Future Of Prince Rupert

(By "Future Citizen" Editor)

We young citizens have every reason to feel optimistic about Prince Rupert's future. We have been given opportunities to better ourselves and our city by means of education and certainly by the interest and sympathy shown by our prospective employers.

Although we decry the slow pace at which it progressed in its initial forty years, we realize that Prince Rupert has expanded from a population of 3,500 in 1910 to approximately 10,000. We see clearly that our chief industry—fishing—has developed greatly but we also see that Prince Rupert has not extensively profited by the tremendous advantage which lies in its sea port location. Prince Rupert is logically a gateway to the great northwest and to the seaports of the world, yet our empty grain elevator is symbolic of the lack of use of one of the world's finest natural harbors. Until recently the city has been handicapped by inadequate transportation facilities. With the improvement of rail, steamship, and air lines and the future linking of Prince Rupert to the interior by the Skeena River Highway, we need no longer feel isolated.

Indications of future progress for Prince Rupert and district are the petroleum prospects on the Queen Charlottes and the hoped for installation of an aluminum plant nearby.

Development of Prince Rupert depends upon development of the interior and the consequent trade. The ceanese plant has already increased our population and our bank accounts, thus furthering justification for enthusiasm of wild-eyed speculators who, forty years ago, bought up the townsite at fabulous figures.

Further development must depend on the sincerity and faith of Prince Rupert's future citizens. Will we put back into the city what we take out?

What Young People Could Do

(Assistant Junior Editor)

The town we live in is beginning to gain more and more publicity. All British Columbia is coming to know about its fourth city. But does Prince Rupert really understand and know itself?

The Future Citizens who today have taken over will shortly become the leaders and executives of the city. Until they are, however, they could quite possibly do a lot for their city.

Students have many financial problems that most adults fail to realize. This could be overcome by the setting up of a Junior Unemployment Office where potential employers could apply for young employees and where future employees could leave a waiting list of their abilities. The lack of apprentices in the city is mainly due to the young people not knowing where to obtain employment as an apprentice. Rectification of this would help the termination of any juvenile delinquency.

For instance, a group of young people, who wish to take this up as a future employment, could be trained as Junior Firemen and, in case of a large fire, these boys could become very useful and this could be a great aid to the community.

The same principles could be applied to the Police Force and in this way create an understanding between the police and young people.

What Prince Rupert Needs

(By Junior Reporter)

Prince Rupert can definitely use a few more sidewalks. Where there are no sidewalks, however, street lights should be placed close enough together to enable pedestrians to see where they are going.

In a city of this size daily mail delivery would be a great asset. Nanaimo, with approximately the same population as Prince Rupert, has had mail delivery for many years.

There is a scarcity of street signs in this city. I see no reason why we couldn't place the street names on the corners. The addition of these signs would be a great help to many, especially newcomers.

We now have a very fine swimming pool which is open during the summer months. Why not have an ice arena for use in the winter months?

There are a great many homes in this city which lack telephones. Because of this fact, the phones we do have offer limited use. A bigger and better telephone system would be appreciated by everyone.

Another thing is, who brought all the dogs to Prince Rupert? Have all these dogs which we see roaming the city streets owners? If so why don't the owners keep their dogs at home?

Commerce Chamber— Felsenthal President

Ald. Thomas B. Black Nominated as Vice For Coming Year
L. M. Felsenthal, who has served as vice-president during the past year, will be the 1950 president of the Prince Rupert Chamber of Commerce. His nomination was brought in by the nominating committee at the regular monthly meeting of the Chamber last night.

The following were the nominations for eight seats on the executive council: C. A. Berner, H. A. Breen, J. E. Boddie, E. D. Forward, J. C. Glicker, Peter Gamula, E. R. Gordon, Dr. L. M. Greene, G. A. Hunter, J. T. Harvey, Dr. R. G. Large, G. C. Mitchell, H. J. Marchant, R. E. Montador, R. E. Mortimer, A. D. Ritchie, P. M. Ray, J. W. Rogerson, W. J. Scott, F. J. Skinner, D. W. G. Stewart, W. P. Stone, C. G. Withers, N. R. Young and T. N. Youngs.
Frank Skinner and L. M. Felsenthal were appointed auditors.

