Northern Flood Situation Seems Steadier

Smuts Turned Out In South Africa Election

Leader of Nationalist Party, Pronounced Isolationist, To Form New Government

JOHANNESBURG, (CP)—Reversing the trend of the general election yesterday gave the Nationalist party 69 seats as against 65 for Field Marshal Jan Smuts' United party. Dr. Francois Smuts, the leader of the Nationalists, of definite separatist tendencies, was called upon to form a new government after Smuts had resigned. He is expected to form a government of nine Afrikaners.

Two Anthracite Miners Are Dead

SCRANTON, Pa. — Rescue workers struggled today to reach the bodies of two anthracite coal miners, one of whom had apparently died 24 hours after being trapped 200 feet underground by a rock fall.

Armistice Demanded

Insists on Settlement in Palestine—Jews Surrender in Jerusalem

LAKE SUCCESS — Great Britain yesterday demanded a four weeks' armistice in Palestine and a peace settlement of the conflict in the Holy Land. Sir Alexander Cadogan told the Security Council that, if this attempt at a peace settlement failed, Great Britain was ready to go along with other nations in strong enforcement measures.

Premier Johnson Going to Ottawa

VICTORIA — Premier Byron Johnson is leaving Sunday for Ottawa for another conference with the federal government on railway freight rates. He will also ask the federal government to assume a larger share of necessary new hospital construction.

St Stronghold Of Prohibition, E.L., To Be Tested Next Month

CHARLOTTETOWN, (CP) — Prince Edward Island, Canada's last stronghold of prohibition, will open its 235 polling booths June 28 and put the question of liquor to some 50,000 voters. The plebiscite will contain two questions: "For New Liquor License Act" and "For Old Prohibition Act."

money on drink, a justice of the peace may revoke the liquor permit of that person.

Anyone who supplies liquor to a person whose permit has been revoked, or to a minor, is liable to a jail sentence, without the option of a fine.

The government, with a $1,500,000 yearly liquor revenue at stake, is generally conceded to be tacitly supporting the Temperance Act. It also wants to eliminate "the ridiculous situation of a doctor diagnosing and prescribing for a patient six months in advance."

Political observers are reluctant to forecast the outcome of the referendum. They give a slight edge to temperance over prohibition despite the fact that every plebiscite held previously in the island resulted in a dry victory.

The only organized campaigning is being done by prohibitionists, though that is on a small scale.

The new act is so worded that if the vote is for prohibition, the cabinet will proclaim only the first half of the act, which does not allow for general sale.

If the vote is wet, the entire act will come into effect. A provincial liquor commission will also be created.

Non-Confidence Moves Rejected

OTTAWA, — The government was sustained in voting on two want-of-confidence motions in Parliament yesterday. A Progressive-Conservative non-confidence motion was voted down 72 to 54 and a C.C.F. motion 122 to 30.

New Provincial Office Building

VICTORIA—Hon. E. C. Carson is to recommend to the provincial government that a permanent office building be erected at Government and Belleville Streets at an estimated cost of $1,500,000. This will relieve overcrowding in the parliament buildings and other offices in Victoria.

FRENCH CRUISER IS AT MONTREAL

MONTREAL — The French cruiser Jeanne d'Arc is making an 11-day visit to Canada and has been here since Monday. With the exception of a short visit to the island of St. Pierre, this will be the only North American call. The cruiser has a crew of 722 including 149 cadets. During the war the Jeanne d'Arc was on convoy duty in the Atlantic.

Husband Entitled to Share Wife Estate

TORONTO—A husband is entitled to a portion of his deceased wife's estate even if her will does not name him as a beneficiary, according to a judgment this week, which established a precedent in Ontario.

LEGION BARS CONSCRIPTS

SASKATOON—Stormy debate marked consideration in the closing stages of the Dominion Command twelfth national convention of the Canadian Legion yesterday of a resolution which would have admitted conscripted men in the last war to Legion membership. There were boos and cheers. Although the retiring president, Major-General C. B. Price, took the view that it was "unworthy" to exclude the conscripts, the convention voted 260 to 198 against having them.

New Officers of Canadian Legion

SASKATOON, — With Lt. Col. L. D. M. Baxter of Winnipeg advanced to the presidency of the Dominion Command of the Canadian Legion, Group Captain A. Watts of Vancouver becomes first vice-president. Evans of Ontario is the new second vice-president and Anglin, New Brunswick, third vice-president. A. E. Moore remains as Dominion chairman and Lt. Col. L. Lalonde as vice-chairman.

MacMillan Building Pulp Mill on Vancouver Island

Twelve Million Dollar Plant Going In Eight Miles From Nanaimo

VANCOUVER, (CP)—H. R. MacMillan Export Co. Thursday night announced that work would begin shortly on a $12,000,000 sulphate pulp mill on Vancouver Island. It will be located on Northumberland Strait, eight miles southeast of Nanaimo. Orders for $3,000,000 worth of machinery and equipment have already been placed. The plant will mean employment for more than two hundred persons in the Nanaimo area.

Is It Time To Help?

We do not yet know how extensive and severe may be the sufferings of the communities of the interior which Prince Rupert likes to claim as being within her orbit. Possibly, and we hope so, the flood ravages may not be so serious as it is easy for us to fear they might be. It should not be very long now before we know.

