Two Lose Lives In Drink Experiment

ANCHORAGE, Alaska — Two soldiers are dead today, and two are in critical condition and nine others in hospital after drinking wood alcohol taken from an army motor pool. Military authorities said 13 servicemen had held an "experimental" drinking party Friday night.

It was obvious the Red's wobbly crest had passed beyond the Metropolitan area toward Lake Winnipeg. But release from the threatened strangulation will come, for a time, with agonizing slowness. At Emerson, the Red's first Canadian port of call after its run through the Northern United States, the week-end brought a three inch drop in the river level. At Winnipeg, the army expressed concern lest the dikes might not take the incessant erosion and pressure long enough to get the river down to a manageable depth. Early today, however, all major dikes were holding.

St. Laurent at Scene of Flood

WINNIPEG — Prime Minister St. Laurent made a personal survey yesterday of Southern Manitoba's flood zone and expressed his belief that the Western spirit will prevent the flood from being a major set-back to prosperity. "It was horrible," he said, after a flight from Ottawa and over the Red River. Mr. St. Laurent toured all the Greater Winnipeg major dike fronts. His remarks contained nothing more than he had already said at Ottawa, that federal aid will be granted on the same principle as that accorded British Columbia after the floods of 1948.

Death toll rose over the week-end to 71 as eight more died during the night. Hospital authorities said two or three of the remaining 22 injured miners are not expected to live. ## A Call For Immediate Action

A truly alarming state of affairs was revealed recently by leading British scientists reporting to the Royal Commission on Population. Their research shows that, if the current decrease in reproduction continues another 50 years, nearly two thirds of the British population will be mentally subnormal.

Those scientists are not talking of hundreds or thousands of years; they are talking of a period substantially less than man's present life span. They are talking of times many of our children will know, when many will be in their prime.

This is a condition with which our present educational system can not cope. This is a matter of no inborn ability to learn. Teachers cannot train brains when they do not have the raw materials from which to mold them. It is a matter for immediate attention, more dangerous by far than any physical catastrophe that might confront us. Imagine modern weapons of destruction in the hands of morons!

In olden days Nature took care of the balance of brains as well as all other aspects of life. With today's development of civilization and civilized thinking the weak are protected and nurtured. They live full lives and, if they are not capable of bringing up their offspring, a benevolent state will see to it that the children live and reproduce their own ilk. That people of lower mentality reproduces more prolifically than their mental superiors is the tragedy that faces us today.

We cannot turn back to Nature's cruel "survival of the fittest" days. The problem must be attacked from another direction. Scientific breeding of humans is neither practicable nor desirable. Sociologists have here a vitally important task that must be tackled wholeheartedly and immediately.

Ray Reflects and Reminisces

With the R.C.M.P. attending to law-breaking in British Columbia, how will offences such as arson, nudity and the dynamiting of railway bridges be regarded? In other words, where will the Sons of Freedom come in? One could have a reasonably correct suspicion.

With the twenty-fourth, and July first near, flag-flying will soon be in order, but it must be acknowledged that on some occasions in this city there seem to be more bare poles than the national colors. Many appear to have the impression that this is not through indifference or possibly disinclination, but because of not enough flags to go around. If the latter is the true cause, then it is a deficiency that surely could be easily enough corrected.

Trygve Lie, after his meeting with Premier Stalin, told a press conference that he was "not dissatisfied." Now there is a fair example of understatement. There was little else in the way of substantial news, which would have been too much to expect, anyway. Mr. Lie's announcement was scant and colorless and with little in it to provide a readable and informing story. He is not dissatisfied. Well, how far is he satisfied? He could be disappointed, and yet not be wholly dissatisfied. Yet, it would be a grievous blunder to go too far in either direction. Playing politics with a strong diplomatic flavor is a delicate business with the Soviet.

What d'ye know? This isn't a farming country, but the good old Farmers' Almanac is still going strong, and printed for well beyond a century. Feel like making a wager? We'll bet it's still packed with timely little facts and pictures and hung on a nail by a string somewhere in the kitchen. You can't get away from it—not if entertained in the kitchen. We examined that almanac years before exploring the alphabet.

There is one dentist for every three thousand residents of Canada, says the secretary of the Canadian Dental Association in Toronto. He thinks they are all too few. Who can doubt it—particularly if he lives in Prince Rupert.