President G. R. S. Blackaby was in the chair at last night's meeting, which considered a variety of business and, in addition to members, there were guests in the persons of Benjamin Humphries and Arthur Bullied of Toronto.

With suggestions for improvement, the "City Council" discussed many of the city's shortcomings, and noted numerous of its better points. Mayor Eric Moore and his aldermen, with the help of Mrs. Arnold and R. D. Cleland of the Booth School staff, did a professional job of conducting a "City Council" meeting.

Storm Victims Double Funeral

Numerous friends attended the double funeral held in Prince Rupert St. Andrews Cathedral Monday afternoon when Canon Basil S. Procter conducted services for Oscar Steinberg, 23 and John Brentzen, 36, who were killed near Port Alberni November 27. Relatives and friends sat in the crowded cathedral. The chancel was banked with flowers. Prayers were read by Rev. Canon W. F. Rushbrook with Peter Lien at the Cathedral organ, the hymns "Nearer My God To Thee" and "God Be With You Till We Meet Again" were sung. Interment followed in Fairview Cemetery. The two deceased were crew members of the Nelson Bros. herring packer Almae. Brentzen was skipper and Steinberg, mate. They had put in at Port Alberni for the week-end. On the way back from a trip to Nanaimo the following Monday morning, their car crashed into the Nanoose Creek Bridge near the Island city. Steinberg is survived by his wife, Dolly, and his step-father and mother, Mr. and Mrs. Angus Melver, 720 Sixth Avenue West. John Brentzen, 6th Avenue East, is survived by his wife and five children. He is a member of

Future Citizens Take Hand In Production Of This Newspaper

As their part of Future Citizens' Day observance here today, three Bo-Me-Hi girls acted as editors and reporters for the Daily News and one of the boys took a hand as advertising manager for the day. The girls manifested more interest in the reporterial angle than in the editorial and were out chasing news during the morning, bringing in their contributions for inclusion in today's issue. The girls also editorialized, though, on some of their impressions of Prince Rupert, its future and what might be done to improve it. They also contributed some of their ideas in regard to newspaper work. Naturally, they didn't learn all about a newspaper in a single day but they derived some idea of this particular service and the work involved in production thereof. Their enthusiasm about journalistic pursuits was also whetted. Editor for the day was Donna Kerrighan, who also covered the "council" meeting this morning, while the reporters who did their beats were Janet Budinich and Evelyn Smith. The advertising man was Warren Wilkinson.

JUNIOR CITY COUNCIL— SALARIES, BOOT-LEGGING, JAY-WALKING, STOP SIGNS AND MANY OTHER THINGS ARE CONSIDERED

Young Prince Rupert displayed its interest and capability in handling civic affairs today when it conducted a mock city council meeting. The youthful solons for a day discussed everything from raising the council's salary to jay-walking. A matter which has recently made many taxi drivers hot under the collar, that of the five stop signs at the corner of Third Avenue and McBride, was referred to head of the police and licensing committee, Arnold Olsen.

Proxie Pinched— Jaycee Head Is Convicted

The young Council, led by Aldermen Robert Jones and Irene Hanson, deplored the prevalence of bootlegging in the city, suggesting means of combating it. Beautification of the city and cemetery, need for installation of a city-owned parking lot and necessity for smoother roads were all noted. The health and social assistance committee, headed by Ald. Janet Rakow, emphasized the need for more bus stop shelters in the interest of public well-being. The council kept a business-like eye to lack of funds in the city treasury when Alderman John Antrobus, of the Board of Works, suggested that an asphalt sidewalk be constructed around Hays Cove Circle.

