Donald Gordon New C.N.R. President

Noted Financial Expert To Head Railway System

OTTAWA (CP)—Appointment of Donald Gordon, 47-year-old deputy governor of the Bank of Canada and former chairman of the Wartime Prices and Trade Board, as chairman and president of Canadian National Railways, was announced in the House of Commons today by Transport Minister Lionel

ST. ANDREW'S THANKSGIVING

People of St. Andrew's and their friends, old and young and numbering about 200, sat down together last evening in the Cathedral Hall at a delightful family Thanksgiving dinner. It was an appetizing repast which had been prepared by the Women's Auxiliary who were assisted in the serving by girls of the church. Tables were adorned with harvest fruits and the fare was bounteous and delicious. With Canon Basil S. Prockter, the rector, acting as master of ceremonies, an acceptable program followed the banquet. It included violin duets by Murray Boas and Robert Jansen; humorous monologues by W. D. Griffiths; Irish jig and tap dance by little Heather MacDonald and humorous songs by Leonard Sykes. Accompanist was Peter Lien.

NEW PREMIER FOR FRANCE

PARIS (CP)—Jules Moch, Socialist party leader, yesterday was asked by President Vincent Auriol to form a new French government. If he succeeds, Moch will become Premier to succeed Henri Queuille, who resigned six days ago in the economic dispute that split his 13-month old cabinet. Moch served as minister of the interior in the Queuille cabinet. The Premier-designate has been negotiating with leaders of other political parties for several days, seeking an agreement on the Socialist proposal for limited wage increases to offset the devaluation of the franc.

BYLAW VOTE IS RAISED SLIGHTLY

Majority of ratepayers favoring the school money bylaw at last Thursday's plebiscite rose slightly at the week-end with receipt by Returning Officer H. D. Thain of reports from Digby Island and Port Essington. The Digby Island vote of three in favor and two against, raised the approving majority for the city and district to 755 in favor and 161 against. Port Essington failed to register a vote either in favor or against. Still to be heard from are the rural polling stations of Port Simpson and Oona River. Report on the Port Simpson vote was expected this afternoon, Returning Officer Thain said. The favorable vote gives authority for the School Board to raise $407,515 as the city and district share of an estimated $30,030 required to build a new unit to Booth Memorial High School and a new building to replace King Edward elementary school. Provincial government grants will make up the other $407,515.

FIVE HUNDRED CITIZENS RECEIVE STIMULATION AT PRAYER RALLY

Five hundred Prince Rupert citizens gathered Sunday afternoon at the Civic Centre for spiritual stimulation at a public rally which culminated the current crusade of the Roman Catholic Church for a return to family prayer as a means of staying the world's deterioration. The impressive service was part of the growing campaign which is sweeping Canada, the United States and other nations and which is meeting with the response of people everywhere.

Inspiring address by Most Rev. Anthony Jordan, O.M.I., Vicar-Apostolic of Prince Rupert, an appropriate and graphic moving picture featuring Bing Crosby and Ann Blyth and a series of colorful recitative tableaux depicting incidents relative to the Nativity and the child of the Christ Child were the highlights of the program. N. R. Young was chairman of the proceedings and C. P. Balagano acted as piano accompanist. The hymn "Hoy God, We Praise Thy Name" was used in opening. The chairman, in opening remarks, expressed gratification at the size of the gathering which was adequate reward for the efforts which had been put into the organization of the rally. He hoped that the service might be a turning point in their lives of many who had attended. "Without voluntary prayer, civilization will cease, and most important is daily prayer in the homes," Mr. Young declared.

