THE SHOW'S OVER—FOR THE PRESENT — Gathered to hear their leaders in East Berlin deride the "war-mongering Imperialists" of the West, these German youths found it wet and cold in their shorts and shirts. British House Cheers Attlee

LONDON — Both parties cheered Premier Attlee Tuesday after he had read, slowly and with solemnity, the attitude of the government respecting how United Nations regard the Communist attack on southern Korea. The United Nations could not afford to take any stand other than unity and strength and the will to demonstrate power when deliberate aggression showed itself, Attlee said.

Northern Forces Advance - Americans Lose Two Planes

Thinks U.S. Is Going Too Far

MOSCOW — In a front page editorial on President Truman's action in the Far East, Pravda asked today if the United States has not gone too far.

Calling the United States action in intervening in the Korean war "without precedent in international relations in the post-war period," the newspaper charged that "this is one more manifestation of the fact that American ruling circles are not confining themselves to preparations for aggression but have gone over to direct acts of aggression."

Pravda's statement is believed to be an interim expression from the Soviet government.

More U.S. Arms Move To Asia

WASHINGTON — The United States poured an increasing volume of war materials into its Pacific pipelines today to reinforce the new fighting front drawn against the Communist aggression in Asia.

Now that American planes and warships are in combat action around Korea, arms are being urgently dispatched to Indo China and the Philippines, and Formosa is being screened by the United States Navy.

The next major move in the grim contest over spreading Soviet Communism is up to the Kremlin. Administration officials are agreed that as the situation now stands, following the Truman decision to meet the Korean challenge head on, the little group of powerful men who run Russia and its satellites holds the key to world war or peace. There appeared no doubt among top officials that whatever the outcome of the present crisis, they had done the right thing in deciding to go to the support of South Korea, once the United Nations Security Council had ordered the Northern invaders out.

While Truman took a calculated risk of war with Russia in making his decision on Korea, his advisers argue that any policy smacking of appeasement would have been even riskier by encouraging the Kremlin to count on American weakness, not only in Korea, but elsewhere.

C. F. Viers appeared at the local game office today to claim the bounty for a wolf shot near Rainbow Lake on the highway.

Fisherman Is Missing

A 40-year-old North Vancouver fisherman Jack Ross is believed drowned near York Island in Wales Passage about 45 miles north of Prince Rupert. B.C. Police here disclosed today that his gillnet boat had been found on York Island yesterday afternoon. It contained a net and drum.

Ross left Inverness Cannery Sunday afternoon for gillnet sockeye fishing up the Naas River. The B.C. Police P.W.L. 15 is investigating at the scene.

FLOODS RECEDING

VANCOUVER — Columbia and Fraser River flood waters have dropped another half a foot since yesterday, the gauges at Trail and Mission show.

Watson Island Breaks Again

Watson Island, in last night's baseball fixture against Commercials, followed normal procedure by playing good baseball for the early innings and working the crowd into a state of thinking they were fielding a team at last. But the usual break came when the pressure was on in the third frame and three men scored on a muffed fly to start the Commercials on their way to a 5-0 victory.

Commercials were able to get four men on base in the first two innings but they were held scoreless. In the third inning Shier started off for the Commercials with a hit. Marshall went down on a play from second to first. Sinclair walked when hit by the pitcher, and D. Scherk got to first base on a fielder's choice. With bases loaded, Hawryluk let drive with a long fly to left field, which was missed by Carroll, allowing all three base runners to score.

From there on the game deteriorated and Commercials were allowed another run in the fifth and one in the sixth.

Robinson, in spite of lack of support from his teammates, pitched steady, heady ball throughout. Eleven hits were counted against him but it is doubtful if the count would have been that high had he had backing in the field.

Hawryluk for the Commercials allowed only four hits and no runs in the whole game. He has been turning in fine performances all season. He took a bad thump on the arm in an early game that put him out of action for a while but, since his return, his efforts at both first base and on the mound have been creditable.

The most spectacular play of last night's game came in the fifth inning, when Sid Scherk popped one out toward third base. Magrus ran out from behind the bat and got his mitt under it but it bounced in the air. However, Robinson had come over from pitcher's box and snagged the ball before it reached the ground.

