Fall Of Ancient Seoul Is Imminent

Allies Keep Up Advance

Thousands of Communists
Threatened With Entrapment
in Pincers

EARLY FALL?
TOKYO (CP) — The battle for Seoul is reaching a crisis and its early fall is expected. General Walker of the United States Army said today that victory is now in sight. Heavily fortified South Mountain has been taken.

TOKYO — The gap between the two United Nations offensives in Korea, one from the Inchon beachhead on the northwest and the other from the old front to the southeast, was narrowed today to sixty miles with thousands of Communists becoming entrapped in the pincers.

Aiming at the heart of Seoul, the Allies have made their fourth bridgehead crossing of the Hann River in their new drive and are now a mile-and-a-half from the city. The enemy are offering stiff resistance.

From the south the Allied forces advanced from ten to fifteen miles in the day.

PENETRATION DEEPER

American soldiers slugged deeper into Seoul late today in their determined effort to recapture the capital of the South Korean republic. Reinforcements poured into the Inchon beachhead and 2400 airborne troops, sped from Japan, dropped into Kimpo air field, northwest of Seoul.

In the south other Americans speared to within forty miles of a link-up with the northern American forces in their lightning advance. The link-up would seal off tens of thousands of Communists in a vast trap.

American and South Korean forces are over-running places whose names became familiar in the bloody battles of just a few weeks ago.

United States First Cavalry Division troopers, smashing ahead seventy miles in four days, have driven into Chongju from where they are in a position to dive to Chonju, ten miles to the west, junction of the main highway from Daegu to Seoul. They were only forty miles away from the United States Seventh Infantry troops, pushing south from the Inchon-Seoul beachhead.

United States Twenty-Fourth Division troops captured Kumchun, 5 miles southeast of Chonju. Between Kumchun and Chochiwon lies Taegon which is still in communist hands. Taegon was the scene of the bitterest defeat of the 24th Infantry Division.

To the south the United States 25th Infantry Division troops captured Chinju, key to the Communist drive along the south coast. It was taken in bitter fighting after the Reds ignored "surrender or die" leaflets. This American drive by-passed hundreds, if not thousands, of Communists who now have no escape route.

Vast quantities of war material is being captured and some is being re-captured — equipment Americans lost in their bitter retreats.

Constitutional—

Parley On At Quebec

QUEBEC — Eleven governments of Canada plunged swiftly today into the complex and ticklish task of setting this country's constitutional house in order.

Varying expressions of opinion emerged as Prime Minister St. Laurent and the ten provincial premiers met to seek a method of bringing to Canada power to amend its constitution.

Premier Duplessis of Quebec called for a formal declaration by the British Parliament that this country has the right to a constitutional set-up of its own. Mr. St. Laurent agreed with the suggestion that Canadian governments must first tell Westminster to whom it is to abdicate the constitutional mending power.

In reports to the conference, most provinces indicated they would like to see the repeal of the federal government's power to disallow legislation passed by the legislatures.

H. R. MacMillan On Charlottes

H. R. MacMillan, British Columbia's prominent industrialist, is paying a week's visit to the Queen Charlotte Islands with a party of guests. They came north on the yacht Marjean, which is tied up at Queen Charlotte City, and are staying at Norman Nelson's hunting lodge at Tlell. So far they have not had a great deal of success in fishing because of unsettled weather. They arrived last Wednesday and will be returning to Vancouver this Wednesday.

Union Demands Price Control

WINNIPEG — Re-establishment of price controls was demanded at the week-end policy meeting of the 50,000-member United Steel Workers of America.

The meeting was held in conjunction with the annual convention of the Canadian Congress of Labor opening today.

It was decided that the steel workers should press for a wider national labor code.

Hazelton Woman Beats Man Power

Evidently there is still a manpower shortage in and around New Hazelton. Gloria Benson, it is reported, recently set a record for her sex by loading a carload of cordwood for Prince Rupert. This was not the first time a carload of wood was loaded in the district, but it was the first to be handled exclusively by a young lady.

Mr. and Mrs. George McAdams, who have been spending the week-end in the city, are returning to Terrace tomorrow. Mr. McAdams, who recently sold out his Skeena Mercantile business at Terrace, will be taking charge of the Tillicum Theatre at Terrace for three months while Charles Adam makes a trip to his native Lissiemount, Scotland. Mr. Adam will be here on Thursday to catch the Prince George for Vancouver whence he will fly to Scotland.

