Checking Up On Commies In Alaska

ANCHORAGE, Alaska —Two members of the House of Representatives committee on Education and Labor will open an inquiry here Monday into communist activities in Alaska.

Representative Charles Kersten of Wisconsin and Representative O. C. Fisher of Texas flew to Nome yesterday.

"We know the same pattern was followed here as in the United States," said Kersten. "Communists attempt to gain leadership in strategic unions. It does not mean that the majority of the membership of such unions are Communists."

FRANCE TACKLES MONEY TROUBLES

PARIS —The labor troubles of the French government are waning slightly and it moved today to take action against money troubles.

Some change in the value of the franc is expected to be discussed today.

Devaluation will hinge on a meeting of French, British, Dutch and Belgian finance ministers.

Anti-Reds In Control

C.C.L. is Consistent in its Election of Officers

TORONTO. —The Canadian Congress of Labor completed a week-long tramping of Communists today with the re-election of an anti-Red administration headed by A. R. Mosher, 67, Ottawa, who has been president since the C.C.L. was formed in 1940. Mosher was re-elected over C. S. Jackson of Toronto, Canadian director of the Reddish United Electrical Workers' Union. The vote was 564 to 154.

Others re-elected include Pat Conroy of Ottawa, secretary-treasurer; Alex McAulane, Vancouver, first vice-president, and Sol Spival, Toronto, second vice-president.

The "Clean out the Communists" stand by Mosher was the keynote of the whole convention and it was upheld by the Congress majority in the election.

He said that he was, of course, not speaking with knowledge of what the investigating board will decide.

FEDERAL LABOR CODE ENDORSED

- (2) Criticizing the Canada Shipping Act which was denounced as "iniquitous and monstrous."

"As Maine Goes..." Seen Likely In This Election

Old Political Saw Has Not Been Followed Since 1928, But Republicans Hopeful This Year

By CLYDE BLACKBURN
Canadian Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON—It's long been a part of United States political jargon that "As Maine goes, so goes the nation."

This year the saying likely will be right. And that's something of a change in presidential balloting.

Maine hasn't been on the right side since 1928 when Republican Herbert Hoover went to the White House.

The northeasternmost state, bordered on the north by Quebec and on the east by New Brunswick, has always held its Congressional elections two months before the other states which combine their presidential and Congressional ballots.

Thus the Maine Congressional elections have been looked upon as a September straw-in-the-wind to indicate how the elections are likely to go elsewhere in November.

WHIGS STARTED IT
Who first said "As Maine goes, so goes the nation," isn't known definitely. Historians agree, however, that it started in 1849 when the Whigs surprised themselves by sending their candidate to Congress and carried on to elect William Henry Harris as president, breaking a long Democratic hold on Maine and the White House.

President Roosevelt's record-breaking series of four Democratic wins in a row made the old Maine saying look silly. Maine was Republican throughout. James Farley is credited with commenting that it should be changed to "As Maine goes, so goes Vermont." That was in 1936 when Roosevelt won every state but those two.

Maine has already elected its Congressional delegation this

C.P.R. COMMENT ON RATE CASE

MONTREAL—Asked with respect to a Privy Council decision on the appeal of the seven provinces from judgment of the Board of Transport Commissioners, G. A. Walker, K.C., chairman of the Canadian Pacific Railway Company, said:

"The Privy Council has dealt with the appeal of the seven provinces and it is not our practice to comment on the decision of a responsible tribunal, either favorably or unfavorably. We are prepared again to justify the position we took before the Board of Transport Commissioners on the previous hearing which lasted over 18 months and in which everything was said that could be said in opposition to the railways' application by able representatives of all seven protesting provinces. But our continually mounting costs wait upon no one's judgment.

"All we now ask is that there be an early determination of the issue and this is of as much importance to the public as it is to the railways. Unless a proper balance between railway costs and railway revenues can be speedily restored, the development and improvement of railway services which should accompany the enormous industrial expansion of Canada will inevitably be retarded."