TOKYO (CP) — Seoul, capital of embattled southern Korea, tonight had fallen to the invading northern Communists and the capital's seaport seemed undefended. Pilots returning from American bombing attacks said that the capital was in Red hands. Landing at a southern Japanese air base, pilots said they saw heavy fighting but were unable to determine just how the battle was going beyond Seoul although there were indications that the Communist drive was proceeding. The Republican forces, it was thought, might set up a new defence line about 75 miles south of Seoul.

United States air force suffered its first losses in the Korean fighting today when two planes—a fighter and bomber—were shot down by the Communists. The crews are, however, reported safe.

UNITED NATIONS IS UNDER TEST

WASHINGTON, D.C. — Secretary of State Dean Acheson, in a statement today, saw the present crisis in Korea as a test of whether the United Nations would survive.

Mariner and Wife Missing All Week

VICTORIA — A retired mariner and his wife today were feared drowned in the Gulf of Georgia. Missing since last week end are Capt. and Mrs. George Ward of Galiano Island.

Two Indians yesterday found their fishing boat drifting near the east coast of Galiano. Capt. Ward once sailed a Chinese Junket to the Pacific Coast from the Orient.

THE WEATHER

Synopsis

Although the weather picture over British Columbia and to the west continues somewhat unsettled, it would appear that most regions will enjoy sunny, warm weather today and again tomorrow. The large disturbance which gave the cloud and rain to the coastal sections yesterday has now moved northward and is causing rain over the Charlottes this morning. Some cloud is expected to move into northern and central B.C. today and tonight. A few showers or thunderstorms are also expected in these northern regions this afternoon.

Extensive banks of fog which have been forming over cold coastal waters will move on to the land tonight. However, the fog should retreat to the water areas tomorrow morning.

Forecast

North Coast Region—Cloudy today and Thursday. Sunny intervals tomorrow. Showers today. Fog banks over water drifting ashore at night. Little change in temperature. Winds light except southerly (20) over open waters today. Lows tonight and highs tomorrow—at Port Hardy, Sandspit and Prince Rupert, 50 and 60.

An emergent meeting of Tsimpsean Lodge No. 58 A.F. & A.M. will be held in the Masonic Temple on Thursday, June 29th, 1950, at 2:15 p.m. for the purpose of conducting a funeral service for our late Wor. Bro. Joseph Ralph Morin. Members of Tye Lodge and sojourning brethren are invited to attend. A public service will be held in the First Presbyterian Church at 3 p.m.

W. D. VANCE, Secretary.

This World War Three?

THE United States is at war with North Korea. That is the fact now that American planes and warships are attacking the Korean communists as the latter endeavour to land on the coast of the Korean republic and try to interfere with the evacuation of Americans and other nationals from Seoul.

It is to be assumed that, since the British government has already endorsed the American action and that the United Nations security council is on the verge, if it has not already done so, of calling upon other powers to also send military aid to the Korean Republic, British, French and the rest may be expected soon to join in the action.

With the western powers now deciding that the line of further Communist aggression is to be drawn in Korea, the question of whether or not it shall be a shooting war instead of cold war seems up to Russia which, of course, is not, as yet, officially involved. It should soon be known whether this is World War III—the atomic war.

GOVERNMENT VINDICATED

ALTHOUGH the Korean crisis has robbed the Schuman plan for the pooling of western Europe's heavy industries of the headlines in the international news, the British Parliament has been able to have its talk about the matter and it was all settled yesterday with the Attlee government getting its expected vote of confidence on the handling of the matter.

The division notwithstanding, Labor government and Conservative opposition apparently felt very much the same on the matter. The government felt that it could not go into the Paris talks without committing itself to the support of the plan. The opposition proposed that Britain should go into the Paris conference without committing itself. The important thing was that both sides were agreed that there should be no advance commitment and that is the British attitude.

Time is beginning already to show that the government took sound ground when it decided at the outset that it could not endorse the Schuman plan with all its implications, the most important of which was that it would have lost its sovereignty over its most important industries, yielding control to a rather vaguely defined international body. The Labor government took exactly the same stand that any other party would probably have taken were it in power.

As for the United States, why should she have been annoyed at Britain not transferring its sovereign and democratic power over these industries to an unnamed board? Could it be conceived that United States would itself ever give up its private ownership and control of its steel and coal industries to such a board? Of course not although, it might be suggested, for sake of argument, that, if it was good for Britain to do so, it would be good for the United States.

Britain, while not taking actual part in the Paris talks, will, of course, take a keen interest for from them might well arise a closer federation of the western democracies with which Great Britain and the United States and Canada also could and would well co-operate.

