

Duplessis Wins Sweeping Victory

Quebec Government Is Strongly Re-Mandated

QUEBEC (CP)—Premier Duplessis' Union Nationale party held undisputed power in Quebec today with an unprecedented following of 82 members in the 92-seat House. The 12-year old party, first elected in the 1936 landslide that cut 39 years of Liberal rule, far outdid that performance yesterday.

The standing for 1948, compared with 1944 is:

Union Nationale, 82 (48).
Liberals, 8 (37).
Bloc Populaire, 0 (4).
C. C. F., 0 (1).
Nationalist, 1 (1).
Independent, 1 (0).
Total, 92 (91).

There is an additional seat in 1948.

The Liberal opposition, which held 33 seats in the last Legislature, saw Adelard Godbout, Liberal leader, defeated in his own L'Islet.

The Union of Electeurs, which contested every seat, failed to make a single win, the leader J. Ernest Grogier, even being beaten.

Guy-Merrill Desaulniers, heading a seven-man C.C.F. attempt, was toppled together with his followers.

With fifteen percent of the polls still to report, the total vote was only 80,000 short of the 1944 record of 1,330,059 when Quebec women voted for the first time.

OTTAWA REACTION

At Ottawa a statement from the Minister of External Affairs, Rt. Hon. Louis St. Laurent, said he was more determined than ever to go before the national Liberal convention as a candidate for the leadership. The Liberal party, the statement said, need not be discouraged because of the result in Quebec. It was still the main bulwark against socialism in Canada but all Liberals would have to redouble their efforts.

In Montreal, Mayor Camilien Houde called upon St. Laurent to resign as he did not represent the interests and aspirations of the province or Quebec which he had betrayed.

OLEO-MARGARINE COMES UP AGAIN

Validity of Ban by Dominion to be Tested in Supreme Court

OTTAWA, (C)—The cabinet has referred the question of ban against importation and sale of oleo-margarine to the Supreme Court for a test of its validity, it was announced today. The Department of Justice said that the government had passed an order-in-council to that effect. This meets the request by the Senate which passed a resolution, moved by Senator W. D. Euler, Liberal, Ontario, long-standing critic of the ban, who says it is unconstitutional. The matter of oleo-margarine comes to the forefront again in view of the possible entry to Confederation of Newfoundland where manufacture and sale of the product is legal.

THE WEATHER

Intermittent rain and overcast skies will accompany the passage of this disturbance across the northern coast.

DETAILS OF NEW HOSPITALIZATION

VICTORIA—Details of registration, costs to citizens and benefits to be derived from the provincial government's hospital insurance plan which goes into effect January 1, 1949, are announced.

Contributors to the hospital insurance fund will be single persons over the age of 16 and heads of families. Premiums will be $15 annually for single persons over the age of 16; $24 annually for the head of a family with one dependent and $30 annually for the head of a family with more than one dependent.

To obtain full coverage for all of 1949, premiums must be paid by November 30, 1948. If the instalment system of payment is used, running into 1949, coverage will be only to June 30, 1949 when the third payment is made. On completion of the sixth payment, due March 1, 1949, full coverage for the year will take effect.

Instalment payments are intended to help out persons who cannot pay their full premiums at one time.

Benefits for which insured persons are covered include necessary hospitalization for: public ward accommodation, means and special diets, ward nursing care, operating room facilities, surgical dressings and casts, available x-ray services, available physiotherapy, hospital maternity care.

"The expense of that next baby will be cut to a fraction of the former cost to families and there are no conditions attached to maternity benefits," the booklet states. "Similar hospital benefits will be obtained in the cases of illnesses pre-existing the date when the plan comes into effect."

Not covered by the plan are hospital services for conditions provided for under the Workmen's Compensation Act, cures for alcoholism and drug addiction, treatment for disease for which provision is made in government or municipal institutions, out-patient care, non-essential hospital care.

