Searching For Victims

For the bodies of Wil-Forbes and Aime Bour-believed to have been in Lake Kathryn early morning, was still con-at noon today, according to a report. A Forest aircraft was pressed into the endeavour, if possible, to ascertain if bodies could be found in the shallow lake bottom at a height.
The search was raised Sunday about 10 a.m., when the aircraft which the two men had set out was found overthe lake. No trace of bodies had been found this morning.
The search was conducted at the east end of Lake Kathryn, where the bodies were believed to have been early Sunday morning, leaving their car, but the search was difficult. However, 200 yards from the shore, a patch of white was seen to have been on the bottom. This might have been the shirt of one of the victims, it is believed to have been such a garment. The victim had a blue shirt.
The bodies, wife of one of the victims, arrived at Prince George last

New Charge By McCarthy

WASHINGTON (P) — Senator
Joseph McCarthy, Republican, Wisconsin, asserted today that he has airtight proof that an important official of the United States Department of State—a Moscow-born "Mr. X" is a Communist.
The proof, McCarthy said in a speech prepared for delivery in the Senate, is contained in the department's own loyalty files on the man. He said the evidence had been furnished by an agent of the Federal Bureau of Investigation who joined the Communist party in 1937 as an undercover agent.

Garbage Job Is Discussed

A question by Ald. J. N. Forman concerning the non-collection of garbage put out by citizens for over a week brought the explanation, at last night's meeting of the city council, from City Engineer Don Stewart that, when the street surfacing work started, the extra truck put on to haul garbage from the business section had been taken over for a few days to haul gravel, that the regular garbage truck had broken down in the meanwhile, that he had no known collections had fallen behind and that measures had been taken to see that it would not happen again.
Ald. Casey added that Boulter's truck was available for use for garbage collection at any future date when it was necessary to take the city truck for some other work.
The explanations and assurances were acceptable to the council.

Lilloet Fires Out Of Control

LILLOET (P) — Fires roared uncontrolled in mountain forests above Lilloet today, cutting a wide path through timberlands.
Two thousand acres of forest have been burned over in the last two days but the town, threatened for a time, is reported to be out of danger today.
The flames swept away from Lilloet as fire fighters, reinforced by a new 75-man crew during the night, built fire guards to divert the fires. Some of the men had battled fires for seventeen hours.

Invasion Of Quemoy Off

said that Red junks, which had been seen approaching the 50-mile square island, did not strike.

Young Grits Hot On Korea

VANCOUVER (P) — Proposal that Canada send ground forces to Korea caused a split last night in the ranks of the Vancouver Young Liberal Association.
The controversial issue was introduced by Alistair Fraser who said: "I think it is time for the government of Canada to have some guidance from the people of Canada."
After a lengthy debate, the resolution was shelved and executive members were directed to study a resolution.
"We should volunteer to supply ground troops," Ben Mc-Connell told the meeting. "We have paid lip service to the United Nations since the San Francisco conference of 1945."
One member suggested that all who supported the resolution should "go down and enlist."

BRUSSELS — Anti-riot squads of gendarmes went to section posts in Belgium today as epidemic bombs and acts of sabotage shattered an uneasy three-day calm fol-

City Asked To Take Base Back
A letter from the Department of Transport, Ottawa, read at last night's meeting of the city council, asked the city to get back control of the seaplane base at Seal Cove from the Prince Rupert Aero Club because craft other than aircraft had been allowed to dock there.
Ald. Frizzell said perhaps they were referring to the Department of Fisheries boats that were tied up there. He said the club had given them permission to use the floats when other space was not available to them.
A special committee consisting of Aldermen Fitch, Frizzell and Black was appointed to approach the Aero Club on the matter.

Victoria Report

... by J. K. Nesbitt

VICTORIA—Government House is in the news again. Time was when the mansion of the King's representative was never argued about. It was accepted as the home of the province's First Family, the citadel of Victoria's best people, the heart and headquarters of Capital City society.

But all that belongs now to an age that is dead. There is less and less entertaining at Government House. Politicians are publicly wondering if it wouldn't be better to turn Government House into an art gallery or a convalescent home.

Arthur Ash, M.L.A. for Saanich, made this suggestion a few days ago. He intimated he thought Government House had outlived its usefulness. The matter will be debated at the next legislative session.

Mr. Ash found support in surprising places. The Victoria Colonist backed him. This shocked some old-time Victorians who had come to depend on the Colonist as a bulwark against any weakening of ties that bind to Britain.

The Colonist, in an editorial entitled "It has long been a fifth wheel, snorted: 'Governors' levees belonged to the red-push age and that disappeared from the world quite some time ago. To return to that side of the institution as mere tourist bait is not good enough for a position with state and legal functions and yet it has been for that reason largely that Government House has been maintained at a cost of $52,753 yearly—a sum which might well be applied to other and more urgent purposes.'

This caused former Premier T. D. Pattullo to huff and puff, rush to his typewriter to bang out a letter to the Colonist. Mr. Pattullo is of the old school. When he was Premier he frequently consulted with the Lieut-Governor on high government policy, much as the Prime Minister of Britain trots to Buckingham Palace every few days. In B.C. this sort of consultation is now old-fashioned.

Mr. Pattullo wrote: "We should not lightly surrender the position we now occupy in Canada in suitably housing our Lieut-Governor. Some of the other provinces have suffered considerable humiliation at various times by reason of not having a suitable Government House. Are we going to tear up all our front lawns to plant potatoes? It is time the public should realize that the Lieut-Governor is not a mere figure-head whose duty is purely of a social nature, but is an important link in the chain of governmental responsibility."

