Russians Still Fighting For Red China

FIRST ARRIVALS—Twenty-seven French air cadets, first of 100 aircrew from various European countries, will be trained at London, Ont., by the R.C.A.F. as part of Canada's contribution under terms of the Atlantic Pact. Five of them are shown here chatting with M. Morton, French consul at Toronto (in civilian clothes), and 3rd Lt. J. F. M. Bell, commanding officer at Toronto's training depot, on his left. From left to right the cadets are: Cpl. I. Simon, Capt. H. De Salaberry, conducting officer; Cpl. A. Evrat, Cpl. M. Lehoux, Cpl. M. Segla, and Cpl. J. M. Dubois. The course will last two months. Canada Help— Korea To Get Ground Force

Announcement Of Special Session Of Parliament Expected Monday

OTTAWA —(CP)— Prime Minister L. S. St. Laurent is expected to announce on Monday that a special Canadian force of ground troops will be raised for service in Korea and that Parliament will be recalled to ratify the move. This was learned reliably today.

Could Go To Korea

OTTAWA—Two armored regiments and an airborne brigade group of three infantry regiments with supporting arms and services comprise Canada's active ground troop fighting force today. If called on these are the ground units which could see Korean action.

Lord Strathcona's Horse Regiment (armored) Calgary.
Royal Canadian Dragoons (armored) Petawawa.
Royal Canadian Regiment (infantry) Petawawa.
Royal 22nd Regiment (infantry) Quebec City.
Princess Patricia's Canadian Light Infantry Calgary.

LABOR M.P. QUILTS PARTY

LONDON — Albert Raymond Blackburn, 35-year-old Member of Parliament, resigned from the Labor party today and said Winston Churchill should become Premier of a coalition government.

Blackburn, representing a Birmingham district, said he will remain in the House of Commons as an independent.

His resignation reduces to five the Labor party's scant majority in the 625-seat house.

Blackburn said he had "no intention whatever" of joining Churchill's Conservative party but he praised Churchill as a leader who perceives the dangers far ahead.

Rains Help Grain Crop

WINNIPEG—Rains have been general over the three prairie provinces during the past week with the exception of the district east of Edmonton and the Craik and Riverhurst sub-divisions where rain is still urgently required according to the weekly crop report of the department of agriculture of the Canadian National Railway.

In general wheat is now 100 per cent headed in most areas and coarse grains approximately 70 per cent headed. Indications point to a good yield of wheat in Saskatchewan with the exception of the southwestern portion.

In the Okanagan Valley weather during the past week was very hot with one good rain last Friday night. Vegetables and fruits are now maturing rapidly and no damage from any cause is reported.

Attempts To Sidetrack Korean Issue Beaten Off By Majority Vote

LAKE SUCCESS—(CP)—Russia was reported ready today to demand that Communist North China be invited to take part in the United Nations debate on the Korean conflict. The report came from a usually well-informed quarter as the security council prepared to come to grips with the Korean question after beating a three-day Russian attempt to sidetrack the issue. Western diplomats are expected to offer vigorous opposition to any move to bring the North Koreans to the council table.

Yesterday the security council, by a vote of 8 to 1, approved the American plan to discuss the Korean situation before the recognition of Communist China. Russia voted against and Yugoslavia and India abstained.

There was a heated exchange between Jakob Malik, representative of Russia, and Warren Austin of the United States over charges of aggression in the Korean war.

Americans Trying To Hold Korea

TOKYO (Saturday)—American forces are battling to hold their foothold in South Korea and stopped strong Communist units in their all-out drive for the few remaining miles to Pusan today. A United States counter attack turned the tide of battle.

The session of the Council adjourned today for the weekend.

Miniature Crime Wave

Two Boys in Custody after Series of Entries

A miniature crime wave struck Prince Rupert Wednesday night when D. & S. Groceries, junction of First, Second and Third Avenues, and an emergency car on the Canadian National Railway were entered and robbed, a naval row boat was stolen from its moorings and the cabin of Alex Mitchell at McNicholl Creek across the harbor was broken into. Two youths are being held by city police charged jointly on two counts of breaking, entry and theft, one charge of stealing a row boat and one charge of breaking and entering. The boys, about 14 years old, were arrested yesterday.

From the groceries were taken money, cigarettes, gum, chocolate bars and canned goods. Entry was made breaking a window. From the auxiliary emergency car bedding was taken. Nearly all goods have been recovered.

The loot from the groceries was hidden in caches along the highway to Port Edward. Announcement of the burglaries was withheld by police until after the youths had led them to the caches.

They will be up for trial in juvenile court this afternoon.

LUMBERJACK CONTEST

KUHMO, Finland. — The annual lumberjack contests here had a few twists rarely seen in Canada's northland. One competition involved walking across a 100-foot-wide river on a swaying cable. Other contests included shooting rapids on a log and crossing the river on a log, paddling with a pike-pole.

RED SUBS FOR SURE

OTTAWA—The Navy is sure one or more submarines is operating off Canada's east coast but is anxious to keep secret what other facts it has learned about them, officials said Thursday. They said sighting reports are still coming in and being checked. A spokesman at defence headquarters said the Russian newspapers' attempt to ridicule these reports might be an attempt to provoke Canada into telling all she knows.

PLANS 3 YEAR PROGRAM

LONDON — Britain announced Thursday she plans a $10,540,000,000 three-year program to build western defenses against Russia but said its completion depends on additional United States financial aid. In return for U.S. aid, Britain offered to supply her North Atlantic Pact partners with free military equipment made in Britain. The statement from Prime Minister Attlee's office said the program would increase Britain's defence expenditures from eight per cent of the national income to ten per cent.

UN Flag at Armed Forces Headquarters in Tokyo

General Douglas MacArthur (right), commander of the armed forces acting in behalf of the United Nations to restore the peace in Korea, shakes hands with the Chief of Staff of the United States Army, General J. Lawton Collins, after receiving the blue-and-white U.N. flag (center) which once flew over the headquarters of the U.N. Mediator in Palestine. The flag was sent to General MacArthur by U.N. Secretary-General Trygve Lie, who expressed hope that it would fly until peace is restored in Korea. General Lawton Collins brought it to Tokyo.

