Finance Minister Anscomb Presents Budget

PRESENTS HIS BUDGET

MINISTER OF FINANCE ANSCOMB

Development Program, Municipal And Social Aid Are Brought Out

Four most significant items contained in the budget speech of Hon. Herbert Anscomb, minister of finance, in the provincial Legislature today, were:

1. The budget's reflection of the government's vast development program which the minister pointed out totalled $78,750,000.
2. The almost incredible increase in financial aid given to municipalities during the coalition government's regime, the rise being from $2,965,000 in the fiscal year 1941-42 to $21,890,000 for the year 1949-50, and an increase of $3,302,000 between the present current year and the estimated municipal aid for 1949-50.
3. The generous scale upon which social services are being administered the increase in cost during the next fiscal year being estimated as follows: for old age pensions $869,000 and for social allowances (unemployables) $1,173,000.
4. The fact that the estimates for the next fiscal year will for the third year in succession provide for the full measure of debt charges by way of interest, serial instalments and authorized sinking fund instalments thereby assuring for the future a sound financial basis for the retirement of debt coupled with the announcement that the average interest rate on British Columbia bonds now stands at 3.36 percent, the lowest ever enjoyed in the history of the province.

The minister pointed out in connection with municipal assistance that indirect and direct financial assistance had increased by $19,000,000 since the coalition government first took office in 1941-42. During the fiscal year 1949-50 municipalities will receive by way of direct and indirect aid the sum of $21,890,000 compared with $2,965,000 in the fiscal year 1941-42.

Many other items of significance were revealed in the highlights of this speech. Among them were the cost of public works for the coming year, totalling more than $14,451,736 of which $13,118,500 is for highways and bridges; the very substantial decrease in the per capita debt of the province and the minister's warning that further increases in the revenue yield should not be anticipated as indices point to a levelling off percent.

HIGHLIGHTS

The highlights of Mr. Anscomb's speech were as follows:

1. Development program outlined as follows:
HIGHWAYS—$25,000,000
TRANS-CANADA HIGHWAY—$5,000,000
STEEL AND CONCRETE BRIDGES—$5,000,000
PACIFIC GREAT EASTERN EXTENSION—$10,000,000
B. C. POWER COMMISSION—$15,000,000
B. C. POWER COMMISSION (Queens Development)—$5,500,000

TOTAL—$78,750,000
2. Municipalities will receive in 1949-50 by direct and indirect aid $21,890,000 compared with $2,965,000 in aid given by government in 1941-42. This represents a gain of $19,000,000 under co-alition policy. Municipal aid during present fiscal year totalled $18,588,000 so that the increase financial aid for next year amounts to $3,302,000.
3. In consequence thereof, minister expressed view fiscal problems of municipalities had been solved, particularly in view of flexible revenue source provided by municipal aid tax.
4. Social security and municipal aid tax produced $8,566,000 during period July 1st to December 31st.
5. $14,000,000. To end of fiscal year 1948-49 expected from social security and municipal aid tax.
6. Municipal share of tax will be approximately $4,000,000 this year instead of $4,000,000 originally estimated. Next year's revenue to municipalities from this source estimated at $5,900,000.
7. Public Highway expenditures for 1948-50, included debt charges on borrowing total $17,115,233 compared with revenue of $15,710,000 from gasoline taxes, motor vehicle licenses and motor carrier fees.
8. Public highway expenditures, therefore, will exceed receipts from automobile sources by $1,405,233.
9. Despite borrowing for major undertakings net debt of province increased only $5,219,740 during past year to a total of $127,625,936.
10. More than $66,000,000 of this debt will fall due during next ten years.
11. Interest charges on debt substantially reduced. Annual charges now only $5,989,000 compared with $6,886,000 in 1941.
12. Average interest rate of British Columbia bonds 3.36 percent, lowest in history of province.
13. Estimates for coming fiscal year provide the full measure of debt charges by way of interest, serial instalments and authorized sinking fund instalments.
14. Total value of existing sinking funds placed at $25,462,459.
15. Debt on per capita basis now only $117.95 or $60 per person less than in 1941. On other hand productive power of people has nearly doubled.
16. Revenue for 1949-50 estimated at $9,980,569 to yield surplus of $672,000.
17. Minister warned that greater yields from revenue should not be anticipated as most indices point to levelling off of income.
18. Expenditures for fiscal year 1948-49 ending March 31st next expected to total $84,427,310 reflecting impact of inflation and widening services.
19. Estimated expenditures for 1949-50 placed at $92,308,018 or $7,880,708 more than for current fiscal year.

