Alaska Railway Talks Ottawa This Week

OTTAWA (CP)—The Department of External Affairs today confirmed that officials of the Canadian and American governments will meet here today to discuss a proposal that a survey be made of a way link from British Columbia to Alaska. A spokesman said, the talks will be of a "pretty preliminary" character.

The proposal under discussion will not be one seeking construction of a railroad itself but one for the survey of the best route the line might eventually take. Extension of the Pacific Great Eastern northward from Prince George to Alaska has long been suggested.

Reds Suffer Worse Reverse

VIENNA (CP)—Communism was considered to have suffered one of its most crushing recent defeats in Europe as Austria returned to normal after two days of Red terror. Trains are running on schedule again. Street cars are operating unhindered and 50,000 striking Reds have gone back to work. Communist effort to foment a general strike, terrorize the country, isolate its capitals and, perhaps, set up a rump government was abandoned. The Communists gave up in face of calm resistance by the rest of the Austrians. Bulk of the country's laborers ignored the strike call.

Truman And MacArthur To Meet

American Forces Now In North Korea Wonsan is All But Captured

WONSAN (CP)—South Korean troops today occupied Wonsan, the first major city in Red North Korea taken over by United Nations liberation forces. At nightfall, however, the big east coast industrial city was not quite secure. The Reds still occupied high ground encircling the southwest and western sectors. They were pouring a steady stream of fire into the South Korean troops.

But other North Koreans—by the hundreds—were surrendering to the advancing South Koreans. Observers are generally confident that what remains of the much bombed city of 150,000 would be completely in the hands of the South Koreans by morning. American forces, pushing across the parallel from captured Kaesong, met fierce Communist resistance on the main road to Pyongyang. The First Cavalry Division was about 80 miles south of the Red capital, but it was slowed to yard by yard advance by stubborn North Korean defences in the border area.

A spokesman at General MacArthur's headquarters said the Communists had prepared defences to a depth of 25 miles, but nevertheless, American forces are making gains. The First Cavalry Division was fighting on a 25 mile front. American tanks, artillery and planes blasted a hole in the defense network, and infantry reached Sinchon, a highway village about 2 1/2 miles north of the 38th parallel.

GOING TO ARBITRATION

OTTAWA—Compulsory arbitration may be resorted to for settlement of the railway wage dispute, it was reported today. Government-directed negotiations between the railways and their unions have bogged down. The government is expected to appoint an arbitrator to settle the wages-hours dispute. Next Sunday is the extended deadline for a settlement.

STENDEL RE-HIRED

NEW YORK—Casey Stengel, winner of two world baseball championships in as many years, was re-hired today as manager of the New York Yankees for another two years. The terms are not disclosed but the salary is expected to be anywhere from $65,000 to $80,000 per year.

OAKLAND WINNER

OAKLAND—The Pacific Coast Baseball League wound up Sunday with Oakland Oaks gaining the pennant over the rugged 200-game schedule. San Diego finished second, Hollywood third, Portland fourth, San Francisco fifth, Seattle sixth, Los Angeles seventh and Sacramento last.

RED WINGS BEAT STARS

DETROIT—The veteran forward Ted Lindsay and rookie goalie Terry Sawchuk paced the National Hockey League champion Detroit Red Wings to a convincing 7 to 1 victory Sunday over the League All-Stars to mark the first time in the four-year tilt that the All-Stars have been defeated. Lindsay scored three goals. Howe, Peters, Pavelich and Prystai got the remainder of the Detroit goals while Ted Smith of Toronto scored the lone All-Star tally with one minute and 33 seconds left.

Brazil Dictator Is Winning Again

RIO DE JANEIRO (CP)—Getulio Vargas, Brazil's former dictator, has widened his margin to more than 400,000 votes over his nearest rival following last week's presidential election. Many votes are still to be counted.

