Bold Fiscal Move

IT IS a bold move for the Canadian government to allow the dollar to float free on the world markets. Economic experts are finding it difficult to anticipate what the result may be but the general feeling seems to be that it will be a tendency towards a levelling out—to what extent is uncertain—with the American dollar. Because of the productive capacity and the great natural resources of this country, there can certainly be no depreciation of the Canadian dollar. Quite possibly, parity of the Canadian dollar with the American may ensue within the next few days.

There may well be a feeling of satisfaction among Canadians at the decision to go it alone in Canada's foreign exchange and to test the ability of the country to stand on its own feet in the exchange markets of the world.

CHAMBER OF COMMERCE

THE Prince Rupert Chamber of Commerce, in its monthly session tonight, is, like many other bodies of its kind in Canada, renewing its activities now that fall is here. The people of Prince Rupert know well enough the good work the Chamber has done for this community through the years, the many projects and betterments it has advocated and the success it has had in many of its representations. It is difficult, of course, to estimate how much worse off the city would be if it had not been for the diligence and energy of an active Chamber of Commerce.

The Canadian Chamber of Commerce, in a bulletin just issued, reminds Boards of Trade and Chambers of Commerce that they exist to get things done. They receive public support and approval only so long as they are active in the interests of the community. They thrive on energy and enthusiasm.

"But in our travels, the story we frequently hear is that the Board is not very active and that in a small town, it is hard to get businessmen interested. Some small towns, on the other hand, are doing exceptionally fine work, and we must attribute success to the way they organize for action. From their experience we, suggest that the best way to increase interest in the Board, to make it a going concern, is to follow a program. Determine what you need most, set it down on paper so your members can have a copy, form committees to look after each phase of the plan, and then work at it throughout the year.

"A program of work must be flexible, so that new and significant projects can be picked up while they are still live issues. Some projects can be of general nature. Others can be developed in the light of local needs. Study can give us a true picture of the most important needs of the community and careful planning can set us on the way to filling those needs."

By ELMORE PHILPOTT Should Cross 38th Line

IT SEEMS TO ME that the United Nations Assembly now faces its most crucial test. What it decides to do or not to do in Korea will establish a precedent.

Should the United Nations forces be authorized to cross the 38th parallel of latitude, into the territory formerly governed by the aggressors?

My answer is "Yes." After thinking this over for several weeks; and notwithstanding letters from respected friends taking the opposite view I can come to no other conclusion than this:

The land from whence the aggressors came should be occupied by a UN police force if necessary to make sure that the aggressors do not get the chance to re-organize to start the whole business all over again.

THE DECISION that the UN Assembly faces is not easy. There is always the risk that the Chinese Communists might intervene on the side of the North Korean Communists. Moreover, the fact that the United States has already interfered in a purely internal Chinese question—that is, the fate of the island of Formosa—would give the Chinese Communist government some excuse for moving in. But whatever the legal niceties of such an action by the Chinese Communists might be—the actual result would be war between the U.S.A. and China.

To date, the new government of China has displayed hard-headed common sense. Hence, in my opinion, it is extremely improbable that Chinese armies will ever be sent into the Korean war. The government in Peking will pursue its own line—especially as President Truman has given his word of honor that U.S. intervention to protect Formosa was a purely temporary expedient made necessary by the war in Korea. The logic of this statement may be open to question. But the Chinese Communists have everything to win and nothing to lose by taking the U.S. President at his word.

Hence it seems to me a safe bet that they will not plunge into the war in Korea if the UN authorizes the occupation of the area from whence the aggression came.

THE UN POSITION in Korea was weakened at the beginning because of its previous failures to take a strong stand.

Who was the aggressor in the war in Palestine between the Jews and Arabs? Who was the aggressor in Indonesia in the fighting between Dutch and Indonesians? Who was the aggressor in Kashmir?

We all know that in all three previous cases of war the UN contented itself with persuading the fighting armies to accept a "cease fire." The attacking armies in no case were even ordered back to their jumping off places.

In spite of the fact that Pakistan armies still occupy part of Kashmir; and in spite of the fact that the UN investigators have rather politely branded Pakistan as the aggressor, nobody suggests that the army of India should be authorized to occupy all Pakistan.

Hence the question will be asked: Why take a stronger step in Korea than was taken elsewhere?

IT SEEMS to me that the stronger step is necessary precisely because Korea was the first clear-cut case of outright aggression which the UN has faced. Besides, every organization, including UN, gains strength by facing bigger and bigger tasks. World law must be built, step by step.

The issue is crystal clear: A government which launches an invasion should know in advance that if it does it makes its own territory liable to occupation by the combined forces of the United Nations.

Ray Reflects and Reminiscs

Twenty-four cents for a quart of milk in Powell River. Just as if dollar beef could not be considered sufficient punishment.

