Blockade Runner Hit By Over Two Hundred Shells

HONG KONG (CP)—Six passengers were killed and seven wounded yesterday when two Chinese Nationalist warships pumped more than 200 shells into the British blockade runner Cheung Hing of Amoy.

The attack took place on the high seas some 20 miles outside territorial waters, it was reported. The Cheung Hing, an 800 ton coastal steamer, had aboard more than 100 Chinese passengers and a crew of 62, including four Europeans. She was under command of Capt. J. Skinner. The vessel has been engaged in blockade running for the past six months.

Exhumed For Re-interment

Remains of Henry Heilbroner, who died October 1, 1933, were exhumed from Fairview Cemetery yesterday and forwarded last night on the Camosun to Vancouver where they will be re-interred beside his mother, Mrs. Max Heilbroner, who died recently.

Henry Heilbroner died here at the age of 23 from a cerebral hemorrhage after an ascent of Mount Oldfield with Alex Mitchell and James Bremner. He was born in Vancouver and was a graduate of Royal Military Hospital at Kingston, later joining his father in the jewelry business here.

His mother, Mrs. Heilbroner, passed away a few weeks ago in Phoenix, Arizona, and her body was brought back to Vancouver for burial.

The widower, Max Heilbroner, and his daughter, Mrs. R. J. Carson, are now in Ottawa.

Lucky In Drawings

Job's Daughters Jamboree Comes to Successful Conclusion

Interest centered Saturday night as the Job's Daughters three-day jamboree closed with a bigger crowd than ever in the drawing of prizes in the many raffles. Lucky tickets in the grand raffle were drawn by the honored queen, Miss Donna McArthur, assisted by Miss Dorothy Kergin and Miss Agnes Smith. An added feature Saturday was a sale of home cooking conducted by Mrs. J. W. Eastwood and Mrs. J. P. Macdonald and Miss Dorothy Kergin.

Principal raffles were:

- Pair of silver fox furs, donated by Bill Scuby, won by Frank LeBlac, No. 1558.
- Round trip to Vancouver, Miss Ruth Ketcheson.
- Winners of smaller raffles will be published tomorrow.

Liberals Lead In Jap Voting

TOKYO (CP)—Japanese voters, exercising their war-born governmental voice in Sunday's election, apparently rebuked legislators who joined the April revolt against General Douglas MacArthur.

Incomplete returns showed they gave only sparing support in the House Councillors' election to the dominant Green Wind society, which openly opposed MacArthur's occupation headquarters on the tax and reform bill. The verdict continued the anti-Communist trend, with Liberal and Social Democrat parties seeking dominance. Liberals had 39 of the 98 seats decided upon.

Low Rates To Remain

OTTAWA (CP)—Transport Minister Lionel Chevrier said in the Commons last night that he does not think the government has any intention of increasing Western Canada's low statutory rates on grain and grain produce.

The minister said he personally would oppose any attempt to hoist Crow's Nest Pass rates except from the general rate increases under the 1925 federal statute. The day-long debate on freight rates was broken off late last night in the Commons after government policy on the issue was attacked and defended and the Opposition had proposed two motions censuring the government's rate-making agency.

Transport Minister Chevrier announced the moves would be taken up by the government as motions of confidence.

Rotarian Party Stops at Rupert

A party of 150 New York state Rotarians and their wives arrived in Prince Rupert this morning aboard the C.P.R. steamer Princess Kathleen, Capt. G. O. Hughes. They arrived at 9:30 and sailed at 11:30. Some local Rotarians were on the dock to meet them.

The ten day cruise started at Vancouver Saturday night and arrived here for its first stopover before sailing on to Ketchikan, where the vessel will remain 2½ hours tonight. They then go on to Juneau, Skagway and Wrangell and back. The tour will again visit Prince Rupert Sunday.

COMING ALONG—Toronto's $52,000,000 subway is taking shape as concrete work is carried out. This is Queen and Yonge streets intersection, in downtown Toronto. Tracks run on concrete beds, three feet deep. Platforms will be at far left and right, and will be built to the level of car floors. Overhead traffic—street cars and automobiles—now is moving on a temporary wooden street surface. (CP Photo)

Girl is Slugged in Frisco Room

SAN FRANCISCO (CP)—Mystery today shrouded the savage bludgeoning in the pre-dawn of Sunday of an attractive Canadian girl as she lay in bed.

