Moscow Reacts Sharply To Expulsion of Russian N. York Representative

Brings End to Problem of Refugee Teachers—Effects of Latest Kremlin Order

WASHINGTON, D.C. (CP)—Soviet-ordered halt to all consular dealings between the United States and Russia wrote an apparent end today to the case of the refugee Russian school teachers. The Kremlin's decision came suddenly but not unexpectedly.

The Russian government, reacting sharply to the Soviet consul-general from New York, has chopped off all consular ties with the United States. The action entails closing of Russian consulates in New York and San Francisco, closing of the United States consulate at Vladivostok and the voiding of an agreement granting the United States the right to open a consulate in Leningrad.

Acting Premier Herbert Anscomb, Attorney General Gordon Wismer, Minister of Agriculture Frank Putman and Minister of Education W. T. Straith are among those in attendance.

Cold weather is expected in the interior tomorrow and there is a risk of frost tonight on low-lying areas of the Cariboo and Prince George region. Coastal sections will remain cloudy.

Bulletins

MARSHALL NOT WORRIED

WASHINGTON—Commenting today on the withdrawal by Soviet Russia of its consulates to the United States, Secretary of State George Marshall said the action was "regrettable but not serious." Formal diplomatic relations were not involved since consulates dealt only with commercial waters. The closure of the United States consulate at Vladivostok would be accepted. It had been subject to so many restrictions that it was not of much use anyway, Marshall said.

REWARD FOR MINES

OTTAWA—Department of Transport has announced that a reward of $100 will be paid to anyone locating floating mines and remaining by them until the authorities can be contacted and the scene reached.

STALIN FOR PARLEY

MOSCOW—Premier Joseph Stalin is reported to be proposing another four-power conference on Germany but what restrictions he might impose upon it are not known.

VISA FOR BARBARA

TORONTO—It was announced today that Barbara Ann Scott, Olympic skating star, had been granted a visa to enter the United States. Her manager said that she had had several offers but none had yet been definitely accepted.

WHAT MIGHT HAVE BEEN

Had there been no World War II and no abdication of the late King Victor Emmanuel, and had there been no dissolution of the House of Savoy by vote (taking the crown away from ex-King Humbert), then Victor Emmanuel, pictured here, third of the line, may have been fated one day to sit on the throne once occupied by his father. Seemingly the least unhappy about the turn of affairs is handsome blonds Victor Emmanuel now at Geneva, Switzerland. Like other more plebeian youngsters he has somewhat of an aversion to study, plays hockey occasionally to go bike riding or play with his miniature "navy." He is shown winding up the propeller of one of his craft.

Murphy Not Being Fired

Defies Ouster By C.C.L. of Miners' Union

VANCOUVER (CP)—Five thousand hard rock miners and smelter workers were automatically removed from the Canadian Congress of Labor fold in British Columbia today when the Congress suspended the Union of Mine, Mill and Smelter Workers (C.I.O.).

Along with the suspension of the Union, Harvey Murphy of Vancouver, its western regional director, is barred from C.C.L. activities for two years.

Murphy is also vice-president of the British Columbia Federation of Labor, a C.C.L. affiliate.

Reason for the ouster as given by the C.C.L. executive did not mention communism but labor leaders here reported that the action was known to be a climax to the battle of C.C.L. leaders to rid the organization of communist influence.

Murphy said he would appeal to the C.C.L. convention in Toronto next month. "I will continue as organizer and worker for the mining industry's employees, Mosher or no Mosher," he said.

(A. R. Mosher is president of the C.C.L. He had been attacked by the U.M.M. and S.W. official paper).

UNOSIA STATE INSIDE PARIS

PARIS (CP)—A new independent state, Unosia, is being born in the capital of France. The tiny sovereign state will cover ten acres of land and will number about 4,500 inhabitants.

Unosia is to be the fall home of the United Nations which will sit in general sessions from September 21 to December.

Co-operation and Vision

PRINCE RUPERT'S third Port Day since the war is to be held tomorrow. Outwardly, it is a day of marine sports and competitions designed for the enjoyment of the citizens and fishermen, but behind its outward face there is a deeper intent which is of great importance to this city.