Richmond is one of the storied cities of the United States and should it be the good fortune of Job's Daughters to visit there, as suggested by Mrs. Beatrice Ross, Supreme Guardian, the experience should be one of great value. There was a Richmond long before there was a United States and when Virginia was British colonial territory. Both state and city are steeped in history. There, or near there, were the homes of some of the new nation's founders. Richmond was where Jefferson Davis lived as president of the Confederate States, while a short distance north, in Washington, Abraham Lincoln occupied the White House.

The number of motor vehicles in British Columbia is reported to total 234,711. Sometimes when doing a bit of jay walking one is tempted to wonder if they are not all in Prince Rupert.

If the war in Korea is over, as the United Nations command declares, it's been one of the shortest toughest and bloodiest in history. Only last June, the invasion was staged. And it's now October. The average conflict is barely under way in three months. Introduction of preliminaries have been about finished.

Black-topped streets look first class, and appear even better when no scrap paper, old bones, cigar ends, bottles, cigarette packets, fragments of correspondence and other odds and ends are allowed to gather. And the same goes for the sidewalks.

Harry Seaman, in pictures and prose, recalls in the current Cariboo Digest, the Skeena River as it looked in the days when Foley, Welen & Stewart discharged thunderous blasts, and life was cheerful, busy, rough and ready and now and then a shade wet. He tells it well, and the views of the river steamers are unrivalled. It took toil and time to reach Hazelton. But coming down stream was something else again! About all one could do was hold his hat and hang on.

It looks more like a railway from Labrador to the Gulf of St. Lawrence than a railway to link Alaska with the United States. The latter country needs iron ore in limitless quantity and Labrador has it. Washington has always looked to the Mesaba range near the Great Lakes, but there, the supply is becoming exhausted. Alaska will have a railway some day, but the Yanks must have steel—enough and now. What about British Columbia, at that?

200 Million Dollar Diamond?

If a diamond as large as a baseball were ever found, it would probably be worth about 200 million dollars. But it would benefit only the person who owned it.

The amount of money which the life insurance companies in Canada invest each year on behalf of their policyholders is large enough to buy such a diamond! But this money is invested in ways which benefit every Canadian. It is put to work to help build new schools, new power plants, highways, industrial plants, homes and many other vitally important constructions. In all these ways it promotes progress and helps create jobs in communities throughout the nation.

Thus life insurance works for everyone two ways. It helps raise living standards. And it provides security by building income for old age and protection for families. Today nearly 5 million Canadians are creating this security for themselves and their families the life insurance way!

Many Taking Handicraft

The response in registering for the Jean Travis Handicraft course presented at the Civic Centre through the Extension Department of the University of British Columbia has been most gratifying. There is still room for a few more in both afternoon and evening classes but registrations should be made soon.

This course will be of special interest to those who have taken some leatherwork before and the valuable course in design will be of added benefit to those who anticipate doing leatherwork this season.

The course in applied design consists not of lectures alone but exercises and assignments with definite home work allotted which is up to the individual but will benefit those who are able to accomplish it. The course in design has been planned to interest workers in leather, rug making, stencilling and black printing and anyone else who is interested in decorative design.

The afternoon course for the first week will be on stencilling, this being done on fabric such as small table cloths, kitchen curtains, table mats, head squares and scarves etc. The second week, lino block printing will be taught in the afternoons. In this course the work is done on paper such as greeting cards, paper napkins, stationery, etc. There is a certain amount of design taught with these afternoon courses but the main course in design is held during the evening sessions, alternating with the leather carving course.

Miss Travis announces that the four courses available are stencilling, lino printing, leather carving and design. Each course will consist of five nights, or afternoons of instruction as outlined in the schedule already printed.

As registration is limited in all courses, Civic Centre members are given first preference.

Lost Eye But Is Recovering

Mrs. W. R. Smith of this city is now out of hospital in Vancouver after having suffered the removal of an eye which was injured by shattering glass in a recent incident on Third Avenue. Fortunately, the other eye is not adversely affected. Pending her return to the city in about three weeks' time, Mrs. Smith is now visiting in Vancouver with Mrs. J. D. McGary. With her is Mrs. Bud Barrie and two children.

RICHARD SEPHTON

The Mutual Life of Canada has released its Honors List, recognizing Mr. Richard Sephton for outstanding service to his community in the club year recently closed. He has again qualified as a member of the Company's senior production group, the Quarter Million Club. Mr. Sephton was the second highest producer in the Company and has the distinction of being the 1st Vice-President of the Club.

Qualification for club membership requires not only the underwriting of a large volume of protection, but, more important, the writing from year to year of "quality" business, that is, life insurance that is continued in force. These two factors, combined with a high personal standard of confidential service to policyholders, earn this recognition for Mutual Life representatives.