ANTI-REDS MEET AGAIN

Frank Hall to Get His Communist-Breaking Group Together

MONTREAL—Frank Hall, chairman of the anti-communist bloc of the Canadian labor unions, said that his group will meet shortly to discuss the situation resulting from the Trades and Labor Congress announcement that all its affiliated organizations would be advised to bar communists from holding union office.

"It does not seem that Congress officers have made a contribution to the settlement of differences," Hall said.

Hall was suspended by the Trades and Labor Congress last year for trying to form a new Canadian seamen's union under the Trades and Labor Congress on the Great Lakes by bringing about a merger of the Canadian Lake Seamen's Union with the American Federation of Labor-affiliated Seafarers' International Union.

Russia Talks of Blockade Lifting

In her fifty-fifth year, Mrs. Elliott had been ill with leukemia for several years. In spite of illness she played an active part in the spy trials which resulted when Gouzenko, Soviet embassy cipher clerk, informed the Royal Canadian Mounted Police of Russian espionage work in Canada.

Meantime slides in the south Kootenay district have buried buildings of the Gold Belt Mines near Nelson and have swept over the nearby Sheep Creek office of the mines. Details of the damage are unknown.

Ottawa Looking Forward to Successful Atlantic Pact Culmination

OTTAWA—Canadian negotiators in Washington are taking an active part in the argument for "an economic consultation" clause in the proposed North Atlantic security pact, it was learned here yesterday.

News from Washington this week has been more encouraging to the government here and it is believed it may be possible next week to make a fairly complete statement to the House of Commons on basic deals of the pact draft.

HOUSING IS DISCUSSED

Three possible avenues of federal aid in the event of an acute housing shortage developing in Prince Rupert were discussed yesterday when a joint committee representing the city council and the Prince Rupert Chamber of Commerce met with J. A. Jones and D. MacNaughton, officials of the Central Mortgage and Housing Corporation.

These possible solutions are:
1. Veterans' rental projects under the Central Mortgage and Housing Corporation.

2. Private enterprise building of houses for sale, rent or personal use under the National Housing Act.

3. National Housing Act assistance to industry for building houses for employees.

The local committee told the officials that housing was already becoming scarce in Prince Rupert and expressed the opinion that, with the pulp mill undertaking of the Celanese Corporation of America, there would be an acute need this year.

As for the Central Mortgage and Housing Corporation, Mr. Jones and Mr. MacNaughton explained that the need would have to be definitely established with concrete facts and figures before any rental housing could be proceeded with and then this could be confined only to veterans of World War II. Municipalities were required to provide the necessary lots and services. The top price for houses would be $6250 with a maximum ceiling rental of $37.50.

It was pointed out that National Housing Act loaning facilities were already available in Prince Rupert for individuals desiring to build their own houses. N.H.A. also offered financing to those building housing projects for rent or for industries to provide housing for their employees.

Following the conference, the local committee is expected to proceed further on the basis of the information it has received, establishing more specifically the need and considering the possible recourse.

Mr. Jones and Mr. MacNaughton sailed last night on their return to Vancouver after spending two days here in connection with the closing out of the Central Mortgage and Housing Corporation office here.

Peace in Palestine

ISRAELI AND EGYPT have signed an armistice agreement on the Island of Rhodes and similar agreements will probably be signed by the other warring elements in Palestine in the conflict between Jews and Arabs. Thereby peace comes closer in a land which for a time had contained the sparks which conceivably could have precipitated a major international explosion. Now if the armistice signatories can exercise controls upon elements which within themselves have exhibited irresponsibility a new era of peace may be ultimately consummated in that disturbed land.