United States Starting Work On Making Of Hydrogen Bomb

WASHINGTON, D.C. — Senator Brian McMahon (Democrat, Connecticut) confirmed today that a contract was being negotiated with the Dupont Company of Wilmington, Delaware, for work on the hydrogen bomb.

In a guarded statement earlier this week the Atomic Energy Commission hinted as much but did not specifically say that negotiations were under way.

McMahon, chairman of the Senate-House of Representatives Atomic Energy Committee, made his statement to reporters. He said that the purpose of the contract was "to further the progress of the hydrogen bomb project."

Five Dead In Boat Mishaps

A rash of fishing boat mishaps on the west coast today had left five men dead, missing or injured and two boats on the bottom.

Altogether, five fishing vessels were involved. One exploded and sank at Prince Rupert, and another capsized off Vancouver Island and disappeared. Two were washed ashore half submerged and another was taken in tow off the Washington state coast.

The body of Frederick E. Radler, 43, floated up on a Vancouver beach. His gasboat, Garbo, was picked up two hours later near the mouth of the Fraser River.

An unidentified vessel was towed by the gillnetter Aleutian to Point Roberts, Washington. Its two man crew was missing. Their names are not known.

The Seattle 433 was washed ashore at Birch Bay, Washington. Lee Soong Tim of nearby Steveston was plucked from the sinking craft Wednesday. Swirling waters from the Fraser carried his boat far out into Puget Sound.

Two other fishermen were rescued when their boat capsized and sank off Vancouver Island.

The evening was spent playing whist. Prize winners were Mrs. Holmes and Mrs. Jack McRae.

Following refreshments, Mrs. Goodsell was presented with a bouquet of flowers from the garden of Mrs. W. J. Pinniger.

The evening concluded with singing "For She's a Jolly Good Fellow."

Present or sending good wishes were Mrs. Holmes, Mrs. T. White, Mrs. O. Smith, Mrs. J. Keays, Mrs. J. McRae, Mrs. Gavan, Mrs. J. Gilbert, Mrs. J. McGreish, Mrs. H. Eastman, Mrs. B. Strachan and Mrs. W. Pinniger.

Drop Barriers In Emergency

OTTAWA — Canada and the United States munitions chiefs will meet here next week to complete the groundwork for production on the new agreement for armaments. Similar to the agreement which existed between the two countries during the second world war, the new pact will be designed to ease legislative, tariff and other restrictions which are peacetime barriers to the flow of armaments across the Canadian-American border.

Future of Peace

It is thirty-six years today since the outbreak of the First Great War. Since then, two Great Wars and two periods of peace, so called, have taken place. Today, in Korea, a minor war is raging and diplomacy endeavors to avert it spreading into another major struggle. In addition to this it is planned to devote enormous sums for defence. Dispatches say Great Britain contemplates an outlay of ten and a half billion. The United Nations want peace and, if fighting for it is becoming an absolute necessity, then the United Nations are committed to that course. So far as one can see now, future peace will hinge on power to maintain and enforce it.

BUILDING BOOM

It is generally conceded that the extent of its building activity may be taken as a measure of a community's prosperity. If that is the case, it should be a good fall and winter coming up for Prince Rupert. Nearly a million dollars worth of major building is now going on in the city or is about to start including the new theatre and liquor store projects to which the two fine new school construction projects are about to be added, now that contracts have been let and signed up.

Meanwhile over at Watson Island finishing touches will be put on the great pulp mill project which is to be in operation early next year.

A problem continues to be that of providing housing complementary to the industrial and business building. This in itself would involve a building volume of major proportions. Somehow or other, this is bound to come soon.

SIGNIFICANCE OF KOREA

The Korean situation demonstrates how well the aggressors are prepared. Korea, an adjunct of Japan, was "liberated" from that domination less than five years ago says Windsor Star. In the interval Russia was able to build up first-class fighting forces, including men who could handle aircraft, tanks and other modern arms.

Deep down, there is an even more significant aspect to Korea. In less than five years of occupation, Russia was able to indoctrinate thoroughly the people of North Korea with Communist fanaticism.

The United States had an equal time and similar opportunities to win the people of South Korea to democracy. There is no evidence she succeeded in her task in any way comparable to what Russia accomplished.

It may be the United States relied upon the wrong people in South Korea, just as she did in China — upon an upper crust of society in which the masses of the people had no confidence.

It isn't that Communism is more acceptable than democracy to Asians, or other people. The fault lies rather in our methods of promoting democracy. That, surely, is cause for concern.

As I See It

By ELMORE PHILPOTT
1940 — 1950 — 1960?

USUALLY WHEN I take my annual holiday I read nothing but detective stories. Usually I never read the newspapers, never listen to the radio, until I get back on my regular work routine.

But this mid-summer, 1950, seems different. The real war in Korea—with the visible threat of much bigger war a few months away—makes it impossible to settle down to the usual fare of Whodunits.

Between newspapers, I have been reading Churchill's Secret Speeches of the war, and a diary by Storm Jameson covering that awful year 1940, when Britain stood almost alone against the whole might of Hitler's fascism. Then in came a city paper, with a reprint editorial from The Arizona Star:

"One of the benefits of the Korean incident is that it is presenting to the American public some of the stern realities about the kind of co-operation it can get from the rest of the world and particularly from a strong, wealthy neighbor like Canada. . . . Think of it, Canada a great wealthy country of 12,000,000 rugged enterprising, has only 3,000 men (the three battalions) available for her defence. . . . However, Canada is not so much to blame as Britain and Washington. Both have treated her like a spoiled and pampered child. It is surely up to the Washington administration . . . to call on Canada to contribute help, the kind where blood is shed. They have a right and duty to call on Canada to pull her fair share of the load."