Major Durnford Brigade Chaplain

Hon. Major R. C. H. Durnford, Protestant chaplain at Petawawa, has been appointed senior chaplain to the 25th Infantry Brigade, Canadian Army Special Force. Major Durnford, who is well known in Prince Rupert, having been stationed here years ago, served as chaplain of the Seaforth Highlanders in Italy and northwest Europe during the second world war. He was the only Canadian chaplain to be awarded the D.S.O.

Queen Charlotte Islands has collapsed, according to word received in town last evening. The wharf on which the plant was constructed gave way causing a general wreck in which many tons of fish, chiefly chum salmon, went down in the debris.

The Prince Rupert School Board, at a recent meeting, appointed J. L. Christie as secretary. He succeeds W. D. Vance, whose resignation was accepted at the last regular meeting of the board.

Blackwood On Bridge

By Easley Blackwood

Bridge players can be divided into three main classes. Eight per cent of them play duplicate bridge. These are the real fanatics of the game.

Twenty per cent play progressive party bridge. These players enjoy themselves but do not take their bridge too seriously.

Ninety-six per cent of all bridge players play rubber bridge. These, I think, have the most fun of all.

As you can see from these estimates many bridge players fall into more than one category.

There are a lot of things about rubber bridge play which players like my friend Mr. Masters know but have never told. I refer to a sort of higher strategy whose effectiveness often seems nothing less than uncanny to the novice.

Many times the expert player does not consciously think of these things at all. They are simply a basic part of his game and he applies them automatically. He has discovered through long experience just what course of action is most likely to show a profit in every bridge situation, with every type of partner and opponent.

The "skills" I refer to have nothing to do with the technique or the mechanics of bridge. They have to do with the HUMANICS. As Mr. Masters says: "Look at the people first—then look at the cards."

The temperaments and the abilities of the players are the most important things to consider in rubber bridge. I will give you a series of articles on how to handle your partners—and your opponents as well. You can learn all the rules of bidding and play but unless you know your bridge HUMANICS you can never be a really expert player.

Don't let that word HUMANICS scare you off. It's just a short way of saying "a consideration of the human elements in bridge." Most of the principles to be outlined are simple and easy to learn. You may wonder why you haven't thought of them and applied them before.

Tomorrow we will discuss this hand:

Tour of Europe For Local Men

This week begins a spell of adventure for Louis Campagnolo and John Basso as they set out on a four months' tour of Europe.

First stage of the journey is to Vancouver, whence they intend to travel by bus and hitchhike across Canada to New York City, where they will board the liner Nieu Amsterdam for Southampton and LaHavre.

There they will get an automobile and drive to Paris for two weeks before proceeding down through Cannes and the Swiss Alps to Milan. In Italy, they intend visiting, besides Milan, Venice, Genoa, Rome and as far south as Naples and Capri.

On their return, they intend to retrace their steps and be in Paris for New Year's Eve. They expect to be away for four months all told.

G. B. Tribble, manager of Torbit mine was a passenger yesterday on the Clquitlam on his way to Stewart.

Mrs. V. Harmon returned to the city from Alert Bay on the Coquitlam yesterday.

F. W. Bogardus arrived in the city yesterday evening on the Coquitlam.

Young Liberal Meeting Called

The Young Liberal Association of British Columbia is to hold its Second Convention at Harrison Hot Springs on Friday and Saturday, October 20-21 according to notices sent out by President S. E. F. McRea of Vancouver.

Delegates will attend from practically every constituency in the province. Invitations have also been sent to all B.C. Senators, Members of the House of Commons and the Legislature, Harry G. T. Perry, President of the British Columbia Liberal Association which is the parent body of all Liberal Associations in the province will attend and address the convention.

A strong Young Liberal Association has recently been formed in the Prince Rupert district. J. D. McRae, M.L.A. for Prince Rupert, states that he will be unable to accept his invitation to attend the convention. Since the policy here has been to encourage young Liberals to participate actively in the senior organizations, there is no Young Liberal Association in Prince Rupert so it appears there will be no local representative at the convention at Harrison.

Mr. Justice J. V. Clyne arrived in the city last night on the Coquitlam. He is presiding over the assizes which began today.

Stewart Couple Are Given Party

STEWART—The Moose Lodge and Women of the Moose held a joint meeting in the Moose Home in honor of two of their recently married members, Mr. and Mrs. J. J. McKenna.

The entertainment following the meeting was progressive whist.

Directly after the whist, a large semi-circle was formed and Guide and Assistant Guide, Mrs. Barwise and Mrs. Lawrence, marched in to the hall to music, carrying a huge container piled high with gifts, which they placed before the bride and groom.