Registration forms will be available in the near future. Residents of the province must register, whether or not they already subscribe to other hospital plans. Persons belonging to hospitalization groups which provide, or intend to provide services equal to the government plan must register, but may apply for exemption.

Persons who can claim exemption are: those living in an area where provision of general hospital service is not practical at the present time, adherents or members in good standing of the Christian Science Church; those belonging to private hospital insurance plans which provide benefits and payment to hospitals approved by the Hospital Insurance Commissioner.

OLYMPIC GAMES OPENED TODAY

LONDON—The King and Queen led 80,000 spectators at the ceremonial opening of the Olympic Games today at Wembley Stadium, the King officiating at the inaugural. Tomorrow the competitions will get under way with 5000 athletes from all parts of the world participating. It is the fourteenth Olympiad of the modern era and marks resumption of the games after a lapse of twelve years. The games end August 14.

BRITAIN - U.S. DISAGREE

Fail to See Eye to Eye on Secondary Palestine Issues

LAKE SUCCESS, (C)—Great Britain and the United States yesterday divided in the United Nations security council on two secondary Palestine issues.

The two powers, after reaching unanimity on the tough cease-fire order on July 15 to Jews and Arabs, fell apart on comparatively minor questions:

1. Syria's proposal that the whole Palestine problem be referred to the International Court of Justice.

2. Great Britain's demand that the Security Council order the release of five Britons held by Israel.

NOT FAMOUS FRANK CAPRA

Frank Capra was in Prince Rupert today and he was candid about his lack of any outward show of the customary Hollywood razzle-dazzle. He was not, he explained a trifle wearily, from Hollywood, nor was he the Frank R. Capra who produces Academy Award winning movies.

"You're not the first reporter to make the same mistake," he sighed. "Sometimes, I think I ought to change my name."

As far as he knows, continued the visiting Mr. Capra, who is in his early thirties, and comes from Oakland, his only connection with his famous namesake is a visual one—He has seen him once or twice in the flesh. But the famous Mr. Capra is definitely Hollywood.

"However, I've been confused with him a thousand times, particularly in Canada," he said. "At Vancouver and several other places I have been asked if I was the movie producer. Down in the States the people don't seem so interested."

A freight clerk on the Southern Pacific Railway, Mr. Capra is on a holiday, travelling alone. He has completed a bus tour of the Alaska Highway after sailing from Seattle to Skagway on the Northland Transportation Co. boat George Washington. The highway, which he travelled from Whitehorse to Edmonton, is in fair shape, but it will need a lot of work before it is a first-class highway, he says. He came here from Edmonton by train.

Tonight, he sails to Vancouver by boat, then back to his home and his job at Oakland.

"Vancouver?" Yes, I've been there several times before. They always get me confused with that other Capra in Vancouver. Sometimes, I think I'll change by name."

"No, not to Selnick."

Convict Is Found Dead

Canada's Public Enemy No. 1 Shot to Death in Mississippi

PASCAGOULA, Miss. (C)—Ulysses Lauzon, escaped Canadian convict, said he would live a life of luxury on a pirate's cache of $300,000 and perhaps he did, police said today, but it was a short one.

A bullet-pierced body, clad only in a sport shirt and shorts, found near here July 19, was identified yesterday as that of a little 26-year old desperado from Windsor, Ontario, who was Canada's Public Enemy No. 1 in the postwar world.

Identification was made by fingerprints which were on file in every North American police station since a spectacular escape from Portsmouth Penitentiary at Kingston, Ontario, nearly a year ago. Lauzon and his partners in the escape, Donald (Mickey) McDonald and Nicholas Minelle, had been sought ever since.

Minelle is now in custody at Oakland, California, awaiting extradition and will finish a 17-year sentence for armed robbery. McDonald remains at large.

FLATLY REJECTS RUSSIAN ORDER

BERLIN—Berlin's Socialist woman mayor flatly refused last night to comply with a Soviet order calling for the removal of the anti-communist chief of police.