Months' Suspended Sentence For Harold Hampton

Police Chief Ray Spring and his squad—Vito Campagnola, Harold Eldsvick and Bill Chesney—were on their toes today when they sped down to the Family Meat Market to arrest Harold Hampton on a charge of neglecting his duties as president of the Junior Chamber of Commerce. The culprit resisted arrest for five minutes but finally submitted to handcuffing by Constable Campagnola. Hampton was released from the city jail after pleading guilty and receiving one month's suspended sentence. He was convicted by Magistrate Bud Raichford. It was a sensational incident for the crowds of customers in Hampton's store and on the streets outside.

THE WEATHER GALE WARNINGS (Synopsis)

Gale warnings have been issued for the B.C. coast today. Southeast winds are expected to reach 45 mph at exposed positions this afternoon and evening but will shift to southwesterly and subside overnight. Rain is expected along the coast this afternoon and tonight with cloudy skies and scattered showers tomorrow. For the interior cloudy skies are expected today and tomorrow some snow will occur in the northern section overnight as the weather disturbance moves into that region.

Canada's Defence Key

WITH the United States Air Force concentrating its defence preparations upon Alaska for very obvious reasons, it is announced that Ottawa is taking a similar serious view of the situation. Doubtless this will apply to northwest Canada, the British Columbia coast and, particularly, the key port of Prince Rupert.

It is common knowledge that military and naval signals are in readiness or being developed in this area. There will also be the naval and air force defence assignments and it is to be hoped that the policy of the defence authorities of Canada will not be to concentrate the defences on a second line on the lower mainland or somewhere east of the coast, leaving such places as the rail and highway head at Prince Rupert, lying at the southern extremity of the Inside Passage, wide open, to be demolished in one fell swoop by an enemy from the north or to be occupied with little resistance?

Considering defences in the light of the present international situation, it would appear to us that there is any key point in the whole Dominion, it is Prince Rupert.

Defence authorities will, of course, not be sitting calmly by in the Far East, unmindful or uninterested in the situation here. What the United States is doing should convince them of the necessity.

A TIMELY CLEAN-UP

IT is satisfactory that the federal Department of Justice has moved so promptly in getting legislation through Parliament to curb the publication and circulating of crime comic books and obscene literature in Canada. The legislation is a worthy combined effort following the moving of the original bill by a Progressive-Conservative member, E. D. Fulton of Kamloops, after which the government lost no time in asking the provinces what they thought about it, their suggestions leading up to the amendments which were introduced yesterday by the Minister of Justice and speedily enacted.

It is highly gratifying that something effective is being done in the way of cleaning up on the crime and salacious literature which, in word and picture, have made scandalous display on practically all the newsstands of the country today.

And while we think of the comics and the pulp magazines and comics, the movies also occur to us. Men who have since become hardened criminals have said that it was in the movies where they got some of their original ideas. And some newspapers might also take notice.

In order to accommodate local school teachers going south for the Christmas and New Year holiday season following the closing of schools on that day, Union steamer Coquitlam will sail at 3 o'clock on the afternoon of Tuesday, December 20, for Vancouver and waypoints instead of 1:30 p.m., the company's local office announces. The delayed sailing will be for the one week only.

"Heavenly Chiffon Pie,"

Says Mrs. Robert Blair, Toronto
former Hospital Dietitian, and Teacher

"MY FAMILY raves about Carnation desserts like this Chocolate Chiffon Pie," says Mrs. Blair. "No cooking, no baking. And it's easy on my budget because it's velvet blended with Carnation to save cream."

Mrs. Blair is well qualified to appreciate Carnation's convenience — undiluted in recipes that call for cream, mixed half and half with water for whole milk purposes. She appreciates Carnation's fine nourishment, because all three of her children were Carnation fed.

Try Carnation Evaporated Milk in your cooking. Ask your doctor about a Carnation formula for your baby.

