"Mutiny" on Canadian Ship Inconsequential

(CP)—Naval headquarters officially last night the mystery surrounding an incident in Vancouver as a "minor mutiny," which lasted eight days aboard the tribal class ship Thabascan while the vessel was in the Mexican port of Acapulco.

A statement said that a group of seamen, instead of carrying out an order to work, requested to see the captain of the ship, Commander M. A. McLeod, 38-year-old commander, saw the group "not as captain but as the most senior officer available to offer advice."

The statement said that "so insignificant was the incident that no man will be charged with a more serious offence than slackness."

After the talk, the men carried on with their duties which were to refuel the ship.

The statement was prompted by publication in the Vancouver Sun of an anonymous letter purportedly written by a member of the thirty crew members involved, claiming that a two-hour mutiny had occurred. The men had wanted to smoke during the job.

The incident was described by the senior officer of the task force from Esquimalt, Captain James Hibbard, commander of H.M.C.S. Ontario, enroute to the Caribbean for manoeuvres, as a "flash affair."

The thirty men were ordered to do extra work and some of them lost their shore leave.

NOSTALGIC BASKETBALL—

Old Timers Still Have Vim and Spirit But Shooting Eyes Of Yesteryear Are Dimmed

Age put up a brave show but youth was not to be denied in the exhibition hoop session between old time girls and boys and top aggregations of present day basketball. Saturday night at Civic Centre. It was a sell-out house which saw Dom's, leaders of the modern Ladies' League, score an easy 24 to 11 victory over the girls of yesteryear after which the boys of the good old days extended the all stars of today's Senior League who eked out a second half victory to a final score of 57 to 37. It was all a good show to raise funds to send the local Job's Daughters drill team to a ceremonial in Spokane during the summer.

Although their bones may have creaked a bit and their shooting eyes were a little dimmer than when they were in their heyday, the oldsters lacked nothing in spirit and the will to do. The crowd was with them too and, with good humor pervading the air, there were many moments of excited enthusiasm, particularly when there should be a rally or attack by the pioneers, some of whom were going strong before their opponents of the evening were born. The real oldtimers were Laura Mitchell, whose last appearance in league play was back in 1926 and Benny Windle who hasn't tossed a melon in competition since the depression days of 1930.

But the daddy of all the pioneers was good old Lee Dell who played on Prince Rupert's first basketball team, long long ago in 1911 when the lads threw the sphere in Luke Marren's roller rink and the Methodist Church alley gym. Lee assisted another stout veteran of 20 years' service, Brick Skinner, as adjudicator for the evening.

And, if the old timers came back to glory on the playing floor for the evening, the spec-

The bill would give the central intelligence agency permanent statutory authority for things it now does under orders and emergency powers of the president.

Denies Christianity Communist In Origin

BIRMINGHAM, Eng. (CP)—Rev. Bryan Green of Birmingham said he disagreed with a statement by the Bishop of Birmingham, Dr. E. W. Barnes, that Christianity "had a Communist beginning."

The Anglican clergyman, who has preached in Canada and the United States on several occasions, said some of the first Christians were "undoubtedly moved to share a community life and were a real fellowship."

"But to call this fellowship 'Communist' is simply to mislead people," he said. "In modern times the word 'Communist' means Marxist Communism as exhibited in the philosophy which determines the Russian way of life."

"Beyond all argument this philosophy is utterly different from the philosophy which lay behind the early Christian community life. The first Christians loved God; Marxist Communism does not believe there is a God of love."

Mr. Green said the Communist experiment "can only succeed by force because it denies objective truth and absolute goodness."

No Change in Russian Foreign Policy Under Vishinsky Is Expected

WASHINGTON, D.C. (CP)—Western governments are still puzzling over the Moscow foreign ministry shake-up and are acting speedily to bolster their "frontier" against communism. The main conviction in Washington, London and Paris is summed up this way: Whether Moscow's diplomacy toward the west gets tougher, softer or continues unchanged, the primary responsibility of the western powers now is to be prepared to meet any contingency.

Many responsible authorities believe that the removal of V. M. Molotov from the foreign ministry and his replacement by Andrei Vishinsky, a man of lesser standing in Russia, means that the Russians are about to intensify internal programs and let up on communist expansion temporarily. They feel this may mean a new period of extreme Russian isolationism.