Is Palestine Truce Ended

Warfare Breaks Out Anew Between Jews and Arabs

TEL AVIV —Jews and Egyptians hammered each other in Southern Palestine today with air and land attacks which threatened to shatter the truce in the Holy Land. Heavy casualties are reported in the new violence which is said to be the gravest in three months.

Whether or not the new outbreak constitutes a mere fracture of the truce or a resumption of full scale war will be known within twelve hours.

Official sources in Cairo said that Egypt had sent an urgent note to the United Nations Security Council reporting that the Jews were violating the Palestine truce. Informants said that Jewish planes had raided Aiarish airport on the Egyptian-Palestine frontier.

United Nations officials at Haifa announced later today that Israel had rejected a cease-fire order issued to Israeli to end fighting with Egyptian forces at Negev in the southern desert of Palestine.

Canuck Leads Talk On United Nations

PARIS —Ninety-five men and women civil servants from 17 countries including Canada are learning about the United Nations at a one-month "workshop seminar" directed by Gardar Widdington, Toronto. Daily until October 23 the students will attend committee and plenary sessions at the Palais de Chaillot and listen to U.N. lectures and discussions. Only Canadian among the students is Mary Finlayson of Ottawa. Widdington, former vice-president of Pickering College in Ontario, is attached to the U.N. Bureau of Personnel.

JACK MCGREGOR IS VISITING CITY

Noted Soldier Arrives Unexpectedly — Welcomed at Legion

Arriving unannounced on an unexpected visit to Prince Rupert after many years absence, Col. John McGregor V.C., M.C., D.C.M., called at the Canadian Legion yesterday to see if he "could find any of his old comrades of World War I around." Col. McGregor, who enlisted from Terrace in World War I, is honorary first vice-president of the local Legion branch.

News of his presence soon spread and it was not long before many of Col. McGregor's old comrades, as well as many veterans of World War II, had gathered and he became the guest of honor for the rest of the evening.

Col. McGregor is one of the real old timers of Prince Rupert, coming here during railway construction days in 1910 and leaving here in 1914 with one of the first contingents from this port to take his part in the First World War in which he so greatly distinguished himself. He commanded Second Battalion, Canadian School in World War II and for a time was stationed here. He now makes his home at Powell River.

Air Express and Freight Rate Cut

Reduction in air express and freight rates between Prince Rupert and Vancouver will become effective on November 1, it is announced by Canadian Pacific Airlines. The express rate will be reduced from 26c to 21c per pound with a minimum charge of $1. The freight rate will be cut from $12.35 to $10.23 per hundred pounds with a minimum of twenty-five pounds.

An independent daily newspaper devoted to the upbuilding of Prince Rupert and all communities comprising northern and central British Columbia.

Not 'Unsatisfactory'

SEVEN PROVINCES of Canada which appealed to the federal cabinet against the twenty-one percent railway freight rate increase can rightfully feel satisfaction in the "partial victory" through the decision of the cabinet to send the matter back to the Board of Transport Commissioners for review.

Possibly, as Premier E. C. Manning of Alberta appears to fear, there may be no amelioration of the rates on reconsideration but certainly the return of the original 21 percent increase to the Transport Board for reconsideration will have some influence on the Board's approach to the hearing of the application for a further increase.

The cabinet's decision on the provinces' appeal amounts to the ordering of a "new trial" on the freight rates question. In spite of Premier Manning, that is far from "entirely unsatisfactory."

BRAVE NEW WORLD

THE UTOPIA pictured in Aldous Huxley's new book "Brave New World" is a society in which the popular dream of Progress has been made to come true in nightmarish reality.

Mr. Huxley places this scientific Utopia some six centuries in the future, but he says that today it seems quite possible that, if we can escape destruction by total atomic war, total erosion and mental breakdown, some kind of brave new world may come into being much sooner than he envisages in his book.

It is as well that we should realize the direction in which what we call "progress" in science, political economy and social planning are leading. "Progress," says Mr. Huxley, "is the word that stands for a fact and at the same time for a myth."

There is no fantasy about that, for we have seen it enacted in real life in Nazi Germany and it is still being performed in the Union of Soviet Socialist Republics.

