Unhappy England

WHATEVER THE SOLUTION may be for England's post war problems, the answer apparently will not be found through the Labor any more than any other form of government. Three years after the Labor regime took over food remains scarce, clothing is still rationed and no end of shortages is in sight.

Conservatives in Parliament are still voicing criticism, while there are signs that workers are becoming restive, growing weary of repeated pleas for greater output while their living conditions remain unimproved. The new form of government is no longer an experiment.

In England labor problems, once settled on the spot and governed by local conditions, now go to London, where they are passed upon by men who attempt to meet all problems through a single set rule.

A socialistic government is presumed to be a government by the people but there are those who are inclined to doubt that England's Labor government is such.

WAR OF NERVES

WHEN A RESPONSIBLE minister on the floor of Parliament talks about "a thousand Russian planes attacking Canada" he does not strengthen the struggle for peace? People, today, live under a strain. With every passing year, the tension becomes greater. The phrase, "a war of nerves" first heard not so long ago, is no idle utterance.

DEADLOCK POSSIBLE

IT IS NOT that anyone need imagine the inevitability in this country of a C.C.F. government. Under no foreseeable circumstances could that party win enough ridings to command a majority in parliament, comments the Ottawa Journal. What could happen though, and what the older parties must consider, is enough C.C.F. victories to create a Parliamentary stalemate. That, should it come, might well bring with it, deadlock, confusion—all the evils associated with a condition under which no single party has a clear mandate to rule.

PUBLIC WORKS PROBLEM

AFTER THE FLOODS, what? Next to the railway companies which are always more or less organized for emergencies the biggest job in this province is that of the Minister of Public Works, Hon. E. C. Carson. All plans for a big year of construction and rebuilding, will be shot, as new plans for repairing and rebuilding destroyed roads and bridges and lost ferries must be inaugurated. Mr. Carson will be the most abused man in the province although he has held his present position for only a short time he is not in an enviable position.

"I don't care if you can't cook, darling — so long as you can open packages of Post's Grape-Nuts Flakes!"

"Oh, George—you're wonderful! I'll just open a package of maily-rich, honey-golden Post's Grape-Nuts Flakes, and quick-like breakfast will be ready!"

"Um-m-m—that one-and-only, out-of-this-world Post's Grape-Nuts Flakes flavor!"