CHOCOLATE CHIFFON PIE

1 cup water crumbs.
3 tablespoons melted butter
1 envelope unflavored gelatin
1/4 cup cold water
2 cups chocolate syrup
1 cup Carnation Milk, chilled to ice-crystal stage
1/4 teaspoon mint extract or 1/2 teaspoon vanilla
Shaved chocolate

• Mix crumbs and butter; press firmly into buttered deep 9-inch or 10-inch pie plate. Chill 4 hours. Soften gelatin in water. Heat syrup just below boiling, add and dissolve gelatin; chill until cold but not thickened. Whip Carnation Milk; fold in flavoring and chocolate mixture. Pour into crust; chill. Decorate with shaved chocolate.

40 years trouble ended—Now Regular

"After 40 years of trouble with constipation, I tried KELLOGG'S ALL-BRAN. Now I'm as regular as should be. I take half a cup with milk and fruit twice a day. It's delicious!" writes W. G. Young, 840 Nelson St., Ste. 80, Vancouver, B.C. This is just one of many unsolicited letters from ALL-BRAN users.

Want relief from constipation due to lack of bulk in your diet? Just eat an ounce of toasty crisp ALL-BRAN daily, drink plenty of water. Double your money back if results don't satisfy—send empty carton to Kellogg's, London, Ont.

Two hats for the price of one!

First, give him a Stetson Gift Certificate with a miniature red plastic hat in a miniature metal hat box. (He'll use it later on for studs and cuff-links.) Then, he redeems the Certificate for the Stetson he prefers. He'll love you twice as much for letting him pick the style and color he likes best!

His heart is saying "Thanks!"

— for nourishing every inch with Gaines' —

A happy heart for your dog — when you nourish every inch! Feed him Gaines! — it's kennel-tested — biologically proved nutritionally complete. Nine out of ten dogs "go for Gaines" — first feeding!

You save money!