BISHOP JORDAN

Bishop Jordan said that the crusade for the purpose of reviving the practice of prayer to Almighty God had been brought about by the crisis of the world crisis although it should not need be a crisis to convince people of the need of prayer. "The most important thing in life," asserted the Bishop, "is to know that we are right with God. If we serve God right we will go to a happy eternity but how can we serve God and be convinced of His love and interest if we do not speak and listen to Him in reverent and respectful prayer whereby we are transported to another world of our Father in Heaven?" The family had been created by God, the Bishop continued, as the simplest and most effective means of living a good life in the intimacy of the home which developed greater virtue, nobility and holiness. He commended a few minutes every day in the home to family prayer. "If you do so," he exhorted, "a year from now you will find that you have been superabundantly rewarded." The picture, "The Road to Peace, Prayer," alluded to the strife and misunderstanding

New York Yankees Win Twelfth Series

BROOKLYN—Rex Barney's wild pitching which yielded six walks and four runs before he was retired in the third inning, together with timely hitting by the American Leaguers, gave the New York Yankees their twelfth World Series victory on Sunday. The Brooklyn Dodgers, despite a brave batting rally in latter innings during which they raised an adverse 10 to 1 count to a final count of 10 to 6, failed to overcome the deficit. It was four games out of five victory for the Yankees. A crowd of 33,711 fans packed Ebbets Field and paid $167,165.45 to witness the game. Brooklyn used nineteen players and six pitchers—Barney 2 2-3 innings; Banta, 2 1-3 innings; Erskine, 1-3; Hatten, 2-3; Palica, 4wo, Minner, one. Vic Raschi, pitching 6 2-3 innings and removed in the seventh when the Dodgers started a threatening uprising, was credited with the win although Joe Page, as relief pitcher, was also a key figure in the victory. Barney was charged with the loss for Brooklyn. Joe DiMaggio, who had been making an indifferent showing during the season and even into in the series owing to illness which extended into the classic itself, made a smashing home run drive into the left field stands in the fourth inning. It was a great battle between two courageous teams, particularly the Dodgers who had fought back in their tremendous effort to overcome the overwhelming deficit. Three hours and twenty minutes were required for the game and the lights had to be turned on as deep shadows extended before it ended.

It was the sixteenth time the Yankees had been in a World Series. New York 10 11 1
Brooklyn 6 11 2
Score by innings:
New York 263 113 000-10
Brooklyn 001 001 4 0 0-6

Pacific Defence

IT IS INTERESTING to see at least one of the large eastern newspapers showing appreciation of the defence position on the Pacific even if it is the now died-in-the-wool Tory Globe and Mail of Toronto which takes its cue from recent timely utterances on the situation by Major-General Pearkes of Nanaimo.

"The contribution to the House of Commons debates by Gen. Pearkes was one to awaken and interest all thoughtful Canadians," said the Globe and Mail in an editorial. He spoke about Pacific defence and had two important qualifications for doing so with authority. One is his own military experience which includes service in both World Wars culminating in his appointment as General Officer Commanding in Chief, Pacific Command. The other is that he represents the constituency of Nanaimo, a base on the Pacific shore where a close-up view of Canada's defence preparations in that zone may be obtained.

"According to General Pearkes, Canada is doing very little there. The country, he says, is vulnerable to attack along the whole length of the British Columbia coast. He speaks of a 'gap' in defence extending from the United States border to the Aleutian Islands. Without berating the government or any of its officers, he put forward some definite suggestions.

"At almost any time in the 1920's or 1930's the Canadian people could have learned that their Pacific coast was defenceless without a tremor of apprehension on any score. It is natural and traditional for Canadians to think of that frontier as no more needing bulwarks than the boundary that separates them from the United States. But it takes only a moment's thought to recognize that this carefree and confident attitude is no longer appropriate. The Great Power against whose aggressive policy the Western World is arming is a neighbor of Canada on the west; and for protection against an assault on that side we are now, it seems, depending almost exclusively on our American friends. Not many Canadians will regard this as good enough.

"The program set out by General Pearkes is exactly the sort of question which should be examined by a Parliamentary committee, with the help of defence experts.

"Up till now the government has resisted all proposals to set up this committee. Its view is that such questions as those raised by the Nanaimo member are beyond the scope of members, should be decided by the Defence Minister or the Cabinet on expert advice and their own responsibility, and anyway must be kept secret. But the very fact that General Pearkes could make the speech he made explodes all these objections. To begin with, it is obviously not a secret that our Pacific defences are weak; nor will it be a secret if they are improved. More important than that, General Pearkes has disclosed, by just one example, the shortcomings of the system of giving the Cabinet a free hand and keeping Parliament out of this policy sphere.

