seeing tour by a police mare recently put London traffic through some awkward moments. Breaking from an exercise string on Constitution Hill, she took in Trafalgar Square, the Embankment and Blackfriars Bridge, about three miles, before being "arrested."

Wide Range of Resolutions Considered by Trade Boards

(Special to the Daily News)

JUNEAU, Alaska—A memorable international gathering got under way in this Alaska capital city on Wednesday. It was the annual convention of the Associated Boards of Trade of Central British Columbia with which are affiliated, Boards of Trade of Southeastern Alaska.

One hundred delegates got together to discuss matters of local and mutual interest and to make representations thereon. They were to take joint action on matters not only on business concern designed to promote closer relationship in trade and travel but definitely to the fore are matters of joint defence in these days of unsettled relationships.

For instance one resolution to be presented to the convention asked the Canadian and United States governments to keep Haines Highway connecting Alaska Highway with the head of the Inside Passage, open for truck traffic the year around. Another seeks the construction of a new highway connecting the northern trans provincial highway and Canadian National Railways with the Alaska Highway from Hazelton.

Such a route would have as one of its most important strategic advantages the fact it would be conveniently accessible for branches connecting up ports of southeastern Alaska.

Other resolutions coming before the convention ask for a Canadian coastguard service on the Pacific Coast; the use of the port of Prince Rupert in Pacific trade; the establishment of lumber export assembly and coal bunkers at Prince Rupert; better radio service for northern and Central British Columbia; opposition to daylight saving, unless on a national basis; resumption of grants in aid for mining roads; government action to encourage gold mining; regulation of coastal steamship freight rates and government aid in financing of the establishment of tourist resorts.

Seventy delegates from Prince Rupert, Terrace, Hazelton, Smithers, Burns Lake, Vanderhoof and Prince George reached here aboard the Union Steamship Chilcotin, specially chartered for the occasion to receive an official welcome from the Governor of Alaska, Ernest Gruening.

Sessions will last for two days. The convention is headed by president, Dr. L. M. Greene of Smithers. Smithers is extending an invitation for the 1949 convention.

KIN GOVERNOR OFF TO TERRACE

Syd Welsh, governor of district five Kinsmen Association, arrived by plane yesterday from Vancouver. Last night he was guest-of-honor at the regular meeting of the Kinsmen Club. He left for Terrace today with local Kin members where he will be entertained by the Kinsmen. Friday he expects to be in Prince George where he will pay an official visit to the Kinsmen of that city. The Quesnel club will be his hosts on Saturday and from there he will return to Prince George and take a plane for Vancouver.

NOTHING VENTURED—Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin Carlin, New York, are shown here as they prepared for their second attempt to cross the Atlantic in a surplus U.S. Army Duck. The pair tried once before but their craft broke down 400 miles east of New York and they were rescued by a passing ship which brought them back to Montreal. With their vehicle repaired they are going to try it again. An interested spectator looks at the Duck as it was parked on a Halifax street.

CIVIC CENTRE PLANS MEMBERSHIP DRIVE WITH OCTOBER 1 OPENING

Prince Rupert's Civic Centre will open its winter program on October 1, laying before the city residents of all ages a variety of programs which range through practically every form of recreational and cultural activity.

Time with the opening will be a membership drive calculated at boosting membership to the 3,000 mark, an objective not yet reached since the Civic Centre opened three years ago.

Included in the programs will be a number of special interest features which have been developing during the last couple of years and have now reached a high stage of organizational efficiency.

Among these are programs carried on in co-operation with the University of B.C. Extension and exhibition basketball games and imported and local boxing and wrestling shows.

GOVERNOR ADDRESSES LOCAL KIN

"Fellowship is the basis for true Kinsmanship," declared Syd Welsh, governor of district five association of Kinsmen Clubs, in an address to the local club during their regular dinner meeting in the Civic Centre last night.

"In some cases there has been a tendency for clubs to undertake projects which demand large sums of money with the result that members find themselves in big business rather than being a part of a fellowship group. And most men," continued the speaker, "have enough work to do during the day and they don't appreciate being forced to do a large amount of business on meeting nights."

"Consequently, there is a swing away from big club projects and a move towards community efforts where there is a chance to do a great deal of work while enjoying fellowship at the same time. Tolerance, co-operation and understanding," he reminded his listeners, "is part of Kinsmanship in any club activities undertaken."

Referring to Prince Rupert Kinsmen Club projects, the Governor acknowledged that operating the Kiddies Kamp at Lakelse Lake was a big undertaking which required a large money-raising campaign each year.

Speaking of the national convention of the Kinsmen Association held in Edmonton this year, Mr. Welsh paid tribute to the organizing ability of the Edmonton club. Representatives of the convention committee met the trains and welcomed delegates. They had stations, under Kinsmen banners, on all the highways entering the city so that delegates arriving by car could be greeted and directed to their hotel and convention hall.

Even the airport had a welcoming delegation and everything was done to make the visitors feel at home. Scattered as the delegates were in the various hotels throughout the city, mooting the speaker thought the committee did a good job.

I have no axe to grind," he asserted.