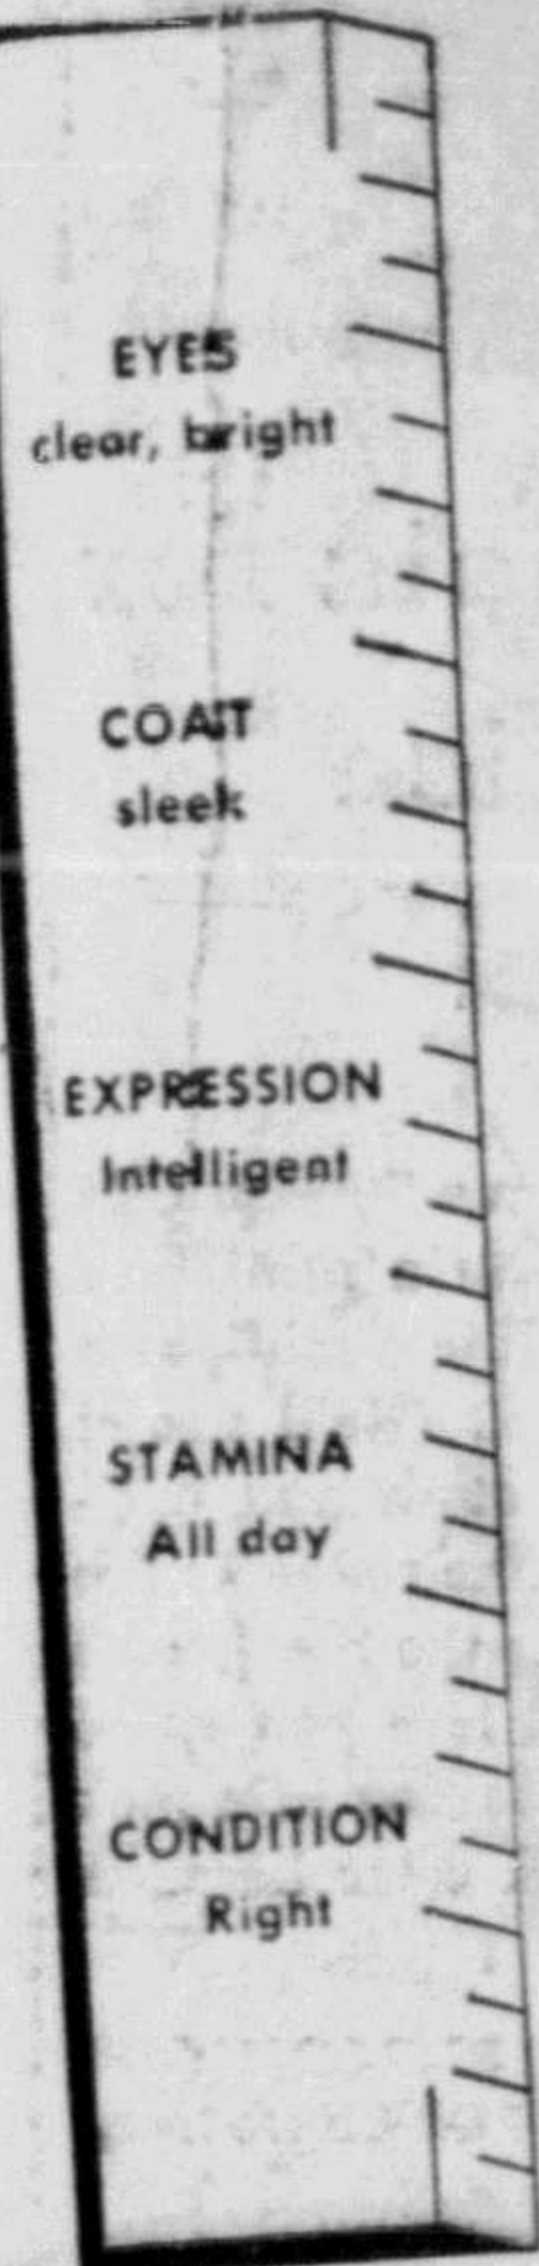

Gaines costs less to feed than any other type of dog food. A 5-lb. bag makes 10 to 12 lbs. of ready-to-eat meal.

... Save time, too!

— all you do is mix Gaines with water (soup, milk or gravy). For variety, try GAINES KRUNCHON, which is Gaines Meal compressed into crunchy bite-size pellets.

Wins his heart — forever!

Each pound contains — proteins as in 1½ lbs. beef; carbohydrates as in 1½ qts. cooked oatmeal; fats as in 1 oz. butter; minerals as in 1¼ lbs. cheese; iron as in ¾ lbs. beef liver; plus all vitamins he needs.

Murray Sez -

If poor old Doc Nasmith had ever thought that his brain child would be abused as it was last Friday and Saturday by Bo-Me-Hi and Kay-Hi Athletes I am, sure he would have given his plans a second reading before offering them to the public. Mind you the public is not kicking too much about this "floperod" of ours as we have them so seldom but many were sadly disappointed at the showing made by a team from Kay-Hi, a school that has always given us tops in competition.

These Hi School series occasionally bring to mind the first trip a team from this hamlet visited Kay-Hi and that was around fifteen years ago. Walt Johnson, then league President shipped a gang of us aboard the good ship Margaret with a well known character at the wheel in the person of George Fritz. Carl Smith was our manager and Eddie (Ham) Antonelli a coach of sorts.

Without consulting Mr. Webster on the term we accepted or at least it was accepted for us that the word lodgings meant we were to sleep and dine as guests of the good folks to the north. This it turned out was not the case so, on arrival, Messrs. Smith and Antonelli had to find a way of feeding the multitude and even the loaves and fishes were missing.

There have been many great words spoken since that day by statesmen of many countries but a few words by our anxious manager Mr. Smith still are spoken in jest by some of that gang and they were: "Stay in bed in the mornings fellows, by getting up and running around you only work up an appetite".