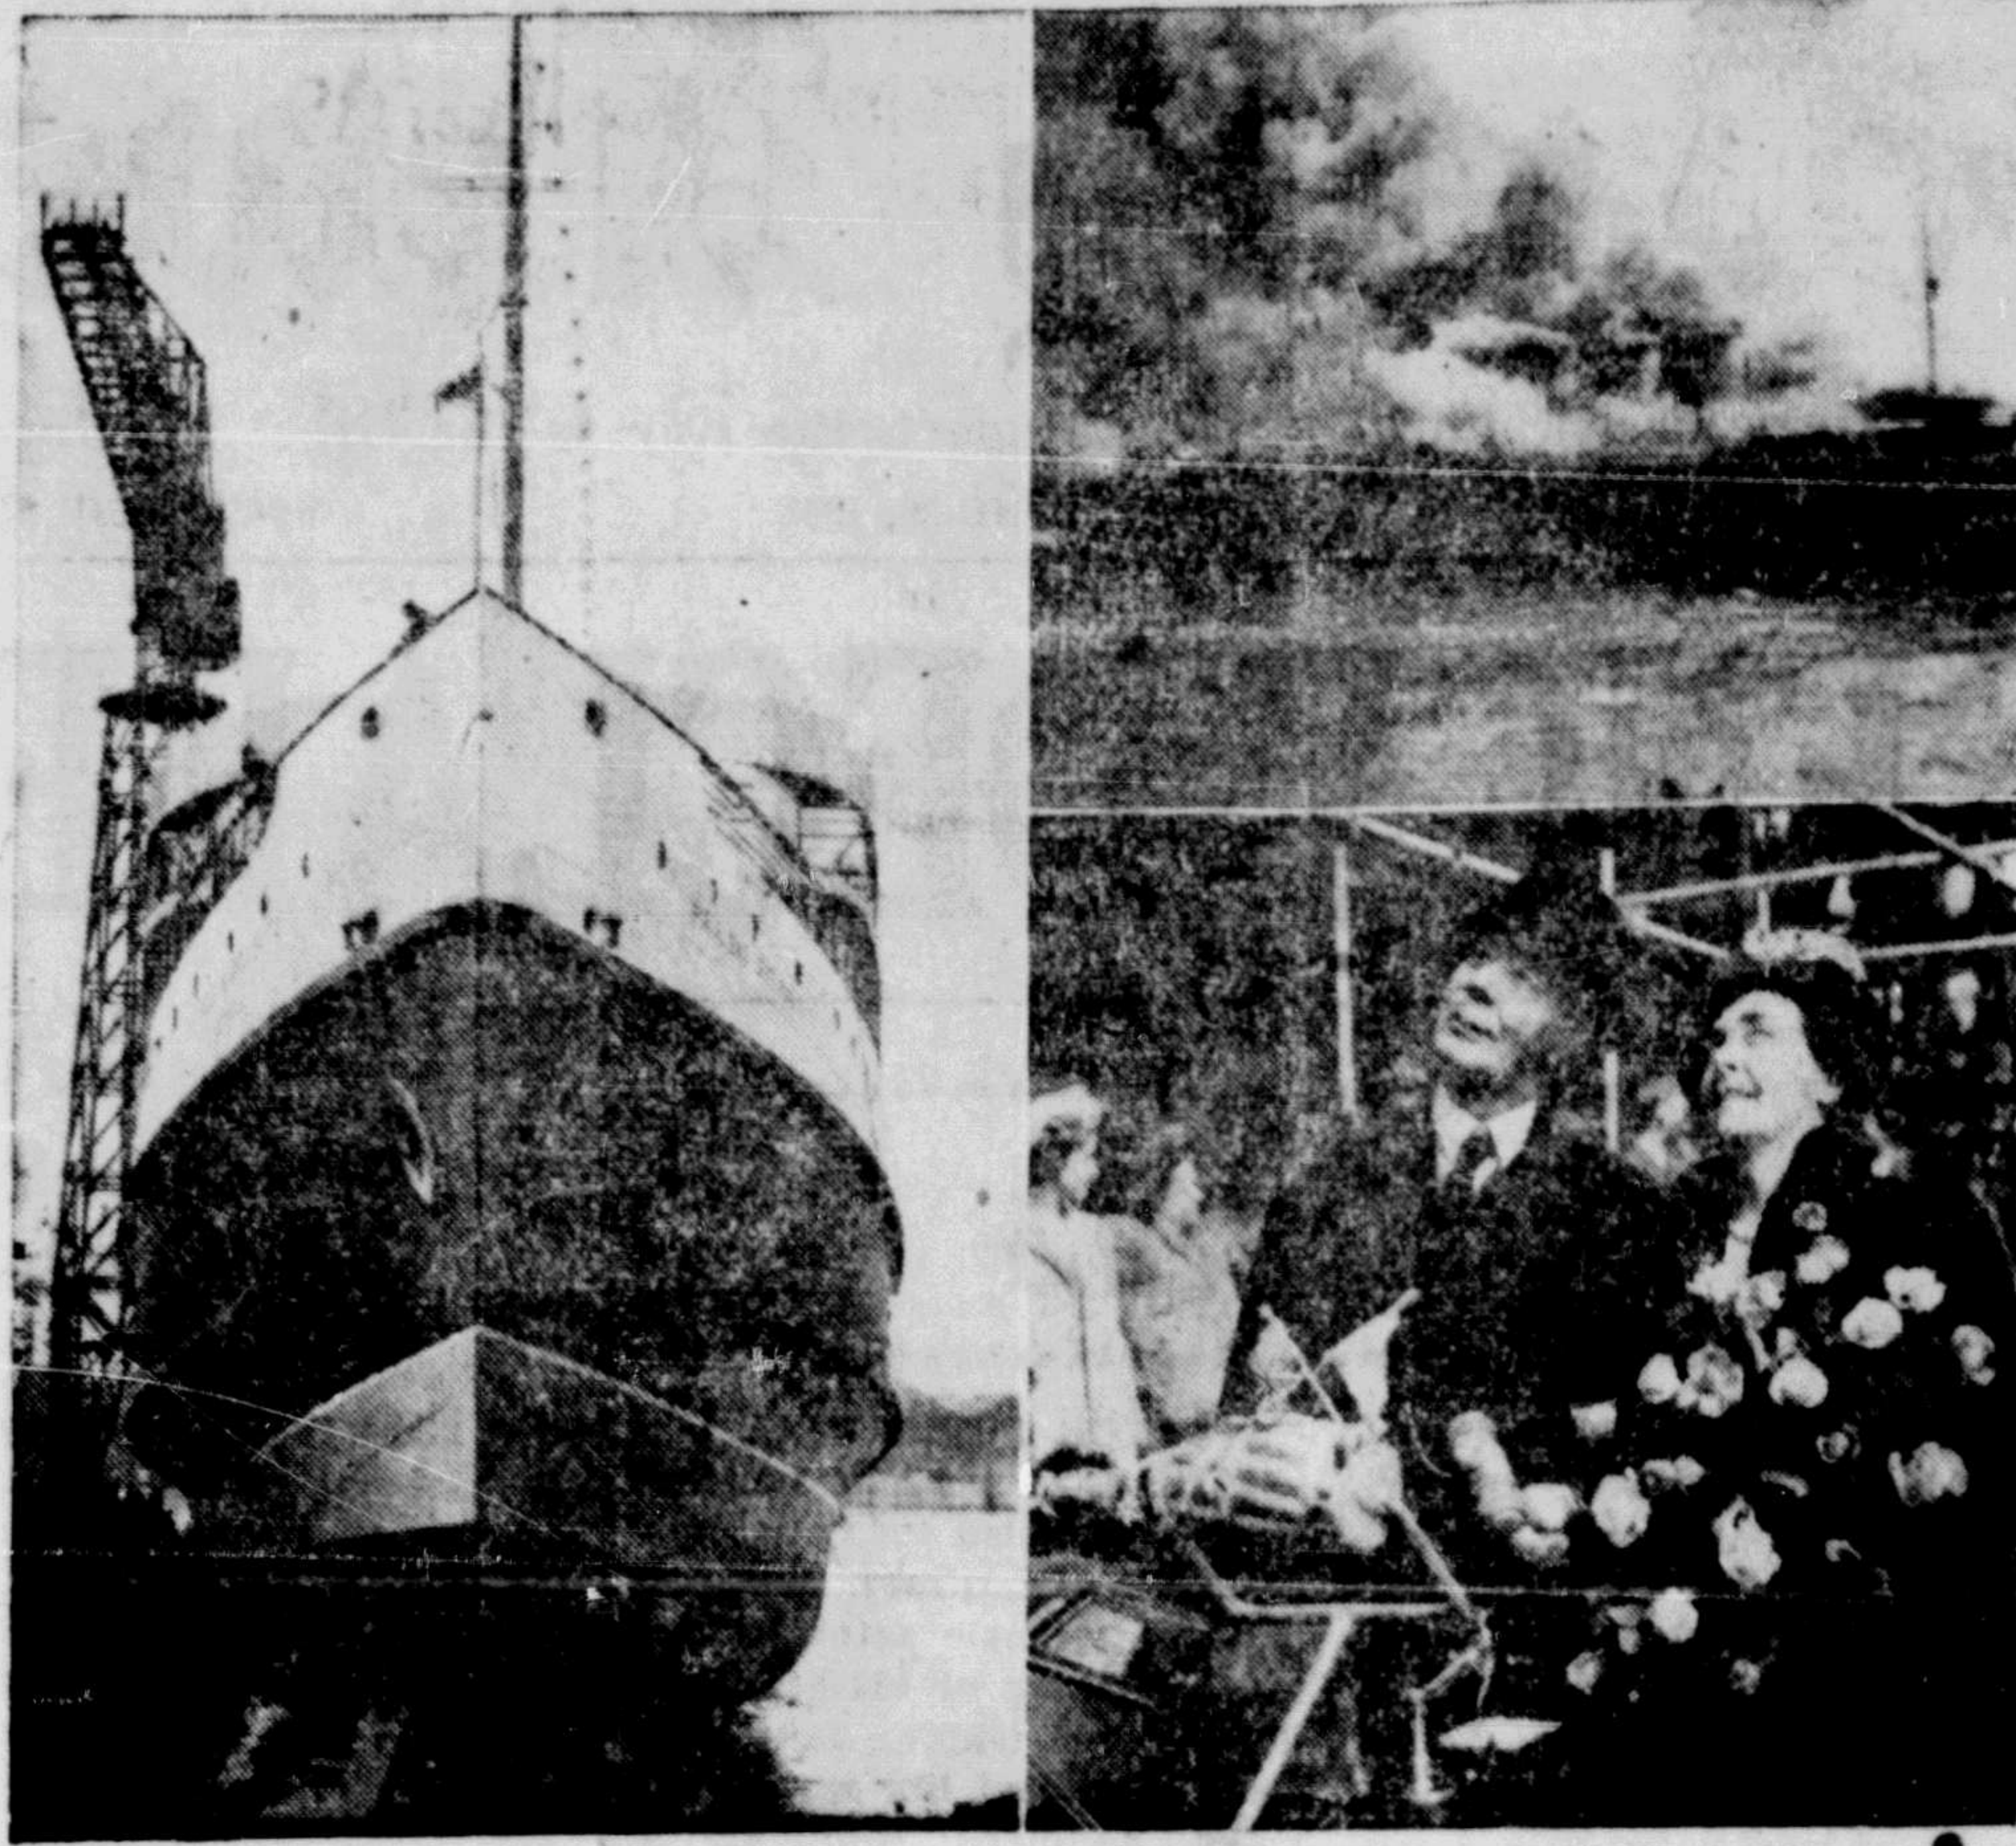

"And good nourishment, too, don't forget."

"Yep, Hon—they're jam-packed with carbohydrates, minerals and other food essentials that sure will make your husband a husky guy!"

"And of course I was only kidding about not being able to cook. I can make scrumptious cookies, cakes and other good things from those tested recipes on the Post's Grape-Nuts Flakes packages."

"How about picking up some crisp, crunchy Post's Grape-Nuts Flakes on our way down to get the marriage license?"

NEW B.C. COAST SHIP—The Princess Marguerite, (left) new 6,000 tonner for the Canadian Pacific's British Columbia Coast Service, was launched last month at Govan, Scotland. The new ship, which will be delivered late this year for the triangle run between Vancouver, Victoria and Seattle, with accommodation for 2,000 passengers, was christened by Mrs. R. W. McMurray, shown at lower right with Sir James Lithgow, chairman