Smuts

THE late Field Marshal the Rt. Hon. Jan Christiaan Smuts, who became one of the greatest statesmen under the British Crown against which he once fought, said during the Second World War that he wished nothing better "than to have contributed something to the welding of a nation out of the great stocks from which we have all sprung."

And he did contribute greatly to the shaping of his country's destiny during the half-century in which he dominated the South African scene. Without him the Transvaal and Orange Free State might not have been granted responsible government within four years of the Boer War. Without him, the Union of South Africa might not have grown so easily and clearly from the 1908 national convention at Durban. Without him South Africa might not have gone to war in 1939 and, if it had, might not have held together as firmly as it did.

But beyond his influence at home, Smuts won a place in world affairs seldom attained by the political leader of a small nation. He became one of the elder statesmen of the British Commonwealth—nicknamed "handyman of Empire"—and his voice was heard respectfully in the councils of the nations. His tall, military form, coarse white hair and small, pointed white beard made him a unmistakable figure wherever he went.

Twice he served as prime minister of his country. Ruthless and quick-moving in crisis, but magnanimous in victory, he always could look beyond times of confusion and plan for the future. Success in politics came despite a personality that often estranged men with whom he worked.

Smuts reached his full stature in the Second World War when he overcame strong opposition to full South African co-operation with Great Britain against Germany, turned out the government and guided his country through years of crisis.