"This brave new world," says Mr. Huxley, "is the materialist's dream of the Earthly Paradise. But it is the Earthly Paradise at the price of the total loss, for the great majority, of personal liberty and its corollary, personal responsibility, of the very possibility of wisdom and spiritual insight."

BIRTH RATE IS MOUNTING

OTTAWA. — Canada's birth rate broke into new high ground during 1947. The Dominion Bureau of Statistics reports that the rate continued its general upward trend of war-time and post-war years by rising to 28.6 per thousand population, the highest figure since 27.4 was reached following the first world war.

Lt. Cdr. J. D. McRae, officer commanding H.M.C.S. Chatham, who has been in Ottawa on naval business, is expected to return to the city next week.

BEN HOLM, Kincairdineshire, Scotland — Two sisters who loved a garden in their childhood have left £10,000 ($40,000) for its preservation.

The Misses Jane and Diana Myres were the daughters of a former minister of Benholm, Rev. A. S. Myres. His garden was a show place until the family moved away.

Not until they were about 80 years old did the two daughters revisit the garden. They were shocked to find weeds and rank grass where they had imagined flowers. The garden had proved too big for succeeding ministers who, with small stipends, were unable to hire a gardener and had not time to fight the weeds alone.

The sisters, when they wrote their wills, directed that the residue of their estates, estimated at £10,000, should form "The Benholm Manse Garden Trust," and should be used to restore the garden and pay the wages of a full-time gardener.

Ironically, the Benholm manse is no longer used as a minister's residence. The congregation of Benholm and Johnshaven were joined a year ago and a church committee decreed the minister of the joint charge should occupy the manse at Johnshaven.

LABOR AND LOVE

Labor deprived of the spirit of love is painful servitude. Earliest labor was for love. In fact, God expressed his most sublime love for mankind in creative labor—no wages but those of love.

A true sense of love demands expression in labor for love is in itself creative. It always expresses itself in effort, eternal effort. The labors of an ever-loving God are eternal.

Modern society, our present economic system, began when man sought self-realization apart from Nature which until then had dominated the personality of man. When man parted from Nature he sought absolute self-existence and brought into being a new socialistic character.

Capital, as we know it in our economic system today, has replaced the almost exhausted bounties of Nature and today it is money or capital, call it what you will, that guarantees the wherewithal of existence.

Labor far too often today is merely mechanical, not to supply demand but for the speculative competition of an economic system that has placed money where loving creation through labor should rule.

What's New at CIVIC CENTRE

The Civic Centre Badminton Club is giving a helping hand to the younger players in the community. At a meeting of the executive on Wednesday evening it was decided to open up membership in the adult club to teen-age employed and teenage students who are taking their first year university through the Senior Matriculation at the local High School.

Another break for teen-agers was the decision to hold a monthly tournament in the auditorium for teen-agers with a 12-man team from the adult group playing with a 12-man team from the teen-agers Badminton Club.