of the Fairfield Shipbuilding and Engineering Company, builders of the new ship. Mr. McMurray is the wife of Captain McMurray, managing director of Canadian Pacific Steamships, who brought the first Princess Marguerite out to the West Coast in 1925. The original Princess Marguerite is shown in the picture at top right shortly after being torpedoed in the Mediterranean in 1942 and just before she was sunk. The picture was taken by an officer on the H.M.S. Hero, which performed rescue operations. At the launching it was revealed that the new Marguerite cost four times what her namesake did.

Miss Alice Barbe Becomes Bride of John Christensen

A finger-tip veil bordered with lace-and-satin cutwork, brought over from Denmark recently by the bridegroom's parents was worn by Miss Alice Barbe Saturday evening for her marriage to John Christensen at St. Andrew's Cathedral. The rite, joining the Prince Rupert born couple, was performed by Bishop J. B. Gibson, assisted by Rev. Basil S. Prockter.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Alex Barbe and the groom the son of Mr. and Mrs. John Christensen. Both are well known city families.

Gowned in heavy white satin with long sleeves, scalloped lace yoke with sweetheart neckline, the bride was given in marriage by her father. Her bouquet was of red roses and lily-of-the-valley, bound with long white streamers to which roses were attached. Her finger-tip length veil was of lace and satin cutwork, the gift of the bridegroom's parents.

Mrs. Richard Foster attended the bride as matron of honor in a gown of pale blue taffeta. She wore a hat of blue satin and net and carried a bouquet of sweet peas.

Bridesmaid was Miss Lorraine Barbe, sister of the bride. She wore a gown of pale silk marquisette embossed with white lily-of-the-valley and hat of pink satin and net. Her bouquet was of sweet peas.