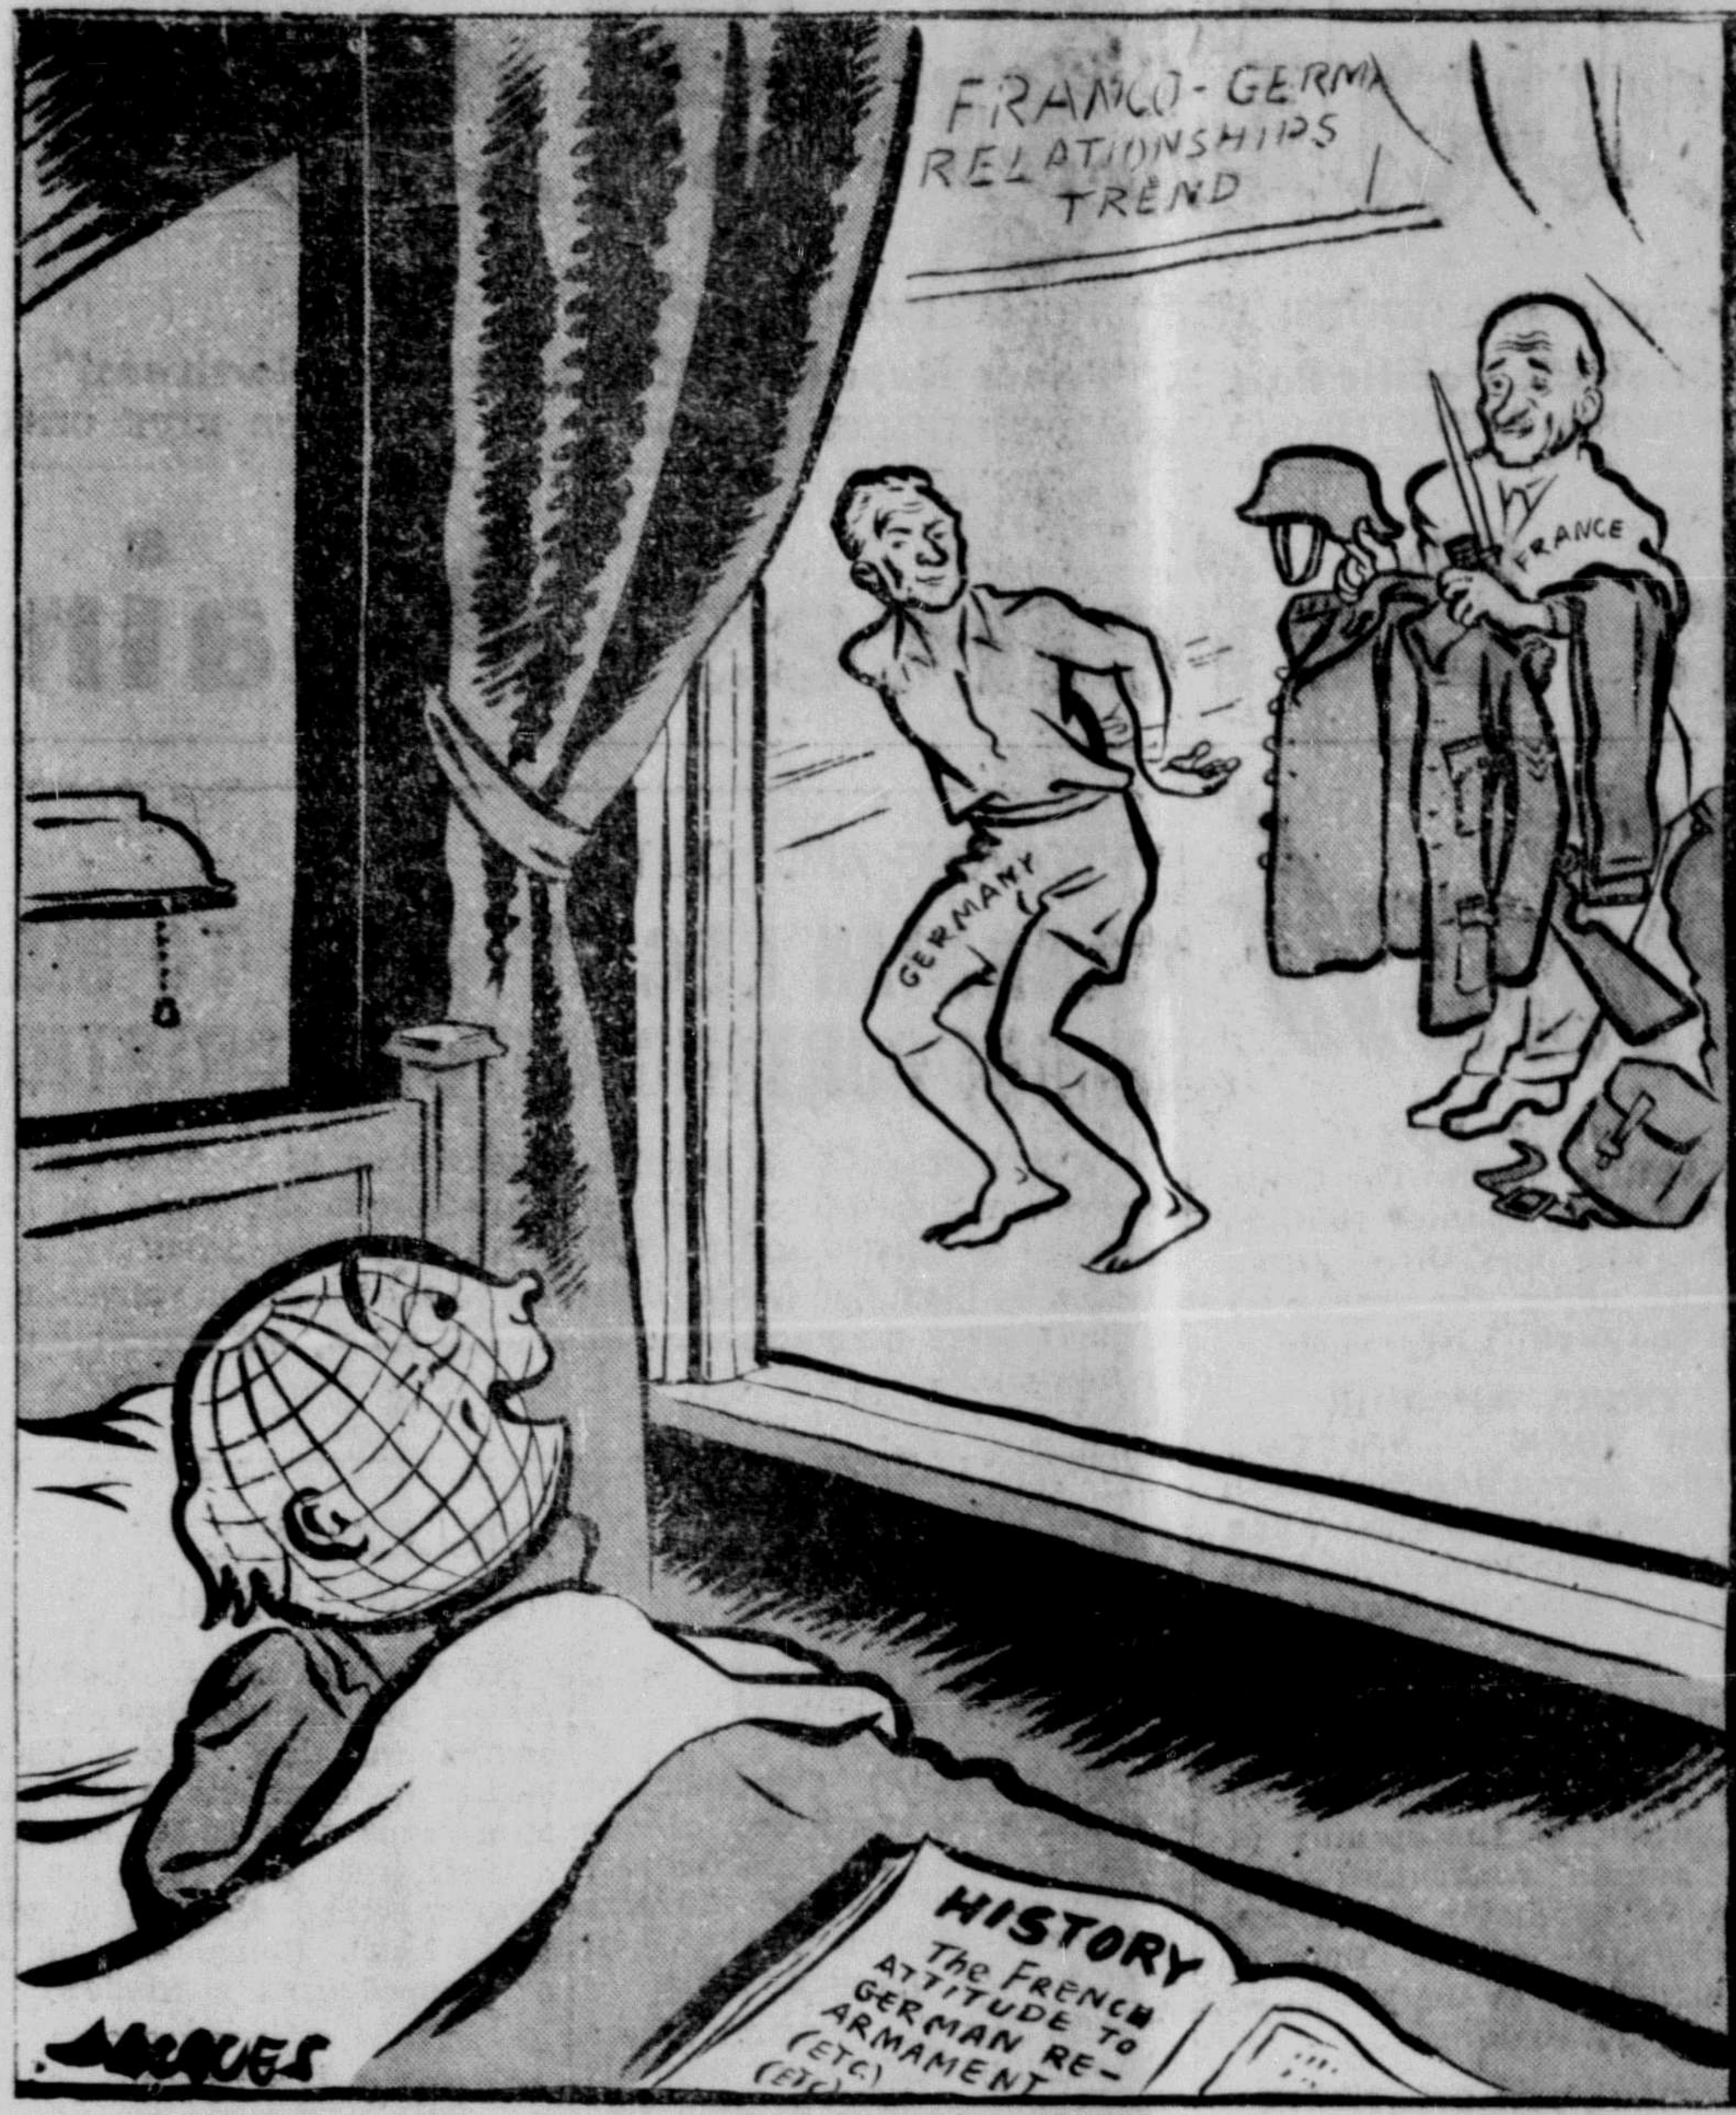

PROVING BRITISH PUDDING

MRS. Nora Arnold saw England and, judging from the tone of her remarks at the Rotary Club luncheon, is not too sympathetic with the idea of nationalization of industry but was not too committal as to whether it is or is not going to work out.

It is a Socialist government in England but, except for nationalization, some of which we already have under other than socialist governments, there is not much socialism about it. There are still the capitalists, possibly less big ones but certainly more little ones.

Many feel that Britain's Labor government, after all, is governing little differently than would have a Conservative and possibly with less trouble than would Churchill had he been in office. At least, there has been less discord from the industrial standpoint and it might be theorized that laborites have accepted some pills from Attlee and Cripps that they might not have swallowed so graciously from Churchill or Eden. There are indications today, however, that the Trades Union Congress is not too happy about some of the government's policies, particularly wage increase restraint.