"The fact ought surely to be faced that Canadian governments are unaccustomed to the job of building peacetime defences. It would be very easy for a Canadian Defence Minister, anxious though he might be to live up to Canada's new security obligations, to slip back into the old 'economical' way of thinking and neglect a vital responsibility. That there has been just such neglect on our western coast appears to be the point of General Pearkes' speech. What he says emphasizes once again the need for thorough Parliamentary scrutiny of defence policy."

TALKING OF PRAYER

PRAYER is the greatest force known for grappling with everyday problems and for achieving serenity of soul, declares Norman Vincent Peale, author of "A Guide to Confident Living," in The Reader's Digest for September.

Not only does prayer have the power to calm our minds, Dr. Peale states, in an article condensed from Guidposts, but it can heal heartache and give us clear vision to act for ourselves. "If angry, anxious, vindictive or envious, you cannot think or act wisely. But in prayer your emotions come under control and your intellect penetrates the essence of a problem for the right answer."

Many businessmen use prayer as a reliable aid in their affairs, the author states. A leading department store executive communes with God for 15 minutes each morning. An industrialist, who "uses his car as a chapel," states: "Driving to the plant, I talk over my problems with Him. Instead of desperately expecting a prayer to pull me out of a mess, I condition my mind in advance to make calm and rational decisions."

The value of prayer was demonstrated, Peale says, in a recent sit-down strike at a large automobile plant. Management and unionists had reached an impasse. A union mass meeting, called for mid-afternoon despite the refusal of police to grant a permit, threatened violence and bloodshed. But at a conference preceding the mass meeting a preacher suggested prayer and, "to his astonishment," everyone joined. The resulting decision, a compromise by both sides led to a meeting that was a "completely peaceful affair."

Conversation with God should be a constant habit, Peale urges, not a maddened plea when one is at wit's end. "It is a Father and not a Santa Claus that we must learn to speak to in trust and obedience. The supreme model was given in the Gethsemane prayer: 'Not my will but thine be done.'"

LETTERBOX

CARPENTERS DISAGREE

Editor, Daily News:
Your editorial of October 5, entitled "Apprenticeship Here," was discussed by the members of the United Brotherhood of Carpenters and Joiners at their last regular meeting and I was instructed to convey to the public the views of our members on this subject.

It would appear from your observations as published that all the blame for Prince Rupert being the least apprentice-conscious town in the province was the sole fault of the boy and his parents. To date our organization has had many inquiries from boys anxious to learn the carpenter trade but we have yet to find any contractor anxious to accept the responsibility of training a boy for a specific number of years under government supervision.

We know the management of the Prince Rupert Drydock and Shipyard have been approached in the last year by the apprenticeship board in an endeavour to have a few apprentices placed in that yard but to date, as far as we know, there are no boys in training in that yard and it is in an ideal position to give the necessary training.

Another drawback to get suitable boys to start training is the regulations set by the government which allows an employer to pay as low as 25% of a journeyman wage to a boy for the first six (6) months. Organized labor has for years tried to have this wage scale raised with no success. To learn a trade a boy must have tools and encouragement and he certainly will be a long time getting them out of the wage scale set by the government if the employer adheres strictly to it and we know some employers who think it is O.K.

Our members, Mr. Editor, do not agree with your editorial when you state "it is the boys of Prince Rupert and not the businessmen or industrialists of this community that require to be educated."

We maintain not only in Prince Rupert but all over Canada there is more education needed among the businessmen and industrialists than among the boys or their parents.

All responsible parents will endeavour to give their children a better chance in life than they had themselves so Mr. Editor let's carry on the education all around for the good of our Community.

Thanking you,
J. S. BLACK,
Business Agent, Brotherhood of Carpenters & Joiners.

Mr. and Mrs. John Schild left this afternoon on the Catala on a trip to Vancouver.

TWINS' Mother Says

"NEOLITE WAS AN EASY WINNER!"