As Canada's minister of external affairs has said, the settlement in Palestine is an accomplishment on the credit side for the United Nations and a triumph indeed for the mediator in this particular case, Dr. Ralph Bunche.

It seemed for a while that Palestine was an irreconcilable sore spot, hopeless of settlement. But that is at least partially changed now. What has been accomplished in Palestine may be but the forerunner of other accomplishments for U.N. in its task of restoring peace and security to a troubled world.

Arab agreement with Israel is confined so far to an armistice. Peace may have to come rather through custom than negotiation. However, the need of Arab for Jew and Jew for Arab in the development of the Near East presages a real peace built sooner or later on common interest.

DAYLIGHT SAVING

BRITISH COLUMBIA, whether we like it or not, is going to have daylight saving again this year. The decree came suddenly a few days ago from Victoria in spite of an obvious lack of unanimity of opinion on the matter and certainly a considerable expression against it.

In the north, for instance, the Associated Boards of Trade of Central British Columbia, by resolution of its annual convention, was on record against it. We notice that our own member for Prince Rupert, although he did not speak until after the edict had been made, told the Legislature that the great majority of people in this riding are definitely opposed to daylight saving and that he agreed with them.

Opposition here and elsewhere is chiefly because of the confusion which results from a partial observance of daylight saving such as we have had during the last few years.

BOY SCOUTS WEEK

THIRTY-NINE YEARS have demonstrated that Boy Scouting is a pretty safe adventure, summed up, perhaps, in the twin goals of citizenship training and the building of individual skills.

But one aspect of Scouting needs more publicity: the fact that any civic institution—school, church, service club, or other group—can sponsor a troop of Boy Scouts under the general atmosphere of its own organization.

All the group needs to do is form a committee of its own members, select a Scoutmaster, and apply to the Boy Scout organization for a troop charter. Membership in the troop may even be limited to its "own sons," if the group so chooses.

And fathers could find in Scouting the answer to more leisure time with our own sons. Here too, may be the answer to the crying need for leaders.

PUBLICITY FUND DRIVE TO START

An immediate start will be made by the Prince Rupert Public Relations Council on its three-year fund-raising drive, a project designed to raise money to finance its operation for that period, it was decided at the monthly meeting of the organization last night.

Objective will be $5,000 to sustain publicity work. Letters will be sent to former subscribers and to new business firms pointing out the work that has been done to publicize the city and the value of such work to the community.

Council Treasurer R. G. Hopkins was appointed chairman of the fund raising committee and committee members will be chosen shortly.

Secretary E. T. Applewhite reported that he had been appointed by the Prince Rupert Chamber of Commerce as Prince Rupert representative on the B.C. Tourist Council, a government advisory body which meets periodically at Victoria to aid in drawing up provincial tourist publicity. He was empowered to speak with the authority of the Public Relations Council when he attends a meeting of the provincial council at the capital next week.

Activities of the Public Relations Council this year will be broadcast to include publication of a quarterly "news letter" which will be distributed throughout Canada and the United States giving information on tourist and industrial development in the region.

The meeting authorized the secretary to place advertisements in the annual number of the B.C. Journal of Commerce and in the tourist guide "The Geese Go North," published by Robertson's Agencies, Prince George.

There was considerable general discussion on tourist matters, including the possibilities for the new "Lumberlost" tourist resort which is being developed on the Queen Charlotte Islands this year. Members felt that the new enterprise should be given co-operation of the council.

Present at the meeting were David Owens, R. G. Hopkins, E. T. Applewhite, Frank J. Skinner, P. M. Ray, Ed. Mus-sellam, James Ham, Honora Silversides, Gunnar Selvig, Ed. Williams and J. K. McLeod, chairman.

SCENIC BEAUTY—With the entry of Newfoundland into confederation as the 10th province, many odd place names will be added to Canadian geographies. School children will find they now have such places as Cape White Handkerchief, Come-By-Chance and Ireland's Eye to remember. This photo shows the scenic Cabot Highway which leads into Plate Cove West.