TO ANSWER THAT UNTRUE and insulting blast from the Arizona Star Canadians might well take a glance ahead toward 1960 as well as one back to 1940.

Just ten years ago Britain stood alone in Europe. Her own forces had escaped from Dunkerque almost literally naked. There was only one fully armed, fully trained division in Britain — which was our own First Canadian. British troops were being hastily re-armed with rifles rushed over from Canada and secretly borrowed from the arsenal of the United States.

The Presidential election was in full blast in the U.S.A. Wendell Wilkie was warning the people that if Roosevelt was re-elected their sons would die on foreign battlefields. But Roosevelt was emphatic that this was a dastardly lie. Even with Britain standing alone—even with the fate of all western civilization hanging literally by a hair there was no voice in U.S.A. raised for standing by Britain and the cause of democracy.

Writers, like Storm Jameson in Britain, were burning their private papers. For the Nazi airborne invasion was expected any day—and everybody knew what would be the fate of noted anti-Fascists like that novelist.

THERE WOULD BE NOTHING easier nor more natural than for Canadians to remind The Arizona Star and others that we did not need to be shot into either the first or second world wars. Our casualties in the first war were equal to those of our mighty neighbor, with eleven times our population.

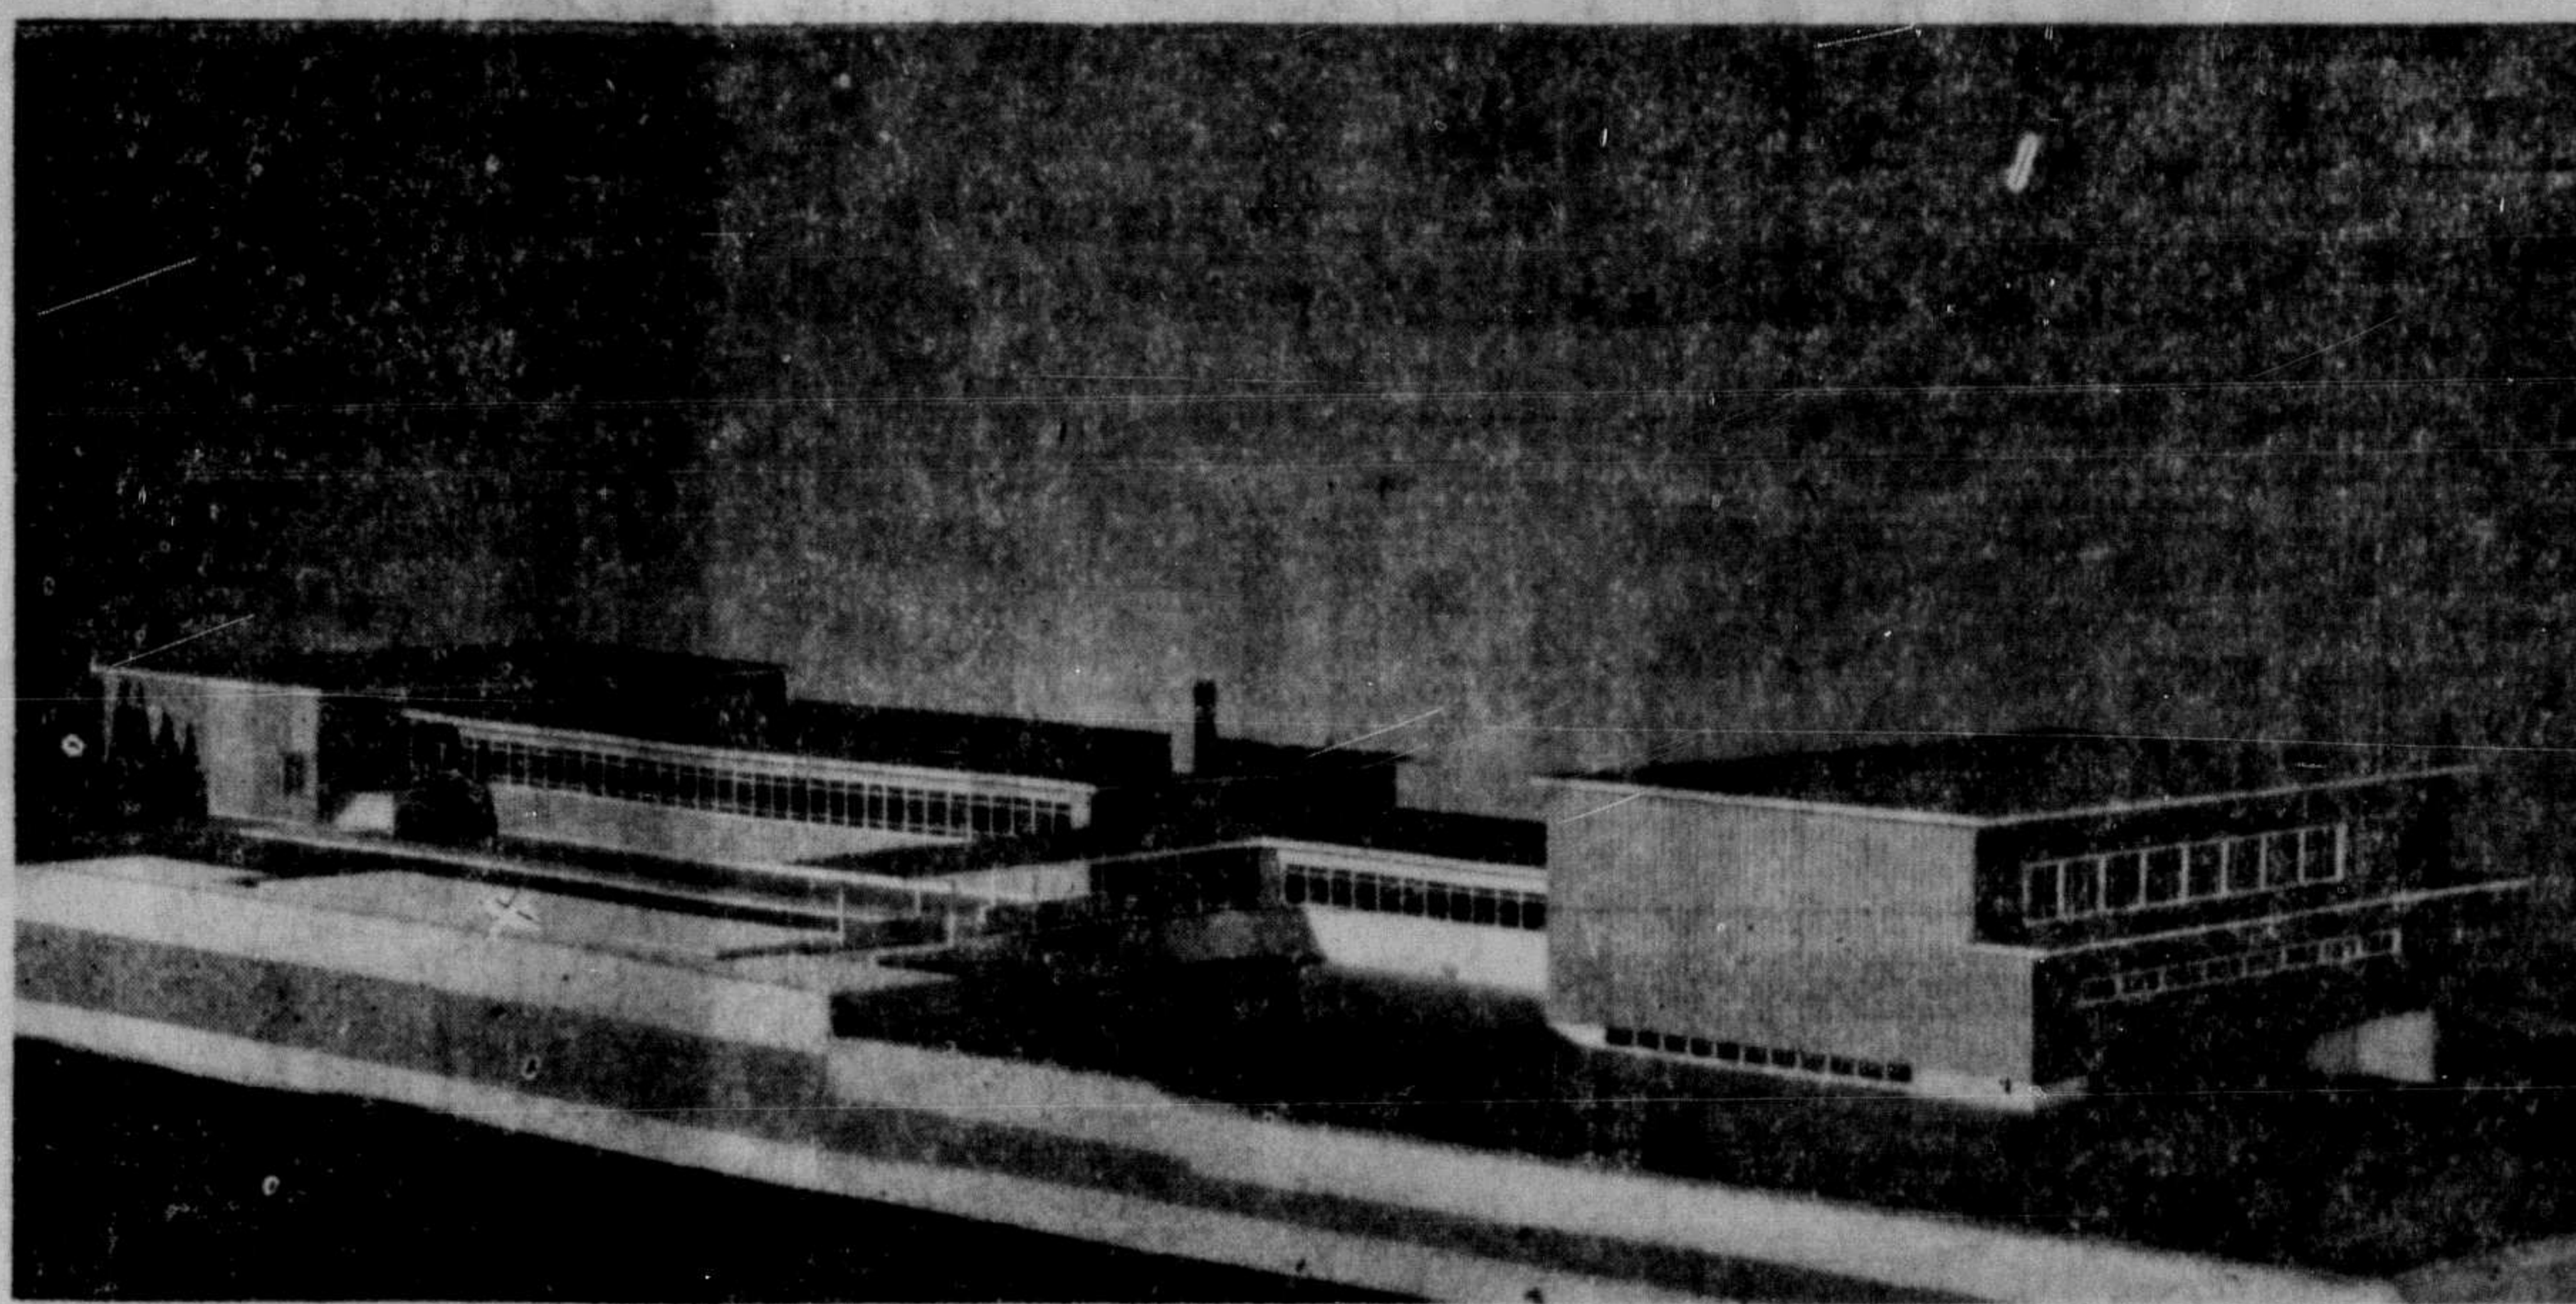

So in the second war, we were in there from the first day. We will be in a third world war—if it comes—from the first day also. And the people of Canada will be just as ready to do their bit and pull their fair share of the load as the editors of the Arizona Star.

