The Dirtiest City

PIONEERS, it is suggested some times, are inclined to be the most complacent and the last to realize or admit backward and reactionary conditions within a community but it has remained for a pioneer citizen to return from a trip around the world and tell us quite emphatically that his home town is the dirtiest and most untidy of all the places he has seen. That is quite a statement and it is one which should not go unheeded.

Maybe some of us have become a little weary and feel somewhat frustrated after long complaint about the pot-hole ridden main streets, the clouds of dust that so often swirl down the principal thoroughfare, the broken sidewalks, the open ditches and the smelly drains.

Nevertheless, these unkempt and dirty conditions make impression upon our visitors who tell abroad of what they see. Just how damaging and widespread the effects can be of the dissemination of unfavorable descriptions of a community is hard to estimate.

But it is not only the effect that dirty and disagreeable conditions may have on the visitors. They also affect the health and morale of the people who live here.

Taking the lead in improving the city and making it clean, interesting and attractive should be the civic authorities themselves. Their resources and their facilities may not be great but it is certainly important that the most should be made of what there are.

ANOTHER ALUMINUM PLANT

THE possibility of another aluminum plant—a great multi-million dollar industry—being established on this coast is mentioned. As far as can be learned, the reported project of the Aluminum Corporation of America is separate from that of the Aluminum Co. of Canada and will have no effect upon the latter project which appears to be moving favorably toward fruition in the immediate vicinity of Prince Rupert.

There may be questions arising as to the exporting of Canadian power for an industry located and giving employment in United States territory. It may be that the whole deal is not very far advanced. Nevertheless, it is another clear indication of the tendency of big industry and business to cast its attention to this new and fertile area of natural resources and, in this case, latent power.

Northern British Columbia is in an important position in connection with the aluminum industry since it is the power resources of this area—and that factor alone—which attract the industry to these parts. In the case of any aluminum industry in south-eastern Alaska, it would be the power of British Columbia that would be the actuating factor in bringing it here—just as in the case of the currently very live project involving central British Columbia water power with a projected mill site at Kitimaat.

As I See It

By ELMORE PHILPOTT WHO UPS PRICES?

ONE OF THE KEENEST business men in Canada returned to his home in Vancouver recently after a world cruise. Newspapermen asked him if he had anything to say about rising prices. He stated quite frankly that there was some mystery about them and that, in his opinion, they were probably due to deliberate government policies—secretly applied. That statement by the head of one of Canada's greatest merchandising establishments substantiates what I have been writing for years back in this column.

AT A TIME WHEN THE governments should have been working night and day to keep the cost of living from going up they have been doing the very opposite. Starting in 1946 I showed how this worked out with the world's wool surplus. There was the greatest surplus in the history of the world. But five interested governments combined to "rig the markets." They actually disposed of the supposed 20 years supply in five years. And so successfully did they side-step the so-called "law of supply and demand" that wool reached the highest price in history, when it should have been helping to bring cost-of-living down.

THE SOCIAL WORKERS OF Canada are meeting in Vancouver as this is written. Looking over their week's program, I am duly impressed by the breadth of the subjects covered. But what would be the net gain for Canada if we devised and adopted the most advanced kind of Social Welfare program if prices are going to keep on rising, faster than wages ever can? What good is a contributory old age pension plan if a worker pays in a whole life time—say from 18 to 65—only to find that the purchasing power of the pension when received is a mere fraction of what it was supposed to be when the premiums were collected?

ON MY DESK ARE LETTERS from superannuated school teachers and civil servants telling of their desperate struggle to pay their way. All their lives they chipped in so much per month to provide for a retirement allowance. Now they find that the dollar they get back is worth less than half as much as it was when they paid it in.

That comes pretty close to swindling if—as charged—prices are being kept up by deliberate but secret government policies.

HERE IN B.C. WE ARE WAITING to see whether 32,000 woodworkers will strike to get an increase of something between 9 and 19 cents per hour.

The real argument is whether or not the cost of living has increased more than the margin of the requested increase.