This intent is to draw attention to the fact that Prince Rupert is a port, a potentially great one, which, by its location and other attributes, could be of advantage to Canada and to the world if it were put to use. The annual Port Days, as well as being celebrations of the things we have, are reminders of what the city was meant to be and can be.

Featured during Port Day is Prince Rupert's fishing fleet and it is fitting that it should be so. The fishing boats have made the city what it is today, given its growth and prosperity and sustained its economy for a generation. The fishing industry and the railroad have combined to make Prince Rupert what it is.

But the Junior Chamber of Commerce, which sponsors Port Day, has tried to inject into the event the vision of greater growth and, for that reason, they have endeavored to attract industrial exhibits for display in connection with the carnival.

They have made contact with manufacturers and wholesalers in British Columbia and many other parts of the Dominion, not merely for the prizes and donations which they bring, but to remind those industrialists that here already is a substantial market and the promise of a greater one.

One example of this is the Celanese Corporation of America's exhibit which was brought here through efforts of the Port Day committee. Certainly, that corporation is very much aware of Prince Rupert but it was obviously gratified at that expression of Prince Rupert's good will toward it.

The Royal Canadian Navy, too, has an interest in this port but without the annual welcome extended by the Port Day committee, there would be little excuse for cordiality other than the occasional visits of the warships. These courtesies which originate here as part of Port Day all have justification.

The work which is required to make the day successful is enormous and begins many weeks before the event itself. The committee responsible is composed not only of Junior Chamber of Commerce members but men from the waterfront businesses and it always has enjoyed the full co-operation of the Civic Centre.

This is the finest kind of co-operative community effort. It is effort with vision and deserves the highest success.

Half Port Day! Even the Weather Man appears to be in good mood again.

READY FOR SCHOOL

WHEN six-year-old Johnny walks doubtfully off to school in two weeks his parents will probably see that he starts off the right way by being well on time his first day, and supplied with a new pair of shoes and all the pencils, erasers, and exercise books he needs.

But will he then be ready to settle down to school along with his fellows? From the time he first expressed his personality his parents discovered that, because he should do something, it does not necessarily mean he will, especially if he is unable to do so or simply does not feel like it. He may, in particular, strenuously object to stepping from the centre of the stage in his secure home world to the midst of the continuous schoolroom battle, good-natured though it may be.

Many of the children entering schools for the first time are in danger of being judged incompetent or being left behind on the playground or in the schoolroom by teachers and small fellow-jurors. This will happen because their bodies are not in good working order or their minds have not yet learned co-operation.

In the most recent B.C. Medical Inspection of Schools Report, it is only too clearly indicated that too many of our children enter school hampered with defects which could slow down their progress seriously. The most common of these are decayed teeth, diseased tonsils and defective sight and hearing. A few are found to suffer from an unsatisfactory home environment, and consequently poor mental health.

These children are almost defeated before they begin. Although school is a thrilling change, it may prove too tremendous for some small people already working under these hardships, who are suddenly asked to play and work according to a schedule, and discipline their bodies and minds to act and think in terms of "we" instead of "I." It will be a dangerous change for weak systems suddenly subjected to the germs which go to school too.

HER MEAT BOYCOTT SPREADING THROUGH U. S.—When Mrs. R. D. Vaughn of Dallas, Texas, began telephoning to friends and neighbors asking them not to buy fresh meat this week in an attempt to force prices down, she started something that has now spread throughout the big cities of the United States. Here Mrs. Vaughn has the moral support of her husband as she crusades among Dallas housewives by phone. Many big cities, including New York, have followed her lead and gone one better by picketing butcher shops.

The Best banking system

CANADA has a banking system which, for efficiency and dependability, is unsurpassed in the world. Competitive, flexible, adaptable to the changing needs of the country, it serves Canada's producers, her industries, her traders—and it serves your personal needs, too.

No customer has to fear for the privacy of his regular banking transactions. This privacy is completely free of political pressures or considerations—it is rooted in Canadian banking practice and tradition.