But we will make up our own minds in our own time as to when, where, and how we will send our sons to fight and die, if they have to fight and die. We are not taking orders from Washington — and when we consider that on the same day on which Washington announced its right and proper intervention against the Korean aggression it simultaneously announced its wrong and improper intervention to protect Chiang Kalshek in Formosa most Canadians are more dubious than ever of Washington's political wisdom.

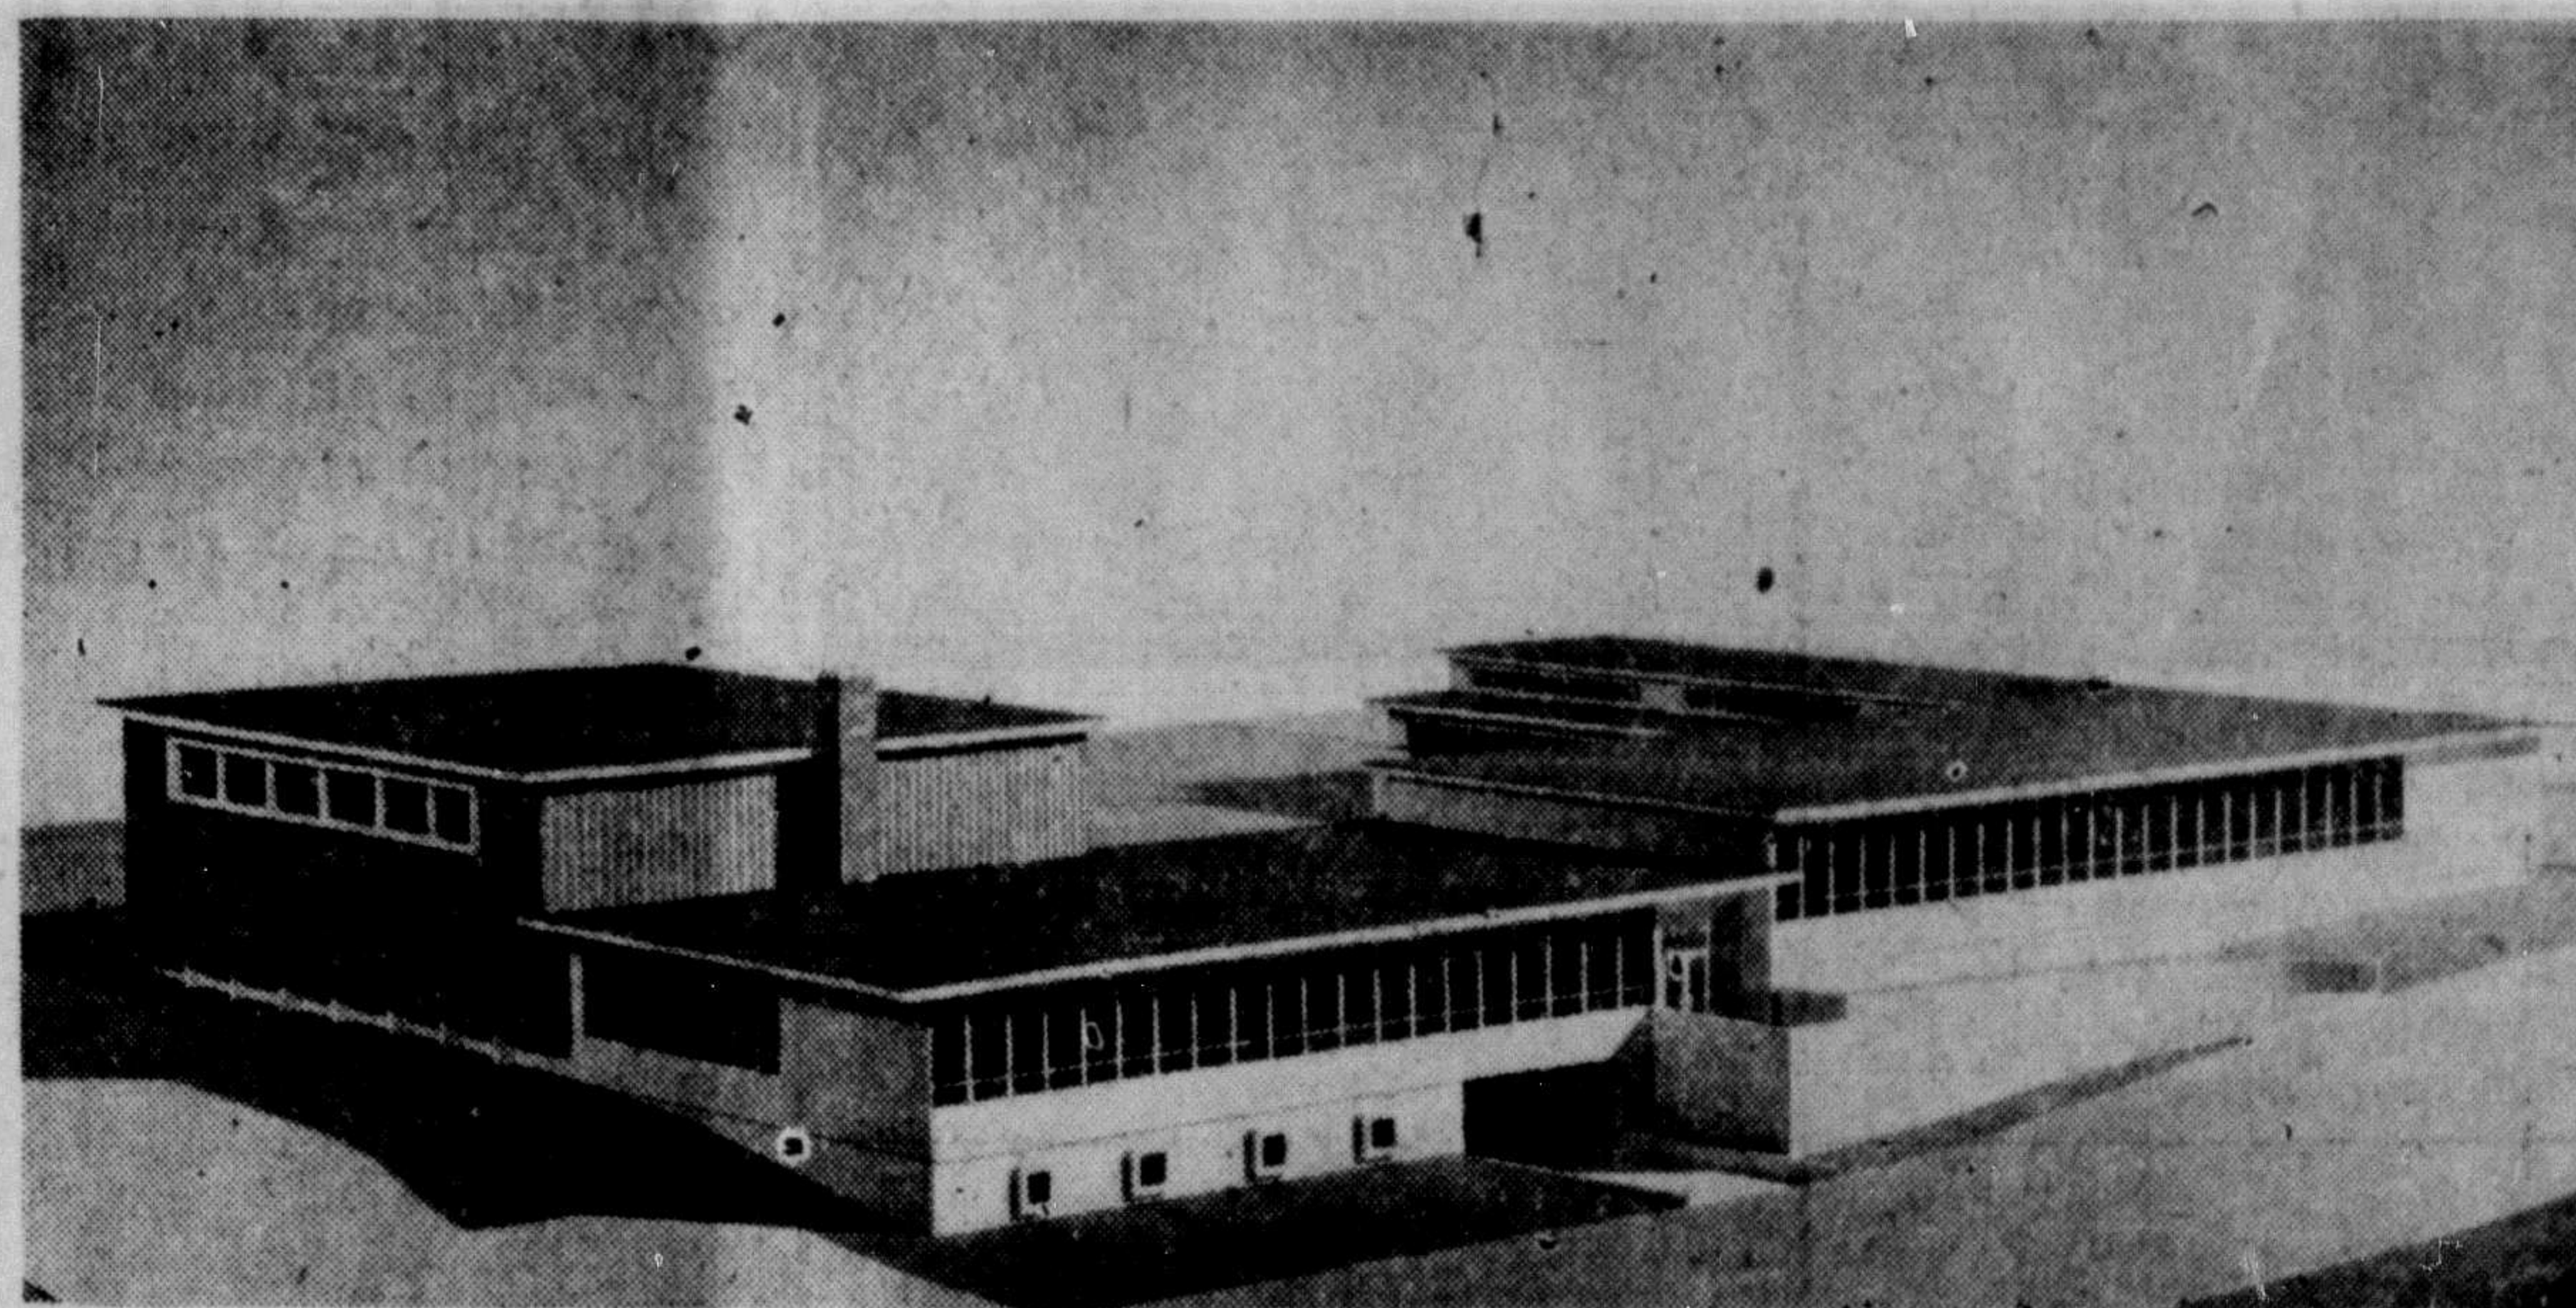

CANADIANS ARE WILLING to help defend an intelligently planned world line. Most Canadians agree with Anthony Eden that that world line should be planned NOW.

Other nations remember their Pearl Harbors. We remember Hong Kong. If our sons have to fight again we insist that they do so at the points of vital decision and not in blind alleys.

Rotary Club Hears Speaker

In a strong appeal to Prince Rupert Rotary Club yesterday to join in the move to bring skilled displaced persons to Canada, A. Morrison McTavish, chairman of the international affairs committee of the Vancouver club, mentioned some of the successful immigrants who had come over as laborers. Among them was a doctor who had become a member of the University of Toronto medical school and taught from a textbook he had written 15 years previously.