Ray Reflects and Reminisces

The latest development in Prince Rupert newspaper affairs took place in the spring of 1947 when the plant and business of The Empire was sold to H. G. Ferry of Prince George. The property became incorporated with The Daily News and since then the enlargement and general expansion and improvement of the premises may be said to be reaching the point of completion. Mr. Ferry long active in provincial public life and in the Prince George publishing field, is a former Minister of Education.

GIVING considerable attention to the policy and various meetings of the early city councils was found to be much to the advantage of the local press. Readers wanted to keep in touch with what the mayor and aldermen were saying to one another, if unable to know what they were thinking about. Council sittings, at first, were once a week. Quite frequently there were special and committee meetings. All in all, there were plenty to do—sometimes all day and half the night. The first general sitting of the full council after incorporation in 1910 was in the old court house, now used as a museum. The acting clerk was named Tattersall, and after him, came E. A. Woods who served as clerk '60' many a year.

CENSORED? During both wars, local papers remained cautious. There was no choice. The press knew to a nicety how far it could go and what would happen should it go too far. There were meetings between publishers and military and naval officers, this being most helpful in gaining a thorough understanding of the situation. Once, a correspondent with more zeal than prudence filed a despatch, reporting arrival of a certain important warship, with an admiral aboard. There was a prompt rapping on knuckles. How come? Ships movements strictly forbidden by censor. Kindly explain. It took a bit of explaining, too!

ORDER IN COURT An assize, or police court could, as a rule, be depended on for live copy. It had to be written fast and, unless dramatic, unique or startling, kept within the minimum space. One morning, a man whose wife sat in the front row of spectators, was called as a witness. As he was doing his best to answer questions, his wife kept her eyes on him. Plainly, the witness was becoming nervous. When, obviously to his relief, it was all over, he turned impulsively to the magistrate saying he wished to ask a favor. There was no objection, providing the magistrate had the power. "I would like," he said in effect, "for you to send me to jail

WHEN WE GOT CHILDREN'S Allowances in Canada we were told that it was an epoch-marking forward advance. But as one desperate housewife writes me, the increase in the price of milk alone has since more than wiped out the entire Children's Allowance grants.

Incidentally, too, War Veterans' Pensions are now worth less than 50% of what they were when granted after World War One.

for a month. I'm afraid of my wife. In jail, there would be some rest. For a month, anyway." The local press, that day, printed a story coming within the classification of "unique."

As the series of recollections concerning early newspapers in Prince Rupert draws to the end it is a pleasure to acknowledge the aid and co-operation always so promptly given where ever possible.

The daily making of a paper involves, also the probability of errors, but few were known to arouse real resentment, all being taken in good part.

Another point to remember and avow is how much easier the routine grind becomes when there is harmony between typographical and editorial departments. It has been the good fortune of the writer to experience this. If the search for worthwhile copy and its preparation for the composing room is not free of perplexities and problems, the same is true of handling a linotype or press, or wrestling with make-up or try to dismiss from thoughts, the spectre of the deadline.

Gordon Temple of Terrace arrived in the city by car Tuesday night from the interior and proceeded by plane today to Vancouver where he has been called on account of family illness. Accompanying Mr. Temple to the city were Emil Haugland, Stewart Campbell, Colin Sargent and James Kohney who returned to the interior yesterday afternoon.

Are Married At United Church

A quiet but pretty wedding with only members of the immediate families present united Miss Ruby Sudan, daughter of Mrs. A. Sudan Stacey of Prince Rupert, and Elmer R. Pollard, son of Mrs. V. Commano of Stevenson, in the First United Church Tuesday morning. Rev. L. G. Sieber performed the ceremony.

The bride, a resident of Prince Rupert for many years, chose a blue suit with navy accessories and a corsage of pink roses. The matron of honor, Mrs. V. Maize, wore a blue grey suit with white accessories and a corsage of pink carnations. The bride's mother chose a brown flowered dress. Norman Pollard, brother of the groom, acted as groomsman.

A reception followed at the home of the bride's mother, 1447 Eighth Avenue East.