Smoke Travels Thousand Miles

EDMONTON — Forty-two serious forest fires, which poured their heavy pall of smoke eastward at the week-end to darken such cities as Toronto, Detroit and Cleveland to the point of alarm for their residents, continued to blaze today.

Edmonton is still darkened with a thick cloud of smoke although there was a clearing in the eastern cities.

Communications to Alaska on the Yukon, after being interrupted, have been restored.

A new and serious fire was reported today in Northern British Columbia.

Investigating Infant's Death

VANCOUVER — Circumstances surrounding the death of an unidentified young couple's seven-week-old infant will be investigated today by Vancouver Coroner Dr. John Whitbread and police. The couple were arrested and held for investigation Sunday, seven hours after their child died. They told police five other children of theirs died under similar circumstances at nine months, 10 months, one year, 18 months and four years.

Death Prescription—

Mix Alcohol, Gas — Drive

CHICAGO — Recipe for traffic tragedy: mix alcohol and gasoline — and steer!

The National Safety Council says that in one out of every four fatal traffic accidents in 1949 the driver or a pedestrian was reported to have been drinking.

The 1950 edition of the council's statistical yearbook, "Accident Facts," also shows that one out of seven drivers in fatal accidents who were violating traffic laws was driving while under the influence of alcohol.

Purge Reds, Says Mosher

WINNIPEG — At the opening of the Canadian Congress of Labor convention here today, President A. R. Mosher again called upon the organization to expel all Communists from its ranks.

Mr. Mosher was critical of the British Columbia Labor Relations Board which he said attempted to tell workers to what unions they should belong.

A Hellish Blunder

It must be hell for an army to be strafed by the allies upon whom it had called, to come to its assistance in the thick of combat—but that is what happened at the end of the week to a British regiment fighting in the hills of Korea.

Veterans know, of course, that such things have occurred in previous wars. They did not become so instantly and commonly known what with security and censorship and the fact that the correspondents, in those days, did not follow the battles so intimately and did not have the communication facilities so immediately available as today.

Nevertheless, such blunders as this cannot be so easily explained away or forgotten and it will be a long time before this very tragic one will be lived down. No matter how unintended or accidental it may have been, no matter what apologies may be made and regrets expressed, there is also the factor of morale destruction. There must also be the remorse of those whose mistake caused the tragedy.

OUTLAWING COMMUNISTS

VERRIDING by United States Congress of President Truman's veto of a bill calling for the registration of Communists in the United States focusses attention on the question of whether or not the Communist Party (Labor-Progressive in Canada) should be outlawed. With the fight between communism and democracy moving swiftly from cold war to hot, it is not an easy question to answer.

The Canadian Chamber of Commerce, in its news letter, discusses a remark of President Truman that "we cannot get rid of communism just by passing a law." This is a very wise remark, says the bulletin, but one which must be considered carefully.

You cannot eliminate murder by passing a law but you can take action against murderers. You cannot get rid of Communist thinking by passing a law, but what you can do by legislative means is move against Communism as a potential criminal gang—not Communists as philosophers or politicians. This is an important difference.

Opponents of outlawing the Communist Party say that we may drive them underground. This is certainly a weighty reason for tolerating the Communists. They are perhaps less dangerous as they are now—crackpots, malcontents—than they would be as martyrs, driven into hiding by the state. On the other hand, how do we know they have not a considerable underground network now? Periodic arrests of Communists on espionage charges suggest that they are methodically running an underground intelligence system, for the benefit of the U.S.S.R.

Another comment on the "underground" question is this: "Do we worry about driving murderers, thieves underground? If we drive the Communists underground by outlawing them, are we up against any tougher problem than in dealing with dope peddlers and other enemies of society?" Because Communists are self-declared enemies of the Democratic society.

A strong argument in favor of outlawing the Communist Party is that such an action will drive many dupes away from the movement. The R.C.M.P. undoubtedly know who most of the Communists are. But perhaps the most dangerous Communist agents in the country, from the point of view of undermining public morale at a time that Canada, in concert with the other United Nations, are the fellow travellers. And the one way of convincing them that the Communist Party is a bad thing is to outlaw it.