The victim, Mary McIntyre, 25, formerly of Vancouver, is an advertising agency secretary. She was in a critical condition. Motive for the attack was not apparent.

She had not been criminally assaulted. Her wallet, containing possibly $15 or $20, was missing. The attack occurred in her basement apartment and she was found after two mysterious telephone calls—one to a relative and the other to police—by an unidentified man.

Miss McIntyre came here from Vancouver five years ago.

Flood Fund Is Growing

Prince Rupert's Manitoba Flood Relief Fund is mounting rapidly with a total of published acknowledgements to date standing at $1386.41.

This total includes $707.98 accounted for by the central flood committee at the City Hall up to late last week and $678.43 collected by the Daily News up to the week-end.

Contributions made direct to banks as well as the results of a number of special efforts are not yet taken into account in this total.

Disappointment Felt At Britain's Not Entering

LONDON (CP)—Profound disappointment was the first reaction in diplomatic and political quarters outside the British Government to Britain's decision to stay out of the Schuman plan for pooling of European coal and steel. This was only partly mitigated by the hope that the door may be kept open for British participation later.

Six European governments in Paris announced Saturday they will participate in the economic pooling plan. A Foreign office announcement said Britain is not entering the plan.

Prime Minister Attlee is expected to discuss today with cabinet colleagues the consequences of the British decision. The full cabinet is expected to meet Tuesday to review the events of last week which culminated in the announcement of the pool plan.

Opposition leader Winston Churchill is known to be strongly sympathetic to the Schuman plan. He gave it his blessing recently through the European organization of which he is chairman.

Plan To Have Leopold On Throne Again By July 1

BRUSSELS (CP)—The Social Christian party, victorious in Sunday's Belgian Parliamentary elections, embarked today on a program to bring exiled King Leopold III back to the throne. Party leaders predicted this will be accomplished by July 1 but leaders of the anti-Leopold opposition were not so sure.

The social Christians, predominantly a Roman Catholic party, won 107 seats in the lower house against 105 combined for the anti-Leopold forces of Socialists, Liberals and Communists.

Succumbs On Fishing Trip

Ole Christopher Wick, boat builder and fisherman, passed away suddenly Sunday morning while fishing with his son John in their boat B.C. Eagle off Bonilla Island. Mr. Wick had been helping to repair the automatic pilot and collapsed on the deck. He had had his fifty-seventh birthday Friday, June 2.

Born in Norway, he came to New York in 1921 and to Prince Rupert in 1922. In 1924 he married Ruth Solberg. Beside operating a boat building shop at Cow Bay, he has been actively engaged at fishing.

Surviving beside his widow are a sister in Norway, one brother, Dan Wick, Prince Rupert; a daughter, Mrs. Ed Wahl, jr., Digby Island; and two sons, John and Ralph, Prince Rupert.

The funeral will be held Tuesday afternoon.

Truman Signs Foreign Aid

WASHINGTON (CP)—President Truman signed a $3,121,450,000 foreign aid authorization bill today, calling it a "major contribution to the peace and freedom of the world." The measure authorized five programs of world wide aid, including funds for the third year of operation of the European recovery plan, and a start on the proposal to develop backward areas.

Catholic Rites For Joe Garon

Final tribute of church and friends was paid to the memory of another of Prince Rupert's pioneers this morning when high requiem mass for the repose of the soul of the late Joseph Garon was celebrated at the Church of the Annunciation by Rev. Father F. J. Rayner O.M.I. Many old friends and acquaintances gathered at the church where deceased for so many years had been a faithful worshipper.

Following the church rites, the cortege proceeded to Fairview Cemetery where interment was made in the Roman Catholic section.

Palbearers were J. L. Blain, Louis Amadio, Theo Fortune, Andre Letourneau, Joseph Cloutier and M. J. Saunders.

Yesterday afternoon prayers for the dead were said at the chapel of the B. C. Undertakers by Rev. Father Edmund Green, O.M.I. The chapel was filled with sympathizing friends.