ORCHESTRA AIDS FILM COUNCIL

Prince Rupert Symphony Orchestra will give financial aid to the local film council by putting on a concert in the near future. Plans for the concert were outlined at a meeting of the film council this week. Proceeds from the concert will be used to aid in the purchase of a new film projector.

Neville Gerrard, Symphony Orchestra conductor, told the meeting of the program that has been planned. It contains a wide variety in musical fare.

A publicity committee was appointed. Publicity will include radio interviews on the work of the film council, the first being broadcast by Mrs. Neville Gerrard, film council secretary. Ticket sales will be handled by Mrs. Gerrard, Miss M. Anstey and George Evans.

Chairman of the meeting was E. A. Evans, who acted in place of Sgt. L. A. N. Potterton, council president.

Handicrafts Study Creates Interest

HALIFAX @—The Nova Scotia department of trade and industry has set up a handicrafts centre here.
"One of our big problems in establishing the centre," said Miss Mary Black, director of the division, "was in convincing some of the women selected for the courses that they could really leave their families and come to us for instruction."
Members of the class live at the handicrafts centre. The former C.W.A.C. barrack buildings here have been adapted for teaching the various crafts. There is a small kitchenette where students can prepare their own meals.
"The families," says Miss Black, "soon learn to look after themselves."

SCOUT-GUIDE SPEAKER AT ROTARY CLUB

Objectives of the Boy Scout and Girl Guide movements were outlined to the Prince Rupert Rotary Club Thursday afternoon by Mrs. Basil S. Prockter, leader of the St. Andrew's Cathedral Girl Guide Troop, who brought the message in recognition of the current Scout-Guide Week.
Mrs. Prockter sought and received assurances of the continued support of the movement by the Rotary Club which, she said, had proved of high value in the past.
The fascinating task of watching the development of young people in the Girl Guide movement along tested channels was one which brought constant enjoyment and satisfaction, she said.
Mrs. Prockter gave the objectives of the movement as development of basic good habits, through obedience to the Scout and Guide laws, learning to work together through participation in proficiency projects and learning to play together through team games and recreational enterprises.
An abounding faith in what he called "responsible" free enterprise was expressed by Rev. William Hills, Victoria, former naval padre and now peacetime vicar, who addressed the Rotarians at the conclusion of Mrs. Prockter's speech.
The price of security, as proclaimed by the advocates of socialism, he declared, is loss of freedom and the concept of human dignity which has been nurtured through the centuries by Christian belief.
Both Mrs. Prockter and Mr. Hills were thanked by club President D. C. Stevenson. Guests at the meeting also included Mayor Nora Arnold, P. Underhill and J. W. Prosser of Vancouver.

"MENACE OF NORTH," GEO. PAVICH TO TAKE BILLING WRESTLING CARD

"Menace of the North" he has been dubbed and, as such, he will be seen glowering at some southern opponent in a wrestling ring here probably on March 21. He is George Pavich, a king-sized, quiet-voiced veteran of more bouts than he can remember in over 20 years in the boxing and wrestling rings of two continents.

Currently, George, who sports a formidable black moustache is a challenger for the somewhat confused title of heavyweight wrestling championship of the British Empire, which is in dispute between himself, Al Mills and Earl McCready.

Mr. Pavich moved his 245 pounds into Prince Rupert the other day to visit his cousin, Tom Pesut, proprietor of the Ocean View Hotel and, following a view of the local cauliflower grove, he decided that the vegetables are ripe. He plans to stay, for a while at least.

"I see a good opportunity for boxing and wrestling up here. It hasn't been developed either here or at Prince George. I think the field is ready for some good cards," he said.

He plans to include himself in any fracas that come along—professionally, that is.