Reds Charge Americans With Strafing Important Air Base

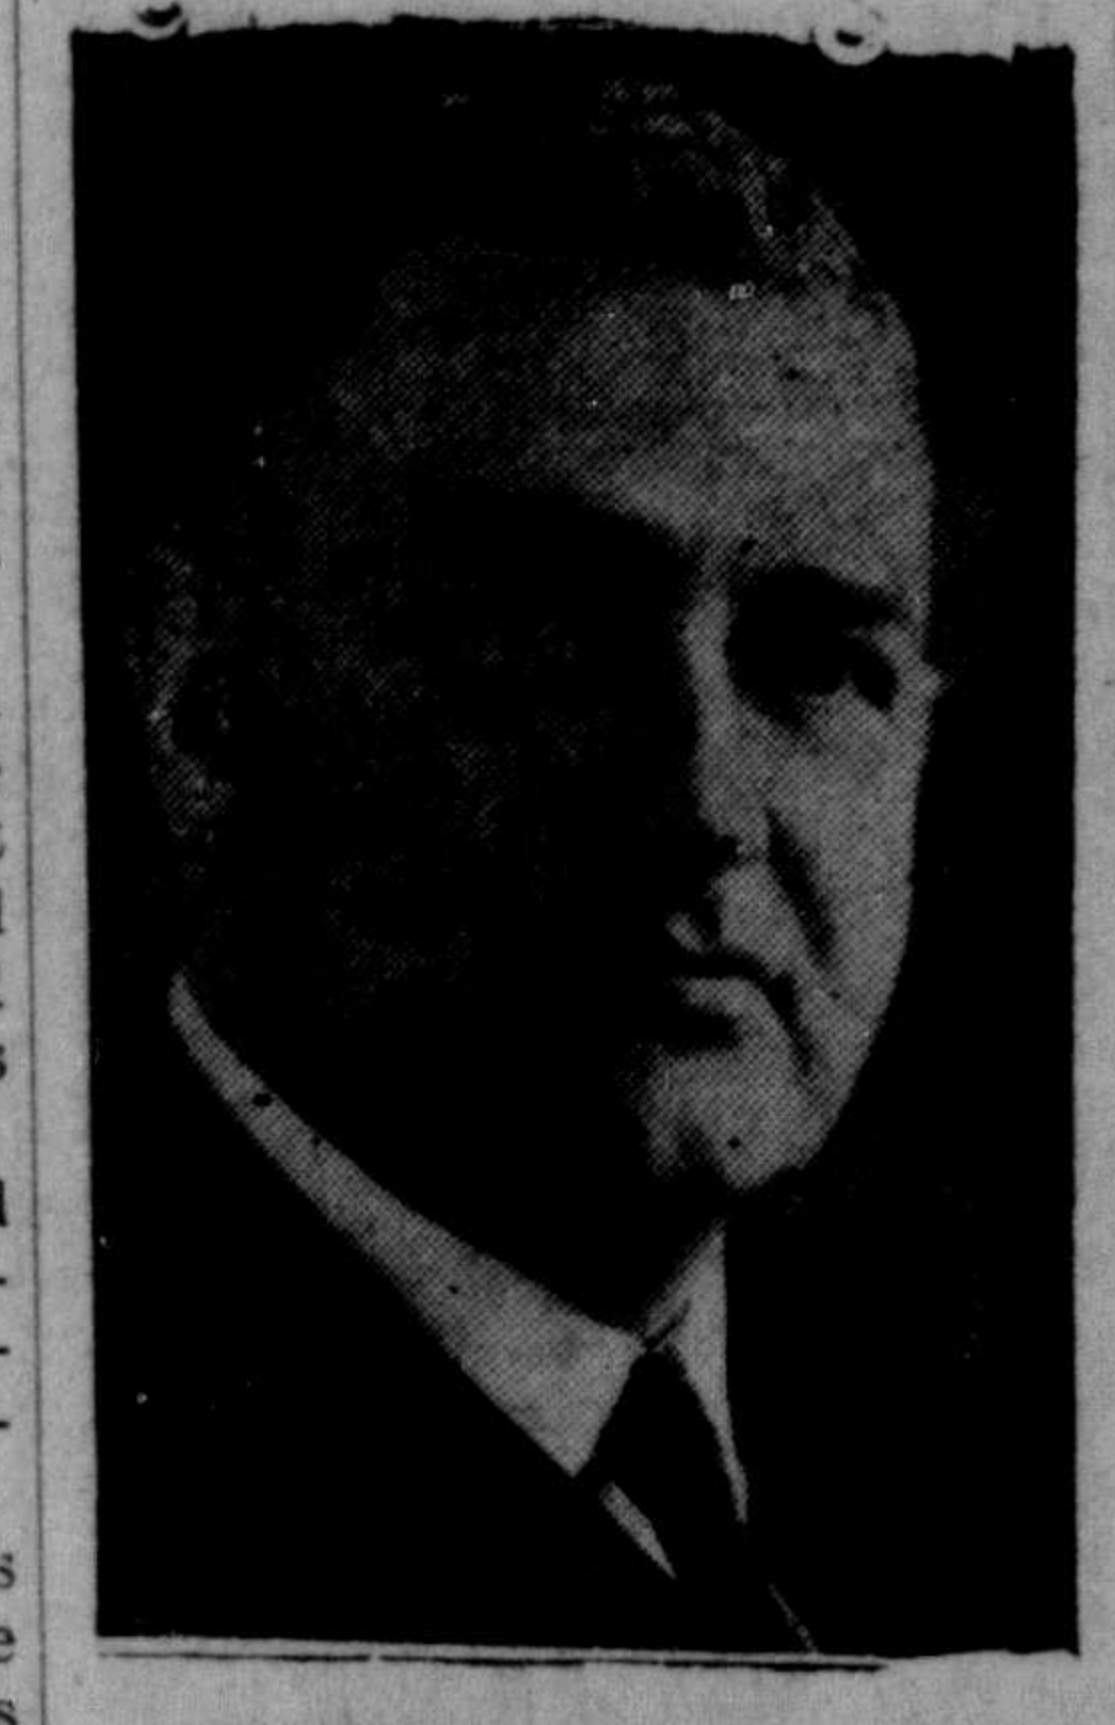

MOSCOW (CP)—Russia charged last night that two American fighter planes strafed and damaged a Soviet airfield near the key Siberian seaport of Vladivostok last Sunday. A Russian protest note was referred to the United States Minister Counsellor, Walworth Barbour, by Andrei Y. Gromyko, Soviet deputy foreign minister. The note placed the incident 62 miles north of the Russian-Korean border.