"Outrage" That Prince Rupert Has No Air Field, Says Murray

OTTAWA—Speaking in debate when Northwest Staging Route air fields were before the House in committee, George Murray, Liberal M.P. for Cariboo, took occasion to put in a word for the proposed air field at Prince Rupert which the organizations of the north British Columbia coast port, led by their Chamber of Commerce, are campaigning for.

"It is an outrage," declared Mr. Murray, "than an important rail terminal like Prince Rupert should be denied modern airport facilities."

When E. D. Fulton, Kamloops, B.C., moved that an item of $50,000 be struck out of a vote of $4,489,330 for airfields in the northwest, Mr. Murray asked if the cut would take away from proposed services in his riding of Cariboo.

Hon. Lionel Chevrier, Minister of Transport, said it would certainly do so.

Mr. Murray said that it would be an outrage to reduce sums voted to improve airfields in the Northwest Staging Route such as Fort St. John, Fort Nelson or Whitehorse.

When Mr. Fulton persisted with his resolution to cut down the vote, Mr. Murray accused him of refusing money which might well be spent within the riding of Kamloops.

"They need a modern airport at Williams Lake," Mr. Murray said, "voted down by a large majority."

Sad But True

MANY of us may find it hard to believe that our northern neighbor and former wartime ally, the U.S.S.R., is pursuing some seriously unfriendly purpose in its conduct of "the cold war." It might serve our future well if we do not follow the path of least trouble, telling ourselves that, surely, things are never as bad as they seem and that in the end everything will turn out well.

One gentleman whose opinions about Russia and about Moscow's ultimate aim should receive attention and respect is Lt.-General Walter Bedell Smith, the former United States Ambassador to Russia. As the title of his recent book, "My Three Years in Moscow," suggests, General Smith has had ample opportunity to examine the aims and activities of the world's chief communist state.

In discussing whether or not the Red leaders want to make war on us, their former allies, General Smith states that both Lenin and Stalin have long tutored their followers that the world's people would some day be divided into two camps—the believers in communism and the believers in capitalism. Stalin, says General Smith, had the choice at the end of World War II of seeking our continuing friendship or of dividing the world around these two hostile centres. Having chosen division and ultimate destruction of our capitalist society, the Kremlin now seeks every means possible short of war of destroying us; and, should circumstances require it and communist victory seem probable, Russia will be ready to attack us directly with arms.

Having reached this realistic conclusion General Smith does not suggest that we are doomed to servility in a world united under the communist police state. Peace, says General Smith, is possible. In the General's own words: "It is impossible to escape the conclusion that the best assurance of peace is our strength and determination to support our convictions. . . . More than military and economic strength is required. The total strength of the nation embraces such factors as education and national health, family life and opportunity, and the incentive for individual achievement. That national strength rests on the passionate devotion of our people to the free way of life."

General Smith, of course, was addressing his own countrymen. His advice applies equally to this democratic nation.

PHYSICAL ACTIVITY NECESSARY

PEOPLE are born with a body that needs vigorous activity to keep it in condition, and they have to respect that need or content themselves with dwindling powers says Dr. Doris W. Plewes in an article—"Fitness is Their Heritage and You are Their Trustee"—in the current issue of the magazine Health.

"Properly developed and maintained vigorous activity is enjoyable and exhilarating," writes Dr. Plewes. "Most of us could be supple at 60 if we lived a physically active life. When society regards physical illiteracy as deplorably stupid and as socially unacceptable then people will devote attention to the development of physical powers."

Dr. Plewes says men and women engaged in commerce and industry may not need the muscular development and the strength of pioneers but good digestions, sound hearts and lungs and a vigorous well-developed body are necessities for an efficient and satisfactory life.

She describes bodies as being made up of 206 bones moved by 696 muscles mobilized by thousands of nerve fibres and refreshed by 100,000 miles of blood vessels. All these are energized by a complex mechanism of internal organs. Designed for action, bodies are provided with remarkable devices for regeneration and repair.

"However, because the complex mechanisms of your body are subject to wear and tear, to sabotage and to breakdown it does make a difference how you live," writes Dr. Plewes. "Improper food lowers energy supply, inadequate exercise depletes physical efficiency, harmful substances sabotage nervous reactions. Emotional disturbances burn out some parts and paralyze others."