Meantime, there is reason to assume that considerable hardship has been occasioned and a good deal of relief may be required—relief that may have to be provided quickly on an organized basis.

So, possibly, it would be well if Prince Rupert, blessed in the happy certainty that there is a minimum danger of being herself deluged or cut off, started thinking about organizing for relief for the city's less fortunate neighbors.

When it comes to doing business with our friends interiorwards, we are only too anxious to be helpful. Now, if and when they are in need, might be a good time for us to show that our solicitation is more than pocket-book deep.

There are, doubtless, authorities and interests in Prince Rupert who might appropriately enough take up the challenge and assume leadership in organizing and co-ordinating the machinery of relief against possible need. Even if it should happily turn out that nothing very much needed be done, the gesture would be a mighty fine one.

To start with the Daily News promises that it will be ready and willing to place all its facilities at full disposal of any campaign to aid sufferers in what appears may be developing into a disaster situation.

Great Britain Moves 'Guests'

Last of War Prisoners Being Returned Home

LONDON, (AP)—Great Britain is seeing the last of a lot of visitors. Two British steamers, shuttling back and forth across the North Sea, are taking home the rearguard of 517,000 German war prisoners.

Both Germans and Britons, on the whole, are content that this last chapter of war's aftermath is drawing to a close, but many departures have been heart-wrenching. Some of the prisoners have been here more than three years.

One of the officers who will stay here a while is Field Marshal Gerd Von Rundstedt, 73 and ill. Another is Field Marshal Walther Von Brauchitsch, once chief of staff of the German army. There have been reports that the War Crimes Commission has not finished with them.

Repatriation has dragged out but British officials insist the country has gained no financial benefit from these hundreds of thousands of able-bodied men. They were useful, perhaps even vital, in the gathering of Britain's first two post-war harvests.

But keeping them has cost the government $1,200,000 a year. Now that they have almost all gone the War Office is estimating some other benefits. It was suggested that in rather a substantial way the prisoners were ambassadors. From them Britons learned something about German character. Many thousands of prisoners admitted they had picked up a more favorable impression of Britain.

Some Germans will stay voluntarily, but it was not easy for them to get permission to remain. By mid-May 20,332 prisoners had persuaded the British authorities to release them here.

They are becoming foreign civilians, able to live and work here under regulations applying to all foreigners.

Most of those allowed to remain are working on farms. They have not been promised British citizenship, but most of them believe they will get it in a few years.

A comparatively few have married British girls. Marriage was prohibited during and after the war, but then regulations were relaxed.

The typical German prisoner worked a 48-hour week on a farm, lived in a camp and earned $3 a week, of which he saved $1.20. Incentives were offered for good work, so that exceptional prisoners were paid more. Employers paid the War Office the prevailing wages of British workers.

Cartage Truck Cut Off at Salvus

Benes Brother Says President Is Ill

PRAGUE, —Jan Benes, elder brother of President Edouard Benes, told friends last night that the President is a very ill man and that he (Edouard) paid him his last farewells prior to leaving for the United States.

MacARTHUR IS NOT RETURNING

TOKYO, —General Douglas MacArthur today denied that he had accepted an invitation to return to the United States. That interpretation had been placed upon his announcement that he was leaving his release to officials in Washington.

Skeena River Waters Reported Receding

Peak of Flood May Now Have Been Reached—Evacuations and Rescue

With all communications from Prince Rupert to Terrace and interior points beyond completely out since 2 o'clock yesterday afternoon, it was still difficult to obtain an estimate today of damage done and hardships suffered as a result of the ravaging flood waters of the Skeena and Bulkley Rivers since they went on the rampage at the first of the week, carrying out both railway and highway lines. By British Columbia police radio it was learned that the Bulkley River was not rising further at Smithers while Hazelton reported a recession there. The nearest point of communication on the railway line, Kwinitsa reported this morning that the rise of the water there had slowed up although the trend was still upward. The recession further up the river might not yet have been felt at Kwinitsa.

Fraser Valley Flood - Stricken

Hundreds of Acres Desolate—Millions of Damage—Railway Difficulties

VANCOUVER—Flood damage in the rich farm lands of the lower Fraser was estimated at millions of dollars today as desolation spread over hundreds of square miles with the waters still rising.

Naval craft have been dispatched from Esquimalt to assist in evacuation of stranded people. Already 300 have been brought in from stricken Agassiz to Vancouver.

The main line of the Canadian Pacific Railway was washed out 65 miles east of Vancouver today and traffic was being re-routed over the Canadian National which is still intact at that point.

Mark Creek at Kimberley is now under control and the flood situation there is subsiding. Canadian Pacific track near Cranbrook has been washed out for a long distance.

Truman May Be Elected

Chief Executive Not Being Written Off by Any Means

WASHINGTON, — The would-be king makers may have written him off but Harry Truman, President of the United States and the equal of any head of a country today, may surprise the doubters and return for an elected term in the White House.

The former herdasher, who never went to college and failed to finish his high school education, went through the ranks to become a county court judge, a United States senator, the vice-president of this country and, when President Roosevelt died in 1945, he succeeded to the presidency.