Mrs. Arnold found the British people judged the Labor government and its works largely from the standpoint of political feeling which involves inherent prejudice. The proof of the "Socialist" pudding is still in the eating and the former lady mayor had at least to admit that the people, and particularly the children, were not looking too badly.

NO. IT ISN'T A DREAM! — Drawn by Vernon Jacques in the Toronto Globe and Mail.

As I See It

By ELMORE PHILPOTT
BRASSHATS' BRAINCHILD

ONE OF THE top arm-chair experts of world war two has come up with a prize arm-chair brasshat proposal.

He urges immediate conscription for Canada, but would exclude the people of the province of Quebec!

As a sure-fire short-cut to civil war in Canada that proposal merits the leather medal. As a means of building up military strength in Canada, to help prevent or help win a future big war, it rates the booby prize.

IF WE EVER HAVE to have conscription in Canada again let's do the job right.

Let's take the men and women we need, without distinction of religion, language, race, or social status. But let's never again commit the crime that we did in both the previous world wars—that is, to conscript human life but not simultaneously conscript wealth.

Let's enact laws to take all the money and property we need before we take a single boy or girl. Let's conscript money and not just flesh and blood.

THE PLAIN FACT was that in the first two world wars we created a whole new millionaire class. No honest person could deny that the rich and well-to-do paid their full share of the most costly of all taxation—in flesh and blood and life and limb of their own sons. Person for person and family for family the human cost of two world wars fell a bit more heavily on rich Canadians than on the not so rich.

But the rich, as a class, emerged enormously more wealthy than they were before the two world wars. This was chiefly due to the high profits on the unlimited market which war needs provided. Canada, as a country, needed and wanted war supplies. The business man class managed the job of fabricating the manufactured goods. They were well paid for this service. Their pay took two forms—partly what they drew in salaries and dividends—and partly what they accumulated in physical property.