Groomsman was Jack Joy of Victoria, who came to the city especially for the event. Ushers were Merrill Meuse, Gordon Dell and Vernon Ciccone.

The church was decorated with flowers for the occasion. During the signing of the register, Cathedral Organist Peter Lien played appropriate music. All attendants taking part in the ceremony were local-born people. The bride is the granddaughter of Ex-Alderman and Mrs. W. H. Montgomery.

More than 150 guests attended the reception which followed at Valhalla Hall. They were received by the mothers of the bride and groom, the former wearing a long gown of rose silk crepe with white accessories and corsage of sweet peas. Mrs. Christensen wore a gown of black faconna crepe over peach nylon, with black accessories. Her corsage was of pink roses.

Double Donation

Plumbers' and Steamfitters' Union, at a meeting at the week-end, decided to double their subscription to the British Columbia Flood Emergency Fund by putting up another $50 to make the total $100. Robert Wilson, president of the Union, was in the chair and G. S. Weatherly was secretary. Business, otherwise, was of routine nature.

LEGION SOCIAL

On Friday night last week the Legion held the final of its social evenings, known to members as "Bring Your Missus Nights" these events to be discontinued during the summer months. Members of the Legion and their wives and members of the Women's Auxiliary and their husbands turned out in good numbers and had a pleasant evening with community singing, songs, bingo, etc.

The feature of the evening was the raffling of dolls, the handwork of the ex-nursing sisters at Miller Bay Hospital which were eagerly bid for and made a pleasant surprise for many a youngster on the following morning.

Miss Mary Morton, as chairman of the entertainment committee, and Vic Duncan, as master of ceremonies, were responsible for the evening's program, able assistance being given by Mrs. J. R. Elfert and Mrs. J. S. Black at the piano and other artistes.

PIONEER DIES

John Walker Exley Was for Many Years City Hall Janitor Here

John Walker Exley, one of Central British Columbia's oldest pioneers who became particularly well known as janitor of the City Hall here for many years, passed away in Smithers Saturday evening at the age of 87. He had been in failing health for the past two years but had only recently entered the Smithers Hospital where he succumbed.

It was in 1935 that Mr. Exley left the City Hall and proceeded to Smithers to reside on land which he owned between there and Telka. He was a native of England and followed the sea in his younger days.

Predeceased by his wife several years ago, Mr. Exley is survived by one son, Ernest Exley at Smithers, and six daughters—Mrs. Chester (Clara) Thoman of Smithers, Mrs. Charles (Lena) Morris of Smithers; Mrs. Oscar (Edith) Carlson of Prince Rupert; Mrs. C. B. (Amelia) Leavitt of Prince Rupert and Mrs. Edward (Winnie) Kane of Prince Rupert.

The funeral will take place in Smithers tomorrow afternoon. The three daughters in Prince Rupert—Mrs. Carlson, Mrs. Leavitt and Mrs. Kane—are leaving on tonight's train for Smithers to attend the funeral.

MARRIAGE UNITY

Christian marriage is a union which is part of the greater spiritual unity which is God's plan for the universe, Rev. Basil S. Prockter told his congregation in a special marriage evening address at St. Andrew's Cathedral Sunday evening. Couples who had been married in St. Andrew's during its long history were specially invited.

The problem of marriage and of the home are the greatest that people know because they are the most intimate and the most continuous, he declared. "There are other problems, often serious ones, but they cannot help but be submerged by the closer ones which surround us in our married lives," he said.

Mr. Prockter said that he believed it is "a great sadness" that people should wish for and expect happiness for newly married couples. The aim of marriage is not happiness but useful service in Christ.

Key to Christian marriage is Christ's statement that "they shall be of one flesh" and it is in this unity the marriage ceremony has its basis.

The beauty and comprehensiveness of the marriage ceremony is one to which few ministers take the liberty of adding words of their own, he declared, mainly because nothing could be said to improve on its pointedness or beauty.

Marriage itself is a sharing, a giving and taking because of the stresses inherent in human relationships. "If a marriage is running too smoothly, someone should indulge in self-examination and find out if perhaps he is not doing too much taking and not enough giving."

EXAMINER COMING—George Coultis, examiner for the Toronto Conservatory of Music, who is now coming here July 2. He had been "due here before this but his arrival was interfered with by the floods."