We are not here recommending or urging the immediate outlawing of the party but we do believe that it is a matter which should be studied carefully at this time of world crisis. The cardinal principle which must be kept in mind when discussing this question is the fact that we must protect our political freedom above all things. This is easier said than done. There may well be a time when we shall call a halt to the activities of certain groups, simply to save ourselves. But we must be careful in doing so we do not damage the very thing we are fighting to protect. To draw up legislation outlawing the Communist Party without damaging our Canadian heritage of freedom would be a difficult problem. Nevertheless, ways and means of dealing with this problem should be examined now.

By ELMORE PHILPOTT
U.S. $ SLUMPS

THE FINANCIAL wizards are again issuing ponderous explanations of the slump in the U.S. dollar. Those explanations are pretty hard for the layman to understand. But if we look back at what has happened in the world in the past fifteen years we see this:

Whenever the big financial interests begin to get rid of the money of a certain country—to exchange that money for gold or some other country's money—then the country from which the "flight" of capital occurs is due for some economic bumps. That was true of country after country in the 1930's and it was true of Britain and 30 other countries at the time of the devaluation of the pound sterling last year.

THE OFFICIAL YEAR BOOKS tell us that "United States monetary stocks increased by $17,800,000,000 from 1934 to 1949, inclusive. During the same period, the total known new production of gold was worth $15,300,000,000.

In other words all the new gold production, or its equivalent, found its way to the caves at Fort Knox, Kentucky. In addition, two and a half billions were sucked out of vaults in other countries and attracted into Uncle Sam's coffers.

IT IS WORTH NOTING THAT the U.S. was a net loser of gold during 1942, 1943, 1944 and 1945. That is just another way of saying that her total payments to the outside world were greater than her total receipts from the outside world—and she had to close the gap by hard cash—namely, gold.

The real explanation of the slump in the value of the U.S. dollar is that the U.S.A. is again paying out more than she is taking in. She is compelled to close the gap by actual gold shipments.

THE MONEY EXPERTS WILL say that this means that the U.S. dollar is not in fact worth what it is theoretically worth; that is that one ounce of gold is worth more than $35 in Uncle Sam's paper money.

They may also predict that Uncle Sam will soon have to pay more than $35 for an ounce of gold.

If so, that won't make us mad up here in Canada. Who wouldn't take $40 or $50 an ounce rather than $35?

I DON'T UNDERSTAND THE money exchange racket, and I'm not sure that many other people do either. Those who do know don't or won't tell. But I do know that it has been going on a long time. Moreover, it is very difficult to interfere with its goings-on. It seems to me profoundly significant that for 31 years Jesus Christ lived and taught in peace in Palestine and nearby countries. But within four days of the time He interfered with the international money exchange racket He was put to death.

The money standard I would like to see would be based on

Ray Reflects and Reminisces

Jack Scott and Brown Eyes have motored all the way from Hastings Street to the Maritimes and it cannot be said they do not know their Canada. Just recently they tarried in the north of New Brunswick where it would appear the French-Canadians have the edge on things. In that part of the province it takes observant visitors to dig up what's doing. It did not seem that way years ago. Or have a few Dionne couples been moving over the border?

The harbor of Prince Rupert, when it mirrors the mountains, arouse fond remarks. Usually its like that. Fogs bring a mournful dullness. Stinging rains lash, gales roar, and waves sweep breakers and beach. But most of us, who dwell within sight or sound of salt water, take it all in the daily stride. To be anywhere else would be to miss something.

Winner of the Nobel peace prize, this year, is Dr. Ralph Bunche, grandson of a slave. He was mediator in Palestine when war between Jews and Arabs ceased. Such a great honor will be welcomed. So will the $23,000 cash.

British Columbia is expected to believe a Sun editorial to the effect that the constables of the city are to provide cakes to boys as a bribe to avoid Halloween hoodlumism. It's hard to credit. Yet, after all, what seems nonsense sometimes turns out to be true. Any time a boy, to his utter amazement, discovers a policeman fears him he immediately becomes a young bum and the officer's job ten times more troublesome.

An American army lieutenant in Korea has been sentenced to death. He had refused to obey orders—a grave enough offence, even in peacetime. He has refused, he said, because obedience would have meant the death of himself and twelve men. His wife is appealing to President Truman. It was expected that he would hear the appeal. But it does not invariably follow that there will be any interference.

A couple of eight hundred pound elk have been shot on the Queen Charlotte Islands. Had this been forty years ago the bag would probably have been exposed for sale. That long ago, no elk were ever seen on the Prince Rupert market, but other species of game were, and first class feeding it made. But today, it's different. We shoot each other instead.