Canada, unlike Britain and the U.S.A. still has no "capital gains" tax. Hence the biggest Canadian fortunes that were made in Hitler's war came in the form of increased values of property holdings.

FOR YEARS BEFORE world war two the Canadian Legion stood for a policy of total conscription. The Legion was specific that there must be conscription of money and wealth as well as conscription of manpower.

When the war actually came the Legion temporarily dropped its advocacy of conscription of

Forces On War Basis

OTTAWA—Canada has placed a limited number of her armed forces on a war footing for service in Korea. The number is limited to 15,000 men, including Navy, Army and Air Force personnel.

This was disclosed when Defence Minister Brooke Claxton announced the passage of an order-in-council which read: "In order that officers and men of the Canadian Forces, not exceeding 15,000 in number at any time, may most effectively participate in action undertaken by the United Nations to restore peace in the Republic of Korea, components of the Royal Canadian Navy, Canadian Army and Royal Canadian Air Force that are referred to in national defence acts as regular forces, are hereby placed on active service."

One reason for limiting the size of the force already has been announced: the government considers it a minimum of trained men in case of an invasion.

GETS GOOD ADVICE

After I was married, my grandmother said, "Everyone's giving you lots of advice, but they may not have told you how to keep a man's shirt sparkling white. All that is needed is a swish of Reckitt's Blue in the rinse—and that goes for all white clothes. Reckitt's Blue prevents clothes turning yellow—gives a snowy white wash every time without using anything that may damage fabric." Trust Granny to give me advice worth remembering.

NEW, MIRACLE ELECTRONIC EAR HIDES DEAFNESS

CHICAGO, (Special)—An amazing new electronic ear which hides deafness and transmits even whispers with startling clarity, has been revealed by a noted Chicago electronic scientist.

He disclosed that this miraculous new discovery has rendered old-style hearing aids obsolete almost overnight, and brings new hope to the 15 million persons in the United States who are hard of hearing.

He reported that this electronic ear enables the deaf to hear without any button showing in the ear and without dangling battery wires. To acquaint the hard of hearing readers of this paper with this new miracle electronic ear which hides deafness, full details are described in a fascinating booklet, "New Discoveries to Help the Deaf Hear." It will be sent free in a plain wrapper to anyone who requests it. Address: Electronic Research Director, 1450 West 12th Street, 8th Fl., Belmont Building, Chicago 8, Ill. Ray Reflects and Reminisces

Said a barber, last week: "A dollar is too much for a hair cut. I am a barber, yet I repeat it's too much. If I speed-up which is sometimes necessary—I can give half a dozen shingles in an hour. It's often been done, and at 75 cents, there's $4.50. Of course customers do not come like that, but I still figure a dollar is just a bit tall."

The movies, when the screen did not cut quite the monumental and lovesick size it does today, might have lacked a lot, but it had the knack of convulsing folks. They had paid to laugh, anyway. Sheer nonsense, of course, but it worked. That's more than what can always be said today. Mack Sennett and Ben Turpin, who had not been seen in a dog's age, were on the Capital screen last week-end, and how the house roared. It was back, for an hour or so, to the silent drama, cross-eyed comedy, pies in the skies, pies in the eyes, leaping lions, and with something doing every snit second.

School studies resume for the 1950-51 term and with it, the disquieting knowledge that no fewer than 100,000 high school students quit every year. They do not go through with what they set out to do. Will the future offer learning along more practical lines, or return to classics and abstract, as suggested. There does not appear to be much of this at home. There, the things that seem to really count, concerns cost of living, insurance, mortgages, politics, wage scales and labor unions.