Mr. McTavish first showed a film of life in a displaced persons' camp in Germany. People were crowded several families in a room in large buildings that had been military barracks. Some of the people had found occupations outside the camp. Others worked in the camp. Many were waiting to die. Those for whom hope was slight for leaving the camp, the hard core, included not only the halt, the lame and the blind, but professional men, artists, musicians and other highly skilled and cultured people. They were generally not wanted as they might do university students out of jobs.

After the film Mr. McTavish explained that Rotary International had undertaken to ease the problem of the displaced persons. In Canada Rotarians had agreed to sponsor professional men, agriculturalists, mechanics, doctors, lawyers, chemists, natural and social scientists, teachers, artists, musicians and others in positions where their qualifications would be used. The government had agreed to the plan and allowed persons of that calibre to enter Canada under a sponsor who would see that they did not become charges on the state for at least one year. This was a great concession, he said, as formerly only laborers were allowed to enter the country from displaced persons camps. And they had to be sponsored for five years.

The speaker said that originally there had been 1,400,000 displaced persons in the western zone of Germany but that 1,000,000 had already been placed. Of those still remaining 100,000 were ineligible to leave because they were married; 40,000 were cripples, 34,000 were not economically sound; but there were 28,000 who were the cream of central Europe. They had both high morals and technical attainments.

CAREFUL CHOICE
In choosing immigrants, he continued, both the government and sponsors are careful to see that the jobs of university graduates are protected. If a Canadian applies for a job that a displaced person is slated for, the Canadian gets it. It has been suggested, he said, that if three vacancies occur two should be filled by Canadians and the other by a displaced person.

Canada to date has taken in 80,000 displaced persons. Quite a few have been skilled persons who came over as laborers. Some had found their own level. But people were told they would not be allowed to practice their professions. He said it was possible but not likely that some communists might slip through. There had been only one of the 80,000 brought over so far who had to be deported for that reason. Communists were hated in displaced persons camps, he averred. International relief organization pays the way over for immigrants. From there on it is the responsibility of the sponsor to see the person is able to get on.

In closing, Mr. McTavish said countries who had opened their doors to immigrants had prospered. He asked that Prince Rupert Rotarians give the matter careful consideration.

He visited among other places Whitehorse, Anchorage and Ketchikan.

N. L. Jones made the round trip to Ketchikan aboard the Prince Rupert yesterday and sailed last evening on a holiday visit to Vancouver and Victoria. Mr. Jones had never been in Ketchikan before and in his brief visit there saw most of the city. Unlike Prince Rupert, one is right in town as soon as he leaves the steamer. Ketchikan is compact, and it looked like busy times for everyone.

CHIROPRACTIC FOR HEALTH

WATCH YOUR STEP

As we get older it becomes more and more important for us to watch our step. In childhood and youth we can take falls and jolts in our stride and scarcely notice them. As the body thickens and stiffens a misstep that results in a sudden jar or twist can be serious. And the most serious thing about it is that we seldom realize its far-reaching effects.

Just as a carelessly thrown lighted match or cigarette stub can cause a million dollar fire, so may a careless step start forces that result in chronic disease. A standard question asked by Chiropractors of a new patient is whether the patient can recall having had a severe jar or fall. In many cases the patient can recall such an accident, but it was "some time ago and such a little thing that it couldn't possibly have anything to do with my present condition."

The Chiropractor explains that the fall or jar displaced a vertebra, causing pressure on spinal nerves, and interfering with the flow of vital energy over the nerves. Lacking this energy some part or parts of the body ceased to function normally, and symptoms of impaired health began to appear.

When the vertebra which started the trouble is restored to its normal position, and the nervous system is again operating efficiently, Nature will in time restore the body to normal health.

Baseball—
Clothiers Score Win

Commercials on Short End of 6 to 4 Score

In a well played game last night at Moosevee Park, Abel & Odowes were able to squeeze a narrow 6 to 4 victory over Commercial Hotel. The game featured some of the smartest fielding and hitting of the season on both teams.

There was no score by either team until the bottom of the second when Abel & Odowes' first man up, Cornwall, was safe on a hit followed by Arney's hit, but when Cornwall tried to come home he was tagged out at the plate. Dunbar followed with a hit to score Arney, and Sharpe hit safely to score Dunbar. Vuckovich flied out and Ciccone came through with a hit out Sharpe, who was on second, tried to steal home and was caught on a rundown between third base and home to end the scoring with the Haberdashers ahead 2-0.

Commercials were able to break into the scoring column in the top of the fifth when McDonald was safe on an error, going to second on a throw-in, and Spring was out on first but McDonald tried to steal third base and was caught out. Rosedale was safe on an error and Sinclair grounded out.

The Clothiers came back in their half of the fifth on a hit by Ciccone followed by a hit by Hartwig who scored Ciccone. Dahl struck out and Cornwall came through with a line drive to score Hartwig while Arney struck out to make the score 4 to 1 in favor of Abel & Odowes.

In the seventh inning, Commercial Hotel was able to get another run back when McDonald lined one out and Spring followed with a hard hit ball for a three base hit to score McDonald. Rosedale, next man up, was out and Ciccone weakened to walk Shier and D. Scherk to load the bases. Sinclair flied out and Windle grounded out to end the uprising.

Abel and Odowes scored another run in their end of the seventh when Sunberg hit but was forced at second by Hartwig. Dahl came through with a hit followed by Cornwall's fourth hit of the game and Hartwig scored to make the count 5-2 for Abel & Odowes.

In the top of the eighth Commercial came through again with Ewart getting a hit but was out on S. Scherk's fielder's choice. Then McDonald came through with a lovely three base hit to score S. Scherk. Spring struck out and Rosedale came through with a hit to score McDonald, and D. Scherk grounded out to end the inning.

Abel & Odowes came back in their half of the eighth with another run to make the score read 6 to 4 in favor of Abel & Odowes. In the top of the 9th Commercial went down one, two three to end the game.