Edmonton Has 126,000 People

EDMONTON—The population of Edmonton increased 8,600 during the year ending June 30, according to figures of the city assessment department. The population of the city is now placed at 126,000. In 1901 there were only 4000 in the then struggling prairie town.

STILL ALIVE IN WRECKAGE

LUDWIGSHAFEN, (C)—Dying flames today permitted the rescue of workers as investigators approached the centre of the I. G. Farben chemical plant where an explosion yesterday took an estimated 300 lives.

Probe into the cause of the explosion took new significance as the Russian licensed press in Berlin flung charges that the plant was producing war materials illegally.

Rescue workers said that some persons were still alive in the wreckage.

Mannheim police stood on their statement that 500 to 800 are missing. Most are presumed to be dead.

It is estimated that 2500 persons were seriously hurt and thousands of others less severely injured.

The Russian controlled National Zeitung, offering no proof, said that, "under French trusteeship, the plant was producing explosives for rocket bombs."

Retroactive Pay Is Coming in August

Columbia Liberals Ask Conscription

VANCOUVER (CP)—One year compulsory draft for Canadian men between eighteen and twenty-one years of age will be urged on the national convention at Ottawa next month by the Columbia delegation, it was learned last night.

Arthur Laing, president of the British Columbia Liberals, said the resolution is aimed at introducing peacetime conscription into Canada in the same form as the recently adopted United States draft law.

The resolution would challenge the anti-conscription position of French Canada and is expected to produce a bitter policy fight on the convention floor.

Anticipating opposition, Laing said that the B. C. delegation was "out to force the resolution to the convention floor." He said that eastern party strategists were planning to sidetrack the resolution.

Two Dead In Crash

GRAND FORKS—The pilot and one passenger of a four passenger aircraft were killed and two other passengers escaped in a crash near here yesterday. The party was heading out on a fishing trip. The crash occurred shortly after the take-off from the airport. It was an American plane.

The dead are Arthur H. Nelson, pilot, of Spokane, and Lester Farish of Lincoln, Washington.

In serious condition in hospital are Norman W. Porteous of Seattle and J. R. McDonald of Inchem, Washington.

The party had left Spokane at noon for a fishing trip in the Okanagan Valley. They had just cleared customs here when the Seabee aircraft was, apparently, caught by a downdraft. It struck a tree a mile from the airport.

QUEBEC VOTES

CANADA'S provinces are not changing their governments in this year of many elections and there was no expectation that Quebec would be any exception to what, after Ontario, New Brunswick and Saskatchewan, seemed to be the rule.

Premier Maurice Duplessis' administration seemed sure to be re-mandated but possibly there may have been some element of surprise in the landslide return to power which it was accorded. Certainly, there is little comfort for the Liberals who, let alone failing to increase their strength, were all but wiped out in seatage. Provincial autonomy and anti-communism enthusiasm turned the trick for the rightist Duplessis and the Quebec people were abundantly emphatic about how they felt on these two issues.

The Quebec outcome may also seem somewhat disconcerting for the federal Liberals and, in view of the friendliness of Duplessis and the Progressive-Conservative Premier George Drew of Ontario, it leaves room for speculation as to how the Liberals might fare in a national election. The very provincial attitude that caused them to so humbly endorse their non-Ottawa co-operating Premier could swing them in federal voting against a political alliance with Conservative Ontario, no matter what the associations of the currently victorious Duplessis may be.

NEW FREIGHT RATES DEAL

THE not unexpected application of Canadian railways for a further increase in freight rates over and above the much-protested twenty-one percent increase throws the whole matter of railway freight rates much in the limelight again. It has been generally admitted that the railways must find new revenues so some sort of a further rate boost seems inevitable. At the same time, there are inequalities and penalties under which certain parts of the Dominion, particularly British Columbia and the Maritimes, are now suffering, inequalities which are even further accentuated by the increases in rates which only make more obvious the need for their relief.