It does not follow that, because a bear happens to be in Jasper Park, that it's any the less a bear. Some are wondering if this could explain the disappearance of two year old Lorraine Smith, the search for whom has finally been abandoned. This is not improbable, for there are plenty in the park. There also bears on Kaien Island, and it's a sizeable forest, clothing the wide slopes, and wild enough to be the home of bruin. Firearms cannot be discharged there but the day may come when it will be necessary to give permission.

When one reads hot weather stories from El Centro and Blythe along the borders of California and Arizona, it's easier to understand, if it were ever necessary, why so many, every summer, pack the passenger fleets in northern waters. These blistering southern points report 121—even as high as 125. Contrast this with the cool blessedness of British Columbia and Alaska.

A few years of military or naval training is good for any young fellow. He learns a lot, and it will be helpful in later life, to Will we ever forget Sergeant MacKenzie? The naves have it. He was middle aged and a Glen-garry crowned his burly build. He had served in foreign parts, had a beak of a nose and a sun-burned, drooping mustache. He cast an all-seeing eye over the first parade of the awkward-squad and shouted "hair cuts". But not one paid a dollar for any.

Housing to Fore Again

City Council to Work With Chamber of Commerce On Matter

Housing again received the attention of the city council last night as a delegation from the Chamber of Commerce waited on the council at their regular meeting, pointing out the desperate need for housing here and asking the council to take all possible action in the matter. Representing the Chamber of Commerce were W. F. Stone and Robert E. Montador.

The subject came up for discussion when Ald. George Casey placed before the council a resolution that the city clerk write to the National Housing Administration asking that the allotment for Prince Rupert next year be sufficient to build 75 to 100 houses. Ald. Casey said six houses had been completed, ten were under construction.

For the Chamber of Commerce Mr. Stone said the council had done all it could this summer toward finding people who wanted to build homes. But he said there were many people in dire need of homes who did not have the down payment to make on them. He said building costs in Prince Rupert were exceptionally high and suggested the council try to obtain a special dispensation for Prince Rupert in alleviating the cost of building houses for rental purposes to make the project interesting to investors. If that was not possible, he thought a straight subsidy could not hurt the government because of the taxes on materials, etc., it received from building a home. He assured the council the Chamber of Commerce was behind the council in their efforts to solve the problem and would do anything to assist.

RENTALS NEEDED

Mr. Montador said there had been some confusion regarding the housing problem. He said that, in spite of an increase over the previous year's allotment for N.H.A., the company had loaned all its quota in the first half of the year. However, he continued, what was required was a rental project. He had been over figures carefully with the city clerk and they had come to the conclusion that the cheapest house to meet the Central Mortgage and Housing requirements would cost about $8,000. Rental for that house would have to be about $75 a month. He suggested the council ask the government to put in a rental housing program. If they can not do it, they should explain why.

Asked what he had learned at the meeting in Victoria about housing, City Clerk H. D. Thain said nothing had come up there that applied to Prince Rupert except the general provisions of the act.

Ald. T. B. Black said the housing committee and the Chamber of Commerce had covered only one phase of relieving the housing situation, the purchase of homes. He suggested Ald Casey's resolution be submitted to the housing committee to work with the Chamber of Commerce and that the committee be allowed to spend up to $50. The suggestion was made into a motion, which passed unanimously.

CHAMBER OF COMMERCE
Urgent need of housing in the city was emphasized in discussion at the meeting of the Chamber of Commerce which preceded the sending of the delegation to the council meeting. There was unanimous disagreement with any ideas that the completion of the Columbia Cellulose plant construction work would lessen the need for housing here. In fact, quite the opposite might be the case as permanent employees would then be looking for housing. It was also agreed that

Back From Motor Trip to Ontario

Accompanied by his nephew, Rev. Father Louis Amadio of Sioux Lookout, Ontario, and the latter's sister, Miss Inez Amadio, who recently arrived from Italy to make her future home in this country, Louis Amadio returned to the city Sunday night from a motor trip as far east as Sault Ste. Marie, Ontario, where he visited with his brother, Antonio Amadio, and other relatives.