At Goodyear's request, Mrs. S. M. Marris, 139 Boyton Rd., Toronto, made the "Twin-Test". Bill (left) had NEOLITE soles; Bob wore shoes with leather soles.

● The two active Marris youngsters romped and played together all day long. Like other normal boys, they gave their shoes plenty of punishment—until Bob's leather-soled shoes had holes in them. But not Bill's! His NEOLITE-soled shoes still had plenty of wear left in them after the test! Yes, it's a proven fact—NEOLITE soles far outwear the toughest leather.

Start cutting family new shoe and repair bills with NEOLITE soles—right now! They're waterproof, healthful, gloriously comfortable!

School Gym Overhauled

The school gym is having its face lifted. A group of energetic girls under the supervision of Marion Greenwood, girls' sports representative, and Mrs. P. Adlem, girls' P.T. teacher, have been busy sweeping the floor and clearing the rafters of cobwebs, painting the all's floor-lines. The walls are white and the lines are red. It is hoped that the leaks in the wall and roof will be mended so that the volley-ball games which will be played soon will not be rained out. Enthusiasm, which was quite high at first, has fallen a bit but the work is progressing at a very favorable rate.

Personalities

SHARI INGALLS
(Vice President of the Students' Council)
Shari was born in Vancouver, December 5, 1933. She received her primary education in New Westminster and at Port Edward. She came to Booth in Grade Eight and is now in Grade Eleven, taking the university entrance course. She plans to be a nurse. Her hobbies are art and sports of all kinds. She belongs to the I.O.D.E. Her only complaints are that there are not enough good looking boys over six feet tall and the teachers give too much homework.

ARNOLD OLSON
(President of the Senior High Council)
Arnold Olson, the six foot two president of the Senior Council, was born in Winnipeg, Manitoba on May 16, 1932. His primary and unior high educations were received in Winnipeg, the latter at Lord Selkirk School. In 1947 Arnold came to Prince Rupert, where he has attended Booth since Grade 10. He is taking the University Entrance course and although, to use his own words, his future is uncertain, he hopes to attend Booth for grade 13 and continue to university. He has developed several interests since coming to Rupert among which are boxing and basketball. His home life is taken up with his coin and geological specimen collections and he is an ardent chess player. In addition to these he is no stranger to skiing, a skill he has enjoyed since early in life. Arnold, who is a good student, is now devoting much of his time to his office as council President. Good luck, Arnold!

Organizing Glee Club

Mr. Huber is organizing a Glee Club. The total he hopes to get is a hundred students so that he will be able to have a four part harmony. Margaret Strachan is the pianist, and assistant pianists are Mardale Soiland and Olive Strand. Mr. Huber says that they are planning to do popular songs, semi classical and some classical music. Later Mr. Huber plans to have an operetta to enter in the Music Festival.

(By M. G. 10-2)

In a wooded hidden valley, Laden deeply with snow Lies the great Peace River, Still it flows and flows.

Though its hills are darker, And skies so cold and blue, Always joy and gladness there Because it is so true.

Over its broad hilltops, Round its sweeping bends, Lies my tiny home town, There gay life never ends.

Ray Reflects and Reminisces

Many Prince Rupert people have never been further than Terrace along the Skeena. It's a scenic, historic, productive land. About everywhere looms a picture gallery as the river idens through the wilds, but the wilderness today is less pronounced. There is not the solitude of earlier times. Railroad and highway, tourists and travel see to this.

here for anyone who knows what he wants to do, is not afraid of work, and is not too impatient. An up and coming town is Terrace!

Terrace has achieved "the new look." Terrace, today, is different. New faces, new enterprises, new ideas and ambitions do not have to be sought, because there are so many of them. There is opportunity

The name "Holy City" is much easier to pronounce than Meamskinishit. This early missionary village, with its church and dwellings behind the trees can be sighted from across the Skeena. Its colorful history goes a long way back and none of it can be charged with dullness. The overshadowing peaks of the Seven Sisters fill the background. They draw one—as all sisters do.