A four-tiered wedding cake graced the table and a toast was proposed to the bride by F. F. Hudson. The groom responded.

The couple plan to make their home in southern B.C. and left on their honeymoon Tuesday for Vancouver.

Great Britain Stands Aloof

LONDON (AP)—The Labor party yesterday called for Britain to keep out of further programs for European and political and economic union until unity minded continental countries adopted broad socialism.

The strong policy statement which rejected the French plan for pooling European coal and steel, came as Prime Minister Attlee prepared to explain to the Commons why his government is staying out of the June 20 six power talks on the plan.

Labor leaders fear mergers with Europe may jeopardise their program of full employment and mounting production through government planning.

JOHNNY'S Jottings

If anybody ever tells you reporting is a crazy life—believe it. But to a reporter there is nothing in this world which is dearer to his heart than a large half circular littered city desk and cigarettes; clacking, noisy teletype machines and the aroma of printer's ink which sometimes invades the city room.

What is the city room you ask? That is simple. It is the heart of the newspaper. The blood of the sheet circulates rapidly from the brains of the city editor, fictionally a brawling, fist hammering individual and his various sidekicks, the wire, provincial, etc. editors. They are all grouped around the city desk. It is the city editor who tells the reporters what to do. Some reporters, who don't care because of extensive experience, sometimes tell the editor what to do, where to go, in addition to suggesting his origin. But as a rule reporters take orders with no questions asked. And if they ever find their story under an exclusive banner, the editor grunts and hands them another assignment. "Go over the Boilermakers' Convention," he says.

Speaking of exclusive reminds me of good reporting. While at the old Edmonton Bulletin a few years ago, the late John Oliver handed one of the top reporters an assignment and sent along a couple of flegelins including myself. The occasion was the arrival of Ball Point millionaire Milton Reynolds, who landed his "cund-the-world bomber on the Edmonton Airport tarmac.

J.D., that's the reporter's name, who is now busy knocking together a daily city section column for the Bulletin, and the two of us sped out to the strip and waited. Finally, the drone of motors announced Reynolds' arrival. Taxing to a halt in front of the Ad. building, Reynolds, his pilot and co-pilot stepped out. I crabbled for the pilot while my associate hooked the co-pilot. But where did J.D. "sawyer"? Reynolds, after handing out a dozen or more of his pens, which neither of the reporters received, made a dash for the Ad. building with J.D. in hot pursuit.

Finished with our end of the business, we journeyed into the building. There was J.D. and Reynolds. And no story... yet I don't know what happened.

in the next few seconds, but a few minutes later we found ourselves in the men's washroom. Placidly standing in front of a venetian blind type door was J.D. He was talking and jotting notes. It dawned on us then that J.D. was interviewing Reynolds. Rival reporters were around but didn't get a story until J.D. was finished. They had come in late. J.D. walked out with two ball point pens. "One for my wife," he said.

Another couple on the Bulletin got themselves fired. One was a reporter who entertained during dull afternoons by imitating a trombone as played in the opera "Tannhauser." The other was one of Oliver's aides on the city desk. Tanked up one morning following a hardy previous night's party they journeyed to the MacDonald Hotel where the publisher regularly ate his lunch. Quite jovially, the reporter confronted the publisher who was flanked by a respectable out of town businessman. The reporter extended his hand in an arc and greeted his boss with a friendly tap on the back. The light pat nearly exhumed the veal cutlets, mashed potatoes, salad and apple pie a la mode in addition to the victim's temper.

It was told that on the Journal a reporter, slightly tipsy, ambled in during the evening, signed his resignation but forgot to remove his body from in front of the managing editor's door. The axe was sharp in the morning.

It's a great life.

noon held up wire service for a short period. C.N. Telegraphs announced today. The trouble was remedied in a short while. It was due to flood water conditions near Lillooet.

Sport Shots

Tonight tells a lot as far as city league baseball is concerned. It is a case of the old hands at baseball against the youngsters. With the exception of very few players the Watson Island team is made up of untried players. Commercially are well balanced between seasoned players and rookies, although their pitching staff has been depleted through injuries. Abel & Odowes on the other hand, are over balanced with hardened baseball players.