TRAIN ARRIVES HERE AT NOON

Held up by a rock slide at Sockeye, 17 miles east of the city, a westbound passenger train arrived here at noon today, 36 hours behind its scheduled time. It was reported at the office of Divisional Superintendent C. A. Berner that the line is now clear and that tonight's eastbound train will leave on time.

Work crews labored from Saturday morning until 11 a.m. today before the 100-foot slide, which contained huge boulders, was cleared from the rails. Meantime, the westbound passenger train waited at Tyeer, three miles farther east.

Among passengers on the train were members of the Aiyansh basketball team which was enroute here to compete in the northern B.C. native basketball tournament. They had gone overland from Aiyansh to Terrace.

Clearing of the rock slide was hampered by a couple of snowslides further east, near Kwinitsa, which kept part of the road clearing crew busy yesterday.

The eastbound passenger train will leave tonight at 8 o'clock for Jasper, barring any further trouble.

Author's Teacher Dies at Worthing

WORTHING, Eng. (CP)—Thomas George Treadgold, who once taught author P. G. Wodehouse at Dulwich College, died aged 95, in this Sussex town. Of Wodehouse, Treadgold once said: "There never was anyone at the school like 'Flum' for quiet humor. He sat at dinner making jokes that came from him naturally and without effort. He never had to try to be funny."

Known as "Treadie" to his scholars, Treadgold was Britain's oldest public schoolmaster when he retired in 1928.

Telephone Question

SINCE LAST DECEMBER when the voters of Prince Rupert recorded themselves by plebiscite as being in favor of proceeding with the financing of a new automatic telephone system at an estimated cost of $550,000, a good deal of thinking has been going on pro and con. It may be that some minds have been wavering on the subject on which the Daily News has already from time to time suggested it might be wise to proceed cautiously. Last week a letter was published in this paper from Ernest Love, formerly superintendent of utilities here and now operating the telephone system at Stewart, expressing the opinion that, by repair and extension, the existing telephone system, at a cost of within $100,000, could be put in shape to take care of all new demands for service for many years to come. Furthermore, the present congestion and inadequacy could thereby be relieved at least one year earlier than the proposed new plant could start to operate.

The question to carefully consider, therefore, is whether the project involving an outlay of $500,000 or more is absolutely necessary or whether the present telephone plant can be put in such shape as to meet the requirements for some time to come.

The majority of the city council is convinced in favor of the new automatic system and is endeavouring to speed the steps with the Department of Municipal Affairs at Victoria whereby the necessary money bylaw to finance it may be placed before the taxpayers.

On the other hand, there is Mr. Love, who is a telephone expert and knows the local system well, putting forth a view contrary to that of the majority of the council.

As the Daily News has pointed out already in discussing the telephone situation, the city is faced with the spending of a large amount of money on the rehabilitation of its sadly deteriorated schools. The vital water supply system is admittedly in a perilous state of disrepair. The sewer system is in an odoriferously bad condition. The deplorable condition of the streets all over the city is the subject of loud and vociferous protest.

In view of all this, it is not surprising that there should be the question developing in the public mind as to whether a large portion of the city's credit should be risked on the installation of the automatic telephone system at this time, even though the city fathers do contend that the new system would be fully self-liquidating if not on the basis of the present rates at least by means of an increase in rates which seem to be in the air—popular or unpopular as it might be.

If all things were equal, it is certainly questionable if the ratepayers would be as enthusiastic about a fully modern telephone system as they would be about such things as better schools, an assured water supply, an efficient and adequate sewer system or decent city streets and sidewalks and other lesser things.

The city council might be well advised to have a competent survey made by a really disinterested telephone engineer.

CRONJE'S SURRENDER

Editor, Daily News:

The recent account of the surrender of General Cronje of the Boer Army reminds one of many incidents of the retreat and surrender of the famous General. The retreat started from Magersfontein where Cronje and his commandos beat off with terrible loss the attacks of the Highland Brigade under General Wauchope and it was only when General French came along with a cavalry brigade and threatened Cronje's rear that the latter called it a day and moved quietly along the Vaal River followed by French to Paardeberg where Cronje made a brief but heroic stand before surrendering to Lord Roberts. It was with the cavalry at the time we received orders to follow the line of retreat to cope with isolated bodies of Boers who, detaching themselves from the main army, indulged in sniping tactics. We were employed in what might be called "mopping up" in keeping them away from the main army. One could follow the course of Cronje's retreat along the river by various articles of equipment lying about. Many of these were Bibles. The Boers were a very religious race and we could sometimes hear them singing hymns as we endeavored to creep nearer at night. I intended to get some Bibles for souvenirs. There were plenty lying around but they were covered with vermin so I gave up the attempt. We became lousy ourselves. I thought we would surely have to emulate Lady Godiva of literary fame but the fierce rays of the sun prevented us from riding totally bareback. There were also large flies with venomous bite. So we had to "read our shirts" for protection sake. It was a weird sight to see lines of infantry stripped naked, along the river (under cover of a guard, of course) indulging in the intellectual pastime of "reading their shirts." No amount of individual cleanliness would keep the vermin away. Anyone who was in the World War and trenches will understand what "reading a shirt" means. It was only when we reached a small house or "dorp" and obtained insect powder and ointment that there was some relief from the microscopic pests.