George met Graham Alexander, president of the Canadian Legion Boxing Club, Jim Nicoli, club secretary, and Don Forward, managing secretary of the Civic Centre, yesterday morning and mulled over plans for a card next month. Opponents, he declared, will not be hard to get. They finally settled, tentatively, on a Victoria specimen who has been cutting a swath on Vancouver Island. He is Chief Thunderbird, a full-blooded Indian who burdens the scales at 230 and whose record is as good as that of anyone currently practising the art of public mayhem on the lower coast.

Date for the forthcoming card has been set, also tentatively, for March 21, a Monday, which will give the grunts an opportunity to whip up to Ketchikan on the following Wednesday to mix it before an Alaskan crowd, thereby cutting down local expenses.

A fight is a fight to George. It doesn't make a great deal of difference whether he boxes or wrestles, although lately he has been doing the latter.

"Wrestling is actually better, because it develops your whole body, while if a man keeps boxing after 35 or so, he is liable to get punchy," George opined. "Old boxers start slipping and they don't know it."

George definitely is not slipping. At 38 he looks notably fit. He has to keep in top form, considering the competition.

A bit of a cosmopolitan, George has fought in central Europe—he is a Hungarian—and all over North America. His opponents have been the best in the field and he has acquitted himself well.

FOUGHT GALENTO

Londos, Steinke, McReady, Savoldi, Mills, he has met them all with varying results since the early 1930's. In 1942 he boxed Two-Ton Tony Galento in Des Moines, Iowa, losing the decision to the fat man after breaking a knuckle in the fight. The largest crowd of corn-fed sports enthusiasts in the history of Des Moines witnessed the event.

He also boxed the dean of Canadian fighters, Charles Boulanger, several times in the late 30's.

"But," he said, "I prefer wrestling."

Last summer he was headliner in wrestling in Calgary for 11 weeks. Calgary, to those who know it, is undoubtedly the most wrestling-conscious city in the west and every fan is a self-admitted connoisseur. Edmonton also knows George's talents.

He headed south last night on the Prince Rupert on a brief trip and plans to complete negotiations for a worthy opponent at next month's local bout.

SPONSOR CONCERT FOR RED CROSS

The Prince Rupert Rotary Club male chorus will put on a benefit concert in aid of the Red Cross fund-raising drive, probably late in March, it was decided at the club's weekly luncheon meeting at the Broadway Cafe Thursday afternoon.

Local High School Scores Big Victory Over Best From South

New Westminster Dukes On Short End of Thrilling 33-31 Hoop Contest

The Duke of Connaught basketball team suffered their first defeat at the hands of provincial competition last night as Prince Rupert's Bo-Me-Hi Rainmakers turned the tables and sent them down to a thrilling 33 to 31 defeat. The win gave the locals a split of the two games but point total put them ahead by one point 63 to 62. A cheering sell-out crowd saw the game.

The bright star of the night was Bill (Monk) Sunberg who scored the winning points and topped his team in scoring for the night. He played the game of his life. At the final whistle, a cheering crowd of fans lifted Bill on their shoulders and carried him out of the hall in triumph.

The half-time ceremonies were well taken care of by the Cheer Squad who duplicated their drilling of the previous night.

The game was of pattern similar to the first with only the score reversed. Neither team had an edge although the locals had a fighting spirit to win. Many home-town fans thought the Rainmakers were playing below their average game.

The opening score went to the Dukes with their Captain Danny Zaharko counting from the side. Art Olson came right back for the Rainmakers with a lay-up to tie. The score see-sawed, as it did all the game, with the Dukes getting the edge 12 to 10 at quarter-time.

The Dukes played their zone defence and the Rainmakers sat outside of it and shot long ones. The Bo-Me-Hi squad played a straight man-to-man defence and was successful in holding the fast-moving Dukes.

The Dukes broke out in a scoring spree at the start of the second quarter and set themselves up a 7-point lead, the highest of the night and handedly to take his team to victory but his teammates just could not match his pace. Twice he put his team ahead and twice Bo-Me-Hi tied it up. With the scoring tied at 30-all and time running short Sunberg grabbed off a rebound and returning it up and into the basket to put his team ahead and send the cheering crowd wild. With the Dukes working hard to get a basket, they did creep one point closer as Zaharko scored with a free throw. Then, with 11 seconds left, a technical foul was called against the Dukes for one of their players disagreeing with the umpire's decision. Up steps Sunberg to the free throw line and calmly drops it in. In the last seconds the Rainmakers kept control of the ball and with the final whistle walked off the floor as victors over the top team of the south.