We weathered the famine, however, with our good coach rolling dice in the hotel lobby at every opportunity to scrape a few of these precious pieces of silver together and I still remember Herb Morgan and Bob Armstrong, teammates that they were, going into business by pooling resources and buying a delicious cake which they re-tailed at a straight dime a slice. The knife used was a wire coat hanger, the business location Room 131. The late Jackie Campbell and yours truly were partners in one piece—things were tough those days.

Back to league play tonight an attempt will be made by Bo-Me-Hi to climb back on even terms with Brownwoods just to stay in the running. The students are in the basement as far as figures go, yet deserve a much better fate when one looks over their record. They have had them close on many occasions only to falter in the stretch. Coach Jack Evans will have to remedy his falling if he is to produce a successful defence of the Senior title now held by his boys.

Brownwoods have taken into their fold, Big Bob Gill, a boy they used last season to advantage in a few games but found he would not leave his pals in the intermediate league. Bob will give Boyo Gurvich a hand with the big fellows and should prove a bit of a hurdle for the students tonight.

Don Forward has nothing but basketball plans these days and will be handing us some fine outside competition throughout the season. On the other hand coach Angus MacPhee of the All-stars is not being too successful in getting his lads out for practices and isn't too happy about having any part of the real. He has, however, issued an ultimatum that will shiver some timbers and that is that next Sunday's practice will decide just who does and who doesn't. That's fair warnin' ing the lineup.

UNION MEETING

There will be a General Meeting of structure & General Labourer's Union, 1427, on Tuesday, December 6th at 8 p.m. Carpenters' Union Hall on Fraser St. Rupert. Business—General.

Great Growth of Co-op Here—Beam Trawlers Operating—Logging Camps Closing

The 2,000 members of the Co-ops in this district have made gains since incorporation which set the organization up as a major economic force in this district. From the beginning of the North Island Trollers Co-operative on a beach some 18 years ago has sprung an organization whose physical assets now total $2,500,000 and whose members equities, the actual amount to which members have expressed faith in the idea with their own resources, stands at $1,200,000. This is no mean sum, considering that it has come from what was once an economically depressed group of fishermen striving for their own betterment.

Annual volume of trade which totals $3,750,000 reflects one of the key features of the producer co-operative movement—the idea that those who produce should also market their products as directly as possible. The Fairview

Bay plant, which handles the fish is only part of the scheme. The marketing contacts, which are literally world wide, are also vital to success.

K. F. Harding, manager of the Fishermen's Co-op joined Dr. M. M. Coady in sounding a warning here last week which cannot be overlooked in co-operative development. That is that members should not become so immersed in the creation of wealth as to lose the idea of extending the movement and living co-operative principles themselves. Dr. Coady's answer is "continuous education" of adults, a consideration that might not be unacceptable to adults in any walk of life, regardless of their principles. Regardless of what economic circumstances have contributed to Prince Rupert's present prosperity, the Co-operatives have played a very full part and, on their tenth anniversary, it is something that should be recognized.

Union steamer Coquitlam docked here northbound at 1:15 Friday afternoon bound for the south Queen Charlottes. She returned Sunday at 6:15 p.m. and proceeded back to Vancouver at 9 p.m. The Coquitlam is under the command of Capt. Harry McLean.

Osmund Hendrickson's fish packer Sydney is reported to be nearing the end of its season packing fresh and frozen fish between Kelekanan and Prince Rupert. The Dagny, which belongs to the same company, is now tied up in Seattle after making a trip south.

A few persistent beam trawlers, remaining out in Herate Straits, constitute the only major fishing activity on the north coast. There also is a small amount of crabbing and shrimping going on, most of which is sold on the local market. The approach of the Christmas season will shortly see the end of all fishing activity until after the end of the year.

Rt. Rev. James B. Gibson, Bishop of Caledonia, is leaving on Friday evening's train for a two weeks' trip to Vanderhoof, Hazelton, Kitwanga and Terrace on ecclesiastical duties.