Mr. Gordon suggests changes in Canadian National shipping, and makes mention of the steamer Prince Rupert, forty years old. Well, no matter what may occur in the future, all local folks able to relive that far back will ever remember the trimmers with their red, white and blue funnels, cruiser sterns, and echoing sirens. They can be pictured gliding along in fair weather and in foul, in war and peace and providing background and associations for incidents that will live in memory. Pioneers, truly!

Away back in 1909, which is 41 years ago, a real estate man doing business in this city always referred to the lonely looking place destined to become the site of a cellulose plant, as "Prince Rupert's industrial annex." We forget the gentleman's name, but he was Skeena's best guesser.

There are nine survivors of the Grand Army of The Republic in the American Civil War. Once, there was a total of 409,489. Each of the nine is more than a century old. The most elderly is 109. He keeps healthy, closely follows the radio, likes ice cream

It's not so long since a waterfall nineteen times higher than Niagara was discovered in Venezuela on the border of Brazil. Verily one should pay admission for a sight like that. But then, think of Niagara! It ought to feel rather proud for having been the star attraction for millions of newly-weds, and that it is yet. But what bridal couple ever saw the lofty cascade in the remote wilderness of Venezuela? That's something else again.

Fishing for cod off Newfoundland has kept fleets from different lands occupied for centuries. There doubtless was a time when no one worried over how long to stay out or when to begin. They just fished. Today of course, it's all part of one of the world's great industries and,

TIM-BER-LOX
Protects Paint from Peeling and Blistering
A Penetrating Sealer and Paint Mix

Tim-Ber-Lox is a clear liquid made from the finest, toughest resins and water-repellent oils and is used as a thinner for oil based paints or as a clear primer before painting or varnishing.

You will be proud of your paint job when you use TIM-BER-LOX because:

- ◆ Tim-Ber-Lox helps prevent paint from "Peeling and Blistering" by affording protection against moisture.
- ◆ The use of Tim-Ber-Lox with paint actually saves YOU money because each quart of Tim-Ber-Lox you use replaces a quart of paint.
- ◆ Tim-Ber-Lox, mixed with paint, reduces "brush drag" to a minimum, thereby giving increased coverage and a superior, longer lasting paint job.
- ◆ Paint mixed with Tim-Ber-Lox flows on more evenly, more smoothly, allowing an inexperienced painter to do a smooth professional looking paint job.

OUTSIDE PAINTING

In order to secure a good paint job it is first necessary to secure a good ground or prime coat. It is in this prime coat that the addition of Tim-Ber-Lox to paint is highly recommended. Paint with Tim-Ber-Lox added, has superior penetrating and sealing qualities which provide a reinforced foundation against moisture and helps prevent the peeling and blistering of succeeding coats of paint.

PLYWOOD

A single application of Tim-Ber-Lox will prevent separating, will greatly reduce warping, buckling, surface checking and will eliminate "Grain Raise," leaving the surface smooth and uniform for subsequent coats of varnish or paint. It costs no more to use Tim-Ber-Lox -- as Tim-Ber-Lox replaces the prime coat of paint or acts as a varnish undercoat where plywood is later to be varnished.

HARDWOOD FLOORS

Tim-Ber-Lox gives a beautiful, soft, natural floor that is water, dirt and stain resisting. Tim-Ber-Loxed floors are sealed beneath the surface and therefore easier to keep clean, and retain the wax much longer.

MILLWORK

Tim-Ber-Lox treatment of all millwork -- sash, doors, window frames, etc., will help prevent moisture "pick up" which is the reason for paint peeling and blistering, will also greatly reduce warping, shrinking and checking. Millwork can be treated just as economically with Tim-Ber-Lox as it can be with ordinary paint.

To Report On Game Meeting

Jarvis H. McLeod, who returned to the city recently after attending a British Columbia game convention in Vancouver as zone representative for Northern B.C., reports a busy session with controversial issues concerning the entire province. Chief difficulties encountered by the Game Department, as revealed by Game Commissioner Cunningham, were a reduced appropriation from the government and a shortage of biologists for research work.

Mr McLeod, who represented game clubs of Ocean Falls, Queen Charlotte Islands and Terrace as well as the Prince Rupert organization, will deliver a report to the local club Tuesday evening.