From the side of the street, James Morton, who was private secretary to Premier John Oliver, viewed the picture. Mr. Morton is one of those retired civil servants who has to try and exist on a miserably small government pension, so the splendors at Government House are inclined to irritate him. He suggested that the Lieut-Governor could well live in his own house, and he said: "The maintenance of ten petty courts in a country with the population of Canada savors of the absurdity of the old German Pumpernickel princedoms. Surely we can get along without these tinsel and gingerbread imitations of royalty."

LETTERBOX

TRIBUTE TO MR. KING

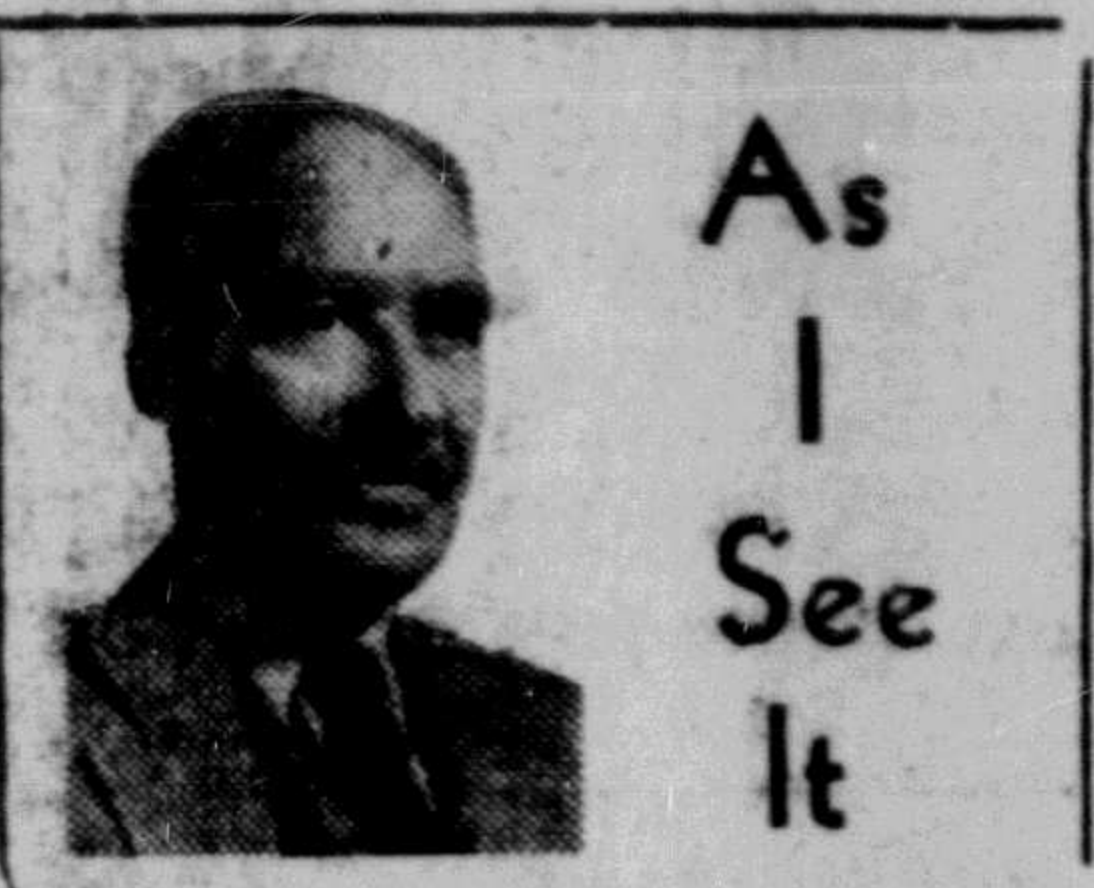

Editor, Daily News:
Gratifying to many it must have been to hear the fine tributes paid to our late Prime Minister, Mr. Mackenzie King, by outstanding public men of the day.

As a Canadian, I thank them all for their kind reference to a great man, a statesman, scholar, and student to the day of his death. In his stride he resembled fate itself. Never hurried, never delayed, passionless, pitiless, patient, keeping the trust, never early, never late, there on the very stroke the instant fixed. At the rough and tumble of politics, he was at his best. As counsel in state affairs he had few equals. His great ability was demonstrated in the war record of his government. In social science, he has left a legacy to our country. In a democratic way he completed the work started by his grandfather in 1837. In the affairs of state, when things were going well he was satisfied to leave it that way.

So now closes the career and chapter of Another Canadian Prime Minister, William Lyon Mackenzie King.

GEO. B. CASEY.

Miss Louise Amadio returned to the city by air today from Oakland where she has been paying a visit with her brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. Michael DeFazio. Mrs. Amadio, who has also been visiting there, will be returning to the city next week.

As I See It

By ELMORE PHILPOTT BIG DAY IN YUKON

AN ANGLICAN MISSIONARY has confessed to me that he is out on a limb!

He is Rev. H. S. Bridge, of Moosehide, near Dawson City, Yukon Territory. I heard him preach a couple of years ago when I was up there. At the time I wrote about his punch and brevity.

As I saw for myself, Mr. Bridge ministers to natives—Indians as we call them. In his congregation he has some of the loveliest looking little girls I ever saw—and rugged looking little boys that you almost wish you could adopt into your own family as soon as you see them. But the parents of these youngsters are poor—desperately poor. They are rich in only a few things—one of them being the visible mutual affection that exists between them and their missionary, Rev. Bridge. He's not rich either, except in faith.

A FEW MONTHS AGO WHEN Mr. Bridge had to come to Vancouver to try to restore his health he made a promise to the youngsters. August 17 is Discovery Day in the Yukon—and a really gala occasion. On that day everybody who is anybody in the Klondike throws on a bit of dog. The ladies blossom forth in their best dresses, the men in their best suits and so on.