After the surrender, capture of Bloemfontein and relief of Ladysmith, the war became guerrilla warfare. The Boer War is ancient history now but, when I see a Bible, my thoughts return to Cronje's retreat from Magersfontein to his surrender at Paardeberg. One could only recount many incidents, some amusing, some not so amusing "but that's another story" as Kipling says.

Reminiscences and Reflections

By W.J.

Because of slides, there has been a short delay in the arrival of wheat at Vancouver. About 2,500 cars, carrying four million bushels are now being delivered to the waiting elevators and ships. But what do Vancouver elevators know about waiting? We happen to know about a plant in Prince Rupert that has been doing nothing but wait for the past nine years without even seeing a pound of grain.

In 1867, Seward, United States Secretary of State, bought Alaska from Russia for seven million. He didn't figure that eighty-two years later, Yankees would be flying around the earth in four days, and from an international standpoint, Alaska would be North America's most important corner. Or did he?

Toronto's three big dailies circulate in Brampton and an effort is being made to bar their sale in that town in order to protect Brampton's two small weeklies. That's getting off on the wrong foot. Inability to successfully compete is no valid excuse to deny to others the right to offer competition.

Morning mist at Prince Rupert can also be called morning fog but it does not seem to have the latter's staying qualities.

Modern Etiquette

By ROBERTA LEE

Q. What would be considered the height of discourtesy in conversation?
A. Inattention. If a person is well-bred, whether interested or not, he will show interest in what someone else is saying. Many people who talk little are extremely popular because of their attention to what others have to say.

Q. If the employer in a large office is to be married, should an employee give him an individual gift?
A. It would be better to suggest to other employees that a contribution be given for the purchase of one gift from all.

Q. What should one have printed or engraved on writing paper used for social correspondence?
A. A monogram seems to be the most popular ornamentation.

HOT SHOOTING IN MIXED PINS

The Mixed Five-Pin Bowling League held one of its more decisive sessions this week with five of the 18 teams making complete sweeps over their less accurate opponents, a situation that puts pressure on those at the top of the highly competitive league standing. However, Headpinners, the almost traditional leaders, still hold top position by a one-point margin.

Everybody seemed to be in good form and some notable individual scores were run up. J. Graham of Pushovers totaled a 355 score for the highest single game, then proceeded to bowl 869 for the highest triple, averaging a substantial 290.

Among the ladies, M. Flynn of Pushovers bowled 290 for the highest single game and Bertha Dunbar of Maceys XXX rolled 736 for the top three-game score. Her average was 245.

Johnny Comadina Is Coming Back

Johnny Comadina will be back on the basketball floor at the Civic Centre tonight, handling the whistle in the Senior game. Last week, Comadina announced his retirement in protest at certain comments which had been made concerning his adjudications. Since then several appeals have been made for Johnny to return and he has now consented to do so. Senior arbiter for the hoop sport in the city, league officials and the large body of the fans will, doubtless, welcome his return.

NATIVE HOOP TOURNAMENT

Ten Teams to Battle in Three Day Meet

Competitors in the third annual Northern British Columbia native basketball tournament met this afternoon at the office of the Native Brotherhood to hold a drawing for teams which will compete for the B.C. Packers Trophy, symbol of native hoop glory on the north coast.

Ten teams will battle during the three day meet. It is expected that the competition will also include a consolation round in which losing teams will be matched as they fall before the winners.

Kitimaat is the present holder of the B.C. Packers trophy which it won at the 1948 tournament.

Teams which are competing this year are Kitimaat, Kitkatla, Port Simpson Y.P.A., Bella Coola, Greenville, Hartley Bay, Port Simpson Athletic Association, Aiyansin, Massett and Melakakla.