W. B. George, pioneer Portland Canal mining man, arrived in the city on the Catala Saturday evening from Victoria and sailed this morning on the Camosun for Stewart. Although 82 years of age, Mr. George is still robust and hearty and able to take to the hills in the same way he has done for so many years.

FRANZ CRIPPEN

Franz Crippen, who landed in Prince Rupert in 1909 and left in 1914, was short, black-eyed, efficient and quite alive to all that was going on. He was a fisherman, but he was also a railway construction camp but full of fun most of the time. His friends called him "Crip" and he loved a joke and was not afraid of perpetrating a few himself. When there was some off rumor about bombs, a poster-looking object was seen around the corner from the station. It was regarded with caution. No one felt like showing unnecessary chances. It showed suggested a home-made explosive and was placed in a bucket of water for a thorough soaking. Then it was examined. About 500 feet of old wire and string became gradually unwound, then a quantity of sacking, and finally the explosive was a small orange. The outrage was never brought home to anyone but Crip was in the credit. There were no possibilities of popularizing

MILLER BAY SCHOOL IS CLOSING

Program, Prize-Giving and Special Supper

All the children wore gay caps of red, white and blue and those too young for the school classes were wheeled in to join the party in the various wards. The program consisted largely of recitations by the children of their own selection from their memory work including items from E. Pauline Johnson, Robert Louis Stevenson, etc. Albert Stevens sang "God Save The King"; Rose Russell sang two solos, accompanying herself on the guitar and Robert Johnson, John Charlie and Larry Pierre played guitar trios.

The children offered their contributions to the program from their beds and their disabilities were triumphantly ignored in the excitement of prize-giving. The youngest prize-winner was Alfred Davidson who, with one arm in a cast, had struggled earnestly with his studies to receive a suitable reward. John Charlie and Margaret Joseph, from Burns Lake, also made notable progress during the year although never having been in school before.

After prize-giving the children themselves had gifts of knitted needle cases to give to Mrs. Davis, Miss Morton, Miss Corrie, Miss Platt, Miss McGrath, Miss Taylor, Miss Golliner, Miss Drummond and Mrs. McIntosh.

To close the proceedings a special supper, high-lighting pink ice cream and individual baskets of candy, was served. The girl prize-winners were

Mrs. C. T. Partington Passes Away In Montreal

A woman who lived here for several years during pioneer days and became well known and esteemed by many friends passed away not long ago in Montreal in the person of Mrs. Charles T. Partington. She was the widow of the late Major C. T. Partington who was in the retail liquor business here before World War I and who was killed in action in France during that conflict. They lived on Seventh Avenue East, having built a home there. After the war of 1914-18 Mrs. Partington was for some time engaged in instruction work among disabled veterans in military hospitals. She had been in ailing health for some years.

Mrs. Partington is survived by one child, a daughter, Mrs. Dorothy Moore of Seattle. Mrs. C. W. Peck, wife of Col. C. W. Peck, V.C., is a niece.

ACHIEVEMENT

Borden Street Junior Red Cross Has Envious Record

Many of the visitors to the Borden Street School tea and sale on Friday were greatly impressed by a summary on a blackboard giving the details of the school's achievements through Junior Red Cross activities in the past five years. The fact that pupils had collected 86,280 1/2 coupons in five years was almost incredible.

During the years when War Savings Stamps were available the pupils collected tea and coffee coupons. These were sent to the wholesale firms who refunded the value of the coupons in war savings stamps. This money was then turned over to the Junior Red Cross. With the stopping of the War Savings Stamps the children continued the collection of coupons and then had the firms return the value of the coupons in premiums. These premiums were then sold at periodic sales and the proceeds earmarked for Junior Red Cross services.

A summary indicates the tremendous job the children have done year by year:

- February 1934 to June 1944—16,515 coupons, value $275.25 stamps.
- September 1944 to June 1945—16,500 coupons, value $275.00 stamps.
- September 1945 to June 1946—16,817 coupons, value $284.75 stamps.
- September 1946 to June 1947—16,200 coupons, value $100.00 stamps and $147.32 sales.
- September 1947 to June 1948—20,248 coupons, value $356.19 sales.