Contrast this Canadian way with conditions in lands where freedom is denied—where every bank is a political tool, every banker a State official! State monopoly of banking, proposed by Socialists here, would fasten the Marxist foreign pattern on you.

Three Canadian Destroyers Set For Part In Port Day

The Royal Canadian Navy established a premature beachhead at Prince Rupert Tuesday after giving up one on the Queen Charlotte Islands where weather and remoteness made the prospect of invasion entirely uninteresting.

The flotilla of three destroyers, Cayuga, Athabasca and Crescent, made a quick run from Virago Sound at the north end of Graham Island and slipped into Prince Rupert harbor shortly before noon—24 hours before their scheduled arrival.

They are here to take part in Port Day and have been away from their base at Esquimalt since August 16. The 500 men aboard the three ships are mostly R.C.N. The season is so late that few reservists made the cruise.

Their arrival here was virtually unobserved because of a pall of rain that shrouded the harbor, giving the vessels an indefinite outline as they slipped in with Athabasca, commanded by Commander J. S. Davis in the lead.

They will remain anchored in the harbor for the duration of their visit, according to Commander O. G. S. Robertson of the Cayuga, senior officer of the flotilla, because the large rise and fall of the tides here make it difficult to moor the low-built ships alongside the wharfs.

At 3 o'clock Tuesday afternoon, Commander Robertson, Commander Davis and Lieut.-Commander John Charles of the Crescent paid a formal visit to Mayor Nora Arnold at the City Hall. The call was returned later in the day by Mayor Arnold, who visited Cayuga.

Cruise of the vessels was relatively uneventful, except for the sequel to landing operation at Naden Harbor. The vessels put two companies of men, numbering 150, ashore in the harbor. They marched with full pack to the head of the harbor, where they were taken aboard again.

However, the small boats put out toward the beach at low tide and some were damaged on shoals and rocks before they returned to the ships.

"That is why we are short of small boats to take liberty parties ashore," smiled Commander Robertson.

The tug Marysville, of H.M. C.S. Chatham was loaned for liberty use by Lieut. John Quinn, executive officer of the naval reserve station here.

By anchoring in the harbor, the three destroyers will be able to put on a really spectacular rocket display on the evening of Port Day, which they would not be able to do if they were tied at the wharves, Commander Robertson said.

Plans for the navy's participation in Port Day were discussed by the commanding officers and S. G. Furk, Port Day chairman, at a conference at Chatham Saturday afternoon. Commander Robertson was

WOULD BAN AIR HUNTS

BURNS LAKE—At the request of many members, a special meeting of the Tweedsmuir Park Rod & Gun Club has been called for Thursday in the Women's Auxiliary Hall at Burns Lake.
To hunting by aeroplane which promises to be a threat to the wild life of the Central Interior, and appears to be objected to locally, it has been suggested that guides' licenses be issued only at the approval of the local Rod and Gun Club. It is suggested that planes may come in and land but remain at their original landing and not hunt the adjacent lakes. All actual hunting should be done with boats or pack and saddle animals in charge of licensed and responsible guides.

Already the necessity of having a game warden permanently located at Burns Lake is said to be obvious. The work is devolving on an already overworked and undermanned police force. Hunters and fishermen are arriving daily but unfortunately no game warden is available. The demand for licenses and information is great but the game warden's office which was centrally located in the "Review" building is now untenanted.

GUESS WHO? BABYPICTURE CONTEST

One of the corners of interest at the Civic Centre Carnival this year is that in the main lobby where have been mounted pictures of twenty-two prominent Prince Rupert people in a guessing contest organized by Mrs. Willa Ray. The pictures range from tiny tin types to substantially enlarged enlargements. There is much speculation and not a little real uzzlement as to the identities as the years from infancy to maturity, quite advanced in some cases, have surely wrought their changes.
Those pictured in all their cuteness are Mayor Nora Arnold, Police Chief Lance Pot-terton, Ex-Mayor H. M. Daggett, Aid G.B. Casey, Joe Scott, H. D. Thain, E. T. Appiewhite, Alfred Rivett, Ralph Smith, W. Wrathall, W. D. Vance, J. D. McRae, S. P. Woodside, Stan Saville, William Noble, Donald C. Stewart, William Long, Richard Long, Dr. C. H. Hankinson, R. G. Hopkins, W. H. Wilson-Murray and J. H. McLeod.