Between the BASKETS

No less than ten teams will be ready for the whistle tomorrow night for the opening of the third annual basketball tournament for the Native Brotherhood for Northern British Columbia and the B.C. Packers Trophy now held by Kitimaat. The teams started arriving as early as Saturday afternoon with Ed. Clifton and his Hartley Bay outfit being the first to appear. In previous tournaments the 'championship club' has played an exhibition game here with Bo-Me-Hi before returning home but this year it is the wish of the local Basketball Association that the Native Association set-up a committee to give

FIRST ROUND NEARLY OVER

Games played in the Canadian Legion English billiards tournament over the week-end reduced the number of matches still to be played in the first round to three.

In the opening game of the day W. L. Gordon (plus 15) won an interesting game over W. Nesbitt, a newcomer to Legion billiard tournaments, whose handicap was plus 10, by a score of 150 to 131. The game was very even until after the century had been passed when Gordon made a faultless break of 23 which gave him a lead which he maintained until the finish.

In the second game, Bruce Simundson (plus 35) defeated Bert Morgan (plus 25) with a score of 150 to 116. Morgan started very badly and his opponent had a substantial lead before he (Morgan) picked up with a well played break of 23.

The closing game of the day provided an exciting finish when P. M. Ray played W. J. Rance on even terms, won by the narrow margin of 4 points with a score of 150 to 146. Rance led at the start, but both players were even at 45 and Ray reached his 100 while Rance stuck at 58. Rance then made a faultless break of 26 and gradually caught up with his opponent, the score when the last shot was played standing at 148 to 146 in favor of the winner.

OLD TIMERS - MODERNS

ter was all for the Old Timers as their aggressive playing kept Dom's on the defence. They started to hit the basket and came with a rush that saw them score 7 points before Dom's dropped in their lone one of the quarter. The final bell went with the score 24-11 and the Old Timers still playing hard.

Even after all these years the game showed that the Old Timers had lost none of their craftiness and playing knowledge. The only department where they fell down was in their shooting. Their playing suggested that basketball in their day was of a more robust character than generally played today.

THE BOYS

In the second game of the evening, the Old Time boys came close but weakened in the final quarter and then the All Stars forged ahead and won handily 57 to 37.

The Old Timers started the scoring when Captain Sonny Stiles, who holds an all-time city scoring record of 52 points in a game, dropped in a lay-up shot. With this as a start they went into a 7-4 lead but then the All Star offence with snappy passing got into high gear with Morgan and Arney leading the way and they took a 12-9 lead at quarter time. The Old Timers checked close and played an aggressive type of ball in the second quarter and kept the All Stars bottled up although Morgan shook loose and scored six points to give the team a 23-14 lead. It looked like the All Stars would make a run-away of the game but the Old Timers came right back with Sonny Stiles leading the way and bringing them up to within one point of the All Stars when the half time whistle sounded with the score 23-22.

In the third quarter the defences tightened up on both teams and points were a little hard to get as ball handling came to the front with each team trying for the break that would give them a score. The Old Timers ran neck and neck with the All Stars and, with about two minutes to go, they took over the lead 29 to 28 when Stiles grabbed a rebound and scored. The score brought a big cheer from the crowd. This lead, the last the pioneers were to have, didn't last very long as the fast-passing All Stars whipped the ball around and Lavigne and MacPhee broke loose to score before the three-quarter whistle blew with the youngsters on top 32-29. In the final quarter the fast pace began to tell on the Old Timers and the fast-moving All Stars poured through a riddled defence to pile up a lead. The Old Timers fought hard but time was against them as the final seconds came up and ended the game.

In the men's game Skinner again acted as referee and was helped by Art Murray, well known in basketball circles and current coach of the Brownwoods entry in the Senior League.

The coach of the ladies' team was Alex Mitchell and of the men's team, Bud Barrie, who has coached many teams in the past.

Individual scoring:

SURPRISE IN HOOP SHOOT

Upset by Grant Stewart - Competition Going Strong

Grant Stewart provided the surprise upset in Friday night's hoop-shoot when he took Bill Seuby's measure in no uncertain terms. Ted Arney turned in the best score to date when 14 of his 15 possibilities swished through the hoop. Tonight will see the finish of the first round with 44 contestants in the junior and open divisions playing off for the chance to enter the second round. Lack of entries in the girls' division has prompted the committee in charge to abandon this shoot for the time being.