Ten days were spent at Sault Ste. Marie by Mr. Amadio and four days at Sioux Lookout and they started out from there August 30, visiting Winnipeg, and Emerson, Manitoba, Grand Forks and Havre, North Dakota, Helena and Missoula, Montana, Spokane, Seattle and Vancouver. Father Amadio and Miss Amadio will spend a few days here visiting with Mr. and Mrs. Amadio.

Dr. D. McC. Black, director of Prince Rupert Health Unit, left by today's plane for Victoria, where he will attend the convention of Medical Health Officers of the province. On his return Saturday, he and Mrs. Black will leave for a week's vacation at Smithers.

many people were living in the city today under quite undesirable conditions.

Dr. R. G. Large told of the difficulty of new teachers finding housing accommodation here. It was hard to get people to come here to reside under existing conditions.

W. F. Stone pointed out that it was difficult to reconcile the cost of building here with the return that could be obtained from rentals. He felt that some special dispensation might be asked for in the case of Prince Rupert.

Finally, the Chamber passed a resolution pointing to the desperate need for housing accommodation here and asking the city council to take action with a view to obtaining same, the Chamber supporting the move in every way possible.

Decided to have the city treasurer appoint a member of his staff to make a personal canvass of residents of Rushbrook Heights to explain why it is necessary to sign the petition for improvements before those improvements may be undertaken. The city clerk reported the petition from Piggot Place was sufficient but petitions from streets between there and Sixth Avenue were lacking.

Casey that the city clerk write the National Housing Administration asking that an allotment sufficient for building 75 to 100 houses be made to Prince Rupert for next year to the housing committee in conjunction with the Chamber of Commerce and other interested bodies.

Distinguished Picnic Guests

Prince Rupert Gyros had distinguished company at their annual picnic Sunday afternoon on the sunny shores of Digby Island. Enjoying the outing as special guests were Arthur Lagueux of Quebec, president of Rotary International, and Mrs. Lagueux who came with Dr. and Mrs. R. G. Large who had taken them for a cruise to Metlakatla on the Yalao. Local Rotary president, A. B. Bruce Brown, and Mrs. Brown also went along.

Favored by beautiful clear and warm weather, the picnic, planned for the special enjoyment of the Gyro children, was a happy outing with about fifty attending. With W. F. Stone, as the moving spirit and, as usual, demonstrating his high diving prowess, everything required for the youngsters (and the oldsters as well) was provided and it was unanimously voted a great day. Transportation was provided by Dr. Large with the Yalao, Dr. L. M. Greene with the Rudon and W. J. Scott who, up to this morning, had not been able to make up his mind about the name of his boat.

BRIGHTON, England — Strange catch from Brighton's famous Palace Pier was a school of octopus. Fifty of the fish measuring three feet across were hauled up and thrown back by irate anglers.

IN 50 YEARS ALUMINUM HAS GROWN TO BE A LARGE PART OF CANADIAN LIVING

"It means a lot to me!"

"See this model? It was made before I was born, and when Arvida was just farmland. Yet I can show you on it just where our house is, and the streets along which I come to work, or go to the stores, or to church, or to play tennis or ski. And I can show you the aluminum smelter where my father works, and the powerhouse where my boyfriend works—and the house in which we're going to live when we're married.

"It's all here. This is a miniature of an up-to-date city, a city that has everything—and was born full-size. That's why I call it, 'A piece of future Canada in a glass case'."

"You see, an engineer's dream has added a city to Canada—a place where 12,000 people like me live and work and enjoy ourselves. My neighbours who have lived in other places tell me this is the nicest city in Canada. Certainly I wouldn't want to live anywhere else."

The smelter at Arvida, the powerhouses at Shipshaw close by, the wharves at Port Alfred a few miles away—these are only parts of what Alcan has planned and built in Canada during the last fifty years. The Company is still planning, still building. Its growth makes Canada a bigger, better, richer place in which to live and work—for every aluminum ingot produced in Canada makes Canada that much better off.