Ontario Cities Keep Fast Time

TORONTO — Toronto, Hamilton, Oshawa and other Ontario cities, as a power conservation measure, are remaining on daylight saving although the rest of the country reverted to standard time Saturday night.

human necessities like wheat, butter, wool, cotton, or lumber. I would like to see a dollar always worth say ten loaves of bread, or two pounds of butter or half a bushel of wheat, or a fraction of all those combined. But so long as we do have the gold standard it seems to me it ought to be the honest and not the phoney gold standard. That is we simply ought to sell and circulate gold by weight measure—and let it find its own price like everything else.

CHEESE GIVES TANG — DELICIOUS, ECONOMICAL AND GOOD TO TASTE

CHEESE GIVES THE TANG
The flavor of cheese appeals to nearly every taste. One reason for this is the wide selection of types and flavors of cheese. The fresh cream cheeses are smooth and mild as butter. Other types, according to the method used in curing as well as the amount of fat left in the milk, produce dozens of different textures and flavors to suit every taste.

Cheese has always had definite economic merit because it holds the chief constituents of milk, which are very valuable but exceedingly perishable, in an easily stored form.

Cheese adds food value to other less expensive foods such as cereals and vegetables and also gives them an interesting flavor.

In Canada we are accustomed to colored cheese and many people are under the impression that the white Canadian Cheddar cheese is something quite different from the colored. It is exactly the same except that the yellow cheese has a little harmless coloring added to it in the cheese vat. The white cheese is the kind they prefer in Britain where so much Canadian cheese is sold. The white cheese is sold as "medium" or "old" according to the length of time it has been cured, and either white or colored will give that delicious cheesy flavor to many dishes. Apple pie made from fresh fall apples and served with a generous slice of cheese will always be first choice with the men of the family.

The following recipes using cheese are excellent for fall and winter meals. They come from the Consumer Section, Canada Department of Agriculture.

ONION-CHEESE PIE

- 1/2 cup melted shortening (part butter)
- 1 1/2 cups fine unsalted cracker crumbs
- 2 1/2 cups thinly sliced onions
- 2 tablespoons butter
- 1 1/2 cups milk
- 3 eggs
- 1 teaspoon salt
- 1/4 teaspoon pepper
- 3 cups grated medium Cheddar cheese

Mix melted shortening with cracker crumbs and press into a greased deep, 9-inch pie plate. Fry onions in butter until tender, then place on crumb crust. Scald milk and slowly add to the slightly beaten eggs, stirring constantly. Add salt, pepper and grated cheese. Mix well and pour over onions. Bake in a moderately slow oven, 325 degrees F., until a silver knife inserted in the centre comes out clean, about 40 to 45 minutes. Yield: six servings.

LUNCHEON CASSEROLE

- 1 1/4 cups dried lima or navy beans
 - 4 cups boiling water
 - 1 small onion, sliced
 - 1 1/4 teaspoons salt
 - 1/4 teaspoon pepper
 - 1 1/4 cups milk
 - 2 1/2 tablespoons flour
 - 1 cup grated cheese
 - 2 tablespoons catsup or chili sauce
 - 2 hard-cooked eggs
 - 1/2 cup soft bread crumbs
- Soak beans overnight in water to cover. Drain. Add boiling water and onion. Cover and cook over low heat until tender and very little liquid remains. Add salt and pepper. Heat 1 cup milk in top of double boiler. Blend flour with remaining 1/4 cup cold milk, and add to heated milk. Cook, stirring constantly, until mixture thickens. Add 1/2 cup grated cheese and stir until melted. Add the catsup or chili sauce, season with salt and pepper and add the cooked beans. Pour half this mixture into a greased baking dish, cover with sliced hard-boiled eggs and add remaining bean mixture. Sprinkle top with bread crumbs which have been mixed with the remaining 1/2 cup of cheese. Bake in a moderate oven, 350 degrees F., until the cheese is melted and mixture is heated, about 20 minutes. Yield: six servings.

For many years surgical instruments in operating room of Prince Rupert General Hospital have been the personal property of the surgeons. At Friday night's board meeting, it was decided that the hospital should purchase these instruments, the doctors agreeing that the proceeds would not be taken by them but would be placed in a special fund to purchase additional necessary equipment. Thus, the net result of the deal, is that the stock of surgical equipment will be materially improved. An appraisal of the existing equipment will be made by a surgical supply house.