Ray Reflects and Reminisces

On August 4, 1914, the Daily News said that, while Great Britain was mobilizing, she had not yet joined in the European War. France had already scored a victory. Lord Kitchener declared his belief the war would not exceed a duration of eighteen months. The News ran special editions, for there was intense interest here. It was expected the Prince George would become a hospital ship.

This is still the tourist season and sometimes one wishes it wasn't, particularly around 9 a.m. when store refuse is being carted away because there is no lane, and several score loud-mouthed dogs (but each with a collar) try to bark their amorous heads off.

It looks like a prospect of Canadian ground troops going to Korea but possibly not earlier than the New Year. The logical route is through Prince Rupert if time and distance are to be saved, and each is a matter of importance in war. So is shelter, in the shape of plenty warehouse space. Prince Rupert has that, also.

Despite all the alarms and lamentations, the high cost of living and losses and crosses, Skeena still stays a first rate bet. Yes, there's work for anyone wanting it. Look at the sea of beer and shiploads of hard liquor consumed annually and doubt the amount of spare hard cash coming from the wage scales.

A bottle of wine in France costs the same as a bottle of ginger ale in Canada, says Gerard Dubois, French commercial attache now on the cost. Expenses, generally, are lower. And think what you get in the way of refreshments! That is, unless one prefers a good strong shot of ginger ale.

Keep Road In Better Shape

Recommendations Made by Chamber of Commerce Highway Committee

More frequent grading, more adequate ditching and more attention to holes, ruts and soft spots should be carried out by the contractors, Wood and McClay, while the work of reconstruction of the highway between Prince Rupert and the Galloway Rapids is going on, says a memorandum which has been submitted to the contractors by the highway committee of the Prince Rupert Chamber of Commerce. The recommendations follow an inspection trip over the road which was made last week by a representative group headed by delegates of the Chamber of Commerce and city council.

Following are recommendations which have been submitted to the contractors by the Chamber of Commerce highway committee of which Hugo Kraupner is chairman:

"Grading.—This should be carried on more frequently and consistently than in the past.

"Ditching.—Several short stretches of the road are frequently flooded through lack of drainage, and ditching should be carried out on a larger scale where needed.

"Repairs.—Since large holes, ruts and soft spots develop quite frequently, especially in places where equipment is working, more attention should be paid to such bad spots by filling in such places with additional rock or gravel more frequently to eliminate dangerous hazards to motor vehicles having to pass over such places. Approaches to section still under construction or partly finished should also receive more attention.

"Notice to Public.—It is also recommended that you make a suitable announcement to the motoring public, through the local press, explaining certain of your difficulties, what you are doing to keep the road in a passable condition, and at the same time making your own suggestions as to how drivers of motor vehicles using the road can cooperate.

"Since it was unanimously agreed by all members of the inspection party, including yourself, that increased maintenance is the solution to better driving conditions, the highway committee will carry out instructions received and approach the Department of Public Works for possible assistance and co-operation without delay."

Burning Vessel Sinks—

Three Docks Threatened

Spectacular Fire on Harbor Ends Career of Chartered Fishery Patrol Vessel

After threatening three oil docks yesterday afternoon, the flaming 52-foot fisheries patrol vessel Gikumi II, Capt. William Ness, went to its watery grave in forty fathoms off the Imperial Oil Company dock at 3:15. The boat was owned by the captain and on charter to the Department of Fisheries.

Pat Wilson was standing in front of the Prince Rupert Rowing and Yacht Clubhouse about 2:45 when he heard an explosion. Looking across to the Standard Oil Company of British Columbia dock he saw the Gikumi burst into flames and immediately called the fire department.

Capt. Ness and Raymond Anderson, who were aboard the boat at the time of the explosion managed to get off with burns. Anderson had just signed on the boat as cook the day before, and was in the cabin at the time. He managed to get off with a severely burned arm. Capt. Ness received bad burns about the face. Both men were taken to Prince Rupert General Hospital for treatment. Ness was released later in the afternoon, but Anderson was kept there.

Meanwhile men on the dock were fighting the blaze with foamite extinguishers they obtained from nearby boats. Len Youngman, who was nearby with his small boat, threw a line to the burning craft and held it off from the dock. Noticing the commotion from his missionary boat Northern Cross, Capt. Rev. C. L. Lomas and Engineer D. Martin both grasped fire extinguishers and started in Martin's speedboat toward the conflagration. By the time they got there and delivered the extinguishers it was decided advisable to pull the burning craft from the dock. They threw a line to Youngman and helped him tow the Gikumi to midstream where they abandoned her.

A northwest breeze started blowing the boat toward the British American Oil Company dock. The first big explosion occurred about 100 yards off that dock. One side of the stern was blown out and flames shot in a straight line high in the air. The boat then started towards the Imperial Oil dock and a second large explosion occurred forming a pattern similar to pictures of atomic bomb explosions. It blew a hole in the port side of the stern.

The floating vessel kept moving toward the Imperial dock. Johnny and Pat Wilson came up in their motorboat and threw their anchor on the Gikumi. After paying out about 100 feet of line they kept the blazing hull away from the shore while the lighthouse tender Alberni and the dry dock fire barge, brought up by the Skidegate fishing boat West Jack, Capt. Clifford Jones, played their hoses on the flames. The Wilson boys lost anchor and line. Shortly after the weight of water began to fill the Gikumi, she settled to the point where she began shipping water through the holes in the stern. With a final thrust of her nose into the air, she slipped stern first into the deep water.

Fisheries officers Joseph Fielding and Norman McLeod were on the dock about to board the boat when the fire broke out. They were uninjured.

The Gikumi II was assigned to the Principe Channel area and had been in port for fuel and supplies. She was about to leave port when the fire occurred.

Mrs. T. W. Brown and daughter Anne sail tonight on the Camosun for the Queen Charlotte Islands. There they intend to spend a holiday at Limberlost Lodge.