PLAQUES UNVEILED—Two plaques—one in English and the other in French—were unveiled at Quebec's citadel to commemorate the Churchill-Roosevelt conferences during the Second World War. Governor-General Alexander unveiled the plaques which were draped with the Union Jack and the Stars and Stripes before the ceremonies. (CP PHOTO)

Still Leader— Anscomb is Re-elected

VANCOUVER—Hon. Herbert Anscomb, minister of finance, survived the threat and was re-elected leader of the Progressive Conservative party for British Columbia at the conclusion of the party convention here late Saturday. He received 453 votes to 167 for W. A. C. Bennett, Coalition M.L.A. for North Okanagan.

VICTORIOUS
... Hon. Herbert Anscomb

The annual convention, devoted almost entirely to the question of party disension, thus overwhelmingly defeated a rebel movement sponsored partially by younger elements and backed by some federal members including Howard Green, Vancouver South, and E. D. Fulton, Kamloops.

Answering criticism of opponents in regard to holding directorships of wine and beer concerns doing business with the government, Mr. Anscomb told the convention that this was known in 1946 when he had been elected leader and he had nothing to hide now.

Mr. Anscomb said that promises made when Coalition was formed must be honored and he assured the convention, in answer to charges laid earlier, that he was director of enterprises doing business with the government. He had made no bones about directorship in the wine company at any time.

Major General G. S. Peakes, V.C. M.P. for Nanaimo, was elected president of the British Columbia Progressive-Conservative Association and E. D. Fulton of Kamloops, vice-president.

Rendezvous in Pacific Between Chief Executive And Far East Commander

WASHINGTON, D.C. (CP)—President Truman will meet with General Douglas MacArthur in the Pacific this coming week-end. The conference will be held "somewhere in the Pacific" but it is not disclosed whether it will be aboard a Navy ship or at an island.

It will be the first time that MacArthur and Truman have met since Truman became President. MacArthur has not been in the United States since the war.

French Troops Surrounded

SAIGON (CP)—French troops are withdrawing from a key frontier post, reported encircled today by Communist-led guerrillas. Most of 3,500 French troops are reported lost including some hundreds of crack Foreign Legionnaires and Moroccans.

Guerrillas are reported breaking through the French post of Thatkhe near the Chinese frontier.

N.H.L. Season Opens Tomorrow

NEW YORK (CP)—The National Hockey League opens its 1950-51 season tomorrow night—the earliest inaugural in history—and Detroit's talent-rich Red Wings once again are expected to clean up in championship style.

The Red Wings will begin at home against New York Rangers, the team they beat in the Stanley Cup finals last April.

Another opener is carded for Thursday at Chicago, where Eddie Goodfellow unveils his revitalized Black Hawks against Montreal Canadiens. Then all six clubs will see action over the week-end.

Salmon Fishing Was Successful

Salmon fishing in the district is over for the season with the exception of a little trolling on the Queen Charlotte Islands.

The season has been a generally good one. Good runs were recorded at Smith's Inlet, Rivers Inlet, Bella Coola, Bella Bella, the Naas and the Queen Charlotte Islands. Mediocre runs were found on the Skeena and in the Butedale area.

Fishing is fairly quiet with the exception of bottom fishing. However, about 200 tons of summer herring have been caught in the district recently.

Queen Charlottes Are Wracked By Tempests

QUEEN CHARLOTTE CITY (Special to The Daily News)—Southeast gales, the third within a week, with heavy seas gave fishermen and boat owners at Queen Charlotte City and Skidegate a troublesome time at the week-end.

Saturday morning found big seiners, better able to weather the storm, towing submerged smaller fishing craft, including gillnetters and trawlers, to repair ways. Information here is that a Davis raft valued at over $1,000,000 was torn from its mooring at Allford Bay and piled up on the shores of Queen Charlotte City. Salvage operations by Northern Pulpwood, Sandspit, prevented loss of the raft.

Barber's float, used by fishermen and the Queen Charlotte Airlines, parted and is scattered along the shore of Queen Charlotte City. The stormy weather continued over the week-end.

Because of weather conditions all attempts made to tow to Queen Charlotte City the ill-fated seiner Scrub, which turned over on Sandspit Bar with the loss of one man drowned and another still missing while trying to make Queen Charlotte City in a recent storm, have proved unsuccessful. Severe storms since have washed her ashore near Sandspit. Heavy seas have since completed her destruction.

Premier Johnson Is Back In B.C.

VICTORIA (CP)—Premier and Mrs. Byron Johnson, who were injured in an automobile accident near Quebec September 29, returned home Sunday afternoon on the steamer Princess Patricia to finish their recuperation in the crash.

The Premier, who suffered a broken hip and is expected to stay in a cast in his hospital bed for a few weeks, was transported from Quebec by a Royal Canadian Air Force DC-3 as far as Vancouver Saturday night.

Threatening weather forced the flight to set down there and the remainder of the trip was made by water. From the steamer the Premier was removed to Royal Jubilee Hospital in an ambulance.