The question is whether or not the youngsters can keep their hearts long enough - to become good players by mid-season or whether the old men of the game will knock the hearts out of them before the season gets started. There is good raw material among the new comers. Managers have a lot to work on. But they are under a big disadvantage as long as the old timers are knocking their boys all over the field before they are brought into shape.

Jasper Sees Busy Season

JASPER—Having ploughed its way out of the heaviest winter in the experience of its oldest inhabitant, this great national park in the heart of the Canadian Rockies stands ready to welcome an expected record-breaking number of visitors this summer.

For their added enjoyment the great new Olympic-sized swimming pool is complete and ready for the summer's fun, and six fine tennis courts, part of the recreational development in Jasper Village, await the holiday seekers.

At Jasper Lodge, the Canadian National Railways' summer season show-place, which officially opens tomorrow, manager Harold Gunning is looking forward to another record-breaking summer.

"Our advance bookings are right up to those of last year," he said. "The Lodge grounds and buildings are in excellent shape, and the staff is all set and eager to go."

Mr. Gunning said the demand for places in the famous annual totem pole golf tournament, scheduled for the week of September 4, is greater than ever.
The three new holes which round out the nine-hole circuit on the championship totem pole course will be in play for the first time this season. Guests of the Lodge also will be served by two specially-built buses which will be put into the Jasper-Columbia ice field run.

Jasper Park Lodge will be host this year to a number of conventions. On June 18 the American Dermatological Association will convene, to be followed by the Canadian Research Club. A great convention, to be attended by 550 members of the Phi Beta Phi fraternity, will be held from June 25 to July 1. Toward the end of the season, on August 29,
the Automotive Electric Association will meet, and on August 31 the Western Association of Broadcasters will convene. A large convention of 400 members of the Sun Life Assurance Company will close the season at the Lodge. The first group will meet

Although the new swimming pool is actually in operation now, it will officially be opened on July 8 by Hon. Robert Winters
Minister of Resources and Development.

Road Improvement
G. H. L. Dempster, park superintendent, said the park's program of road improvement is being vigorously pushed forward. The mile of highway from Cottonwood Creek Camp, on the east of Jasper Village, to the Lodge bridge across the Athabasca River, is being surfaced with an asphalt-bound base. As soon as this work is completed, the highway crew will start applying the same type of surface at the east gate of the park on the Jasper-Edmonton highway and work
west back toward the village.

Reconstruction of the Columbia ice field highway is going on apace, and Mr. Dempster said it was hoped to reach mile 55 this summer. Last year the road was rebuilt to mile 30, and was partially reconstructed to mile 40.
If mile 55 is reached this year it will leave only 14 more miles of roadwork to be done to the south boundary of the park.

Major Fred Brewster, famous Rocky Mountain personality, has acquired a new cruiser-type 20 passenger boat for service on Maligne Lake, and is presently engaged in dragging the two-ton vessel up the rugged pass for its launching.

For six solid weeks, said Major Brewster, the temperature in Jasper during the winter never rose above 20 degrees below zero, Maligne Lake is still frozen over,
and there are six and one half feet of snow in the Tonoulin Valley. Harry Rowed, noted mountain photographer and ski enthusiast, reported today that skies on the upper levels of Marmot Basin is perfect.

As a result of the cold winter and heavy snow, the mountains surrounding Jasper have never appeared so beautiful this late in the season. Each one is crowned with a heavy cap of snow down to well below the timber line, and they gleam and glisten in the warm June sunshine which Jasper is enjoying at the present time.

Carrying a large passenger list including tourists making the round trip to Alaska and others who proceeded East by last evening's train, C.N.R. steamer
Prince Rupert, Capt. William Eccles, arrived in port at 11:45 yesterday morning from Vancouver. Powell River and Ocean Falls, sailing at midnight for Ketchikan whence she will return here this evening southbound.