Rev. Bridge promised his boys and girls that, with Divine help, he would do his best to get them each a new outfit by Discovery Day, 1950.

There are just fifteen youngsters in the group—so it's not much to ask. The missionary wants a nice dress for each of ten girls, and shirts and pants for each of his five boys.

Here is the exact list:

Girls—	Age	Size
Irene Henry	7	10
Virginia Joseph	8	10
Alice Martin	8	8
Margaret Henry	8	10
Linda Semple	10	11
Fanny Henry	11	12
Betty Joseph	11	12
Doris Roberts	12	14
Mary Henry	13	14
Peggy Semple	13	14
Boys—	Age
Michael Semple	7
Herbie Roberts	8
John Haydeu	8

Jack Semple 12
Edward Roberts 14

THE MISSIONARY DID NOT tell me exactly what kind of dresses the girls wanted. I think they would like those blue tunics the little girls wear in boarding schools, etc. But I would bet that they would love just about any nice dress. I would also bet that they would like shoes, stockings, and underthings too. The summers are short up in the Yukon. So if anybody feels like helping this missionary make good on his pledge—send along the kind of clothes that do for winters too.

ORDINARILY I WOULDN'T write this kind of column. But after all—when a missionary is out on a limb somebody has to help him down.

The address is Rev. H. E. Bridge, 4042 West 11th Avenue, Vancouver. But the clothes must be shipped from Vancouver by August 5 or they can't get to Dawson City for the Big Day.

Brown And Blue

SINCE the shooting war ended in Europe and our erstwhile allies commenced an orgy of imperialistic gobbling that has no parallel for speed in recorded history, there have been various patterns emerging in the Russian portion of Europe that help to clarify the shape of things to come.

First came the ominous clanging down of the Iron Curtain, which signified a divorce in the wartime marriage of the Soviets and the West, and caused political and economic troubles still bothering a jittery world.

Next came the drive against the church and its leaders in the satellite countries, which was climaxed by the Mindszenty trial. This campaign to reduce the stature of the church and blacken the character of its leaders was designed by the Russian chieftains to replace the worship of God with worship of the state. What its authors hope for is obvious. Religion and Marxism are incompatible and, if religion is suppressed completely as time goes by, future generations of Communists, disarmed of spiritual strength because they never knew it, will be less of a potential menace to their imperial masters.

There is emerging now a third pattern and this one they stole, without change, from the late Adolf Hitler. Remember how the unlamented Austrian corporal clothed his German kids in brown, taught them to march and roar "Heil," sent them to camps and on boat rides. In a few, short years, he owned their souls and their minds. These Hitler kids of 1935 became the crack paratroopers of Crete and the fanatic SS men of Holland and Belgium. Hitler was their idol.

Today, with Hitler in some unmarked grave, the kids in the Russ-controlled sector of Germany wear blue, but the marching and the flag-waving and the saluting are the same. The master has changed, but the youthful servants remain, delighting in uniforms and the regimentation that appeal to the mass-mind of the methodical Teuton.

Are these the shock troopers of tomorrow? Maybe we are being pessimistic, but the East German kids look suspiciously like the Hitler youth of 15 years ago when the Fuehrer argued correctly that if you control the child, you control the man.

The indoctrination, the marching, the drilling, the regimentation, the enthusiasm, the godlessness are the same. Only the color of the kids' uniform is different.

HELPING THE BLIND

FROM the standpoint of sympathetic interest, we would commend to the support of the good people of Prince Rupert the branch here of the Canadian Institute for the Blind which is to be inaugurated at a meeting in the Civic Centre tonight.

We have our cancer society and organizations designed to aid in the relief and prevention of such other maladies as arthritis and tuberculosis. All are worthy and, like we are doing now, we have on occasion bespoke support for them.

In aiding the blind, those people who have been thrown into a state of darkness by the loss of the precious faculty of sight, there is something that captures the imagination and the sense of mercy and human assistance.

Formation of a Blind Institute branch here, offers a chance for a work of kindness and tonight's meeting would be a good place for people who feel inclined along these lines to attend.

Who knows when we ourselves might be so sorely afflicted?

CANUCK IN FAR EAST—David Streit, 19-year-old Canadian who ate his way into the United States Army, is one of the few Canadians who may see action in the Korean War. His mother, Mrs. Elizabeth Streit of Kitcheener, Ont., said the last letter she received from him was written from Japan. Two years ago Streit went on an eating spree to reach minimum weight requirements when told he was too light. (CP Photo)

COOKING A FISH WITH A MILLION DOLLARS

Give a million dollars to a South Sea islander, completely cut off from any place where production is going on, and what can he do with it? Maybe use it to cook his fish.

Business is complicated. It has been defined as a three-legged stool, with one leg the customer who buys the product, one leg the investor who furnishes the plant and tools, and the third leg the worker who uses the tools to make the product.

Even that isn't a complete definition. Most consumers and workers are also investors, and most investors are both consumers and workers.

One thing they all have in common under our system—a common incentive, which is the hope of reward.

Generally speaking, what they want is to live better and in greater security. Toward that purpose our system works better than any other anywhere in the world.

Faith In Man Is Needed Today

Rev. L. G. Sieber Discusses Current International Situation

In his sermon on "Our Faith in Man," at First United Church Sunday morning, Rev. Lawrence G. Sieber gave a challenging address on the part that man can and must play in the world. As mere animals men do not accomplish much but as children of God they have endowments that will enable them to move forward and upward. A commentator had said that the characteristic of the Nineteenth Century was man's inability to believe in God, whereas the characteristic of the Twentieth Century was man's inability to believe in himself. This was responsible for the increasing frequency of war and the larger areas affected by them. It was a notable fact that no creeds affirmed their faith in mankind. They all looked to a higher source. The conflict between the classical theory that man was essentially good and the Christian view that man was essentially evil was a challenging one. Man was created in the image of God and could make the choice.