Mrs. Johnson has made excellent recovery from fractured ribs and hurt shoulder suffered as the Johnsons were blown back from the federal-provincial conference on constitutional amendments.

Riff In War Clouds

EVERY once in a while a little gleam of sunlight strikes through the black clouds of impending war that hang over the international situation, and it gives us at least momentary relief from the strain of fear of another world war, with all the certain horrors of the atomic bomb. It is with such relief that we read the announcement by Jacob Malik, the Soviet deputy foreign minister, that his government would pledge itself not to be the first to use the atomic bomb, and was prepared to talk peace.

The statement was made in reply to several questions put to Mr. Malik by the Maryland Peace Committee which has been distributing a "peace ballot" asking signers whether they favor outlawing the atomic weapons and a United States-Russian meeting to negotiate differences. The organizers of the ballot claim that they had nothing to do with the "Stockholm Peace Appeal," which has been denounced as a fraud, the purpose of which was to disarm the Western Nations of their chief weapon of defence in the event of an all-out Russian offensive in Europe.

Now that the Korean war has been won by the combined forces of the Western Nations, the Soviet government is, apparently, waking up to the fact that the Atlantic Pact means business. The rift in the clouds through which a little gleam of sunshine has come has been made by the utter defeat of the Red armies in Korea. Mr. Malik's announcement that his government will not be the first to use atomic weapons, and is now in favor of a peaceful settlement of "differences," is a confession of fear. The would-be world dominators of Moscow have been striking fear into our hearts for the past five years, but the worm has turned, and they are, at least, beginning to be afraid. The men who sacrificed their lives in Korea will not have died in vain if they have put the fear of God into the hearts of the men of the Kremlin. Let us hope that the fear will grow, and that it will be the beginning of wisdom and of real peace for the world.

WHAT NEXT IN KOREA?

THE FIGHTING may not yet be completely over in South Korea. The end cannot, however, be long delayed and the ultimate result is not in doubt. This happy state of affairs has come with unbelievable speed. It is not so many days ago that the forces of the United Nations were pinned down in the small southeastern corner of Korea and people were wondering whether and for how long they would be able to hold on even to this. The victory of the United Nations forces has been dramatic in its speed and completeness.

At this moment it has become necessary for United Nations forces to cross the 38th parallel into Northern Korea since General MacArthur's appeal to the northerners to surrender has not been heeded. Quite apart from the danger involved in the threat of the Chinese Communist forces to intervene in Northern Korea after the United Nations forces cross over the parallel, no one wants to prolong the fighting in Korea if a satisfactory political arrangement can be reached. It is clear to the Western powers, however, that it would be of no service to peace if they failed to take their present opportunity to get some final settlement based on the unification of the whole country under a free and democratic government—if they were content to return to the situation which existed before the North Korean aggression; in other words, if they left the North Koreans in a position once again to launch an attack on their brothers in the south when they had recovered their strength and Moscow was ready for another attempt.

CREDIT BUREAU OF PRINCE RUPERT

Ray Reflects and Reminisces

Labor Day Monday. Thanksgiving Day Monday and nothing to do but observe them. Ah! observation fine!

Washington recently enacted a ruling, requiring down payments of at least one-third on automobiles and completion of payments within twenty-one months. Many other articles of commerce to which the tightening up process applies could be mentioned, as well. In other words, you can't have your war and play around, too.

People were calling that brisk fall breeze last Friday night a storm. It only cleared the air and was good for the average lazy mortal. Real gales occurred earlier in the history of Prince Rupert. Then, a late-at-night gust hardly got going until some folk were beginning to miss the roof. Plank sidewalks had a disconcerting way of shaking loose and folding up for a few hundred feet. And as for plate glass windows—there has not been a grand smash in years. Only through an examination of early numbers of the News will details be available.

There would not be a prodigious water power going to waste in the untamed mountain country down the coast from Prince Rupert unless the region was as wild as they make them. Aluminum Company engineers are impressed by such a wilderness but sometimes there are circumstances when its a case of "the wilder the better."

The call to service offers a challenge. It may take someone near and dear. They'll see new sights, meet new companions, live new lives. But, says an exchange, such service instils virtues which we, at home, never hope to do. Discipline, in itself, is an opportunity—an educational advantage which too many fond mothers and fathers can or will offer their offspring. Military service puts the boy or the girl face to face with the world. But, it protects him in the process. It sees that he gets food, care, clothes and shelter, no matter how inefficient his own efforts might be. And only a small percentage of those called to uniform will ever see the dangers of battle.

Three United States Senators, on their way from Seattle to Alaska to size up the territory and gain new and timely impressions may call at Prince Rupert. Anyway, they have been invited and it is to be hoped they will accept. Prince Rupert is the nearest city in Canada or the United States to Alaska. Being neighborly, nothing is lost and usually, something is gained.

There is a local indifference to the "Operation Mercy" precautions to take place this month, in British Columbia, according to the Red Cross president at Prince Rupert. But you can't find the slightest bit of indifference when a ball game or prize fight is being staged.

Saskatoon small boys took $9,000 from a strong box in their home and travelled as far as Vancouver before being caught up with. Five hundred had already been spent in buying whatever caught their fancy, and five spot tips. They are in line for correction, but whoever was responsible for preferring his house to a bank ought not to be neglected.