Another crowd of 1800 persons attended the Carnival last night and personnel of the visiting Canadian destroyers were much in evidence. The stage shows and dance again proved popular.

Was old Centre Street, extending up hill from the dock, back in 1910, in line with the present day fountain off Second Avenue? A man with a lot of pioneer pictures was asking questions yesterday. What he sought was where, on the waterfront, as it is today, stood the original location of early Prince Rupert? And that was anything but simple. Yes! Find Rupert Road, the road to Vickersville, Bacon's garden, the shops of Centre Street, the social zone and Arthur Little's literary inspired emporium. Yeah, find them!

Bronzed and looking smart in a grey serge suit, William Lyon MacKenzie King, is home again from a holiday at Seal Harbor in Maine. The American press found him urbane and non-communicative. Very, in fact! He declined to tell where he was staying or who his hosts were. Just as if they did not know already!

Totems, taken care of are not perishable, and tourists will be coming this way as long as you live, and after. They probably wouldn't have survived the winter, anyway, in their reclining position.

Prince Rupert bears, as well as Prince Rupert people, have a taste for ripe berries. Sunday afternoon, a fruit lover wearing a black fur coat was sighted roaming around in the vicinity of McClymont Park. Whatever it was he was conveying from brush or bush, to his shaggy jaws, appeared to be giving the greatest of satisfaction. In fact, one of the girls in the party says she could almost swear he winked at them once.

CARRY GOSPEL IN MODERN WAY

Bible Society Representatives Had Interesting Trip in Car and Trailer

Parked in a local garage is a car and trailer covered with dust from 3000 miles of British Columbia roads. But the car isn't a tourist's vehicle. It belongs to Miss Helen Collett, travelling representative of the British and Foreign Bible Society.

In April Miss Collett left the Fraser Valley accompanied by Valerie Pixley of Agassiz. Unlike the ordinary tourists Miss Collett and her companions didn't stick to the main roads. If a side road leads to people the Society's representatives are almost sure to explore it.

The Bridge River district was visited in one of their side trips and so was Wells and old Barkerville, east of Quesnel, but most interesting of all was their trip into the Chilcotin area. There they were taught to pan for gold by a pioneer who had been over the Klondyke trails. This district, according to Miss Collett, is the potential heart of central interior British Columbia. For many years the Chilcotin area has been noted for its cattle raising and during their 140 mile trip west from Williams Lake and back again they saw extensive evidence of prosperity. The end of the Chilcotin road is not far from Bella Coola and some day the people of the interior hope to see the road completed thus giving them an outlet to the seaboard.

Miss Collett and Miss Pixley were joined by another Agassiz girl, Marion Hall, at Quesnel and since then the three ladies have visited practically every settlement, village, town and city between there and Prince Rupert.

While on the road the party do their cooking on a small gasolene stove and sleep in a tent which is often pitched in a friendly rector's yard in the

TERRACE HONORS PARTING GUESTS

TERRACE—More than 50 people attended a joint congregational farewell social last Wednesday evening for Mr. and Mrs. J. McAllister and Mr. and Mrs. B. Barr who will all be leaving this week for different points in the Dominion.

Mr. McAllister will be going to McGill University in the fall and Mr. Barr goes to Courtenay, Vancouver Island. Games were enjoyed during the evening and the ladies provided a delicious repast.

In presenting Mr. McAllister and Mrs. Barr with table lamps, hand carved by F. Gavan, J. H. Smith expressed the regrets of all present at their departure. Both had worked hard for the church in their own field of endeavor. Mr. McAllister had done a lot to make the manse more habitable and in the church musical circle Mr. and Mrs. Barr had been invaluable. Mrs. Barr had been the church organist since coming here several years ago.

Mrs. McAllister and Mrs. Barr were each presented with gifts by Mrs. Van Stolk on behalf of the choir and Mrs. F. Gavan, on behalf of the Ladies' Guild, presented them with a hand-carved pin.