Cash donations to Flood Relief Fund, $22.00.
Totals, 86,280 1/2 coupons, $1,461.11.

ASSIST RELIEF

Borden Street Pupils Raise $125 Through Varied Activities

Borden Street School Junior Red Cross, with the assistance of their Parent-Teachers Association, held a very successful tea and sale at the school on Friday afternoon and, as a result, the local Flood Relief Fund will be increased by $125.

In addition to the tea and sale of home-cooking there were articles of kitchenware, potted plants and bulbs. Leather goods made by Grade Four were also on sale.

During the afternoon the Borden Street School Choir excelled themselves in their program, singing "I Love the Merry, Merry Sunshine," "Golden Slumbers," "This Canada of Ours," "Cornish May Song," "The Little Dustman" and "Alouette." Olive Strand was a capable accompanist.

The sale was under the supervision of Mrs. S. A. Cheeseman, assisted by Mrs. H. C. Flood, Mrs. J. Lunn, Mrs. C. Strand, Mrs. H. A. Amos, Mrs. W. J. Lineham, Mrs. D. Parent, and Mrs. W. McLeod assisted by Grade Six pupils with president William Blackaby and treasurer Eddie Olsen, looking after the finances.

Included in the total sum was the amount donated by the children voluntarily towards the local Relief Fund. This amounted to $22 and speaks well for the generous response of the pupils. The grades staged a competition among themselves to see which could donate the most, and Grade One with $4.89, Grade Four with $4.20 and Grade Six with $4.05 were the leaders.

With a full list of 116 passengers, C.P.R. steamer Princess Norah docked here at 10 o'clock this morning, sailing again for Alaska at noon. She was under command of Capt. Graham Hughes. Two persons disembarked here from the Norah and four went north from this port.

The two 18-foot speedboats Aleta and Skip, in which Mr. and Mrs. J. Caylor and R. E. Harris and son of Bellingham made a trip to Alaska arrived Sunday after a successful trip. The quartette reported fine weather and a good trip all the way to Juneau. Roughest weather they encountered was between Ketchikan and Prince Rupert on their way back.

AUSTRALIAN AGRICULTURALISTS INSPECT CANADIAN CATTLE—Holstein-Friesian dairy cattle at the Central Experimental Farm, Ottawa, Ont., are admired by W. A. Meares and M. R. Buttsworth, leading Australian agriculturists, during a tour of Canadian farming institutions and farm areas from Winnipeg to Montreal. Reminiscences and Reflections
By W.J.

Life in some hospitals can almost be pleasant, providing there is nothing much the matter with you, recovery steady, and no bill at the end of the stay. We once spent a few months at Netley, near Southampton, England.

Being a convalescent, after a goodly bout with enteric fever, is not without compensation. Netley, as it looked in June more than a decade before the First Great War, was spacious, solid comfortable. The south coast of England, as one recalls the country, is leafy and verdant indeed in midsummer with more sunlight and warmth than mist and overcast skies.

Though a military hospital there was ample latitude and privilege in the long, grey stone building with wide lawns overlooking Southampton Waters.

Less than a dozen occupied our ward. They were typical Tommies and a jovial crew, even though still under medical observation. They all had one thing in common—an irrepressible sense of humor. One amiable Briton would persist in making jokes at the expense of a missing leg.

I was the only "Canoydian" there.

It was the daily duty of someone belonging to the mess to go to the stout—a tin pail of refreshment wearing a high collar, and guaranteed to restore the near dead. To stroll the stone-floored corridors, gaze through the tall windows at passing shipping, or chat with some non-com who might be feeling curious made the time pass agreeably.

"Ere," remarked a middle-aged sergeant, learning the young fellow with the Yankee accent came from near Nova Scotia: "I know Aulfaux. 'Ow's Aulbemaal Street?"

It was good to loaf the hours away, reading letters and papers from home—and also Harmsworth's Daily Mail, fresh from London. The original and aggressive publisher during this anticipation of a six million dollar stage of his career was changing the British press. Papers were becoming less ponderous and more stuffy. Stories were shorter and, in an unguarded moment, provided a site which lighter, clearer touch. And has not moved an inch since. As sites go, it could be worse. It's right in town with fountain playing night and day. But it should be remembered this has reference, not to a hotel, but to a site for one. Between the two, there is a fundamental distinction.