The bucket man for the Dukes, Bob Flynn was next scoreless from the field and scored only 3 free throws as he was checked and watched closely by Olson. Sinclair was their top scorer with 9 points. Their teamwork

Looking Back Reminiscences in SPORT - and Records

The date: Saturday, June 29, 1929.

The place: Winged Foot Golf Club, Mamaroneck, N.Y.

The event: Open Golf Championship of the United States. Fourth and final round in progress.

The leader: Bobby Jones, closely pursued by Al Espinosa, Gene Sarazen, Densmore Shute and Tommy Armour, professionals, and another amateur, George Von Elm.

The background: Six successive years Jones had been National Champion of the United States, either Open or Amateur. He had won eight National titles in the United States and Great Britain.

In prospect: The Grand Slam of 1930, when, as Mr. George Trevor phrased it, his record "was entrenched safely and forever, within the impregnable Quadrilateral, The Unbeatable Big Four Victories of Golf."

This is the story.

Through the seventh hole of the final round, Jones was spinning easily along with a widening margin of strokes over his nearest rivals—Al Espinosa, Gene Sarazen and Densmore Shute. Then at the dog-leg eight he followed a great drive in the angle by holding up a long pitch too emphatically against a hard wind from the right. The ball was bunkered. He blasted out across the green into another bunker, and back again into the first hazard. He was barely out with his fifth and took two putts for a ghastly 7.

The jolt took some of the strain off, and he holed in a fine birdie 4 at the ninth, and when he walked off the green of the long twelfth he had a clear lead of six strokes over Espinosa, who had blown himself to a dreadful 3 at that hole.

Now see what can happen when the pressure comes off Espinosa, convinced that it was all over, played the last six holes with an incredibly brilliant run of four 4's and two 3's, for a round of 75 and a total score of 294.

And now the pressure was on Jones. He lost a stroke at the 213-yard thirteenth, got his par 4 at the next, and then picked up another devastating 7 after a sliced drive among the trees at the fifteenth. His lead was gone, now, for Espinosa was on the board—he couldn't lose any more strokes. And Jones needed 4-4 to win by a single stroke, and the sixteenth was a par 5.

Pressure? After a great drive and iron, he was on the sixteenth green, 20 feet from the flag. Then his first putt was five feet short, and he missed the second.

And now it was 4-4 . . . to tie. He got the first 4. Then after a good drive he pulled his pitch for the home green, and the ball trickled down the steep bank of a deep bunker, stopping in the grass just short of the sand. And his wee pitch was soft. The ball lay 12 feet short of the hole. And if it was that—or nothing.

The rest of Bob Jones' golfing career hung on that putt. If he missed, it would be the first time in the U.S. Open he had scored as high as 80. He would have blown a lead of six strokes, and one more, in the last six holes. If that putt stayed out, it would remain a spreading and fatal blot, never to be wiped from his record.

Bobby stood up to putt. The gallery subsided into a strange breathing silence pressing into the ears. It seemed that somewhere, a long way off, a bell was ringing slowly.

Then the breathing stopped. There was a faint, thin click of the stroke, and the beginning of a kind of sigh in the gallery. The ball was on its way.

Only a dozen feet to go? How long it took! The sigh grew in volume—changed to a gasp! Missed?

No!

The gasp changed to a stunning roar; the crash of a thunderbolt . . . The ball had rolled, slowly and more slowly, across a sloping green as fast as ice, to the rim of the hole; had hesitated—stopped. And then—well, then it had dropped.

It was Al Watrous, Bob's fellow-competitor, who described that putt a few minutes later in the locker room. It was 12 feet, said Al, and a slope in the lightning fast green necessitated a "borrow" of about 10 inches from the left of the line. Al said the range was so nicely gauged that if the hole had been a 4 1/4-inch circle on the green, the ball would have stopped in the middle of it.