"UNFAIR" POLL TAX LEVIES ARE CRITICIZED

A method of eliminating dual taxation in cases where recent purchases of property are assessed not only property taxes but poll tax as well is being sought by city council members all of whom favor the removal of the poll tax entirely.

Complaints of dual taxation have been received by the city from persons who have bought property within the last few months. Because they own property, they must pay taxes on it. Because they did not pay property taxes last year, they must, according to provincial law, pay poll tax this year.

City Clerk H. D. Thain has been seeking some angle in the law which would permit the refunding of poll taxes collected under these conditions but, so far, has been unable to find one.

The law provides that male persons who do not pay property taxes to the value of $5 in any one year, must pay the poll tax. Certain provisions eliminate need for payment by members of the armed forces, and pensioners.

Annually, however, there is a flood of complaints by people who have bought property within the previous year against being required to pay poll tax in addition to their property levy.

According to City Clerk Thain.

SHIPS and WATERFRONT

Union steamer Chilcotin, Capt. Harry McLean, was a full ship as she called here from 11:15 to 12:45 last night southbound from Ketchikan to Vancouver on her weekly Alaska cruise. In addition to the 76 round-trippers which she had on board, twenty-one passengers had been picked up at Ketchikan, the most of them going through to Vancouver.

The city has no option but to collect poll tax from male non-property owners. The poll tax is set by the provincial government, which allows the city to collect and keep the taxes if it wishes. If the city does not collect the taxes, the province does.

"Under those conditions, the city would be foolish not to collect the taxes, but that does not alter the fact that it is an iniquitous levy which should be eliminated," Mr. Thain said.

The city aldermen, who have sent resolutions to the Union of B.C. Municipalities advocating the removal of the poll tax, agree with him.

They also agree, however, that until some alteration is made in the provincial law, they cannot advise any rebate where the tax is collected legally, but unfairly.

Merely removal of the poll tax, would not eliminate the entire evil, according to Mr. Thain, because it would disenfranchise everybody who use it as a requirement for voting in civic elections.

"To get to the root of the matter, you would have to have a revision of the Elections Act that requires that in order to vote, male persons must pay the minimum of $5 to the city. In that regard, the Poll Tax Act is tied to the Elections Act and the latter would have to be revised first in order to allow non-property owners to retain their vote."

WOMEN OF THE FUTURE
MELBOURNE, Australia. A 14-year old girl here has anticipated evolution by about 10,000 years by failing to grow four of the normal bicuspid teeth, her dentist says. Scientists say that the human jaw is growing smaller and bicuspid will eventually be non-existent.

NOT ACTS OF GOD
SHREWSBURY, Eng. Unveiling of a war memorial at Shrewsbury School, Gen. Sir Bernard Paget said: "Let us be honest and admit that wars are not inevitable and not acts of God. They are caused by the folly and gross materialism of men. It is no good saying we can do nothing about it."

NO WATER

Sunday, August 22, 1948

There's water in the tumbled hills, there's water in the lakes, There's water in the heavens when Thor's great hammer shakes, The Skeena and its feeders are brimming with its flow And the harbor of Prince Rupert is just full of H₂O.

We go into a restaurant and order that and this. We're told we cannot have them as there's something much amiss. We may have this, we may have that, but no coffee and no tea, Because there is "no water save in the river and in the sea.

There's water here there's water there, but somewhere in the main Some little thing has gone awry and there's dearth of it again; We cannot wash, we cannot shave, we cannot brush our teeth; There's plenty of water on the earth—but the main is underneath!

It was an Ancient Mariner, when parched and faint with thirst, Who voiced his bitter feelings (though no water-pipe had burst), And we should count our blessings though most ruefully we think, "Water, water everywhere, but not a drop to drink!"

Our Ring Display

If you will take notice some day to the section you will discover that it deserves more than a passing glance.

You will find that all the gems are there. And if you should happen to be a good one you will at once decide that our qualities are the average.

We took pains to have it that way.

If you've a ring need of any kind you should forget that our values can compare with any.

We've lately added quite a number of which have not been in stock in Rupert before.

All we ask is a look.