IT COST US $3.50 FOR two balcony seats to see Thomas Mitchell in the powerful play "Death of a Salesman." That was several times more than we would have paid for the best movie. But we came away more sure than ever that the live theatre has a power and a pull—or rather grip—which the movies, radio or television can never have.

The matinee performance was marred a bit because the workmen, putting up the huge advertising signs which are already defacing our new and potentially finest Vancouver square, kept right on pounding on the walls of the theatre.

But the noise was not as distracting as one might imagine. It was a sort of unplanned off stage sound effect that fitted in with the play.

THOMAS MITCHELL IS A good actor—indeed if I were a professional theatre critic and not merely a paying customer, I would say a superb actor.

The supporting cast in this play is good too. In fact it has to be good. For if it were not good some of the scenes would flop disastrously. For instance when the schoolboy athlete son Biff makes an unexpected call on his Dad and finds a strange unclad female in Dad's hotel room.

Biff breaks down and cries. If that scene were not well acted it could result in raucous laughter, and theatrical disaster.

WHEN YOU SEE A GREAT actor like Thomas Mitchell in this powerful play you realize, not only the difference there is between the live theatre and the movies, or television. But you realize also how much the other media owe to the live theatre.

What will the movies do when the dwindling supply of live theatre actors runs out? Only a small percentage of the performers on the screen can really act. The movie producers get them by, by technical tricks. But the few real actors carry the load.

I cannot understand why, in their own self interest, the movies do not work out some scheme of keeping the live theatre in existence, if only to protect their own investment.

IN "DEATH OF A SALESMAN" the producers have borrowed many of the techniques from movies and radio. (Hold everything, you experts on Shakespeare—I know he used the double stage effect—and maybe also the fade-in and flash-back devices too.)

But I doubt that these Hollywood techniques add much to the grip of this powerful play.

What may have added to the feeble power of its grip is perhaps, the double theme. Some might see in the story, not just the tragic break up of one typical old style commercial traveller. Some might also see in it the 1950 mood of Uncle Sam.

SOME MIGHT SAY THAT this crack-up of one super-salesman, Willy, was the symbolic crack-up of the Great American Dream that you can saletalk glad-hand, or high-pressure yourself through the cartellized world of 1950 as you could say through the open-frontier world of 1900 or 1910.

Some might say that when the psychologically-sick son, Biff, finally got the gumption to bust through the whole tissue of lies, fakes and fantasies—and to start all over again earning his living with real work and real sweat—that the American national Rip Van Winkle was waking up at last.

LETTERBOX

REPORT CLARIFIED

Editor, Daily News:
It would be appreciated if you would clarify the following items in your report of a brief sketch of fishing activities which I gave to the Rotary Club.

1. The 9,000,000 pounds landed in Seattle compared to the 17,000,000 pounds landed in Prince Rupert were HALIBUT and such fact should have been stated. Nine million pounds, if the kind of fish is not stated, is such a small amount of fish that it conveys no meaning.

2. I said nothing about Seattle boasting; I simply gave a comparison between two great fishing ports.

3. The "pictures" of herring mentioned in your report were stated by me as the picture which the record of the Echo Sounder gives.

4. An example of 100,000 sockeye on a spawning ground was taken to illustrate aspects of the sockeye life history.

No mention was made of any actual number of salmon being on any spawning ground since it is too early in the year for any such statement.

A hundred thousand sockeye is such a comparatively small number that it would not be a very bright spot in the whole scene.

In one branch of the Skeena River alone, where the Department has facilities for accurate counting, 504,027 sockeye were recorded last year.

G. S. READE,
Regional Supervisor of Fisheries.

ON BEING PASSED UP

Editor, Daily News:

I am writing you as a stranger and a new arrival to Prince Rupert. I am working on construction at Watson Island and had business to transact Saturday with a notary public in the city.

The buses were not leaving until too late in the afternoon so I attempted to hitch hike into Prince Rupert. Walking a muddy road in the rain left me time to consider what's wrong with Prince Rupert and do you know what I discovered?

About six empty and near empty cars passed me up in the rain and the mud.

Now, Mr. Editor, a town comprised of people of that type fit perfectly into the kind of a town I don't want to live in. And when I leave it will be to never return.

This is now what makes towns grow.