Harry Truman would be the first to admit—as he has admitted on a number of occasions—that he was not qualified to head the most powerful and important nation emerging from the Second World War.

But the job fell on his shoulders—and he said at the time it was as if the sun and moon and all the planets hit him—and he has done it as honestly and ably as he could.

In view of all the circumstances it may be said safely and with truth that Truman has done a good job. Certainly he has done a far better job than even his closest admirers expected.

JESSE JAMES STILL ALIVE

LAWTON, Okla.—Jesse James still lives. The claim is made by a local newspaper and it is the most fantastic story in the history of the state.

Its accuracy has been checked and double-checked. The man who was shot and killed in the eighties, was Charles Bigelow, and not Jesse James. He is here in Lawton. He has always been known as Dalton, since the old Indian Territory days. He is reputed to be about a century old, is in bed with an injured hip and assumes no one knows his identity, if, as believed, he is really the bandit.

Whatever his age, he is in reasonably good health. The story has made a sensation.

Count Our Blessings

MOST OF US ordinary folk fail to appreciate our blessings until we lose them and that might be said of our railway, our highway, our telegraph service and even our own CBC radio network. We rant and we rail about the shortcomings and the infirmities of them all as long as they go on functioning in their normal way. But let us lose them for a few days, such as the Skeena River floods have done for us right now, and do we ever miss them? So, in absence of these services for the time being at least, let us reflect on how much we really do rely upon them as they carry on from day to day, doing the best they can, even if more brickbats than bouquets may come their way. Here's to them, therefore, and may we soon have them back!

And let us also think how much worse things might be for us. What if we had no faithful steamships to fall back on? What if we had no air services? What if we had no radio, telegraphs or telephones? So let us consider ourselves blessed in this age of modern invention. Back in the early days the pioneers had none of these things. They got along very happily and well too. And, if we remember aright, there was not much beefing about it. They did not even gripe about the weather which was not that balmy, sunny type which these last few years we have also come to take a little for granted.

Yes, floods and their inconveniences notwithstanding, Prince Rupert is still blessed in a multiplicity of ways. In fact we would not have to travel far to fare a good deal worse, even in our own immediate hinterland which is having its inconveniences and its hardships under these unusual conditions. To the interior communities we might well extend our sympathy and proffer any aid within our power to give.

TELEGRAPH SERVICE

WHILE HARD-PRESSED OFFICIALS of railway, telegraphs and highway looked despairingly at the rampaging flood waters of the Skeena River which had wrecked their services, the radio station still gave forth merrily with its uninterrupted network programs for a couple of days later until the final and complete breakdown of land lines came yesterday.

Flood conditions and widespread inconvenience to the public notwithstanding, the radio was still getting through and, fortunately enough, the long distance telephone service was also being maintained.

For two days, however, normal commercial telegraph services had been somewhat curtailed. The situation was reflected in the Daily News telegraphic news service which was forced to resort to emergency measures to keep in touch with the outside world.

There is no quarrel whatever with the radio and the long distance communications being maintained to the fullest efficiency under all conditions. The thought, however, occurs that the commercial telegraph service is equally as important and, if its facilities for coping with emergencies are not equal to those which service the radio and long distance, they should be made so with a minimum of further delay. Harried local officials were, doubtless, doing their best.

The commercial telegraph situation may have been merely a co-incidence. Possibly, the shoe might just as well have been on another foot. It certainly should not however, be regarded, either in general set-up or in emergency, as of secondary importance. If its land line facilities are inferior or less modern than those of the radio or long distance, something should be done about it.

NEW MARITIME PROVINCE?

THAT LITTLE GROUP known as the Maritime family will increase by one if Newfoundland decides to join Confederation in the June 3 referendum.

The terms of agreement proposed to Newfoundland for entry into the Dominion provide specifically that Newfoundland—which would be the name of the new province—would be one of the Maritimes.

While the island may not be referred to as one of the "Maritime Provinces"—that undoubtedly would come with usage—Canada's proposed arrangements provide that it would be brought within the scope of the maritime region concerning regulation of freight rates.

Thus Newfoundland would come under the Maritime Freight Rates Act of 1927. The act says that railway freight traffic moving solely within the Maritimes, and certain other traffic in that area, gets a 20 per cent reduction from normal charges.

Acceptance of the Newfoundlander as a true Maritimer will be up to the Maritimer himself. Both are disgusted by a man who doesn't know the difference between a cod and a herring. So the Newfoundlander probably will be "in."

LETTERBOX

CHLORINATION

Editor, Daily News:
This letter of protest at the action of the city council at their last meeting in disregarding the advice of the Provincial Health Officer and the local Medical Association that our water be chlorinated is not addressed to the city council as it is realized that the three aldermen who voted for continuation of chlorination did everything possible to convince those aldermen who were opposed to it. It is addressed to the general public and in particular, to the parents of our city whose children may be exposed to water-borne diseases as a result of the discontinuation of water purification.

The arguments against chlorination are that it costs money and that it makes the water taste. To my mind the cost is very negligible item when it is compared to the health of our children. It is also offset by the cost to the city should there be an outbreak of contagious water-borne disease and the consequent isolation and treatment of patients. As for the taste—if anyone had asked me at any time during the past two years if our water was chlorinated, I would have truthfully answered that I did not know.