George Bernard Shaw, being without evasion, utters what he thinks. A patient in an English hospital, and lying on his stomach, he yelled when a nurse started rubbing oil into his skin "It's nothing at all," remarked the doctor soothingly. "She's only doing that to prevent bed sores." "Nothing at all?" roared Shaw "whose bottom is she playing with, anyway?"

It is beginning to appear that no matter what part of the world is engaging attention a crisis is developing, or one is on the point of disappearing. Go through an average paper or periodical, and count the number of times "crisis" appears. It does not always follow that what is called crisis, is actually that. Situations are arising all the time, of local importance, and of varying degrees, but they have nothing to do with the fate of nations, or even the possibility of war. Yet, practically everything, today would appear to be a "crisis."

The bard of the Yukon was 76 the other day. He looks well and says he expects to live a lot longer. His hobby is longevity. He has already written 700 poems, and plans on rounding out a thousand. And it's just because he feels the way he does that Robert Service's funeral is still a long way off.

As I See It

JUST WHAT'S A RED? THE BIG GLASS companies of Canada have pleaded guilty to the charge that they have been in an illegal price-fixing combine. Their excuse is that they never did act contrary to the public interest, that they fixed fair prices and took only reasonable profits.

The main point which arises out of all this is: What's a Red anyway? If a Red is somebody working for the overthrow of the system of capitalism, or what used to be called "free enterprise" then the ruddiest of all the reds are not in the Communist party but in the padded seats of the Board rooms of big business. For these latter, by the price fixing, financial manipulation, and just plain profiteering have damaged their own system far worse than Tim Buck and Co. could hope to do in a thousand years.

THE THEORY of the free enterprise system is not a bad one.

duced, many, many years ago, it can well be believed, there was far less reason to give thanks than there is today. This would be a glorious world in which to dwell, could our chief problem war, be solved to stay solved. The charity, the knowledge, the mercy and kindness we all acknowledge and accept in this age were unknown, centuries ago. Yet, it was then, the festival of Thanksgiving was thought of. Do we ever think of the blessings that surround us today?

It is that human beings need an unlimited number of goods and services. Some of these are necessities, like bread and butter. Some are amenities, like movie shows, music on the radio, or grand opera. Some are luxuries, like nylon stockings, mink coats or trips to California or Florida in the winter.

The theory of free enterprise is that human beings can best supply themselves with all these things by allowing self interest to operate naturally. The farmer owns his own land, raises as much as he can, sells it for the highest price he can get. Where a job (like making steel or glass) is too big for one family, many people join together and form "companies." They pool their money to equip their factory. They make their product for as little as they can and sell it for as much as they can get.

It is a system of profit-and-loss—you make money if there is a demand for your product, and if you can produce and sell it at a price your customers are willing and able to pay. But you lose money if you are inefficient or if some disaster befalls your customers; or if you have too many competitors—that is, if too many companies are trying to render the same public service.

I SAY THAT the basic theory of capitalism, or free enterprise (Continued on page 3)

CRUSTY DINNER ROLLS

Measure into a large bowl 1/2 c. lukewarm water, 1 tsp. granulated sugar; stir until sugar is dissolved. Sprinkle with 1 envelope Fleischmann's Royal Fast Rising Dry Yeast. Let stand 10 minutes. THEN stir well. Add 1/2 c. lukewarm water and 1 tsp. salt. Add, all at once, 3 1/2 c. once-sifted bread flour and work in with the hands; work in 3 lbs. soft shortening. Knead on lightly-floured board until smooth and elastic. Place in greased bowl. Cover with a damp cloth and set in warm place, free from draught. Let rise until doubled in bulk. Punch down dough in bowl, fold over, cover and again let rise until doubled in bulk. Turn out on lightly-floured board and divide into 2 equal portions; shape each piece into a long roll about 1 1/2" in diameter. Cover with a damp cloth and let rest 15 mins. Using a floured sharp knife, cut dough into 2" lengths and place, well apart, on ungreased cookie sheets. Sprinkle rolls with cornmeal and let rise, uncovered, for 1/2 hour. Brush with cold water and let rise another 1/2 hour. Meanwhile, stand a broad shallow pan of hot water in the oven and preheat oven to hot, 425°. Remove pan of water from oven and bake the rolls in steam-filled oven for 1/2 hour, brushing them with cold water and sprinkling lightly with cornmeal after the first 15 mins., and again brushing them with cold water 2 minutes before removing baked buns from the oven. Yield—18 rolls.

AS I SEE IT

is not too bad. As a matter of plain historical fact, more human beings made more social progress under this system than they have under any other system, so far tried out by the people on this earth.

Why then is this system menaced and challenged? Partly because of its outside enemies—the socialists of various shades, ranging from pale pink to deepest crimson. But, in my opinion, far more because the big operators of the free enterprise system itself no longer believe in it. Where did the demand come from to set up tariff walls at every international border—thus blocking natural trade channels, along the lines of God's geography?

Was it not from the head of fices of Big Business?