CANADA'S ECONOMIC PROSPECTS REVIEWED BY B of M PRESIDENT

B. C. Gardner Sees Country's Dynamic Growth Comparable To United States' After World War I

RESOURCES, DEPOSITS, PASS TWO BILLION MARK; SAVINGS AND LOANS AT RECORD—REPORTS GORDON BALL, GENERAL MANAGER

Montreal, Dec. 5—A parallel between Canada's present industrial potentialities and those of the United States in the years following World War I was drawn by the president of the Bank of Montreal, B. C. Gardner, at the 132nd annual meeting today. While recognizing problems relating to conditions and prospects in the export markets, the course of Canadian economic events, he said, had "a good many healthy and reassuring aspects."

The relative stability of the Canadian business trend was the most noteworthy feature of the year, Mr. Gardner said. Canada's resistance to recessive influences, he emphasized, is due to a vigorous program of industrial expansion based not so much on the outlook for business next year or the year after, as on the country's "magnificent long-term potentialities" and its acquired self-confidence and industrial "know-how."

Gordon R. Ball, general manager, presented a balance sheet both in excess of two billion featuring deposits and resources dollars. The amounts, in each instance a new record, were: deposits, $2,019,000,000; resources, $2,140,000,000. Current loans and discounts in Canada of $442,000,000, he stated, were at the highest year-end figures in the history of the bank. Investments had increased to $1,168,000,000, a gain during the year of $35,000,000.

Canada's Dollar Dilemma

The B of M president reviewed the dollar problems created by the dollar shortage, while Canada was not living beyond her means, he said, the inability to convert sterling into U.S. dollars posed a difficult problem. He considered that the broad trend of Canadian economic development seems logically to point to a closer balance in trade with our nearest neighbor.

Discussing Canadian attempts to remedy the underlying imbalance in overseas trade, Mr. Gardner said that our U.S. dollar situation limited our capacity to extend further aid outside normal trade relations. Almost inevitably, he believed, there would be a contraction in our exports to traditional overseas markets. He further expressed the opinion that the greatest contribution the United States could make towards world recovery was a liberal tariff policy coupled with a courageous program of overseas investment.

World Economic Order

Turning to the question of world economic order, Mr. Gardner stated that "the concept of an international economic order has lost reality, and for many people it is not even a goal." He deplored the restrictions and expedients introduced by many countries which rendered inoperative "the forces of corrective adjustment through the processes of the market place."

Recent currency devaluations, the speaker considered, were a long stride towards realism, but he expressed doubt that rates established by governmental fiat could reflect actual values. He suggested that trade expansion might well be encouraged by the admittedly bold step of permitting "a range" of variable exchange rates, cushioned perhaps by a stabilization fund designed to prevent violent short-term fluctuations. He went on to suggest that the international Monetary Fund, by which exchange rates should now be re-examined in the light of experience.

Mr. Gardner suggested that the ultimate goal was an international economy, capable of functioning on its own. The necessity of raising standards of productivity in countries having difficulty in balancing their accounts with the dollar area was actually acknowledged, he said. But "that will require huge additions and improvements to capital equipment." Was the necessary capital likely to be forthcoming, he asked, under conditions wherein the weight of public budgets "devitalized both the ability to provide and the incentive to employ the capital that is the lifeblood of productive efficiency?" He wondered, too, about the effects of an addition to the nationalization of industry.

Mr. Gardner said in conclusion, "There is a vast reservoir of energy releasable for recovery in the incentives which impel the individual to improve his position in life, which stimulate adaptability and inventive genius and which encourage the development of new processes, products and markets. The great task of the present is to provide an environment in which these fundamental and powerful forces may once more be put fruitfully to work."

General Manager's Address

In his address to the shareholders, Mr. Ball referred to the transfer of four million dollars from the profit and loss account to the reserve fund as being due to "the continued growth of our deposit liabilities to the public."

The general manager recalled that earlier in the year, for the first time in the history of any Canadian bank, savings deposits passed the billion dollar mark. "We are deeply conscious of our