The council, whose actions, it would appear, are influenced mainly by the cost to the city, have seen fit to disregard the advice of the Provincial Health Officer, a man especially trained in such matters, and also that of our local doctors, that our water supply is dangerous. As a parent of small children, I much prefer to place their health in the hands of the medical profession than in our local city council, no matter how sincere our aldermen may be in their convictions or how capable they may be in other matters. I am sure most parents in our city feel the same way.

As a taxpayer, I am writing a letter of protest to the council about this matter and suggest that anyone feeling as I do do likewise. Should this not change the attitude of the council, then it should be brought before the electors of our city by plebiscite. Our health is certainly of more importance than some of the matters on which we have voted in past civic elections.

Thanking you Mr. Editor, for the use of your valuable space,
EARL R. GORDON.

1. Say, "Mrs. Johnson is a widow." A widow is always a woman.
2. Pronounce pseudonym, us is in cube, o as in no unstressed, i as in him, accent first syllable.
3. Kerosene.
4. Sparing in use of food and drink (Pronounce t h e e as in tea). "He was abstemious at all times."

PRINCE RUPERT YEARS AGO

May 28, 1913

Among passengers arriving on the Prince Rupert were Mr. and Mrs. T. Robinson of Grimsby, England, accompanied by their daughter, Mrs. Campbell and two children. Mr. Robinson, who had 45-years of experience in the fishing industry, was a director of the Canadian Fish & Cold Storage Co.

Gilbert Fortune, who had been employed as a chef at the G.T. P. Inn, was admitted to hospital suffering from paralysis. Shortly before being taken ill, Mr. Fortune had left the city with the intention of taking up land in the interior.

The new public reading room on Fulton Street was expected to be formally opened shortly. Bishop F. H. Du Vernet and Principal J. C. Brady of the High School were to give the principal addresses.

Harry W. Birch, accountant at the City Hall, was appointed secretary of the Prince Rupert General Hospital Association. He was to take over his duties on June 1, succeeding Major George E. Gibson.

TELLS ABOUT ATLIN RIDING

Background and potentialities of Atlin provincial riding were outlined to the Prince Rupert Rotary Club Thursday afternoon by W. D. Smith, M.L.A. for the northern constituency. Mr. Smith revealed a wide knowledge of and a healthy faith in the far-flung, sparsely-populated area which extends from just north of Port Simpson to the Yukon boundary and from the Alaska Panhandle eastward to a line parallel with Hazelton.

His knowledge of the beginnings of such settlements as Dease Lake, Glenora, Atlin, Telegraph Creek, Stewart, Anyox and Alice Arm was indicated by references to early happenings and characters.

The wealth of the territory—mineral, fur, timber and water-power—inspired him to a great faith in its future as Canada develops. Utilization of the Groundhog coal field will necessitate railway construction with the logical entry line running eastward from Stewart.

The Haynes cut-off, joining the Alaska Highway to the coast, should be promoted by Prince Rupert, he declared, because its expanded use as a trade artery for Alaska and the Yukon could "eventually bring a large amount of business to this city."

Mr. Smith was thanked for his address by Club President L. M. Gordon.

GYPSIES UNPOPULAR

Edicts were issued in many countries from the end of the 15th century onward, sentencing the "gypsies" or "Clani" or "Egyptians" to exile under pain of death.

FORMER LOCAL BRIDEMARRIES

Local Tombs Becomes Bride

Vancouver Man

Vancouver—Eldest daughter of Mrs. C. J. Tombs, 2000 Avenue, Burnaby, Hazel went to the altar at Beaulieu United Church to become the wife of Donald Ross of Vancouver in a double-evening ceremony conducted by Rev. J. Herdman recently.

Mrs. Tombs came to their family from Prince Rupert two years ago. The bride entered the church in the arm of her father, wearing a white tulle gown with a yoke and lace edging. The veil was caught up with three- and four-strand necklaces of pearls, and a gift of the groom, was a shower bouquet of carnations, lily of the valley and sweet peas.

Mrs. Audrey and Kay, in white and pink taffeta, wore matching mitts and carried mixtures in colonial bouquets. The bridesmaids wore white dresses with pink accents, while the groom's brides wore black crepe with green sequin trim and black veils.

The new Mrs. Donald Ross was put by Alan Hill-tout in a three-tier wedding cake by her mother was cut. For the wedding motor trip on Vancouver Island the bride chose a topcoat of turquoise gabardine.

Has No Money But Gives Nuggets To Help KIN in Children's Work

He was roughly dressed and he walked with the tread of a man whose feet are more accustomed to Mother Nature's pathways than to the concrete walks of man. His wrinkled face was tanned as only a face can be that has felt the sun's hot rays and the varying heat of the wind for month after month and year after year. Even in city clothes the old chap looked strikingly out of place among the pedestrians that moved up and down Third Avenue last Saturday.

But the old man had travelled far to be in Prince Rupert on May 24 and he wasn't particularly concerned about whether he fitted into the local scene or not. He was very particular on one point though. He loved children and he wanted to do something tangible about it.