I wonder, Mr. Editor, if you will print this letter. If you do the next pilgrim may get a lift. If you don't print it I won't be surprised and will figure the editor is like the rest of the people around here.

New Store Is Started

Construction of a 25 x 94 foot reinforced concrete store building for Overwater Limited was started yesterday by Northwest Construction Ltd. on the lot next to a lane that separates it from the Killas and Christopher block on Third Avenue.

Of completely modern design throughout, the front will be recessed and will feature large plate glass windows. Floors will be reinforced concrete slabs. Lighting will be completely fluorescent. Shelving will be clear varnished wood.

Strictly self service, the customer will be confronted with the fresh fruit and vegetable racks on entering the store. Next port of call is the refrigerator section. The shelving goes right around the store. Running down the centre will be a gondola service counter.

At the exit will be the check off girl with a new "Speedy Counter," electrically controlled. She sets the control at a speed to work and the counter, a large disk, brings the purchases to her.

Construction is expected to be completed in 10 weeks.

Good Seeding Progress Made

WINNIPEG—Reasonably good progress has been made in most sections of the western crop area during the past week, according to the weekly crop report of the department of agriculture of the Canadian National Railways.

This, however, is one of the latest seeding seasons on record. Widely scattered showers and rains occurred but total participation was light. Cool weather and fairly strong winds succeed a brief period of higher temperatures and caused some soil drifting and a further delay in seeding at some points.

Practically no cash crops will be sown in the flooded Red River valley where signs of scattered field operations may be observed and where some farmers hope to seed up to 20 per cent of their land to feed crops. Sugar beet acreage will be reduced but probably not as much as generally expected, owing to the increasing acreage of beets being planted at points removed from the flood.

Ship Owners Meet On Boycott Threat

SCHEVENINGEN, Netherlands

The International shipping federation representing ship owners of 14 countries including Canada met yesterday to discuss the threatened union boycott of Panamanian shipping.

The boycott was ordered April 18 by the seafarers section of the International Transport Workers federation. The union said it was to "stop the unscrupulous practices of ship owners who have switched to Panamanian and similar flags to enforce adequate living and working conditions in these ships."

Morris Still Flood Centre

WINNIPEG — First detailed reports of flood damage came from Morris, 41 miles south, as the Red River dropped slowly along its whole course.

There were 58 houses destroyed, 60 barns and 922 basements flooded. First floors flooded amounted to 813, second floors 19 and 420 barns flooded. The town of 1,500 was still the centre of a flood formed lake.

SPORTS

Sport Shots Vancouverite
Main Winner

In recent football games there have been several infractions of the "throw-in" rule and, as a result, the offending team has lost the advantage of the "throw-in." This should be an advantage. It is as good as a well-calculated and well-executed pass to a teammate. Too many delays in the game as a result of these infractions tend to spoil the play. There are a few rules that footballers, and spectators, should know, about the proper way to throw in the ball.

The player may stand on or outside the boundary line. He must not be inside the playing pitch. He must face the field of play. He must make the throw with both hands and the movement of the throw must start from behind his head and continue over the head towards the playing pitch. He must keep a part of both feet on the ground.

A common infraction is taking one foot off the ground in an attempt to get great distance in to the throw. Another is in not starting the throw from behind the head but rather dropping the ball forward. A third infraction is when the throw is checked in midair and then continued.

A half-back who knows how to throw-in a ball is a great asset to his team. He should introduce variety into the throw. It may be a short or long one. It may be direct to his teammate or it may be over an opponent's head. It may call for a return to himself perhaps off his colleague's chest or foot.

In the recent games against the English touring team nearly all commentators mentioned the tremendous length an English halfback got into his throws.
When near the opponents' goal line it was as good as a centre into the goalmouth.

It is necessary that players know the rule and that they should take full advantage of the play. The penalty for an improper "throw-in" is that the ball goes to the opposing team.
As a rule the wing-half back should specialize in this feature and should have a good understanding with his teammates.
But it is a smart player who throws the ball in fast to gain an advantage. He does not need to wait for the whistle.

Robert Franklin of the Post Office staff returned to the city on Saturday night's train from a three weeks' vacation trip to Saskatoon.