Financial Post, even though it is published in Ontario which is not much perturbed as long as it thinks only of itself, calls for a "new look" at the whole question of rates and speaks sympathetically in regard to the case of seven provincial premiers who are demanding a new deal on the whole freight rates question.

Apropos of new developments in the freight rates matter, Financial Post says:

The Canadian railways stood to net $65 millions a year after the long-drawn-out struggle for a freight rate increase. Last week they committed themselves to $76 millions a year in extra wages.

Very obviously, the railways will have to get another rate boost.

We think there is much to be said for the approach of the seven provincial premiers who this week stormed Ottawa demanding a frontal attack on the whole railway rate issue. Their strategy is designed to bring about a thorough overhaul of the whole freight rate structure.

Surely there is need for this. Many very fundamental things have happened to the economic structure of Canada, and to transportation, since 1922, since which year Transport Minister Chevrier blithely confessed in the House "there have been no changes in the general rate level, though rates have been substantially increased both in the United States and in the United Kingdom." In fact, so great and so fundamental have the changes been since 1922 that we would think this prima facie evidence that something needs to be done about them.

The seven provincial premiers want this matter tackled by a Royal Commission because, they say, the Board of Transport Commissioners is so hamstrung by its own rate-making precedents and the terms of its assignment that it can't do a full and fair review.

Few would deny that the staff of the Transport Commission contains many outstanding experts and that in it is lodged a major accumulation of technical knowledge about rail rate making.

But we lean far to the premiers' view that what's needed now is a fresh, imaginative and unhampered-by-tradition approach to this important problem.

It is dominated by two fundamentals.

Our railways have to be kept in sound financial condition. They must not only be permitted to earn their keep, but they must accumulate sufficient additional funds for sufficiently rapid replacement and development. In this latter respect, the railways have too long been starved. That is sheer folly and, in the long run, extra costly.

The second fundamental is that Canada is a nation; that Cape Bretoners are Canadians and so are Vancouver Islanders. These are natural penalties of living on the periphery. But if rates are rigged to establish unnatural economic penalties for anybody, then surely there's something wrong somewhere.

Brigadier Gillingham Is Retiring

After Fifty Years With Salvation Army

After half a century of active service in the Salvation Army, forty years as an officer, Brigadier Joseph T. Gillingham, divisional commander of the Salvation Army for northern and central British Columbia, is retiring. His successor here will be Major Cornelius Warrenden, at present young people's secretary in Vancouver.

Brigadier and Mrs. Gillingham will take their farewell from Prince Rupert at a Northern British Columbia Congress to be held here September 3 to 6 with Commissioner Charles Baugh and Col. G. Best, field secretary from Toronto, in attendance. They will then leave for Vancouver where they will make their home in retirement.

Brigadier Gillingham joined the Army as a young man in Newfoundland. After serving for ten years as a soldier, he received his officership in 1908, following attendance at the officer training college in Toronto. His first posting was as captain in charge at Strathroy, Ontario. Service at various other points in Ontario and Nova Scotia was followed in 1924 by appointment as first divisional commander in Bermuda where three years were spent. Returning to Canada, appointments as officer in charge of citadels at Montreal, Vancouver, Winnipeg and Calgary followed.

After a year of social service work at Brandon, Brigadier Gillingham came north as divisional commander for Northern British Columbia and Alaska, headquarters then being made at Wrangell. With the separation of Alaska, Brigadier Gillingham came here in April 1946 as divisional commander for Northern British Columbia.

sional commander for Northern British Columbia.

Mrs. Gillingham has been no less active in the Army work than her husband whom she married in 1911 after having been engaged in school teaching in Newfoundland. Their departure from Prince Rupert will be much regretted.