Popular education, with its accompanying overall literacy, had had its disturbing effects. The radio, the press, magazines had often been media for propaganda of a cheapening instead of an elevating philosophy of living. But man was in a state of confusion. His problem was to learn to live together in the world. When he did so there would be no such problems as in the Korean situation. The creed of the Communist that all classes must give slavish obedience to the ones who gained power could only bring disaster. Man must regain faith in himself. That he could do by using the reason, judgment, and conscience that are his by virtue of his having been created in the image of God. In that faith, material differences would be composed and the triumph of the spiritual would bring all peoples in to one brotherhood of man and the fatherhood of God.

The children's story was very acceptable and helpful. Miss Margaret Large was organist and the summer choir provided the leadership for the singing. The outstanding musical number was the singing of the solo, "Panis Angelicus," by Dr. W. J. Mahabir. Dr. Mahabir's fine tenor voice was heard to advantage in his splendid rendering of this famous selection.

Make Jams and Jellies
this Easy,
SHORT-BOIL
way

5 reasons why it pays to make jams and jellies the modern, Short-Boil way with CERTO Crystals

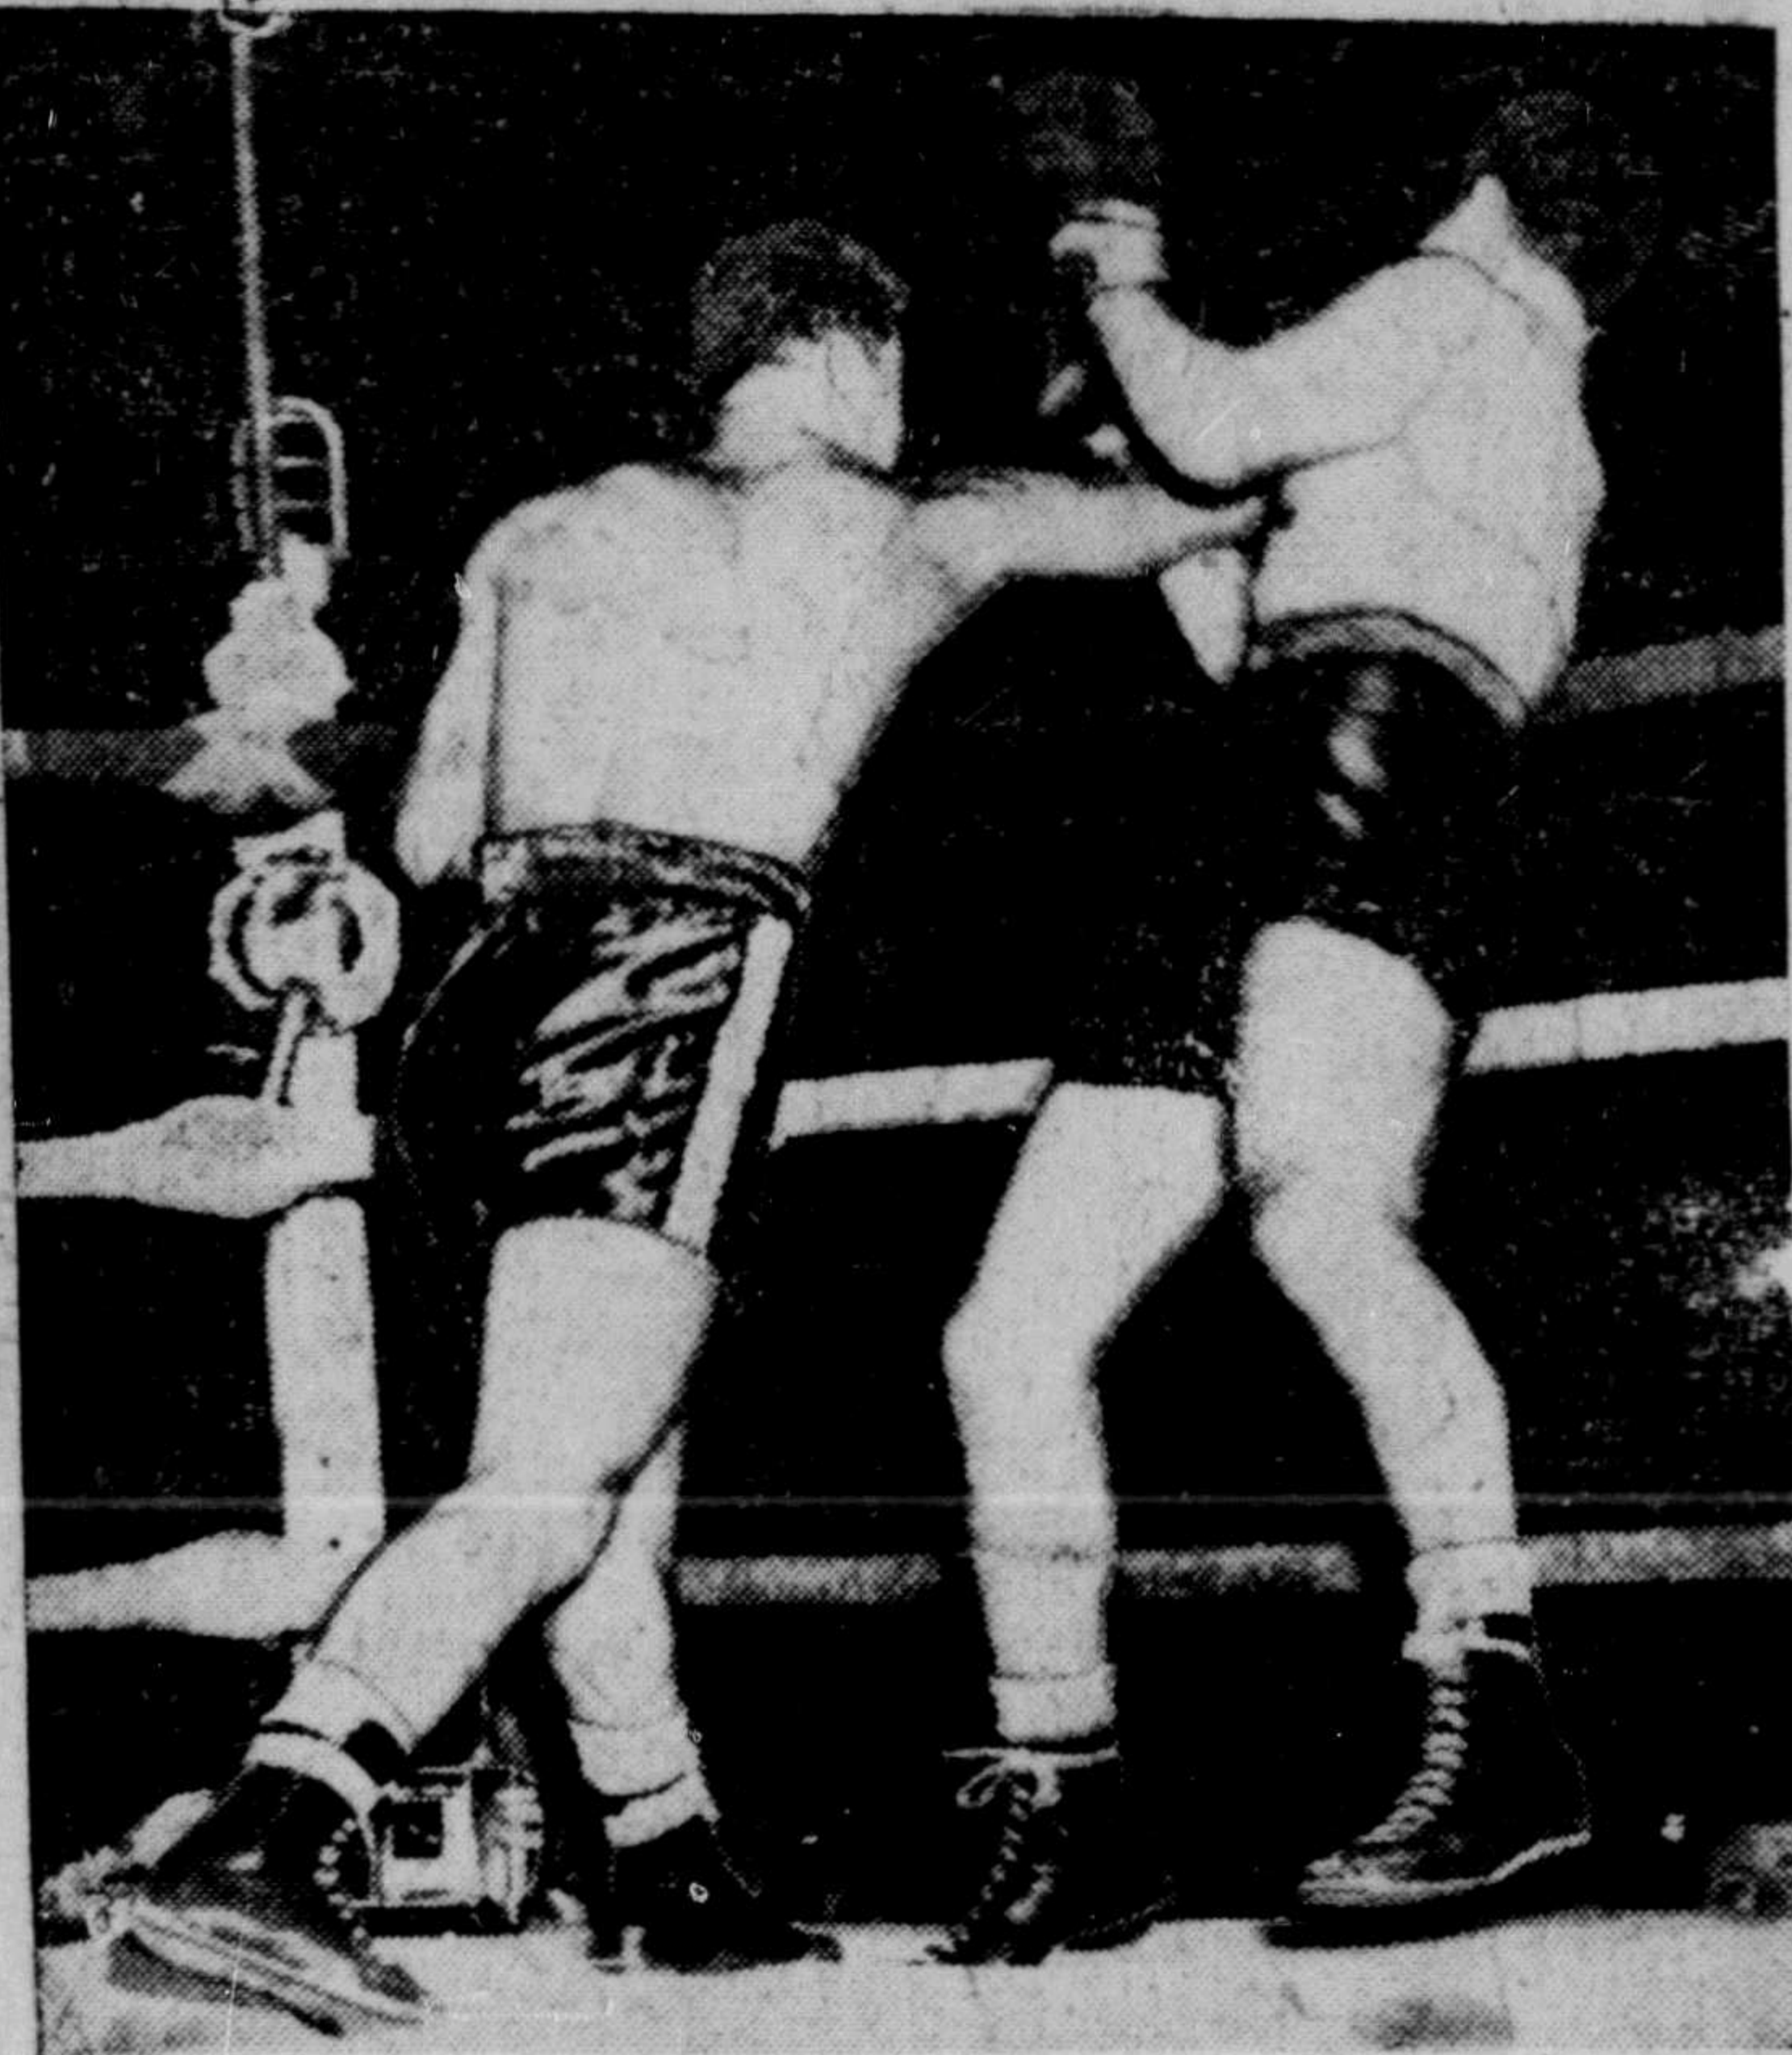

While fruit is plentiful make enough jam and jelly to fill your shelves. Get CERTO Crystals at your grocer's.

CERTO FRUIT PECTIN
Crystals

A Product of General Foods

- 1 It's so easy to make jams and jellies with CERTO Crystals—the pectin product in crystals form that helps all fruits to jell perfectly.
- 2 A ONE-MINUTE full, rolling boil only is needed with CERTO Crystals. This cuts down time needed for making jam and jelly by two-thirds!
- 3 NATURAL TASTE and COLOR. The boil is so short it does not dull the lovely, fresh color or spoil the delicious, fresh-fruit taste.