I DOUBT THAT WE will ever have as much "free enterprise" in the future as there was in the past because the deadliest enemies of the free enterprise system are the big boys who are running it. They have done an "inside job" to cut the ground from under their own feet which makes the work of the outside anti-capitalists look like kid-stuff.

Chatham At Home Bui Few Present

It being Navy Day, H.M.C.S. Chatham Saturday threw open its drill hall to inspection by the public. And the display was really worth seeing.

One of the chief centres of interest was a completely rigged whaling vessel. Sails were raised and all the equipment in place. On the walls were panels showing all the gear used in getting small boats into the water. The Robinson release was particularly interesting as described by navy personnel, who were in attendance all the time to answer questions and explain the different devices. There was a panel showing different pulley arrangements, one of rafts from a life raft, a Carey float with the gear that causes its automatic release when a ship sinks, chain and anchor hook-ups and all the rest that goes toward seamanship.

Nor was the business end of the Navy neglected. Also on display were a torpedo in sections showing the parts that make it operate and several naval guns. It was perhaps the guns that caught the youngsters' eyes.

STILL SOARING—Canada's cost-of-living index continued its upward trend during August to reach a record 169.8 on Sept. 1 according to the latest figures announced. It was 168.5 on Aug. 1. This latest increase was attributed to higher costs of food, fuel, rent and furnishings. This Dominion Bureau of Statistics graph shows in heavy black line the trend of the index during the last two years. The light dotted line shows the trend of the United States cost-of-living index during the same period. By Aug. 15 it had reached 173.0. These are not comparative figures but merely indicate the trends of the two indices. (CP PHOTO)

INTERFERENCE APPROVED

I don't like to interfere, but when I found that my youngest daughter-in-law didn't know that blueing is the only safe way to keep clothes white, I felt I just had to say something. 'Reckitt's Blue prevents clothes turning yellow', I told her. 'Just a swish or two in the final rinse and your wash will be sparkling white.' Blue is necessary to obtain true white. At the same time she takes no chances with anything that may damage fabric.

SID THOMSON HOME—

Saw More Drunks Here in Single Night Than 3 Months in Britain

S. C. Thomson returned to the city on Saturday afternoon's plane after a three months' visit to his native England and says he saw more drunks Saturday night on the streets of Prince Rupert than all the time he was in the Old Country.

"You don't hear much war talk in England," Mr. Thomson said, "but, if it comes, they'll take it. They didn't complain in 1940 when they were in the thick of the blitz and they don't think much of the Americans yelling for help now in their show in Korea."

"You've got to take off your hats to the women of England for their part in the war but you've got to go over there to really appreciate what they went through," the local businessman comments.

The health of the people of Britain is good and they all seem prosperous — but Mr. Thomson is critical of the Labor government and the money it is losing on nationalization.

Mr. Thomson flew going and coming. He spent most of the time at Slough outside of London. He visited in Montreal and Winnipeg on the way home. In Winnipeg he saw W. M. Blackstock, formerly manager of the local branch of the Canadian Bank of Commerce, who is now superintendent for Manitoba and Saskatchewan.

The meeting concluded with movie pictures on skiing shown by George Mostad. The last reel was of particular interest to members as it was on the local slopes, starring members.

Thanksgiving At Cathedral

Two Hundred and Twenty Persons Turn Out For Fine Anglican Dinner

Thanksgiving Day dinner was enjoyed last evening by 225 persons in St. Andrew's Anglican Cathedral Hall when the ladies of the Woman's Auxiliary served a delicious and bounteous repast and presented a jolly informal musical program following the meal. Not only were Anglicans out in good number but representatives of all other denominations in the city were in evidence.

Turkey and steaming vegetables topped with pie a la mode comprised the dinner fare on long, attractively arranged tables. Many ladies had been marshalled under the leadership of Mrs. G. S. Reade to insure that the catering was carried out without a hitch.

Rev. Canon Basil S. Prockter opened the proceedings by calling for the doxology. F. Earl Anfield, as expediter, was the spirited leader of community singing. The program included violin duets by Master Robert Jensen and Master Murray Boas. Little Healer MacDonald's "Sailor's Hornpipe" was the popular second item on the program. Peter Lien was accompanist. Rt. Rev. James B. Gibson, Bishop of Caledonia, pronounced the benediction.

Mrs. Reade, in her capacity as general convener, was assisted by Mrs. F. E. Anfield, Mrs. R. Farmer, Mrs. L. A. N. Potterton, Mrs. J. H. Bulger, Mrs. Basel S. Prockter, Mrs. A. L. Holtby, Mrs. T. D. Johnstone, Mrs. J. R. Carr, Mrs. Hubert Ward, Mrs. Peter Lien, Mrs. Alf Rivett, Mrs. C. E. Moore, Mrs. W. J. Scott, Mrs. J. P. Cade, Mrs. J. B. Gibson, Mrs. M. G. Gormely and Mrs. W. J. Nelson.

Other women and girls of the church acted as serveurs. They were Mrs. Mark, Mrs. Matson, Mrs. Pearl McGinnis, Mrs. T. B. Black, Mrs. A. F. Martin and Mrs. Peter Geoffrey McDonald; Miss Honora Silversides, Miss Hardy, Miss Holmes, Miss Beverley Nelson, Miss Nadia Beketov, Miss N. Hill, Miss J. Potterton and Miss M. Mark.