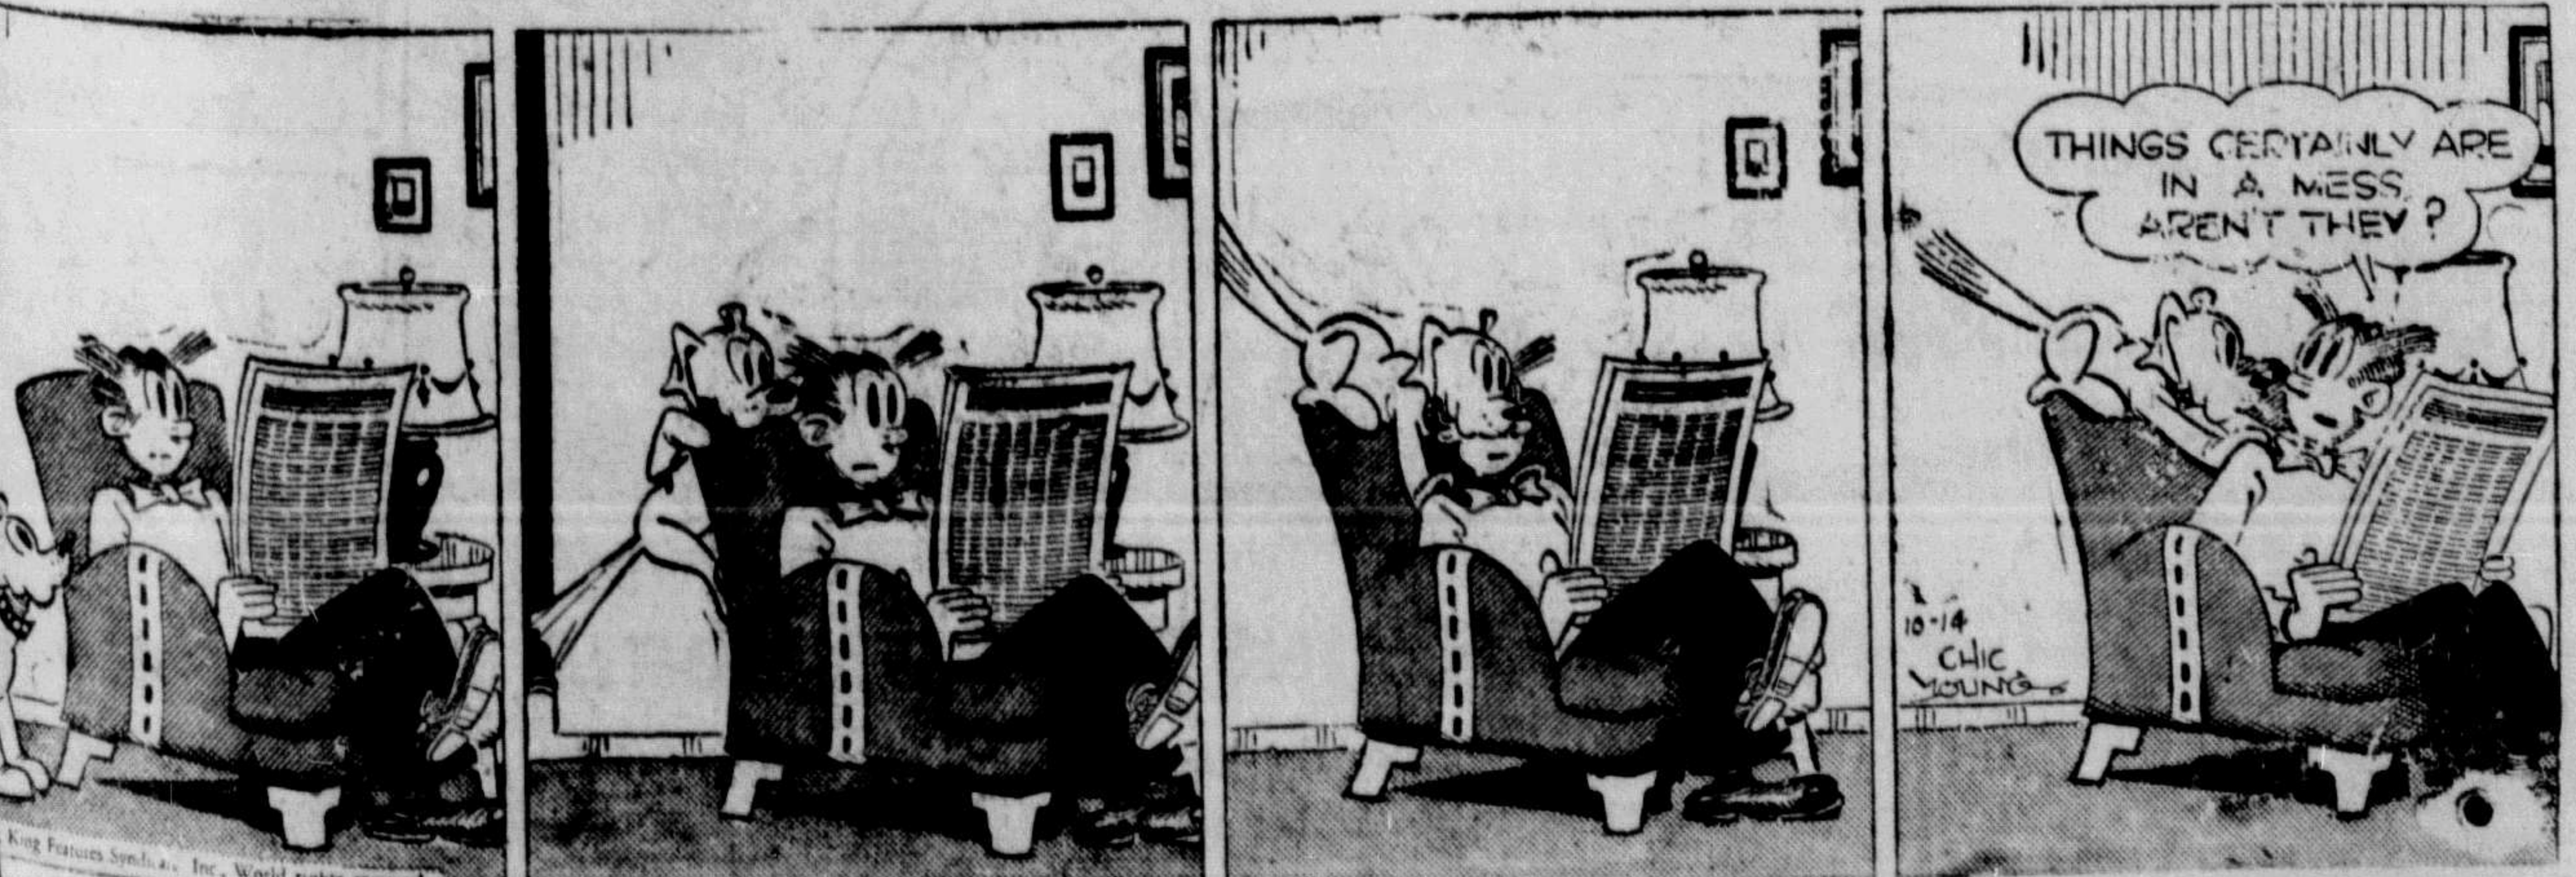

These two groups will mix and play constructively rather than competitively. To make sure that every teen-ager gets a chance to play in the tournaments, it is planned that no player will be on the teen-age team on two consecutive dates.

A new group of hobbyists met in the Civic Centre hobby room on Friday afternoon to receive instruction from Mrs. G. S. Reade in the art of shellcraft. While this is not a new craft it is indeed a most fascinating and profitable one and any teen-age girls wishing to receive the expert advice from Mrs. Reade can, by joining the classes, obtain the fundamentals necessary to a beginner.

BOOST AID TO STUDENTS

Terrace School Board in Session
TERRACE—Financial assistance to Terrace students who must attend outside High Schools to obtain the courses required was increased from $10 to $14 at the October meeting of the Terrace School Board. Eligible students must apply to the secretary in order to obtain the grant.

The Board gave third reading to a bylaw concerning financing new school accommodation. The bylaw now has the approval of the Department of Education and will be presented to the electors as a plebiscite in the municipal elections.

Decision was made to install an electric fire bell in the primary division of the Terrace School and to purchase a film projector for the High School. Telephones are to be installed in the primary and senior divisions of the elementary school.

Give your compost heap a flat top with a depression in the centre so it will catch rain and help in decomposition.

Dig two spades' depths down in preparing a bed for lilies, which must be planted deep, particularly the stem rooting types.

Bulbs need plant food. Before spading a bed, spread over it 4 pounds of balanced chemical plant food for each 100 square feet, and spade it under.