Late in the afternoon the stranger wandered into the Northern B.C. Power Co.'s store and edged up to the counter as though he wasn't quite sure he was in the right place. When Stan Saville, the store manager, went to wait on him, the old fellow said he didn't have any money but he would like to help the kiddies of Prince Rupert.

Drawn into conversation the elderly visitor said he was from Dawson City, Yukon, where he was known as "Old Pop." He had heard about the Kinsmen's work with children and, as he figured Prince Rupert's club was the closest one to Dawson City he had made the trip "outside" to attend the May Day celebrations.

"Old Pop" talked some about the north country but he was more interested in hearing about the Kinsmen's Kiddie Kamp. He related how he had bought some club tickets from the sales girls on the street and he didn't think his contribution was enough, but he was out of cash.

"However I have something here," said Old Pop digging deep in his pocket and pulling out a good-size gold nugget, "that I would like you to use for the children."

Stan Saville was rather mystified by the unusual donation but he accepted the nugget on behalf of the Kinsmen Club and thanked the stranger warmly. "Old Pop" departed and Stan went on about his business until there was another interruption. This time the visitor was no stranger. It was Mrs. J. A. Teng who had been helping the Galloway Rapids girls sell Kinsmen tickets on Third Avenue. She was a bit excited and told a story about a roughly dressed old man who had no money but had insisted on her taking a gold nugget as a contribution to the Kiddie Kamp.

Press of business had prevented Stan having his regular lunch hour so he had a snack sent into the store and was munching contentedly on a sandwich when he was called to the phone. It was Mrs. A. M. Ingalls, another lady who had been helping sell tickets. Her daughter (Shari-Beth) had been selling tickets in front of the Post Office and had been given a gold nugget by a roughly dressed old man who didn't have any money.

In checking through some of the ticket stubs it was noticed that several were made out to the Kinsmen Club and signed simply "Old Pop."

FRIENDS HONOR CITY COUPLE'S ANNIVERSARY

Friends honored Mr. and Mrs. J. Linney on the second anniversary of their marriage Thursday evening with a party at the home of Mr. and Mrs. A. Garten, Seventh Avenue West. The couple were recipients of a number of presents and the best wishes of the gathering.

Those present were Brigadier and Mrs. J. T. Gillingham, Rev. and Mrs. Fred Antrobus, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Friesen, Mrs. A. E. Martin, Mr. H. Van Dykstra, Mrs. M. Ytreberg, Mrs. R. Richardson, Mrs. M. Penner, Miss Mary Calder and Miss Laverna Linney.

Guests enhanced the enjoyment of the evening by providing an impromptu musical entertainment, highlight of which was a vocal duet "Harbor Bells" by Brigadier and Mrs. Gillingham.

Lovely gifts, borne on a silver tray, were presented to the guests of honor. Centring the room above their table was a large white wedding bell from which colored streamers flared to the corners. On each corner of the table was set a replica bride and groom. There was a profusion of spring flowers throughout the room.

Assisting the hostess in serving refreshments were Mrs. Ytreberg and Mrs. Richardson. A decorated cake was cut by the guests of honor.

Good wishes of the gathering were expressed by Brigadier Gillingham, to which Mr. Linney responded. The Grace was asked by Rev. Fred Antrobus.

OVER THE FENCE

BY W. L. MacTavish

"There is a line in Mr. Churchill's new Memoirs that struck me pretty forcibly," said the Old Timer as he paused this morning. "It goes like this: 'They were without guile, but not without guilt.'"

"Mr. Churchill was referring to the 'fellow-travellers' of the years when the Nazis were taking over Germany—the people who simply refused to believe Hitler planned war, or steps that would make war inevitable.

"They were not part of Hitler's fifth column, but they served an equally important purpose. They lulled into false security the people of the Western democracies, and in that way advanced Hitler's purposes just as certainly as did the members of his fifth column.

"It strikes me we have their counterpart in our own nation and in other Western democracies today. They, too, are men without guile, are anxious to see peace and progress all over the world—as who isn't? So they refuse to see evil in the designs of another and more powerful dictatorship, and close their eyes to the sinister activities of the greatest fifth column the world has ever seen—the Communist party outside Russia.

"Everyone wants peace, of course, every sensible man and woman. Everyone wanted peace in 1939, too. We did not achieve peace then by closing our eyes and wishing for it. Nor will we be without guilt now if we do not stand up for freedom, and in our own country check the obvious designs of our fifth column."

(The views of the Old Timer are presented in this newspaper weekly under the sponsorship of the British Columbia Federation of Trade and Industry.) F-43

MRS. KROOK; PIONEER CITY WOMAN; DIES

Mrs. Fannie Krook of 1116 Seventh Avenue East, a resident of Prince Rupert for the last 35 years, died at home Thursday after an extended illness. She was 61 years old.

Mrs. Krook was born near the Russian-Polish border and came to Prince Rupert on arriving in Canada. She was pre-deceased last November by her husband, the late Michael Krook, who was employed by the Canadian Fish and Cold Storage Co. and at the dry dock.

Surviving are two sons, Nick, on the staff of the Customs office here, and Peter, who arrived this week from Seattle.