Next day, the rebound. Playing his best golf of the week, Bobby Jones won the 36-hole play-off from Al Espinosa, weary and stale, by the widest margin in history.

But it all dangled on the putt—all of it, including the unequalled Grand Slam climax of 1930.

HIGH SCHOOL VICTORY

and were intercepted. Sunberg, the hero, topped the scoring with 11 points.

The Dukes took 57 shots and scored 10. They made 11 of 17 free throws. The Rainmakers took 74 shots and scored 14. They made 5 of 11 free throws.

HIGH BEATS STONE'S

In the preliminary game High School edged out their arch rivals Stone's 22-21 with the winning points coming in the last minute of play.

The play was fast and aggressive as tempers flared several times during the game. Neither team held any edge in the scoring. High School led at the quarter 6-4. Stone's fought hard and tied it up at the half 10-10. There was no change in the pace of the second half as the scoring was equal with a 17-all tie as the final quarter began. Stone's went into a one-point lead but Van Pykstra scored with a lay-up to put High School in front. Danny Bill gave them a two-point lead as he sank a free throw. Stone's scoring ended when Dumas scored a penalty shot. The students controlled the ball to the end of the game and thus gained their seventh win of the season.

High School took 52 shots and made 8. They scored 6 of 10 free throws. Stone's took 52 shots and scored 7. They scored 7 of 20 free throws.

What's New at CIVIC CENTRE

HOBBY SHOW DATES
April 27 to 30 have been tentatively set as the dates for this year's Hobby Show and preparations are already being made by the various hobby groups. This year it is expected that there will be a much larger amount of work done in the Civic Centre itself to help out the work done in the homes and in the schools.

DOLL DRESSING
Many girls will have their doll to enter, dressed in clothes they have made themselves, and some will even have a large enough wardrobe so the doll will wear a different outfit each day of the show. Prizes will be given for their work as well as for all junior hobby work. Next week the girls will choose a piece of material and make a dress, jumper, cape or pyjamas for the large doll which is to be raffled at the Hobby Show. Others will make shellwork brooches and hairclips, leather belts and underarm purses for it.

Woodwork
The boys who work on Mondays are saving their guns and horses to put in the show and as well are helping to make a crib for the doll to be raffled.

Leatherwork
The 'teen age girls and boys are making a very original assortment of articles while the adult groups are making some beautiful purses. Many are helping in the making of one purse complete with keycase, wallet and memo pad which will be raffled at the Hobby Show.

Shelleract
This group is very busy and intend to progress from the attractive buttons, ear-rings and pins they are making now, to a variety of shadow frame pictures.

Art
Those taking art lessons are becoming more and more interested as they progress from drawings in charcoal and chalk to the use of watercolors and oils. Miss Faure expects that each one will have several samples of their work in the art section.

Photography
Not to be outdone will be those interested in photography and this year there is a Senior Camera club from which it is hoped there will be an interesting exhibit as well as one from the Junior Camera Club.

Reminiscences

By W. J. — and REFLECTIONS

It seems a group of New York bachelors, permitting their roving thoughts to dwell on what sort of a woman the ideal wife should be, agreed on at least one attribute. She should have a low, pleasant voice. But some times it's low enough to be exceedingly unpleasant.

In Montreal, a twenty-one year old man has been sentenced to prison for three years, the charge being reckless driving. The news will shock the family. So would the sight of your child lying in the street!

In all the publicity given Newfoundland in the past year or so, very little has been seen, or heard of a sturdy, friendly creature, wearing a fine black coat

A woman was sending the old family Bible to her brother in a distant city. The postal clerk examined the heavy package carefully and inquired if it contained anything breakable. "Nothing but the Ten Commandments," was the quick reply.

I felt his breath on my cheek
And the gentle touch of his hand;
His very presence near me,
Like a breeze on a desert sand
He deftly sought my lips,
And my head did gently hold;
Then he broke the silence
with:
"Shall the filling be silver or gold?"