The men's lodge presented the couple with a large size combination grill and waffle iron. The ladies' chapter gave miscellaneous articles.

Al Lawrence, secretary of the Moose Lodge, and Mrs. Wilkinson, Senior Regent, extended to the bride and groom the congratulations of their organizations.

After all parcels had been opened and inspected the McKennas thanked their co-workers. Then Pianist Jean Stewart struck up a march and some fifty Moose members marched to the dining room to a tasty supper.

Winners at whist were: ladies' first, Mrs. Monjovich; consolation, Mrs. McLeod; men's first prize, Al Lawrence; consolation, Alfred Oldershaw.

The entertainment and supper was in charge of the Publicity Committee with Miss Ella Haahti as chairman.

Dale L. Pitt, managing director of Silbak Premier Mine, was a passenger on the Coquitlam yesterday en route to Stewart.

High School Band Planned

School Board Offers to pay
Half of Instruments

A meeting of the Bo-Me-Hi orchestra was held in the High School recently to discuss business and elect the officers for the year 1950-51.

The officers are:
Honorary Presidents: Mrs. J. C. Gilker, Mrs. N. E. Gerrard, A. M. Hurst and Peter Lien.
President: John Antrobus.
Vice-President: Neil McAr.
Secretary-Treasurer: Diane Gilker.

Laborian: Georgina Mitchell.
Household Committee: Jimmy Bateman, Paul Doumont, Harold Webber, Murray Boas.

The school board offered to match the students council dollar for dollar up to $750 with which to buy such instruments. It was left with the president to contact the Student's Council in order to ascertain if the council would undertake the project.

Much enthusiasm for a band is being shown by applicants who lack the necessary instruments.

This year there are several new members in the orchestra. Some have their own instruments while others have borrowed instruments.

At the first practise there were 15 members playing and five present who had not as yet received an instrument. Eight members were absent. There are also several more prospects.

King Edward School has started a pre-band group consisting of flutophones and it is hoped to eventually get an elementary school brass band which will provide material for a junior brass band in Booth Memorial School. The players from here will eventually graduate to the senior organizations such as the Prince Rupert Shrine Band and the Symphony Orchestra. This plan will ensure a steady flow of players who will be given the opportunity of graduating as they progress in instrumental music.

Terrace Plans Dental Clinic

TERRACE—A meeting called for the purpose of forming a committee to arrange the details for the children's dental committee was held in the nurses' lounge of the Outpost Hospital on Thursday evening. Various organizations had been asked to send delegates to this meeting and those present included Mrs. P. Vanstolk, Dr. McPherson, Mrs. Norrington, Mrs. Newhouse, Mrs. Johnson, Mrs. Osterlund, Mrs. Earl, Mrs. Loudon, and Mrs. Brandin.

Mrs. P. Vanstolk as temporary chairman explained what had been accomplished by way of having pre-school and grade one children registered. There were almost forty registrations. An estimated cost of $16 per child was to be met by the government paying fifty per cent and the parents three dollars. The other five dollars would have to be raised in other ways. It was hoped that the organization and School Board would assist in this.

At the present time $200 donated by the Parent-Teachers Association and the children's fees payable when the child is registered, will get the clinic started. It will be held in Dr. McPherson's office every Tuesday morning starting next week, the school teacher will be notified which child to send and the transportation committee will take mothers and their children to the clinic.

Convenor of the transportation committee is Mrs. Lloyd Johnstone and assisting her are Mrs. Kirby and Mrs. Simming who have offered their services.

On the dental committee are Mrs. J. Loudon chairman; Mrs. P. Vanstolk, Vice President; Mrs. Peek-Vout Secretary; Mrs. Norrington Treasurer; Dr. McPherson, Miss Freda Hilton, Mrs.

Will Observe Hospital Day

TERRACE—Plans for the annual hospital day will be held on October 14 in the Orange Hall were made at a very well attended meeting of the Hospital Auxiliary on Thursday evening in the nurses' lounge following the dental meeting.

Mrs. V. Giraud, Vice President was Chairman of the meeting.

Committees were formed for each activity including decoration of the hall, the tea sale of home cooking, white elephant stall, and novelty counter, with whist and bingo in the evening.

Articles for the white elephant stall will be collected if Mrs. Giraud is notified.

As a certain number of mattress covers had to be finished Mrs. Skatland volunteered to take help with her on Monday to have some of this work done.

Mrs. Roed, new matron, Mrs. G. May, Mrs. W. Cooper, Mrs. L. Kesey, and Mrs. F. Gibbs were welcomed to the meeting by the chairman. A report on the Cancer Committee was given by Mrs. J. Glen.

Following the close of the business activities refreshments were served by the social committee.

Johnstone and Mrs. Brandin, who will be the dentist's assistant.