Here are tonight's contestants:

Before Junior game - Patrick Parnell and Phil Lyons, Art Parnell and Ronnie Ciccone.

Junior half-time - Chris Erickson and Alf Hodgkinson, Roy and Robert Pedersen, Ron Berg and Bill Sedgwick.

Junior, Girls' game interval - Raoul Feness and Don Leighton, Bill Martin and Dennis Waters, Bill Toderas and Norm Sather.

Girls half-time - Joe Walsh and Alan Hartwig, Barrie Watson and Harold Marshall, L. Kristmonson and Bob Scharff.

Girls intermediate interval - Andy Owen and Bob Vackoich, Oscar Mercer and Stewart Hills.

Intermediate half-time - Angus MacPhee and Sonny Beynon, Art Olsen and Doug Shier, Don Scherk and F. Simonsen.

Intermediate - Senior interval - Alan Hurst and Don Forward, Ron McClymont and Stan Corpwell, Emil Blain and R. E. Montador.

Senior half-time - George Howe and J. L. Blain, Denny Thain and Don Stewart, Jack MacLeod and Tony Crawley.

The senior game half-time interval has developed into a period for the settling of private feuds. The fans will no doubt get a laugh out of the attempts of City Engineer Don Stewart to best City Clerk Denny Thain and Daily News Reporter Jack MacLeod to demonstrate his superiority over Jay Stiles grabbed a rebound and scored. The score brought a big cheer from the crowd. This lead, the last the pioneers were to have, didn't last very long as the fast-passing All Stars whipped the ball around and Lavigne and MacPhee broke loose to score before the three-quarter whistle blew with the youngsters on top 32-29. In the final quarter the fast pace began to tell on the Old Timers and the fast-moving All Stars poured through a riddled defence to pile up a lead. The Old Timers fought hard but time was against them as the final seconds came up and ended the game.

BETWEEN BASKETS

All-Star rating to at least ten of their boys and that those ten then play off with local All-Stars. So far there has been no decision on this matter.

The S.R.O. sign is being used often these days and the old timers' games on Saturday night were another occasion. This morning the sale of tickets for the Native tournament assured the promoters that there will be a sell-out each night and, for that matter, an overflow. Many were a little surprised on seeing the crowd Saturday night and were happy when they saw the show the boys put on. It is well worth it from the fans' standpoint. From the dressing room used by the elders in the ladies class after their game the strains of the current popular favorite "There ain't nobody here but us chickens" could be heard for blocks. Even though it has been a few moons since many of them played the game the old girls gave an excellent account of themselves and whether they were able to "rise and shine" Sunday morning is their business.

Tonight Bo-Me-Hi and Brownwoods tangle to try to straighten out the league standing to a point where the Association can get the play-offs started. Bo-Me-Hi will be favored to take the game due to the absence of Everett Pierce of Brownwoods who injured his foot while playing against Savoy's Friday night.

SLIDE VICTIM IS UNDER AGAIN

Abc Quinn survived burial in the winter's biggest snowslide on the lower Skeena last week but the reaction got him down. The 40-year-old bulldozer operator, who was brought here by special train Thursday afternoon for medical treatment after a snowslide buried him near Kwinitsa, appeared in police court and pleaded guilty to a charge of drunkenness. He was fined $10 by Magistrate W. D. Vance.

He was picked up by the city police Thursday night when he was found wandering about a downtown business block and placed in the cells.

"I wish I had stayed in hospital," Quinn said ruefully. He could not recall the events of the evening, he told the court.

Quinn was released from hospital late Thursday afternoon, a few hours after being brought here for treatment for face and head injuries suffered when a snowslide buried him and his snow-clearing bulldozer.

The snowslide which buried him was said to be the biggest to come down on the railway line this winter. He was clearing snow from along the line, three miles west of Kwinitsa when it began to move at 9 o'clock yesterday morning.

Quinn saw the slide coming and headed his machine in the direction of its movement, hoping that it would come down behind him. However, it buried him in about eight feet of snow. His cries for help were heard through a crack in the snow.

The cab of the bulldozer provided him with sufficient air to stay conscious and he was able to cut a hole in the snow for further air, while workmen were digging him out, a two-hour operation.

WOULD FENCE QUEENSLAND CANNIBALS

A suggestion that a fence to keep the state free from dingoes might be built from the wool equalization fund, has been suggested to the Queensland government. The estimated cost is $450,000 ($1,800,000) and the job would take six years to complete.