Mrs. J. T. Harvey and family, who went to their summer home at Lake Kathlyn, intending only to spend the week-end and were unable to motor back because of the flood conditions, will now remain there for awhile longer.

SHORT SPORT

Britain employs at least one civil servant who can claim undisputed victory over the Russians in their home grounds. In May, 1914, young Godfrey Ince took a London University soccer team to Moscow. The Russians, not then as powerful as today, didn't win any of the first four matches. They saved their most potent team, All-Moscow, for the final game. It was hammer and tongs until the closing minutes, when Ince scored the only goal of the game. Now knighted, the former soccer star is permanent secretary to the British Labor Ministry.

Ambassador's Lapse, a colt by Diplomat out of Playful Nun, drew a lot of paddock comment before his first race at Worcester, England, because of his saucy name. He won at 10-1. And a tennis fan pinned a catchy tag on Tony Mottram and Geoffrey Paish, Britain's doubles team in Davis Cup competition. He called 'em 'Mott and Geoff.'

Three months ago an appeal was launched for funds to assist Welsh gymnasts chosen for the British team in the summer Olympics. The appeal closed with one subscription—2s 6d. (50 cents) from an anonymous supporter at Abercraze, Glamorgan. Officials of the Welsh Amateur Gymnastic Association said several promising young athletes, unable to afford training costs on their own, will be robbed of their 'life's ambition' by the lack of response.

Racing at Chester's circular course on the Dee River, where Derby Colt Jock Scott lost caste when beaten by the 33-1 shot King's Acre, makes light comedy of Britain's oldest betting laws. You can sit on one stone of the ancient course and make a legal bet. But your neighbor on the next stone, if he bets, can be punished by law. Chester has a public highway, Nun's Road, which becomes a betting area on race days. The course itself is divided by whitewashed lines into betting areas. Outside and within a few yards of the track are notices prohibiting betting. Each betting area is patrolled by an official whose job after each race is to settle any dispute between bookmaker and backer.

MACKMEN IN LEAGUE LEAD

Take Over American Supremacy—Cardinals Build Up National Lead
NEW YORK — Anyone who still thinks that aged Connie Mack's Philadelphia Athletics are not going to be right in their fighting all season for the American League pennant is long overdue in revising his estimate. Yesterday the Mackmen won again, defeating the Washington Senators 7 to 3, and their lead over the Cleveland Indians is now one full game. Only the one game was played in the American League yesterday.

In the National League the St. Louis Cardinals improved their already long lead by downing the running-up New York Giants 9 to 6. The Cards' margin is now a substantial four-and-a-half games.

MERCHANTS MAKE BASEBALL DEBUT BY BEATING MOOSE

MERCHANTS 8; MOOSE 7

Manager Cliff Dahl's Merchants made their debut in the City Baseball League at Roosevelt Park last night and, as a result of the encounter, the Moose met their second defeat of the season in as many games played. The lodge brothers bowed to an angle of 8 runs to 7 before the newcomers.

The Merchants opened strongly and captured the lead in the first 3 innings which withered into a deficit in the 7th inning but which was later reconverted into a winning surplus.

The lodge boys sent Manager Benny Windle on to the mound in the fatal eighth to try and stem the tide that engulfed them but the Merchants succeeded in marking up four runs—enough to give them their first win.

It is no particular criticism of the Moose however, to comment that they have lost their first two games because in both they have played good baseball, particularly last night. Prospects for the fans having a good summer are increasingly bright.

Merchants opened strongly in the first inning, getting three hits off Moose chucker, Jack Rosedale. They scored three runs too. Hartwig and Bub Smith getting on base on singles and scoring on fielders' errors. Abel got on base on an error and scored off a hit by Dominato.

Merchants scored again in the third when Dahl went to first after being hit by a pitched ball and scored on a hit.

The struggling lodgemen did not score until the sixth, when Vanetta singled and was hit home when Windle doubled. The seventh however, was their big inning with five runs scored.

In that inning, when Moose

Hope and Yale Men Bearded

The growing of whiskers has been engaging the earnest efforts of the men of the Hope-Yale community where the centennial carnival had its beginning last week. Few of the beards can boast of a history amounting to more than nine weeks. But it appears that this time has been long enough to produce some first-class examples, perhaps even challenging the Prince Rupert vintage.

ANNIVERSARY OF REBEKAH LODGE

Centennial Rebekah Lodge celebrated the twenty-ninth anniversary of its founding with a birthday party in the Oddfellow's Hall. Highlights of the evening was the presentation of veterans' jewels to Mrs. J. W. McKinley, Mrs. J. L. McIntosh and Mrs. H. V. Tattersall. Miss Betty Hodd, the noble grand, occupied the chair and there was an address on the founding of the order by Mrs. McKinley.

Following community singing, Mrs. J. C. Gilker showed beautiful color films which include summer and winter scenes in Prince Rupert, points of interest along the Skeena and Cariboo Highways, apple orchards in the Okanagan and shots across the border.

Vaughan Tattersall played acceptable violin solos, accompanied by Mrs. Gilker. Mrs. Bruce Love was accompanist for the evening.

Refreshments were served from tables attractively decorated with spring blossoms and centred with a large birthday cake which was duly cut by Mrs. S. V. Cox.