One does not look for snakes in a hospital, where strict sobriety prevails. Netley, however, had hundreds of serpents. In large glass jars, on scores of the stout shelves the stuffed forms of reptiles from the ends of the earth could be studied at leisure. Each jar bore its scientific and slang name, and place of origin. You never know what you may find in a hospital.

This is the season when graduation exercises are the order of the day and good advice is freely given. Some has been absorbed by the Boy Scouts Association of Canada. Graduates are urged to approach the future with a humility tinged with courage. It will be well for them to expect both knocks and disappointments. Soon, or later, each will surely arrive. Harsh medicine, but wholesome and invigorating.

Joe Walcott, before he fights again on Friday, perhaps may think twice!

It takes a well-informed, shrewd and well-balanced mind, in times like the present to distinguish clearly between what is malicious and deliberate propaganda and what is not. It is true enough that sometimes what one takes for Communism is actually nothing of the sort while that which inspires confidence and faith, is not only false, but devilishly clever and subtle.

Joe Louis told the world last week that it was his intention to retire from boxing and interest himself in politics. Mighty Puncher or Member of Congress! It could be both.

Yacht Club Busy With Visiting Cruisers—Gillnetter Sinks in Metlakatla Pass

The Prince Rupert Yacht Club was a busy place at the weekend, with three large visiting yachts moored there over Saturday and Sunday. The 110-foot diesel power yacht Principia of the Tacoma Yacht Club arrived at 5:30 Sunday evening, southbound after a trip to Alaska. She carried a dozen persons on a charter cruise. The 40-foot cruiser Nika, operated by George M. Ross also stopped overnight, southbound from Alaska. Members of the wine-making Gallo family of Stockton, California, visited briefly in their 50-foot yacht Vintner which is also returning south. The Vintner was in port last week, heading for Alaska.

The gillnet boat Violet W. of Port Simpson was towed to the Cow Bay floats here Sunday afternoon after striking a rock and sinking in Metlakatla Pass Sunday morning. The boat struck and settled on a falling tide. When the tide rose again the boat filled. She was placed on the Co-op grid for examination and repairs.

EVERYTHING HASN'T RAISED IN PRICE . . .

It may surprise many but 1847 Rogers and Community Silver flatware is the same price as before the war.

And as the tax is now off it should be doubly attractive.

Bulger's always sell standard goods at Canadian advertised prices even though express charges are more than those of places nearer to the factories.

For instance a Big Ben clock or set of silver sells for the same price as in Ontario where it is made.

A large part of our stock is made up of standard advertised goods and we try to keep the balance in line with the prices of other cities. And we guarantee the satisfaction of our citizens.

Something from Bulger's is always something worth having.

USE CERTO TO GET 50% MORE Jam or Jelly from your fruit WITH NO RISK OF FAILURES

With the cost of living so high, Certo is grand news for jam and jelly makers. The merest beginner can use Certo knowing her jams and jellies will turn out right. And she'll get one-half as much again from her fruit.

These results are easier to understand when you realize that Certo is actually the natural substance in fruit which causes jams to "jam" and jellies to "jell". It's extracted from fruits, in which it is most plentiful, to make jam and jelly-making quicker, easier, more economical.

THE WONDERFULLY SHORT CERTO BOIL
Certo ends the need for long, tedious, wasteful boiling to make sure your jams and jellies will set. With Certo, jams need only a one-to-two-minute full rolling boil . . . jellies a half-minute to a minute. This extremely short boil means:

- 1 A 50% greater yield because your precious fruit juice is not boiled down and down to waste away in steam.
- 2 A very short time only is spent in boiling and stirring.
- 3 There's no long boiling to dull the lovely natural colour or spoil the luscious, fresh taste of the fruit. They stay in your jams and jellies.

No Guesswork With Certo
Results are SURE with Certo if you follow exactly the Certo recipes provided. Different fruits need different handling. There's a separate kitchen-tested recipe for each one.

BE SURE OF RESULTS. MAKE YOUR JAMS AND JELLIES WITH CERTO. YOUR GROCER HAS IT. GET CERTO TODAY.

A pound of jam or jelly made with Certo contains no more sugar than a pound made the old long-boil way.