- 4 YOU AVERAGE 50% MORE jam or jelly from the same amount of fruit because you save all the precious juice that wastes away during long boiling.
- 5 ENDS GUESSWORK. There are tested recipes for each kind of fruit in Crystals. Follow the simple directions EXACTLY to get SURE RESULTS.

DECISIVE BLOW — Laurent Dauthuille, 26-year-old native of France who has made Canada his new homeland, lands a solid right to the head of Tuzo Portuguese, 22, of Costa Rica. The blow knocked Portuguese early in the third round of the scheduled 10-round bout in Montreal. Dauthuille now is expected to meet Jake Lamotta, world middleweight champion. (CP Photo)

Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Patrick, Miss Mary Patrick, Mr. and Mrs. W. Johnson, Napa, California, who motored here in their two automobiles, sailed with them aboard the Coquitlam on the southbound trip this afternoon.

It is expected that next Saturday the Kincolith native football team will play a selected team from the city. H. Doolan is the games manager and A. C. Layton the manager of the football team for Kincolith and it is expected that these two will confirm the game during the week.

Perhaps it was because it was Saturday evening and many of the players were not available after the game but there was a very poor turn-out to see the instructional films on football shown in the Canadian Legion auditorium after the game. Actually there was only one active player present Bobby Armstrong and probably he is one who needs less instruction than most of the players. He was greatly impressed with it. The others were football enthusiasts and supporters including George Abbott, Jack Frew, Leslie Parkes, A. J. Croxford, Jock Davidson among others. They were greatly impressed with the value of the instructional work demonstrated through such players as Stanley Matthews, Bryn Jones, Mortensen, Lofthouse and other world-famous players. J. S. Wilson operated the projector. Showings will take place this evening and Wednesday.