LETTERBOX

BETTER GO HOME

Editor, Daily News:
I believe that, since the Eastern and Western powers have blockaded Berlin from each other, it would be a good idea if they both started for home and stopped snarling at each other over a dead corpse. Since there's nothing there for either of them, but to humiliate a whipped and hungry population, they could do better at home building up their smashed cities or fighting inflation. They have both been wrong at times but a conference table is the place to settle those differences and at the same time organize one world force and abide by their rules. Until that time there never will be peace.

Another item drawn to my attention, is in all speeches from the powers that be, I have never once heard or read where the word "God" was spoken. Is it possible that He has been deserted for power, the rouble or the dollar bill, or doesn't he count.

Thanking you for your space.

DOGS AND CATS

Prince Rupert Horticultural Society favors an increase in dog license fees as a means of controlling the number of animals which are reported doing extensive damage to home gardens. At a meeting last night, members felt that far too many dogs and cats are running around loose with consequent damage to gardens.

The meeting also favored a civic campaign to collect license fees for all dogs in the city after belief had been expressed that a number of unlicensed canines are running loose.

The brief meeting, attended by a dozen members, also discussed preliminary plans for the horticultural show at the Civic Centre carnival next month and set next Tuesday night as the date of an executive meeting to lay plans for the flower show.

Resignation of Mrs. William Slater as secretary was received but no new appointment was made to that post. Mrs. E. W. Becker is acting as secretary temporarily.

TEXAS TRIO VISIT HERE

Texas hot weather, which like everything else Texan, is definitely monumental, can become a bit tiresome, even to a loyal Lone Star Stater, B. J. Manley, Houston, Texas, attorney admits. He is enjoying the cooling effect of a northern summer after a 3,000 mile motor trip.

Now at Ketchikan for a short visit, Mr. Manley, with his mother, Mrs. C. K. Manley, and his sister, Mary K. Davenport, stopped in Prince Rupert Wednesday. They drove here mainly because they were lured by the thrill of new places.

"This is a beautiful country but I wish I could say as much for your roads," Mr. Manley said. "However, I suppose as your population increases, your highways will get better, too."

"You might," said this visitor from the oil capital of the continent, "even find oil up this way too. That would bring them in."

The call of the open road apparently is in the elderly Mrs. Manley's blood, too, because for several years she has driven from Texas, alone, to her summer home in Michigan.

The party will return tonight from Ketchikan and expect to remain in Prince Rupert until next week.

Reminiscences By W.J. and Reflections

Vancouver is growing in more ways than one. July weather has been wretched and it's cheerfully admitted. Years ago, this would have meant a hurt look, coupled with a protest. Any mention by the press was confined to "overcast" or "cool." But today, different times and changing ideas. Vancouver has become metropolitan enough to snap her fingers at whatever is sent and turn to the next order of business.

American planes by the score, manoeuvring in the Caribbean and then proceeding to Germany! The U.S., weighted with far-reaching responsibilities and obligations involving numerous international relations! George Washington, when he warned his fellow countrymen against "entangling alliances" didn't know even half.

A Canadian war veteran, 58, has found employment in a Toronto establishment. There will not be any revelle but it will seem like living again to show a leg and turn out to a job worth holding even if he has committed the offence of getting along in years.

Knowing full well of business being on the skids and with the outlook as cheerful as a rural funeral, Prince Rupert, in 1930 figured a bit of good cheer could do no harm and might help revive drooping spirits. So, with the Yacht Club in the lead, everybody co-operated in staging the longest and greatest yacht race ever known on the west coast. The starting point was Seattle, with Prince Rupert playing the role of Grand Finish. The result was a knockout. The month was June. There were handsome prizes and there was the deepest of interest all the way from Juneau to Oregon. The depression was just beginning to reach out and snarl and last eight years, but who gave a tuppenny damn. There were other, more important matters.

Leave it to old Mother Nature! Mere mortals sigh when the sky is not blue enough. Bless the rain, source of jobs and good captivating complexions! Without enough moisture not