G. S. Reade, Mr. W. L. Hitchcock and Eric Faure were among the men of the church who also lent assistance. R. E. Mortimer presided at the door.

Teacher-Airman Heads Thriving Okanagan Co-op

by DAVE MCINTOSH

(Canadian Press Staff Writer KEREMEOS) — When Bert Munden got out of the R.C.A.F. after navigating with a pathfinder squadron in Europe, he looked around for a place to let his wheels down.

A native of Edmonton, he had taught schools on the prairies for 11 years. During the war, his wife became ill and, on doctor's advice, moved to this town of 1,200 in the south end of the Okanagan Valley, not far from the U. S. border. She started up an auto court.

When Munden, now 37 and father of three, came home, he settled in Keremeos. In five years, he has become owner of a 10-acre fruit ranch and general manager of the Keremeos Growers' Association Co-operative. As such, he plays a small but vital role in the Valley's $25,000,000-a-year fruit and vegetable industry.

Keremeos—An Indian word meaning "meeting of the winds"—is one of the oldest towns in the B.C. interior. The old Hudson's Bay Company post, with an ancient grain grinder, still stands on the side of one of the mountains which overhang the town.

So enclosed is the town by the mountains that the sun is shut off early in the evening and darkness falls much sooner than on the coast.

Fort Munden started keeping books for the Co-op: "I had book learning and the growers had a hard time finding such a guy here." When the secretary became ill, he took over and three years ago he became general manager. Through the Veterans' Land Act, he acquired his own ranch.

Munden's job is looking after the business affairs of the 236 grower-members of the Co-op. The ranches lie on the narrow tablelands just above the river banks and under the sheer mountain cliffs. Their owners have names like Wesenberg, Malsoncuve, Shmunk and Hencheroff. Many of them came here from the prairies.

BIG ANNUAL TURNOVER
The Co-op owns two packing plants, a hardware store (for orchard supplies) that does a $50,000 annual business and a feed store that does an $80,000-a-year business, selling to cattle ranchers whose herds roam the mountain slopes.

The packing plants employ 150—nearly all women—at season's peak. A packer can make between $8 and $12 a day and a sorter gets around 62 cents an hour. A fast packer can fill 200 boxes a day, 150 apples to the box. They wear adhesive tape at the ends of their fingers to protect them against the paper wrappings. The tape wears out so fast it has to be replaced three times a day.

Munden doesn't worry about marketing the fruit. It's done by R.C. Tree Fruits Ltd. at Kelowna, the big co-operative that is the selling agency for all 3,700 valley growers.

The Co-op cleared $280,000 last year after all expenses and this was returned to members—an average of about $1,000 each.

In a good crop year—and when prices are good, too—a rancher with a 10-acre lot can gross between $4,000 and $5,000.

However, the picture isn't as rosy as that right now because last year's hard winter killed off between 25,000 and 30,000 of the valley's trees—roughly one quarter.

Incidentally, if you have ever wondered about those roadside fruit stands. They are a boon to growers. They can often sell a good deal of fruit this way that ripens too early for the packing plant to handle.

Naval Wedding At Cathedral

Saturday evening St. Andrew's Cathedral was the scene of a full naval wedding when Lois Anne, daughter of Mrs. Delma E. McGregor of Vancouver became the bride of Stoker Gerald Arthur Long, H.M.C.S. Chatham, son of Mrs. Mildred Long of Prince Rupert. Rev. Basil S. Prockter officiated. Peter Lien was organist.

Given in marriage by her mother, the bride was adorned with floor length white satin with a Peter Pan collar adorned with bugle beads. Her floor length veil was bordered with lace. She carried a white prayer book with pink carnations on top and rose buds in streamers from the prayer book. She was married with her grandmother's golden wedding ring. The cross of the Anglican church belonging to the groom's mother was also worn by the bride.

Matron of honor, Mrs. Mae Phillips, wore a gown of mauve net with a short matching veil and a nosegay of white and mauve chrysanthemums.

Constable Ross Gibson, R.C.M.P. was groomsman. Ushers were Leading Seaman A. W. Eastman, Able Seaman J. Trudgeon, R.C.N.; Able Seaman I. Thompson, R.C.N.; and Able Seaman W. G. Flett, R.C.N.

Following the ceremony there was a reception at the naval drill hall.

The bride's mother wore a grey gabardine suit with black shoes and hat and a corsage of pink and white carnations.

The groom's mother wore a black dress, shoes and hat and a corsage of pink and white carnations.

The reception at the Drill hall was delightful with many well wishers gathering to wish the happy couple good luck. Dancing was to the music of records broadcast of the navy's public address system.

The couple are making their home in Prince Rupert.

Mrs. Ralph Browne and two sons, who have been visiting in the city for the past ten days following their return from a trip to Fort William, sailed on the Princess Louise yesterday for their home in Juneau.

Medicos In Annual Meet

With prominent medicos from the south in attendance to participate in the proceedings and conduct clinical lectures, annual meeting of the Prince Rupert District Medical Association will be held in the city this Wednesday and Thursday. Doctors from district points will also be here for the occasion. Sessions will be held Wednesday afternoon and evening except for emergencies.