Last Saturday's football game between Port Edward and Prince Rupert was closely contested with defences on both sides being superior and neither forward line shooting really well. The hardest drive of the game was by Williams but Boulter happened to be in position to stop it. Willard Williams, though not the regular goalkeeper, did well. Joe Daniels and Stanley Williams put up a sound, clever defence both tackling well and kicking hard. The three halves all did well but found the local forward line hard to check. Harris got through a lot of work and was well helped by Campbell and William Williams. The forward line lacked cohesion. They often threatened but were never able to get really going. The star was Alvin Weget. Not the youngest of the team by any means, he showed clever footwork, deceptive tactics and all-round ability. The others showed ability in flashes but failed to drive through. Nearly half the team consisted of Williams's, there being five on the team.

Boulter was sound but was not severely tested. Eby and John Wilson coped with most of the attacks successfully. Olsen played his usual bustling game and got through a lot of work. Mazzoni was very sound using his head to good advantage. Alex Gomez was also very good and crossed several balls into the opposing goalmouth. The forward line was good with Armstrong the sparkplug. He and Murray were always dangerous. Pavlikis did not show up as well as usual but opened out the game. Ford and Pat Wilson were good on the right wing.

While Miss Peggy Stewart was about to remove a cluster of bananas from a bunch in McMeekin's grocery store, a tarantula dropped into her hand. Miss Stewart showed good presence of mind. She did not molest the insect, which in a few seconds dropped to the floor. Miss Stewart then called for assistance. The poisonous stranger was captured and placed in a glass jar.

Spotless as the icing of a wedding cake, the yacht Invader arrived in port yesterday afternoon from San Francisco. Her owner is Don Lee, who made his millions in manufacturing automobile parts.