Meantime, the conclusion, of course, is unhesitating: that, in the existing circumstances, a transfer of power as proposed is out of the question. The broader question is not a Party matter. No British Government, of whatever Party, would, or could have done otherwise than did Attlee.

Why then have other Governments been willing to do what the British Government has declined to do? That is their affair. Most of them are understood to have accepted the French assurance that the declaration does not in any way commit them—that it does not, in fact, mean what it very plainly says.

What they consider it to mean we shall presumably see as the Paris negotiations proceed. But it will be very surprising if we find that any of them (including the French) have in fact agreed to any real transfer of powers from their own Parliaments to an outside high authority, or to accept the decrees of that authority as binding on their citizens. If that proves to be so, the British Government's attitude will be fully justified.

SCRIPTURE PASSAGE FOR TODAY

The Lord shall preserve thee from all evil: he shall preserve thy soul. Psalm 121: 7.

As I See It

By ELMORE PHILPOTT WOMAN QUESTION

PORTLAND, Oregon:

The most interesting feature of last week's conference on international affairs was the round table discussion. The group I led contained about five men and twenty-five women. The men were school teachers or minor professors. The women were quite different in their backgrounds. There were some writing for credits on university courses. Some were just nice old ladies. Several were the kindly sort of American women who do all the work in welfare drives and all such enterprises. A few were war brides, or young refugees types originally from Europe.

THE LIVEST WIRES IN MY group were young married women. One was a Swiss born, French speaking little lady. Her eyes just gleamed with interest in the discussion. She got so excited that she could hardly wait her turn to pop up and have her say. It poured forth out of her with easy flow. Her speed was amazing, considering that she thought in French, then translated into English as she went along. At that she spoke English about twice as fast as most of us.

Another young woman, also a veteran's wife, was German born. She too is an eager participant. Her ideas were so different from the Swiss girl's that the rest of the groups got a real thrill out of it all.

We had a living demonstration of how national thought patterns have a way of expressing themselves.

ONE DISCUSSION WAS ON the race and color question. As our assignment concerns Europe, and as all the western European countries are old style imperialisms, governing many millions of colonial, non-white people, the importance of the question was self evident. We agreed, I think, that Communism's greatest challenge stems from its racial equality appeal and not from the economic base.

But here, in these United States, one is never far enough detached from the race and color question not to realize its gravity. You are wise to handle with care the emotional dynamic lying around—especially when the groups are so mixed.

THE LIVELIEST DISCUSSION we had was not on our agenda at all. I told these American women what British trade unionists had recently said, when brought over to learn the know-how of higher U.S. per-man-hour output.

They explained it by the U.S. wives. These drove their husbands very hard, said the Britishers in explanation of their own lower output. The American had to keep on the hop to keep his wife satisfied—that is, to earn enough for the family to keep up with the Joneses.

Strangely enough, most of the U.S. women in this group agreed that the critical Britishers were partly right—that relatively more American wives ARE good and husband drivers.

I HAVE HEARD THE ATTITUDE of American wives discussed by many alleged authorities. Many European visitors have the idea that a high percentage of American women are frustrated and dissatisfied with life in general—hence take it out on their husbands.

That seems to me only half or quarter or maybe only one-fifth of the whole truth. The average American woman is a pretty competent person. By inheritance and training she has capacities of very high order.

But the challenges that she ordinarily meets in life are puny, compared with her potentialities. She could do really big things—but hardly ever gets the chance to get out of the little local circle or family rut.

The job that she gets the chance to do is just not satisfying enough—after her two or three children reach school age.

LETTERBOX

THANKS TO DR. GREENE

Editor,
Daily News:
It has been brought to my attention that Dr. Greene, medical practitioner of our city, attended the late James Edward McLean, who committed suicide a few weeks ago while being treated for cancer, and that since October, 1949, Mr. McLean received regular treatment including an operation in February, 1950, and continuous treatment up to the time of his death, for which no charge was made by Dr. Greene. And in addition, prescriptions for drugs were furnished by Dr. Greene up to the time of deceased's death and further Dr. Greene kept in constant touch with the Cancer Clinic of B.C. on Mr. McLean's behalf, which denotes human sympathy and kindness, and is hereby gratefully acknowledged by myself. And further, if any statement in my letter of June 21 can be construed as imparting interference to the state of Mr. McLean's health or suffering by the physician who attended him, I hasten to say here to your interference was intended.