GARDEN NOTEBOOK

HOW TO SAVE VEGETABLES WHEN FREEZING THREATENS

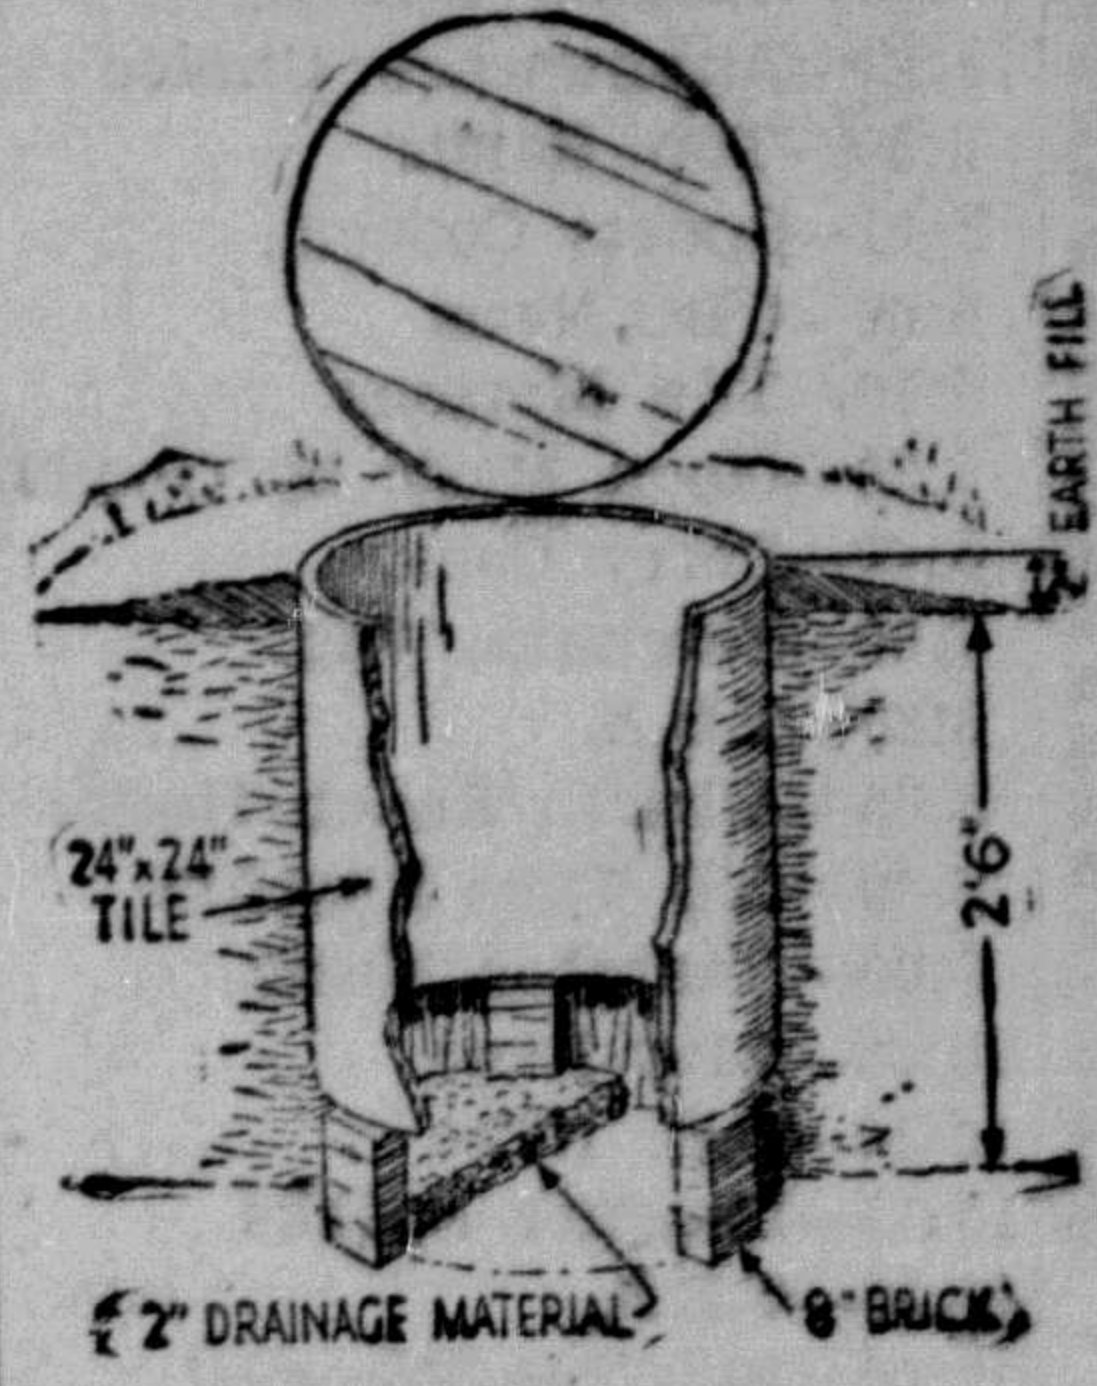

How to Build Root Cellar With Drain Tile

When freezing weather threatens the vegetable garden, there is usually a considerable quantity of vegetables in the ground which can easily be stored in good condition until used.