Committee in charge of entertainment consisted of Mrs. J. W. McKinley, Mrs. J. Delorme, Mrs. A. B. Love and Mrs. E. A. Evans.

Reminiscences and Reflections

By W.J.

"Well," as old Father Skeena remarked, shortly after day-break this morning, "with everything else in Canada rising, I'd like to know what is to prevent me from doing the same?"

Jack Wrathall and Mr. and Mrs. Ronnie Roberts will motor from Seattle to Digby in Nova Scotia. That takes in a lot of territory. Believe it or not, we sailed into the historic, landlocked little haven of Digby once, aboard a steamship called the Prince Rupert. This is the best time to sojourn there, becoming a tourist being the easiest thing in the world. The first to call were those old pathfinders, Champlain and Poutinricourt, and they stayed a whole winter several centuries ago. This is apple blossom season, the Annapolis Valley wearing pink and white exclusively.

A well equipped airplane seems to be about the only object that can afford to give river freshets a mean look.

Not in almost a century had Skeena River waters been so high, people were saying back in 1936, when rail traffic was suspended for weeks. One could well believe it. Villages up river did suffer hardships. To see boats come sailing out of tunnels was taken as a matter of course. It was the same story—a winter of heavy snow storms and sudden hot weather as spring advanced. W. H. Tobey was divisional superintendent then. He is now P.G.E. chief at Vancouver. M. A. Burbank was divisional engineer. He's now living in Kelowna and the chances are, just now, both are thinking of Skeena.

Calling some one a liar can occur any time, any place—even in Prince Rupert. But it is best not to act on sudden impulse. Much depends on choice of language. One could say "You're a . . . liar," and stop right there. More than likely, the party of the second part would turn pale and remove his coat. Or one

THIS AND THAT

Take it easy lady. We'll let you know when the apartment is vacant."

One of the greatest natural disasters in history was the 1923 earthquake at Tokyo, Japan, when just under 100,000 persons were killed and more than 100,000 were injured.

WHAT IS HOME WITHOUT A GARDEN?

GIVE THE ROOM

Even when there is lots of room to spare the average person is liable to crowd his planting. This is true just as much with rows of vegetables as it is with trees. Seeds and seedlings are usually such tiny, little things that it is hard to realize the extent of the resulting growth.

A rough rule is to allow as much space between the plants, trees, shrubbery or annuals as these things will be high at maturity. Now with a big affair like a maple elm or spruce tree, that means at least 40-50 feet apart, though the full space may not be required for years. Going to the other end of the scale, tiny alyssum would need an inch or so between plants, carrots 4 inches, gladiolus about a foot.

SPACING IS IMPORTANT—

This spacing is important. It gives the plants a chance to develop. If crowded together trees, shrubs, flowers and vegetables will be spindly, with the growth weak and a prey to the first storm. Flowers, as well as vegetables, will be poorly developed. With a little elbow room, too, cultivation will be easier.

With vegetables, of course, there will be the space between the rows also to consider. It is a great mistake to have this less than 12 inches for even the tiniest. If less than this, on will have great difficulty in cultivating, and cultivating regularly is one of the most important jobs in the garden. Carried out weekly until the vegetables are well advanced this will do more than anything else to give us the quick, steady growth which is so essential if the harvest is to be fresh and tender. If we start off with too little distance between the rows in a very few weeks the garden will be crowded. Minimum distances would be 12 inches for things like lettuce and radish, 15 inches for car-

The Man of the hour

In the cities, the small towns, throughout our land, dusk brought him to his chores. To most of us, he was one of the most important men in town. His days are gone . . . but, to thousands of Canadians, the thought of the old lamp lighter brings fondest memories.

Ah, happy days! Lamp lighted streets . . . lamp lighted houses. The neighbors in for an evening of talk . . . food-packed tables . . . topped off with Royal Export Beer. Today, as in 1901, Royal Export is an accepted part of friendly hospitality . . . full bodied, zesty, yet mellow . . . that's Royal Export, yesterday and today.

HOW CAN I ???
By ANNE ASHLEY

Q. How can I make chocolate fudge smooth and creamy?
A. It will be creamy with little beating, if one teaspoon of cornstarch is added for each cup of sugar. An excellent change is to season it with spices, or to add a few chopped dates, figs or marshmallows.

Q. How can I prevent chamois gloves from becoming hard after washing?
A. They will not become hard if a few drops of olive oil are added to the water. The oil also helps to preserve the chamois.

Q. How can I remove paint from porcelain or glass?
A. By using coal oil. It is cheaper than turpentine and oftentimes as effective.

Different Meat Loaf

It's good news when one can stretch a pound of meat to serve six persons. You can do just that with this "Different Meat Loaf." Bake it with a savory filling of ripe olives, cheese and spinach in between layers of hamburger.