Boxing—

A smart flashy fighter, winner of the British Columbia Golden Gloves this year, 170-pound Bob McGivern of Vancouver took the light heavyweight main match in a fight card at the Civic Centre
Saturday night by defeating Prince Rupert's 164-pound Bob Scharff. The fighters put on the best show of the evening. Scharff, although a good scrapper, tired out considerably during the last two rounds and, at the bell following the fourth and last two minute skirmish, was practically out on his feet and slumped wearily in his corner.

The match was the final bout of nine events in aid of the Manitoba Flood Relief fund. The crowd numbered about 400.

Following intermission Harry Yule, 135 pounds, wanted to challenge 132 pound Chuck Place and his light heavyweight crown.
But some of the officials would not have it. Prior to intermission, Place retained his title by knocking out Manfred Leavitt, a 133 pound fighter, in the first round of a scheduled three rounder.

Two fights were ruled as draws —first scrap between Ronnie Earl of Terrace and Jimmy O'Toole of Prince Rupert in the paperweight class and the fifth bout between 159 pound Clarence Gardener and 154 pound Johnny Fitzgerald. Fitz tripped and fell in two of the three rounds but put up a good fight. Both fighters were tired at the final bell.

In fact, there were quite a few tired boxers Saturday night.
McGivern and one or two other scrapers were in the pink of condition. That is what makes a good fight.

A ridiculous performance was put on by Doug Scott, 156 pounds when he was matched with 155 pound Bill Morrison, a much younger and better boxer. In the Civic Centre three weeks ago, Morrison beat out Scott and last night it appeared that Scott was out for revenge.

The fight was dirty. The crowd cheered when Morrison threw Scott down as Scott attempted to throw him (Morrison) out of the ring. In the first round, Morrison was nearly out of the ring and Scott was tired and in the last round of the scheduled tworounder was on his rear between the ropes.

Douglas Kushman, a 147 pound fighter from the Terrace Civic Centre, beat out Simon Wesley, a 142 pounder from the city.
Kushman was good. In fact, both were good scrappers—and clean. Wesley came out of the fight with a bloody nose.

Another fine match was between Pete Magnus, 130 pounder from Terrace, who took the match, and 129 pounder Pat Parnell from the city. First two rounds were fast and even but in the third, the shorter Parnell bowed out to Magnus.

In the semi-finals, 170 pound Bill Gardner of Terrace took the match from Wally Carlson, 164 pounder from Prince Rupert. The fight was stopped by Referee Benny Windle in the second round. It was an interesting fight but Carlson was injured, so the fight was killed.

Cecil Roberts was not hitting his opponent 119 pound Bud Cornish as hard as it appeared to the crowd. He was good and 113 pound scrapper had a good match when he tackled Cornish. Cornish tripped in the second round, but at the third round bell landed more blows than his opponent. But Roberts took the decision.

During intermission, entertainment was provided by a gentleman who jumped to the canvas and proceeded to go all out in song and dance act.

City firemen early Saturday morning extinguished a small blaze in the glove compartment of an Austin automobile. The vehicle was parked in the 100 block on Fourth Avenue East. Damage was very slight.

Hubert Ward returned to the city by plane Saturday from Sandspit following a business visit.

To insure publication of display or classified advertising copy for same must be in the office of the Daily News by 4 p.m. the day previous to advertising. Requirements of the mechanical department make this rule necessary.

"The things I will miss most are the papers and mementos of our married life," William McKay told the photographer who took this picture. His albums, lost when the Red River washed over his home at Morris, were especially precious as his wife passed away two years ago. Although they can never be restored to him, the Manitoba Flood Relief Fund will help Mr. McKay to replace his home furnishings. Home Rule For Scotland-England-But Irishman is Leading Movement

(By LOUIS MILLIGAN)

Just when the English had got rid of—or thought they had got rid of the pesky Home Rule for Ireland question, what should happen but that the Scots are out on the heather with their bagpipes, claymores, kilts and a demanding Home Rule for Scotland. True, they are not shooting the landlords—there are none left worth shooting — nor are they singing. "They're hangin' men and women for the wearin' o' the Thistle." But they are chanting "Scots Wha Hae," with an Irish accent. The movement was started by John McCormick, K.C., a name which reeks more of Dublin than Edinburgh, and the old defiant affirmation of Macgregor now runs: "Me foot's on my adopted heath, and me name's McCormick!"