The time to harvest them for storage is as late as possible, with safety. Most vegetables may be left in the garden until freezing weather. Temperatures which freeze the soil will not injure beets, carrots, cabbage and turnips so long as it thaws out the next day; but they should be lifted before the ground begins to remain frozen all day.

Onions, squash and pumpkins can be kept in any dry shelter for two or three months without worrying about the temperature. But even these vegetables will keep best in a temperature under 40 degrees. Cut the stems of the squash and pumpkins close to the plant, and hang onions in braids, or store in shallow racks, so the air will circulate freely about them.

Parsnips and salsify may be dug, sorted into lots sufficient for a family serving and each lot placed in a paper bag. These bags may be placed in a box and left outdoors, protected only from the rain. Freezing will improve the flavor of these vegetables and they are easily removed for serving as needed.

Carrots, beets, turnips, rutabagas, potatoes, apples and cabbage may be stored in a shed or unheated garage for so long as the temperature does not fall below 10 degrees above zero. Place them in boxes packed in soil, or peat moss, but not sand, or pack them in cardboard boxes which are placed in larger boxes, and surrounded with shredded paper, sawdust or shavings for insulation.

To protect these vegetables from the lowest winter temperatures, a convenient receptacle is a 24-inch drain tile sunk into the earth and closed with an insulated cover, which may be opened at will for the removal

PROTESTANT RALLY IN CATHOLIC CAPITAL—Oswald Smith, Canadian representative of the Youth for Christ International (a Protestant organization), showed at left as he addressed a Y.C.I. rally in Rome. The meeting was held coincidentally with a great demonstration of Catholics celebrating the 80th anniversary of the founding of the Young Men's Catholic Action, and bad feeling resulted. Catholic youths attempted to blockade all avenues leading to the Protestant rally and only diplomatic police work averted clashes.

TO ORGANIZE ALL INTERIOR

Their objective being to organize all native villages between Prince Rupert and Prince George under the banner of the Native Brotherhood of British Columbia, Edward Bolton, northern vice-president; Ed Nahaney, southern business agent and Vincent Wells, northern business agent, left on last evening's train for a two weeks' tour of the central interior. They are travelling by train as far as Hazelton, where they have business to attend to, and from there they will proceed to Burns Lake by car.

Extension of the organization in the central interior is part of a campaign to bring every native community in the province into the Brotherhood and thus make possible even stronger representations to Ottawa with a view to obtaining better treatment for the native population including the granting of the franchise. Villages which have become affiliated with the Brotherhood, it is also contended, have been able to obtain better advancement and progress by improved liaison with the Department of Indian Affairs.

MYSTERY THRILLER
HERE NEXT WEEK

Robert Taylor, Audrey Totter and Herbert Marshall in "High Wall"

Thrills, romance and suspense are the combining elements in the murder - mystery picture "High Wall" featuring Robert Taylor, Audrey Totter and Herbert Marshall, which is to open at the Capitol Theatre at the midnight show Sunday, continuing Monday and Tuesday.

Robert Taylor plays the role of a supposed homicidal maniac, his wife having been found strangled to death. Placed in the mental ward of a prison hospital, he goes through an agony of indecision as to whether or not he committed the killing. Audrey Totter plays a young psychiatrist who makes tests that prove Taylor's sanity and innocence. When he discovers that the real murderer is Herbert Marshall, his wife's employer, the crime is re-enacted before the police by means of narco-synthesis.

Others in the supporting cast include Dorothy Patrick, as the victim, H. B. Warner, Warner Anderson, Moroni Olsen, John Ridgely, Morris Ankrum, Elizabeth Risdon and Vince Barnett.