Approximately one third of the town of Port Essington was burned yesterday afternoon. It was at first reported that two canneries had been burned. This proved incorrect, although there were times when they were dangerously close to being consumed.

Council Is Dissatisfied

In a question and answer period at last night's meeting of the city council, Ald. T. B. Black called attention to the council of items appearing in the local press by the Prince Rupert Chamber of Commerce and the provincial Department of Public Works dealing with the condition of the road between the city limits and Galloway Rapids Bridge.

Ald. Black said transportation companies were caused countless additional expense through the condition of that piece of road. He said he was more inclined to agree with the Chamber's statement about impassability of the road rather than with the provincial department denying it. He suggested the department be asked to look into the question with the idea of bringing about improvements.

A motion asking the investigation be carried out passed unanimously. The investigation will include the stretch a mile beyond the bridge.

Another of the Klondike's originals has hit the long, long trail. Hartley C. Myrick, sr., aged 65, the "Kid that handled the music box in the Malamute saloon," died last week in a Seattle hospital, following a long illness. He became a sardough at 13 and played the first piano ever seen in Skagway. He did his part in contributing to the general joyousness when "a bunch of the boys were whooping it up," with Bob Service and Dan McGrew doing the rest. The name "Rag-time Kid" stuck to Myrick for the rest of his life.

Prince Rupert registered 65 on Sunday, the same day people in two other British Columbia cities were steaming through a hundred in the shade. In other words, Prince Rupert was the coolest and most comfortable spot in the province.

Manitoba Gets Over $9,000

The report of the Manitoba Flood Relief Campaign presented by secretary-treasurer H. D. Thain at last night's meeting of city council showed that funds in excess of $9,000 had been donated by citizens of Prince Rupert toward the campaign.

The citizens' committee had collected $5,718.55. An additional sum of at least $2,760.45 had been remitted by the banks either through their own campaigns or that of The Daily News. The latter figure is not complete as some remittances had been made before they were recorded. In addition there had been remitted by means other than through the local banks a total of $509.

Ald. H. F. Glassey, seconded by Ald. T. B. Black moved a tribute to the secretary-treasurer and his assistants for their work and also canvassers and contributors for making the campaign a success, and an order for a card of thanks to that effect be placed in The Daily News.

action in repelling invasion, police work. Perhaps so. What's going on now could safely be called war. If not, then why is Ross Munro in Japan? This noted Canadian correspondent has just arrived in the Orient. He certainly is not expecting to find policemen.

There will be no autobiography of Mackenzie King, and Canada will be the poorer for it. He had intended to write the story of his life and the country was anticipating his memoirs. But now, all that can be possible will be his biography and, while these will doubtless be excellent, none could ever hope to equal the clarity and sureness of a record that had its source in the man himself.

If the Cunard-Donaldson liner Franconia which stranded a few miles after sailing from Quebec, had to have a spell of grief, it was just as well to have it happen the way it did. The ship was floated in a few days. There will be an ordinary drydock job. No losses to speak of and no one injured. That's much better than fire or collision at sea. But it will be up to the skipper to do a bit of explaining.

A lobster fisherman says he has seen a submarine off Cape Breton and a codfisherman declares he also has sighted a submarine. Both are inclined to think it was a Soviet Russia undersea craft. What do most of us really know about U-boats? If we were on the best of terms with Moscow, it might, instead, have belonged to Brazil or Italy or France.

The dignity of a seat on the Bench is not what it is always cracked up to be. In London, a Mrs. Mona Sargent, 33, entered a damage claim against a transport company, alleging injured knee, and asking the court to feel it to test its "creaking." Newly appointed Justice Donovan, looking thoroughly uncomfortable, declined. His Lordship said he could not have foreseen any request such as feeling a lady's knee, in seeking evidence.

Return Junior Softball Game

TERRACE—Sunday the Prince Rupert Junior softball boys played Terrace at Terrace. The game was won by Terrace with a score of 19-10. Up to the sixth inning the Prince Rupert boys were winning 8-5 but a series of errors by Prince Rupert allowed Terrace to force into the lead and remain there to the end of the game.

Good clean sportsmanship was shown and enjoyed throughout the game by both teams.

A return game with Terrace will take place at Prince Rupert in about two weeks' time.

Tonight the junior boys will be turning out for their regular game beginning at 6:30 as usual.

Milk is well-protected by Aluminum

An Inside Story

1. The nourishing glass of milk from Grandma is the happy ending to this story. It started when Nature put aluminum in the earth itself. That is why this important mineral is right in the milk we drink.
2. And Nature gave aluminum qualities that make it ideal in contact with food. Many milk cans & many parts of modern milking machines are made of aluminum.
3. From farm to dairy... from country to city... rich, wholesome Canadian milk is being increasingly carried in aluminum containers to reach you fresh and pure.
4. And to cap it all, many bottles of milk are protection-sealed with shining aluminum foil tops. Aluminum assures cleanliness for this most sensitive of all foods.

No other material is more "food-friendly" than aluminum: Whenever you see aluminum on the outside of a food or a drink, there's an "inside story" of perfectly protected flavour, quality and purity.

Institute For Blind Forming

Organization Branch To Be Inaugurated In Prince Rupert Tonight

With Mayor G. W. Rudderham presiding, a branch of the Canadian National Institute for the Blind will be organized at a meeting in the Civic Centre tonight by its totally blind executive officer for British Columbia, Percy W. Ogilvy.

Firming of the branch in Prince Rupert will follow similar organizations at Prince George and Smithers during the past week.

Mr. Ogilvy and Harold Guest, also of Vancouver, field secretary for the north area, arrived here Saturday night from Smithers. Tomorrow they will proceed to Vancouver by air.