Why These Political Conventions?— Too Much Hanky-Panky

By JIM NESBITT

VICTORIA—Political conventions like the one the Tories are holding in Vancouver next week are certainly exciting and lots of fun. That's all very well, but can we afford such fun? This taking time out every now and then to put the province into an uproar over political matters could be termed hardly honest. Couldn't we have some system about political conventions?

"WEAK" BACK?

Many say they get "cold" in the back—or the kidneys—so easily! That's why thousands keep Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills always on hand. For this reliable remedy is like two treatments in one—works faster to relieve painful backaches due to faulty kidneys. Dr. Chase's name you can depend on.

Let's look at the recent record. In 1941, of course, there was some excuse for an unscheduled convention—the Liberals didn't have enough legislative seats to form a safe government. So they met and fired "Duff" Pattullo and put in Jack Hart.

(As an aside — perhaps it would have been better if Pattullo's advice had been followed and the Liberals changed going it alone. However, it's all very fine to be wise after the event.)

In late 1947 came another Liberal convention. Hart was retiring as Premier. The Liberals had to choose another Liberal leader. But it was more important than that. They chose a Premier which many people thought not quite fair. Why should a political party be able to choose a Premier? Should the people choose a Premier?

That flip-flop (Hart out, Johnson in) came mid-way through the term of office of the government elected in 1943. That government had a bargain with the people. The government, on the hustings, in effect, said this: "Elect us and we'll do our best." It didn't say: "Elect us—and we'll see—at the half way mark we might switch Premiers."

Looking back—we went through at least six months in 1947 when our government leaders (elected to pay attention to the public's business) were much more interested in political manoeuvrings than in the people's welfare. There's no question of that. The general election of 1945 threw the province into turmoil. Why, two years later, should there have been further political turmoil. The Liberal Party, appealing for votes in 1945, didn't say the chief would quit in 1947.

Now the Tories are at it. There is no British Columbia election in sight, but the Tories are cleaning house. Some of them want to kick out Herb Anscomb. In the hope of doing it they're labeling him a wicked booze baron. Naturally, Anscomb's fighting back.

So it is we have the spectacle of the Hon. Herbert Anscomb, Minister of Finance, much more interested in politics than in government business. For four months now he has been letting his underlings run the government's financial business ($150,000,000 a year while he has been trotting up and down the country trying to win cronies and influence good Tories to vote for him at the convention.

Even the Liberals-in-Coalition are being affected by the Tory plottings. Liberal Premier Johnson, a little embarrassed at the hot spot that's burning his chief adviser, is staying out of the way.

"Boss" is off to the Dominion-Provincial conference in Quebec. Usually he flies. This time he's motoring. He won't be back until after the Tory convention.

Johnson and Anscomb are supposed to be running the government but, with some Tories knifing Anscomb, it's all a bit awkward. It must be difficult for Johnson, at a cabinet meeting, to say: "Good morning Herb—how's the sinking funds today?" when he knows darn well Herb is more interested in his chances of remaining Tory leader than in sinking funds.

To avoid all this hanky-panky why can't we have some rhythm to our political conventions? Why couldn't we have it so our political parties hold full-dress conventions three or four months before general elections. They could then hang out their soiled shirts, elect a new leader or re-elect the old one, set a new platform.

There's too much political hokus-pokus going on in this country between elections. It adds up to contempt on the part of the public for political parties and politicians. That's unfortunate for political parties and politicians are the very bulwark of our democracy.

ing acquaintances, having driven in yesterday from Penticton where he is now stationed. Constable Brett was with the old provincial city force here for several years and, since leaving, Lytton and Penticton this afternoon. He has been stationed variously at Vanderhoof, Telegraph Creek, Prince George, Bridge River, his way back to Penticton.

ALL FRY-CADBURY BARS NOW 6¢ INCLUDING TAX

Last December, Fry-Cadbury Ltd. reintroduced 5¢ Chocolate Bars.

The public showed its hearty approval of this policy; sales grew so rapidly we had difficulty in meeting the demand.

Today, higher material prices, especially of cocoa beans and sugar, make the 5¢ price more difficult to maintain.