"Cream" Your Coffee
at ½ Price!

YES—Carnation Evaporated Milk costs only half as much as light cream—yet millions prefer it in their coffee! Carnation undiluted has the consistency of good thick cream—is rich enough to whip. No wonder it gives coffee such wonderful color and flavor.

This Double-Rich Milk
is Double-Useful

CARNATION is good, whole milk evaporated to double-richness
—nothing but water taken out, nothing added but vitamin D.
Smooth and rich-flavored because it is homogenized and heatrefined. Safe because it is sterilized.

FOR CREAM USES Carnation undiluted meets all your requirements.

FOR ALL MILK PURPOSES dilute Carnation with an equal amount of water.

last year and representing 50 per cent of total assets.

The number of bank shareholders is on the increase, Mr. Boyer noted, going up from 50,000 before the war to 60,000 today. Dividends paid in 1949 averaged $252 per shareholder. For every dollar paid in dividends in 1949, the banks paid $6.30 in salaries and wages, 73 cents in contributions to staff pension funds, $3.64 in interest to depositors and $1.43 in taxes, including municipal.

Referring to job-creating investment opportunities in Canada, Mr. Boyer gave as an illustration the $150,000,000 in venture capital being spent by 240 companies in oil development in western Canada, particularly Alberta, this year. Much of this risk money came from outside Canada and in its wake flowed jobs, people, new industries and the expansion of old industries. There will be $125,000,000 in new buildings in Alberta this year, as a direct result of the oil development—stores, houses, churches, schools, all making jobs and production.

"In the new discoveries of oil in western Canada," Mr. Boyer continued, "the mineral finds of Chibougamau, the iron and titanium of Quebec and Labrador, in the uranium of the great northwest, the gold and copper and other minerals of northern Ontario and Quebec, British Columbia and Newfoundland and also in the farms of the prairies, the forests and fisheries elsewhere in Canada, are opportunities almost fabulous.

"This is a country generously endowed by nature with most of the raw materials which make possible a high standard of living. Canadians have a heritage of resources in forest, mine, farm and ocean second to none. Ours is the best country in the world. Canadians have resources, plant and equipment to provide an ever-increasing flow of the things the rest of the world needs. We have a banking system second to none, and Canadians generally have the capital for all sound requirements. The people are Canada's most valuable asset—possessed of intelligence, initiative, industry, skill

BASIS OF PROSPERITY

"Work and thrift, investment and enterprise—these have been the basis of all prosperity through all the ages. It holds true for Canadians today."

In surveying general economic trends, Mr. Boyer said 1949 showed strength in the Canadian economy and 1950 looked like another good year. The one cloud on the horizon was overseas markets, a product of war and post-war economic dislocation and disruption of multi-lateral trading.

"Until the grave problems of the United Kingdom's sterling balances is resolved," Mr. Boyer continued, "the situation must continue a source of anxiety and effort. The democratic world cannot forever function successfully in the water-tight compartments of two currency areas and two separate and irreconcilable price plateaus."

THREAT OVER WORLD

Overhanging the world today is the fear and menace of communism seeking world domination, Mr. Boyer said. All human activity is conditioned by it.

"Whatever the defects of the democratic system by which Canadians live," he continued, "there is a freedom and a standard of living unmatched in the world, save possibly in the United States—a standard which communism has not succeeded in producing anywhere in the world, notwithstanding communism's totalitarian enslaving power. Nor has socialism, nor any other system.

"We have our problems here, and we solve them in democratic freedom, by virtue of enterprise and opportunity. Recent months produced one problem, now being alleviated—that of a labor force increasing and jobs increasing too, but not as fast. Therefore, unemployment, which rose steadily for a time, despite the fact that more people had jobs and payrolls were higher than ever and still rising. I feel that at least substantially the solution of this anomaly lies in the field of investment, and in stimulating more Canadians to invest their own money in the profitable developing of their resources and rich opportunities of their own country. It is not beyond the resourcefulness of a free enterprise economy. I have great confidence in the practical intelligence of free Canadians when well informed."