Therefore, I wish to publicly thank Dr. Greene for the service he rendered and apologize if any statement in my letter could be construed as an attack on the physician who attended the late Mr. McLean.

The wedding party and friends then moved on to the Canadian Legion Club 27 for cocktails and dinner, after which the happy couple sailed aboard the Canadian National Steamship Prince Rupert for an extended honeymoon to Vancouver and the lower mainland.

Farewell Party At Gyro Club

Members of the Prince Rupert Club honored W. M. Watts and L. M. Gordon, who are leaving the city shortly, with a stag party at the club last evening. There was a good-sized turnout of members and the feature of the evening was the making of presentations of inscribed wallets to both guests of honor.

The presentations were made by Club Secretary A. B. Brown who expressed feelings of regret at the loss of two popular and valued members. Mr. Watts and Mr. Gordon responded appreciatively saying that, while they were leaving the city, the associations of many years could not be easily severed and both expected to be back here on occasions to renew friendships and acquaintances.

W. F. Stone was in charge of the arrangements for the party.

Resolutions To Smithers

Financial Matters and Federal Aid to be Discussed—Daylight Saving Opposed
Consideration of resolutions to be placed before the Northern British Columbia municipalities meeting at Smithers tomorrow resulted in the following being approved by the local council Monday night for presentation at the meeting:
Amendment of the Municipal Elections Act to include as householders any persons of the full age of 21 years who have been resident in the municipality from the first day of January of the current year.
The establishment of a provincial assessment commission in order that assessments throughout the province be standardized.
That the provincial government be requested to draft a surfacing program to include all sections of arterial highways lying within the boundaries of municipalities.
That municipalities be restored the right to decide by referendum whether they want the mayor's term of office one or two years.
That municipalities be allowed to spend money received from tax sale property sales on capital improvements without reference to the Department of Municipal Affairs.
That the council be permitted to include non-profit schools in the tax exempt list.
To have the Dominion Government Aid Act, whereby moneys are placed at the disposal of municipalities in times of unemployment, reopened in order to save distress in times of possible unemployment.
To protest against daylight saving time for northern municipalities.
In addition the delegates were instructed to place the matter of allowing school teachers to run for civic office before the meeting for discussion.
Delegates appointed to attend the meeting were Mayor George Rudderham and Aldermen T. B. Black and H. F. Glassey. In addition, City Clerk H. D. Thain, secretary-treasurer of the association, will attend.

Natives Here Studying Act

District executive of the Native Brotherhood of British Columbia during recent days has been studying the amendments to the Indian Act which were deferred in Parliament last week, and has decided that some of them are not very satisfactory. Meetings have been held in Prince Rupert and at Sunnyside Cannery with Johnson Russ, district vice-president, in the chair.
Speaking on behalf of the executive, Mr. Russ mentioned as one of the amendments to which exception was taken that which would remove quarter white bloods as members of the native race. "Today," Mr. Russ told the Daily News, "not more than half the native population are full-blooded Indians. To remove those who are not full-blooded would mean a serious loss in numerical strength."
The Brotherhood, Mr. Russ continued, is also anxious that native schools should be along strictly non-denominational lines, conducted similarly to the provincial public schools with fully certified teachers.
As for the granting of the federal franchise to the natives, Mr. Russ stated that it is the feeling of the Brotherhood that there should be outright granting of the vote without the loss of aboriginal rights and taxation exemptions.
The case of the Indians in respect to the proposed amendments to the Indian Act will be brought to a head on July 2 when a banquet and meeting will be held by the Native Brotherhood to fully discuss the whole matter.

All Phases Of US Life

Lawyers, and doctors, farmers and accountants, salesmen and bankers — a line through all phases of the American way of life has drawn together the men who make up the complement of officers and men aboard the USS Shields and USS Nickel, which sailed yesterday morning at six o'clock after spending two days at Prince Rupert.
For two weeks everyone has dropped his civilian vocation and become part of the United States Navy. All men in the ship have spent a night a week training for at least the past year. No new recruits are on the cruise.
On the northbound voyage the ships took outside waters from San Francisco to Juneau. They arrived here by the inside from Juneau and will continue on the inside down the coast. During their 16-day training voyage the reservists are on active duty are gaining experience with most weapons and instruments. They are becoming familiar with all aspects of life aboard ship, from engine room to communications room. The engine room might well be called the heart of the ship and the communications room to the brain.
In charge of the party is Commander Jim Foley, U.S.N., the only permanent navy officer aboard. Both ships are complete with executive officer, operations officer, training officer, personnel officer, medical officer, navigator and chaplain.
Also aboard the Shields is a group of 17 boy Scouts of America.
According to Training Officer of the Shields Lt. Cmdr. Jim Glover, Prince Rupert showed wonderful hospitality from the time the ships docked. He and other officers and men were highly impressed with the Club 27 which a great many visited.