Nevertheless, Fry-Cadbury Ltd. is glad to announce that, due to careful planning and efficient production, the basic 5¢ price of all Fry-Cadbury bars remains unchanged until further notice, and, of course, the same fine quality will continue throughout.

Now, however, to meet the national emergency, our Government has placed a special new tax on all candy bars which means your Fry-Cadbury bars will cost you 6¢.

It is certainly worth remembering that Cadbury's Dairy Milk — Canada's finest milk chocolate — is only 6¢ a bar including tax.

Anniversary Of Church

SASKATOON—Yesterday was the 56th anniversary of the first service of Knox United Church in Saskatoon and the pastor sent good wishes to all Saskatoon pioneers where ever they might be throughout Canada. The fall afternoon was beautiful, with the tinge of autumn in the air and gazing along Spadina Crescent, one could see the university and the changing color of the foliage.

In 1894 Saskatoon was little more than a village. Today, there is a city of at least 50,000.

Miss F. Eda Hilton, Senior Public Health Nurse, Prince Rupert Health Unit, returned from the Queen Charlotte Islands by plane Saturday after making her regular quarterly inspection of island communities.

Headed Homeward—

Survivors And Body Arrive

Body of 23-year-old Lloyd Houslie, one of two members of the crew who perished when the B. C. Packers seinboat Scrub capsized in a foggy storm at Skidegate Bar last Thursday evening, was here aboard the steamer Chilcote this morning enroute to deceased's home at Bella Bella where interment will be made.

and the same vessel were surviving members of the crew—Capt. Peter Jackson, Charles Hopkins, Clarence Martin and Ralph Hunt, all of Bella Bella.

Search is being continued for the second victim—Ralph Sunday—who is still missing.

The Scrub was salvaged and is now at Queen Charlotte.

The four survivors told of the tragedy. They got ashore in a skiff. The boat was in twelve feet of water when it was struck by a huge wave and capsized. When the survivors came ashore they were taken care of by Sandspit postmaster Bill Matheson, who gave them hot coffee and a bunk for the night. The boat and net were a total loss.

SHIPS and WATERFRONT

Union steamer Coquitlam, Capt. John Boden, arrived in port at 5:30 yesterday afternoon from Vancouver and waypoints and, after discharging a heavy cargo of freight here, sailed at 2 a.m. for Alice Arm, Stewart and other northern points whence she is due back here tomorrow to sail at 1:30 p.m. on her return south.

Once more a brief visitor to port is HMCS Cedarwood, under command of Lt. Cmdr. J. Wolfenden. She docked here Saturday after a rough passage in the Pacific off the coast. While here the ship's company are guests of HMCS Chatham. The Cedarwood is conducting an oceanographic survey.

POWER means PROGRESS

The British Columbia Power Commission in the first five years of its operation, ending April 30, 1950, has gone far toward accomplishing the purpose of its creation under the terms of the Electric Power Act: "An Act to provide for improving the availability and supply of electrical power" to the people.

The Commission has acquired and amalgamated 25 operating electric utility services, including distribution systems, with immense savings to consumers resulting.

The Commission has invested nearly $40,000,000 in generating plant, transmission and distribution services to supply power to industries and its more than 41,000 commercial and domestic customers.

The Commission is engaged in the extension of rural electrification, bringing economical irrigation and the other numerous labour and time-saving advantages of power to the farmer.

The Commission is developing the enormous hydro power potential of the province, with such projects as the 112,000 horsepower John Hart Development, serving Vancouver Island; the Whatshan project which will help develop the North Okanagan, Kamloops and other communities of the southern-central interior; the Clowhatch River hydro development, which will supply Sechelt and adjacent coastal areas.

The Commission continues to survey hydro resources, with a view to taking care of the future needs of the people. The Commission operates on a financially independent basis, paying all interest on capital, providing from its revenues for maintenance and renewal reserves, sinking fund and contingencies. Its profits go into the stabilization reserve fund, for the improvement of service and protection of the interests of its customers.

The Commission's widespread operations, and the assurance of adequate supplies of power, are directly responsible for the expansion of industry. Such projects as the huge pulp industries on Vancouver Island, at Cedar and Alberni, and, soon to be built, at Duncan Bay, utilize Commission power from the John Hart Development.

Power is essential to the fullest development of basic industries, of mills, mines, factories and farms.

A limited number of the British Columbia Power Commission's annual report for the year ending April 30, 1950, is available from the Secretary, Box No. 550, Victoria, B.C.