Q. What is considered the standardized fee for the bridegroom to give the minister for a wedding ceremony?

A. There is no standardized fee. The bridegroom should give according to his means, but never less than five dollars.

Q. Which one should go first when a man and a woman are leaving a public dining room?

A. The woman should precede. If they must pass through a closed door, she should stand aside and allow her escort to open it.

Q. Is it proper to seat a husband and his wife side by side at the dinner table?

A. No; it is customary to separate them.

Salmon Season Definitely Over—Codders Still Out—Whales at Play—Discoverer at Dry Dock

Closure of the Queen Charlotte Islands trolling grounds as of midnight Friday brought to an end the 1948 salmon fishing on the north coast. The season, as far as gillnet fishing was concerned, was one of the most successful in years although, in the seining and trolling departments, it varied.

The Queen Charlotte Island trolling area was the last to be closed by the Department of Fisheries in the interests of conservation and in recent weeks there were only a few hardy fishermen out. Fish camps on the off-shore islands wound up their activities this week.

Fishing activity now is confined to about a dozen black codders which probably will be active until the middle of November when the landing of licensed halibut will terminate. The black cod fishermen are allowed to land 14 percent of their cargo in halibut and when this is stopped by the International Fisheries Commission, black cod fishing will end. Medium halibut is bringing 22 cents a pound currently.

A few beam trawlers also are out and two or three cargoes a week are being landed here.

The American boat Discoverer, which was salvaged this week from Lewis Island where it went aground in a gale last Saturday, is now on the pontoons at the dry dock waiting decision by the underwriters as to whether it will be repaired or not.

The Discoverer was brought in Wednesday afternoon by The Armour Salvage Co. and is in bad shape although observers say that she is certainly worth repairing. Her bottom planking is ground to shreds in places by the rocks and her keel is damaged but her stout construction saved her from being a total loss.

The 93-foot Discoverer, owned by Lawrence Erickson of the American Meat Co. of Ketchikan, was built in Seattle in 1933. Her ribs are or heavy, sawn oak and her planking is of fir. Her repair, if it is carried out, will be costly. The boat was insured for $30,000.

Landing of Alaskan fish here this week were light, although the Ketchikan packers Sydney and Dagney continue to make their regular trips. The Robert Eugene also was in early in the week. However, the large freighter Coastal Rambler is expected in the near future with a big cargo for transshipment to the United States by rail.

The Waterhouse line freighter Chilliwack had a busy day here Friday. The Chilliwack brought in 150 tons of coal for Albert and McCaffery and several thousand feet of lumber for Philpott, Evitt. She then loaded frozen fish at the Atlin dock, later moving to the ocean dock where she picked up 4,000 cases of Canadian canned salmon. Later, she took a smaller amount of salmon from the Francis Millard cannery for the south.

Fishermen who have been black coddling off Langara Island this fall tell of a large number of whales which were in evidence during the mating season earlier in the fall. The big mammals group up for this annual function and often make nuisances of themselves to the fishermen by crowding close to the boats. Some of the amorous males turn affectionate if mistaken attention to the boats thinking they are whales and the skippers make tracks out of the area, usually to be pursued by some determined Moby Dick. The fact that no whaling activity has been carried on for several years until this season has been bringing the whale population back in numbers that are said to be unusual. The Western Whaling Co. which started operations in 1902 and accounted for the capture of the skipper. Otis C. Young, former of Vancouver, now of Vancouver, on a special expedition with a member of the Dr. Neal Carter station, spent Japan last year.

WHEN YOU BUY A WATCH
Keep this in mind—you mustn't expect to get something "high grade" unless you pay a decent price.
By a "decent price" we don't mean that you really must pay a lot of money.
Watches haven't advanced as much as lots of other things.
At least ours haven't—we bought the bulk of our stock quite a while ago.
Railroad watches have actually been selling as low as before the war.
But for a reliable watch it isn't safe to go below $30.00 to $40.00.
If you come here that much will get you a watch good for 15 to 20 years.
If you've been thinking of watches even a little bit, it's time you called on us.