Modern Etiquette

Q. Is it customary to give a clergyman a fee for conducting a funeral service?
A. A Protestant clergyman does not expect a fee, but if offered one he may accept it with perfect propriety. It is customary to give a Catholic priest an offering for saying a funeral mass, but there is no fixed rule as to the amount, this depending upon the circumstances of the bereaved family.
Q. Would it be all right for a young widow to wear white at her second wedding?
A. No; it is not customary for a woman to wear white at her second wedding, regardless of her age.
Q. Is it proper to tip the soup plate when it is nearly empty?
A. Yes, this may be done, but it must be tipped away from you.

Day Reflects and Reminisces

Of Canada's thousands of cities, only two can be called a Pacific terminus of a transcontinental railway. Each is nearer the outbreak of a potential war than anywhere else in the Dominion, unless all signs have no meaning. This is not saying hostilities are certain. But since 1945 everything that worked toward insecurity, disappointment or harbinger of unwelcome developments has been pointing more and more toward the Western Pacific. It is hard to ignore this.

Ronald Horton, New Zealand publisher, speaking at the recent convention banquet in Ottawa, said that in Vancouver he told a taxi driver he was from New Zealand. "Oh yes," said the taxi man, "that's the new prov-

Graduation At Borden Street

Roy Sieber Wins the Miss S. A. Mills Memorial Trophy

Closing exercises for the graduating Grade Six pupils were held at Borden Street School yesterday afternoon in the presence of parents of the graduating pupils and Grade Five children.

After the singing of "O Canada" Principal John S. Wilson welcomed the parents and guests. He was glad to have the opportunity to express his appreciation to the parents, the Parent Teacher Association, the I.O.E., Joseph Chell, representative of the Department of Education and the children themselves.

Mr. Wilson felt that the academic work for the years in elementary school had been well taught. He felt too that the pupils had become better citizens through their interest in and sympathy with other children in less fortunate circumstances. Through self-denial the children had given $41 to the March of Dimes, $31 to the Manitoba Relief Fund, and through the Junior Red Cross $291.35.

The collection of tea and coffee coupons had reached an all-time high with a total of 26,630 being recorded. It was through this activity that the Junior Red Cross total had been reached. Part of the money was expended locally, and several in the district had been assisted through hospital and medical care in the special hospitals for children in the province.

The presentation of report cards was then made to the pupils by School Inspector J. Chell. After the presentation Mr. Chell spoke to the pupils pointing out that this was an important day in their formal schooling. It was the half-way house for many. To use a baseball comparison, they were now at second base and it was up to each of them to reach home. He congratulated each on his success and wished them well in the future.

MILLS TROPHY

The award of the Miss S. A. Mills Memorial Trophy, an award to the outstanding pupil in the school, was then made by Alderman Douglas Frizzell. Mr. Frizzell referred to the impression made by Miss Mills, for many years principal of Borden Street School, on the pupils and the community alike. Her advice to work hard, play hard and be a good sport was worth following.

He had been proud to be one of her former pupils responsible for the gift of the Memorial Trophy. In the three years previous it had been won by girls, but this year the award was to a boy and Mr. Frizzell said it gave him great pleasure to ask Roy Sieber to accept the handsome trophy. The award was greeted with loud applause indicating that it had been a very popular choice. Roy accepted the main trophy which he will hold for a year and then the individual one that he retains permanently.

The school choir sang two of the most popular numbers from their repertoire, "Dawn, Gentle Flower" and "Golden Slumbers." As the representative of Grade Six, Roy Sieber gave the valedictory, expressing the affection they felt for their old school and reminding the new Grade Six of their responsibility to maintain the high standard of the school.

On behalf of the new Grade Six Linda Strachan replied. She said that the new Grade Six would do their best to make the former students proud of their school and she wished the graduates all success in the future. The school song was sung and the school yell given, with an extra round of cheers for the school and the holidays, and then the assembly was closed with the singing of the National Anthem. Miss Yvonne Larson was accompanist.