The visiting doctors will include Dr. Stewart Wallace, president of the British Columbia Medical Association; Dr. Lynn Gunn, secretary; Dr. Peter Lehmann, neurologist surgeon, Vancouver; Dr. MacKay Whitelaw, Vancouver, internist, and Dr. Wise, also of Vancouver.

A TOWN'S FOUNDING— Vanderhoof—Romance in a Name

(By Frank W. Lovering)

Soon after the turn of the century a brilliant young reporter on the city staff of the Boston (Massachusetts) Journal took Horace Greeley's advice in two gulps. He first went west as far as Chicago and joined forces with the old Inter-Ocean.

The dome-shaped top of the building invited him always by means of its skylights to the out-of-doors and opportunity knocked in British Columbia. A religious sect, the Doukhobors, went on a pilgrimage which attracted the attention of Inter-Ocean editor and Herbert H. Vanderhoof was sent into that province to cover it.

His stories reached the copy desk back in the building with intervals but, when the rites of the religionists were over, Chicago was no more for Vanderhoof. His star hung over the Fort Fraser region in Central Columbia.

Between 1905 and 1912, a flood of immigrants, mostly from the northern United States, entered the Canadian prairies. The Grand Trunk Pacific Railroad was pioneering its trans-Canada line, and young Vanderhoof turned from news writing to handle much of the publicity for the new route.

In British Columbia a subsidiary company was promoting townsites. One of these was situated at the point where now is the prosperous and attractive community of Vanderhoof. The tract was taken over by Herbert H. Vanderhoof and Neil T. McMillan of Winnipeg, Manitoba. McMillan was a real estate operator and the young men teamed up, laid it out and put it on the market. This was in 1914.

FLOURISHING TOWN

Today the population of Vanderhoof is a rising 500. Its altitude is 2089 feet and it is 69 miles west of Prince George, 398 miles from Prince Rupert, in the centre of a wide stretch of almost flat arable land reaching many miles in all directions.

Built on the main line of the railway, chiefly along its north side, the centre of Vanderhoof is three-quarters of a mile from the Nechako River's south bank. It has all the requirements of a community, with good roads radiating to every point. It is the depot for not only the Nechako valley and outlying settlements—Chilko, Mapes, the Dog and Stony Creek regions, Greer and Mud valleys, and Nechako—but also for the Stuart River basin, with its long valley running 200 miles north, and connecting waterways. A road runs from Vanderhoof 40 miles to Fort St. James at the south end of Stuart Lake; and others reach west to Fort Fraser and the Endako valley, as well as to the east end of Francois Lake which is east of Prince George; and southeast via the Telegraph Trail through to the Cariboo Road. Cariboo give the county its name.

In a talk before the Manitoba Literary Society, George Ogston, a settler who knew Herbert Vanderhoof well until the real estate man's death at the age of 45, said:

"The town of Vanderhoof has a greater preponderance of Anglo-Saxon stock than any other place in the central interior of British Columbia. The name was adopted from the name of Herbert H. Vanderhoof of Chicago, one of the first owners of the townsite.

"The Vanderhoof family had been settled in the United States for about as long as the Vanderbilts, and like the name, Vanderbilt, is pure Dutch. It means 'of the farm'—rather an appropriate name for a locality where farming still is the main means of livelihood."

Earl Ebel of Seattle, representing the Ludlow Typographic Co. of Chicago and San Francisco arrived in the city on the Princess Louise yesterday from the south and will be visiting the Daily News office for the next few days on business in connection with proposed new plant equipment.

IT'S COMING—Old Man winter made an early appearance in Manitoba Oct. 2, when a four-inch snowfall blanketed Winnipeg and the Red River Valley. Agricultural officials said the snow and frost caused heavy losses to unharvested grain. Here is City Park Bridge in Winnipeg in winter costume. (CP PHOTO)

Air Mail For Naas Villages

Twice-a-month air mail service to the Naas River native villages of Greenville and Aiyansh is being instituted as from October 17, it is announced by Indian Superintendent F. E. Antfield. The service will be a boon to the two communities which in the past have had their mail carried up river from Kincolith—in the summer by small river boat and in the winter over the ice on the river. Henceforth in the summer planes will land in the river in front of the villages and in the winter, when the river is ice-laden, will drop the mails by parachute. All classes of mail will be given the air service to the two villages. Kincolith will continue to get its mail by way of the Union Steamship Co. which gives all year round service to that point. A new post office has been opened at Greenville with Henry McKay as postmaster. Rev. S. Kinley is the postmaster at Aiyansh and J. H. Froese is the postmaster at Kincolith.

Freight Being Flown From Here to Kitimaat For Aluminum—Alaska Fishing Off This Year

About 800 pounds of freight was delivered to the Kitimat area last Friday afternoon by Queen Charlotte Airlines charter plane. The freight was bound for Aluminum Company of Canada's development. From there it will be taken by helicopter to where it is needed.

Fishing in Alaska this year, according to reports along the waterfront, has taken a sharp decline from previous years. In the southeast, salmon packers are reported to have fallen off to as little as 30 percent of last year's.