District Firemen Having Refresher

A travelling unit of the provincial fire marshall's office is in the city giving a refresher course to the local department and company brigades of the district.

Yesterday's instruction included the following points: ladders, organization, a chemistry of fire film, knots, ventilation, forcible entry and salvage.

Today's topics are inspections, hose, a film, rescue, first aid, gas masks and fire gasses.

Under study tomorrow will be local inspections, first aid fire fighting, appliances, inspection, investigation and a film followed by a concluding forum.

The party arrived yesterday afternoon by motor. Members are John Newell, Ernest Riekey and James Dickinson.

Progressive-Conservative leader in the province, arrived in Terrace on Friday afternoon coming in by car from the coast and leaving the next morning for interior points accompanied by Mr. Merryfield. While here they were entertained to dinner by the president of the local Board of Trade, C. J. Norrington, and Mrs. Norrington, J. H. Stevenson, secretary of the Board of Trade here, completed the party. Later in the evening they adjourned to the Oddfellows' Hall where Mr. Anscomb addressed a meeting of the Board of Trade.
Being no stranger to the district, Mr. Anscomb expressed his pleasure at being here once again and spoke of the remarkable growth that had taken place since he first came here in 1917. He spoke on the P.G.E. and the problem of taking it into the Peace River to reach the vast wealth of high grade coal and oil in that area. He mentioned the cellulose pulp plant at Port Edward which would bring prosperity to the whole district. The Aluminum Company was still investigating possibilities of establishing here. All they have asked is permission to come here and harness the water which is running off to the sea.
Mr. Anscomb spoke on highways and the systematic development for the main highways of B.C. for which he felt that the Federal government should pay 50 per cent of the cost. The minister of finance spoke on the increase of Social Service from which there could never be any economic returns.

With the influx of population more schools were needed and more money was being budgeted each year to education.
The speaker disclosed that, in the past 18 months, 200,000 persons in B.C. had entered hospital and left without having to pay any bill. Hospital Insurance was a gigantic undertaking for the government and more co-operation was needed between the public, the doctors and the government to prevent undue advantage being taken of it, for, it was shown, that the average patient stayed two days longer in hospital than previously. This was keeping others from getting the hospitalization they needed. New hospitals are needed and, while the government is interested in constructing them, they are definitely not interested in operating them.
In the question period which followed his address, Mr. Anscomb disclosed that he was very much in favor of hospital sweepstakes as in the old country. Mentioning the 3% tax the speaker said that it had been successful mainly because one third of it goes to the municipalities.
Mr. Anscomb, in closing his "Story of Government," an address which had been essentially non-political all the way through, spoke on the bright future of the province as long as a sane view is taken and the expenditure does not get out of hand.

Better Garbage Service Needed
Dr. Duncan Black, director of the Prince Rupert Health Unit, at a meeting of the board last week, expressed concern over the amount of indiscriminate dumping of garbage that still prevails in this city. "This condition must be rectified," he warned, "or we will have a serious rat situation on our hands."
There is a city by-law, the doctor said, prohibiting such disposal of garbage and there is also a by-law which states that all garbage for collection must be kept in a metal container with suitable lid.
Dr. Black reported that A. G. Boas, sanitary inspector, has recently spent considerable time going into the garbage disposal problem.
"Prince Rupert has grown tremendously in the last few years and both Mr. Stewart, the city engineer, and Mr. Boas feel that the time has come for the garbage collection service to be expanded. They suggested that an additional truck, with two men, be hired to make collections every morning in the downtown area exclusively, thus leaving the existing truck for the residential areas."
After considerable discussion by the board, it was decided that a letter be sent to the city council explaining the need of expansion of service and asking for their co-operation.
Dr. Black and Mr. Boas both expressed the desire that in the future, issuance of trade licenses, particularly for restaurants and rooming houses, and plumbing

A "purely exploratory" personnel survey of B.C. provincial police is being made by a three man team from the RCMP this week. Inspectors Engel and LaPoint and Cpl. Brooke arrived last night on the Coquitlam to make the inspection regarding the proposed change to Mounted Police provincial policing. In all, permits, be passed by the police, fire department and Health Unit. This would enable the various departments to keep a closer check on conditions in the city. It was decided to send a letter to city council regarding the matter.