Meat Loaf

1 pound ground lean beef
1 teaspoon salt
1 tablespoon grated onion
1/2 cup dry bread crumbs
1/2 cup milk
1 cup ripe olives
1 cup cooked spinach
1/2 cup dry cottage cheese
3/4 teaspoon salt
1/2 teaspoon pepper
Dash cayenne pepper
2 tablespoons Parmesan cheese
1 egg

Blend together beef, salt, onion and crumbs moistened in milk. Pack half the mixture into bottom of greased loaf pan (7 x 3 x 3 inches). Cut olives from pits into small pieces. Drain spinach thoroughly and chop. Blend olives, spinach, cottage cheese, seasonings, Parmesan cheese and lightly beaten egg. Spread this mixture evenly over meat. Spread remaining meat over top. Bake in moderate oven (350 degrees F.) 1 hour.

Serves 6 generously.

SHIPS AND WATERFRONT

On her regular run on the Vancouver-Queen Charlotte Islands-Prince Rupert service, the Union steamer Coquitlam, Capt. Alex McLellan, arrived in port at 3 o'clock this morning from Vancouver via the Islands and will sail at midnight tonight for Massett Inlet points whence she will return here Sunday southbound. Following this voyage, the Coquitlam will be operating on a 10-day schedule, calling at all Island points on the runs both northbound and southbound between here and Vancouver.

Just what date the Canadian National's new passenger steamship Prince George will be turned over to the owners, has not yet been fixed, but it is thought the time will be early in June. Her acceptance trials delayed, the date of delivery has not yet been announced by Yarrows Ltd. in Victoria.

CEEING... with CEE

A lot of virgin soil has been turned this spring in Prince Rupert and, now that the young green shoots of vegetables and flowers are beginning to stretch sunward, gardeners of unfenced plots are having dog trouble. Suitable fencing hasn't been plentiful in the past but there is some available now even the double-roll lawn type. In a pinch, chicken wire can be readily adapted as protection against four footed nuisances. One owner of a former war-time house utilized the small trees on the back of his lot to make the posts and rustic fittings for his very smart looking front fence.

Are you one of those husbands who is frequently asked by your wife if you can do anything about repairing a prized bric a brac or piece of china. Liquid plastic may be the thing you need. According to the manufacturer, it is waterproof, transparent and also suitable for mending porcelain and glass.

Summer time is picnic time which means there is a demand for sandwich lunches. A Canadian manufacturer turns out a simple bread carver equipped with an adjustable slice gauge so that when Johnny or Janey cut into a loaf there isn't any doubt about which is the slice and which is the loaf.

A rubber covered stainless steel vacuum bottle stopper is a handy gadget for this or any time of the year if someone in the household carries a lunch. Within limits the stopper is adjustable to various size bottle necks and has a small lever that is manipulated when tightening or loosening the stopper.

might say that he is fearless because he has no foresight. But the record does not support that view. Whether he is bunglingly lucky or really is a statesman, he has a good record and that fact dampens the powder of his own party enemies.

Truman hasn't the statesmanlike appearance of Warren Harding, Herbert Hoover or Franklin Roosevelt. He is not a good public speaker until he forgets his high office and lets his hair down to speak freely as a man—which he has done off the record on a number of occasions.

On those occasions he has captivated his audiences. Not so much for what he said or how he said it, but because he was the supreme head of a great country talking the language all his hearers understood.

JUST ANOTHER ROTARIAN

Harry Truman is just another local Rotarian or Lions Club man in any town of Canada or the United States thrust by fate into the highest position his country could give him.

What has set him apart, discounting the high office he inherited, is his courage which has been his never-failing attribute.

He challenged Russia in Greece and in western Europe with all the accompanying dangers to world peace such defiance involved. He asked for extraordinary expenditures of United States dollars to rehabilitate Europe.

He has successfully fought the labor unions in the railway and coal industries, knowing fully what the consequences might be to his election chances.

This delicate election year president Truman flew straight into the arms of peril when he asked for legislation which would ensure fair and equal treatment of the colored minority. He invited the opposition of the solid south southern states which now are trying to defeat him.

He has opposed tax reduction because he feels the United States is in a perilous stage of world history when preparedness must be the constant preoccupation of those charged with defence and offence if such be needed.

Powerful Democratic interests have publicly urged him to get out of the picture. He has said he was in to the finish and if he sticks to that decision his party will nominate him at Philadelphia next July.

CLUB MEMBERS GO TO MASSETT

Members of the Prince Rupert Ladies Reading Club plan a picnic atmosphere for their regular meeting tomorrow. Eight of the ladies with five guests will leave tonight on the Coquitlam for Massett.

At the Island village they will be the guest of a former member of the Club, Mrs. J. A. Findlay. Mrs. J. R. Elfert, Club secretary, will give a paper dealing with the Merchant Marine, during the informal meeting. If weather permits the ladies hope to enjoy the luxury of a beach picnic. The group will return on the same boat arriving in Prince Rupert Sunday morning.

Those making the trip are: Mrs. G. D. Mead, Mrs. N. Moses, Miss O. Johnson, Mrs. K. Dixon, Mrs. R. E. Mortimer, Mrs. R. Davidson, Miss E. Moxley, Mrs. M. O. Kullander, Mrs. G. E. H. Montgomery, Mrs. William Eve, Mrs. D. Galbraith, Mrs. T. Black, and Mrs. J. R. Elfert. Mrs. G. H. Seaman, who is a member of the Club, is at present holidaying at the home of Mr and Mrs. Findlay.