The political relations between Scotland and England have been friendly enough since the Act of Union, and there has been little complaint from the Scots, for they got the best of the bargain, as usual. They not only retained their independence, they swarmed over the border—not to steal the cattle of Sassenach, as form most of the high positions in politics, finance and industry. This invasion from the North was bitterly described in that scurrilous book, "The Unspeakable Scot," by an Englishman, T. W. H. Crosland, as follows: "He is a fine gentleman whose father toils with a muck-fork. . . He is the bandy-legged lout from Tiltedulesleugh, who drops his threadbare kilt and comes south in a slop suit to instruct the English in the arts of civilization and in the English language."

Crosland, it should be stated, was a cross-grained Yorkshireman, who had himself migrated to London with a determination to crash the editorial sanctums of Fleet Street. But he found that the Scots had been there before him and had taken all the big jobs in the Fourth Estate. Indeed he found Scotsmen ahead of him everywhere, as another writer put it: "The Englishman is painfully aware that it is the Scot who thrusts him aside in the contest for many of the best prizes." Which reminds one of the old joke about the Scot who returned and was asked how he liked the English, and replied: "I didn't meet any, I only saw the heads of departments."

EVEN HADRIAN WARY

Crosland's satire on the Scots—he called them the "Scotch"—was very acid. He said that the Roman Emperor Hadrian "had the excellent sense to build a wall for the purpose of keeping the Scotch out of England." That it was "a Scotchman who introduced thistles into Canada, and that (very likely) it was a Scotchman who introduced rabbits into Australia." He said there were "only about three decent Scotchmen in England, one of whom is half English, the second half Irish, and the third (week in and week out) half drunk." This latter may have been Crosland himself, for he was reputed to have spent most of his time in the pubs of Fleet Street. He was a brilliant writer and no mean poet, none the less.

But the days of Scottish monopoly in London appear to have passed. A writer in The Recorder, who signs himself "A Welshman," says: "The Scot goes about London looking as if he is daily having a raw deal from the English. He is inclined to be morose, and in those long silences to which he is prone in company—when the innocent English imagine he is thinking—I suspect he is harboring dark thoughts on his present discontents in England. He is not happy perhaps because there are now so many Government departments filled by so many 'foreigners' in these islands, and in Fleet Street he grieves because in newspapers the Scots have lost their old supremacy." From my observation, they seem to have yielded their supremacy largely to Welshmen. The invasion began with Lloyd George, followed by a garrulous host of Men of Harlech from the coal mines of South Wales, who were chiefly responsible for the Labor Government. Between the Scotch and the Welsh, the English may well demand Home Rule for England.

The writer in The Recorder suggests that the reason for the Building Permits In Past Month

Building permits issued in the city last month dropped greatly in value in comparison with May last year and April this year. Fourteen permits issued last month totalled $8,726. In May 1949, the total was $80,000. April's total this year was $111,750. Largest permit issued last month was to G. Ciccone, for $4,000 to build a dwelling at Sixth Avenue West.

Other permits issued were:

H. McEachern, 1109 Beach Place, addition, $1,000.
J. H. Schuman, Seventh St., dwelling, $800.
S. M. Johnson, 718 Alfred St., alterations, $750.
O. Havroy, 171 Third Avenue East, repairs, $400.
E. Johnson, 339 Fifth Avenue West, re-roofing, $325.

Home Rule for Scotland movement is that "the Scots are angry about controls, regulations, and regimentation" under Socialism. "They are fed up and frustrated. They are tired of being messed about by Whitehall." That may be part of the trouble, but I believe the great influx of the Irish into Scotland, especially around Glasgow, has a great deal to do with the movement. Crosland wrote his book in 1902, and at that time he claimed that the Scotch were not capable of producing agitators, but if any did arise they would be "just as troublesome and just as noisy and truculent as is the Irish Party in their demand for Home Rule." Well, the agitators have arisen, but they are led by an Irishman, and his name's McCormick.

E. Hillman, 1125 Ambrose Ave., re-roofing, $275.
C. A. Callow, 1301 First Overlook, re-roofing, $252.
William Rothwell, 354 Sherbrooke, re-roofing, $200.