The Parent-Teacher Association provided refreshments for the parents and the graduating class. A feature was the great cake for the class with the message, "Congratulations to the Grade Six Graduating Class," inscribed upon it. Mrs. P. Bond, Mrs. M. Halvorsen and Mrs. R. Greissel were in charge of the refreshments under Mrs. H. C. Flood, president of the Borden St. School P.T.A.

Otto Young Going East

Otto C. Young, principal research engineer at the Pacific Fisheries Experimental station of the Research Board of Canada in Vancouver, will be leaving this coast early in July for Ottawa to assume new duties during the next two years as scientific (technological) adviser to the chairman of the Fisheries Research Board, Dr. G. E. Reid of Queen's University, Kingston. Transfer of Mr. Young to Ottawa involves a new set-up in Research Board organization with a view to more closely co-ordinating administrative work.

Mr. Young, who for years was located in Prince Rupert when the fisheries experimental station was here and revisited the city last week in connection with experimentation with new types of express refrigerator cars, will be accompanied to Ottawa by Mrs. Young and son Donald. Their daughter Enid, who is attending the University of British Columbia, is remaining on the coast.

Edythe Dodds Terrace Bride

Former Prince Rupert Girl Married to George Benoit
TERRACE—Beautifully decorated for the occasion with roses and other early spring flowers, Knox United Church made a fitting setting for Edythe Melvina Dodds, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. B. R. Dodds now of Terrace and formerly of Prince Rupert, when she became the bride of George Louis Benoit, son of Mrs. J. Mathews of Terrace. Rev. P. M. Mallet officiated.

Given in marriage by her father the bride was lovely in traditional white satin. Her gown, slightly on train, featured a nylon yoke, satin bertha collar and lily pointed sleeves. Her floor length veil was held in place with a beaded Elizabethan coronet and she carried an arm bouquet of deep red roses and lilies of the valley.

Patricia Tumilson was bridesmaid and she wore a floor length gown of yellow organdy, sleeveless, with long gloves of the same material and a small hat. She carried a colonial bouquet of mixed flowers.

Little Judy Keroy made a dainty flower girl in a long dress of white over pale blue organdy, coronet of small tea roses and a basket of posies. Groomsman was Peter Benoit. Ushers were Gerald Toop and David Benoit.

Luring the signing of the register Mrs. Peeke-Vout sang "Because" with Mrs. L. Johnstone playing the bridal music.

Following the ceremony, a reception was held at the home of the bride's parents where the guests were received by the bride's mother who was charming in rose crepe with turquoise accessories and a corsage of carnations.

The groom's mother, Mrs. J. Mathews, wore grey crepe with black accessories and a corsage of carnations. The toast to the bride was proposed by D. C. Stevenson of Prince Rupert and replied to by the groom.

Gordon Little proposed a toast to the bride's mother.

The living room was beautifully decorated with pink and white streamers and vases of flowers. On a table covered with a putwork cloth stood a three-tiered wedding cake made and decorated by Mrs. W. Bailey.

Refreshments were served by Flora Melvin and Peggy Laird with Mrs. Osterland in charge. Photos were taken by Brock Norberg.

A lovely array of gifts was on display in another room. The happy couple left later for Lakelse Lake where they will spend a week's honeymoon before taking up residence on Park Avenue in the former Garney cottage.

Out-of-town guests were, Mr.

Sea Thriller Showing Here

A rousing sea thriller loaded with action from start to finish is "Captain China," showing this evening and tomorrow at the Capitol Theatre. It is a swash-buckling story of the peacetime merchant marine boasting a cast of stars including John Payne, Gail Russell, Jeffrey Lynn, Lon Chaney, Edgar Bergen and Michael O'Shea.

Payne is a brawling skipper who loses his command when his ship goes aground. He fights bitterly to regain his command and the respect of the girl he loves. In the role of the girl, Gail Russell gives a convincing performance while Jeffrey Lynn will cast as the skipper who succeeds Payne.

Outstanding sequences of the picture are an exciting typhoon scene and a vicious fist fight between Payne and Cheney.

Miss Jaye Trotter and Miss Yvonne Larsen, on the teaching staff of Borden Street School, left for Vancouver today with Fire Chief and Mrs. Earl W.