Mr. Ogilvy, white cane in hand but alert and enthusiastic despite his affliction, called at the Daily News office yesterday afternoon to explain the work and objects of the Institute and to invite the editor to attend the meeting tonight.

Mr. Guest is also in the blind category with a vision of not more than five per cent.

Now that a field secretary for the northern part of the province has been obtained, the local branches are being formed with the primary object of being complementary bodies to assist the field secretary in the extension of services of the Institute to the blind of the area, to make references of cases of visual handicap to the field secretary for attention, to assist the field secretary in carrying on a program of sight conservation and prevention of blindness and to present annually on behalf of the blind an appeal for funds.

Although it is the first time that a branch has been formed in Prince Rupert, the Imperial Order, Daughters of the Empire, has been co-operating with the Institute in conducting a tag day each year and bringing service to the blind, referring cases as has also been done to the welfare authorities.

The Institute in British Columbia, Mr. Ogilvy said, now has 1,500 registered blind and 4,000 to 5,000 registered for prevention.

In Vancouver the Institute has established a splendidly appointed residence for the blind — a three storey building on six acres of land on upper Main Street where fifty persons are now accommodated in comfort and with facilities peculiar to the use of the blind available. Here it is hoped within the next few years to move from the present location on Broadway at Spruce Street the administration building, workshops, occupational therapy school and recreation hall, making it a real "University for the Blind."

Stating that the Canadian National Institute for the Blind, with its co-ordinated and efficient functioning, has an exceptionally high rating among such institutions on the continent, Mr. Ogilvy alluded to the work of this "multi-service" agency, not the least important of which was the successful placing in employment of blind people in work which they were able to carry on.

Getting back to the subject of the home in Vancouver, Mr. Ogilvy told how the people could live there for $60 per month (the blind pension in British Columbia is $50 with an additional $15 allowance by the provincial government) — this including private room, lodging, mending and laundry service and recreational amenities such as radio outlet. Then there was the Women's Auxiliary to the Institute which provided extras.

Who Gets Telephones?

Considerable discussion arose at last night's meeting of the city council over a letter from A. L. Wudel regarding a residence telephone. Mr. Wudel said he had applied for such a telephone when he first arrived in the city and rented a house, that he had been told there was not sufficient line available to put in a telephone in that district. He then moved to a home where there was a telephone installed and it was removed two days later, the letter continued. At about the same time a telephone had been installed in the house he had just vacated. The letter explained his position as manager for Canada Packers here made numerous long distance calls at night necessary and that he was forced to go back to his office to await the calls. He asked that the council urge on the utility his need for the telephone.

Ald. H. F. Glassey said he did not see why Mr. Wudel should have priority over other citizens who had been waiting for years for telephones. He did not see why just because he was a company manager he should have particular consideration.

Ald. T. B. Black moved the matter be turned over to the utilities committee for investigation, seconded by Ald. Glassey.

Ald. George Casey said he did not agree with Ald. Glassey regarding the priority. He said the company's telephone bill was very large, which showed the need for a telephone. He added that Mr. Wudel had told him it was not always possible to make all calls in the day time and that sometimes he was told the answer would come at night, which meant he had to go to the office to take the call. Ald. Casey said there was a system of priorities in effect whereby key men in companies had special consideration. He was sure, he continued, that the head of Columbia Cellulose, for instance, would not wait long for a telephone in his home. Mr. Wudel, as a company manager, should have the same consideration, he said. He said he was not satisfied with Mr. Edwards' version of business responsibility when it came to telephone priorities. He moved an amendment to Ald. Black's motion that the matter be settled by the council "here and now."

John Bains First Navy Enlistment

Ald. Douglas Frizzell seconded the amendment.

Ald. D. Fitch said it was not a matter that could be settled at the moment. The council did not know what, if any equipment was available. He felt the original motion should be acted upon, that the committee investigate and take what steps they could.

Ald. Frizzell said there had been a lot of the same thing going on and that people who had come to the city since Mr. Wudel, had got telephones, some of whom did not have as great a need as he did. He said he knew of others who had got the same "run around."

Ald. J. N. Forman said that at the last meeting of the utilities committee it had been decided to have all applications for telephone service come before the committee.

On call from question, Aldermen Casey and Frizzell voted for the amendment; Aldermen Black, Glassey, Forman, W. J. McLean and Fitch voted against. The original motion passed unanimously.

Dorreen Mill Is Destroyed

Motorists arriving from the interior report the destruction in a flash fire Monday afternoon of the K. Sorenson sawmill at Dorreen on the Skeena River Highway about 115 miles east of Prince Rupert.

An engine backfire is believed to have been the cause of the fire which, in addition to destroying the 8000-foot plant, burned some $5000 or $6000 of lumber.

Eight men were employed. About seven months ago Mr. Sorenson had suffered a mill fire. He was formerly located at Pacific.

Boat Sought for Halibut Tagging — New Light on Lucy Island

Program of halibut tagging operations on the fishing grounds in Area No. 2 off the west coast of Prince of Wales Island and off the east coast of Moresby Island, including the Scudder Point-Atli Head vicinity, is planned by the International Fisheries Commission. To carry out the work the Commission is calling for tenders for the charter of a suitable vessel equipped for halibut fishing and with accommodation for at least seven men and with cruising speed of at least seven knots. The vessel is to be available shortly after August 1 for approximately thirty and possibly sixty days commencing either at Seattle, Vancouver or Prince Rupert.

Canadian Can Co.'s service boat Canconin, Capt. William Thomas, in the course of one of her periodic voyages to canneries points up and down the coast, was in port during the week-end. The vessel arrived Sunday afternoon from Rivers Inlet and Butedale and left yesterday afternoon for the Skeena River.

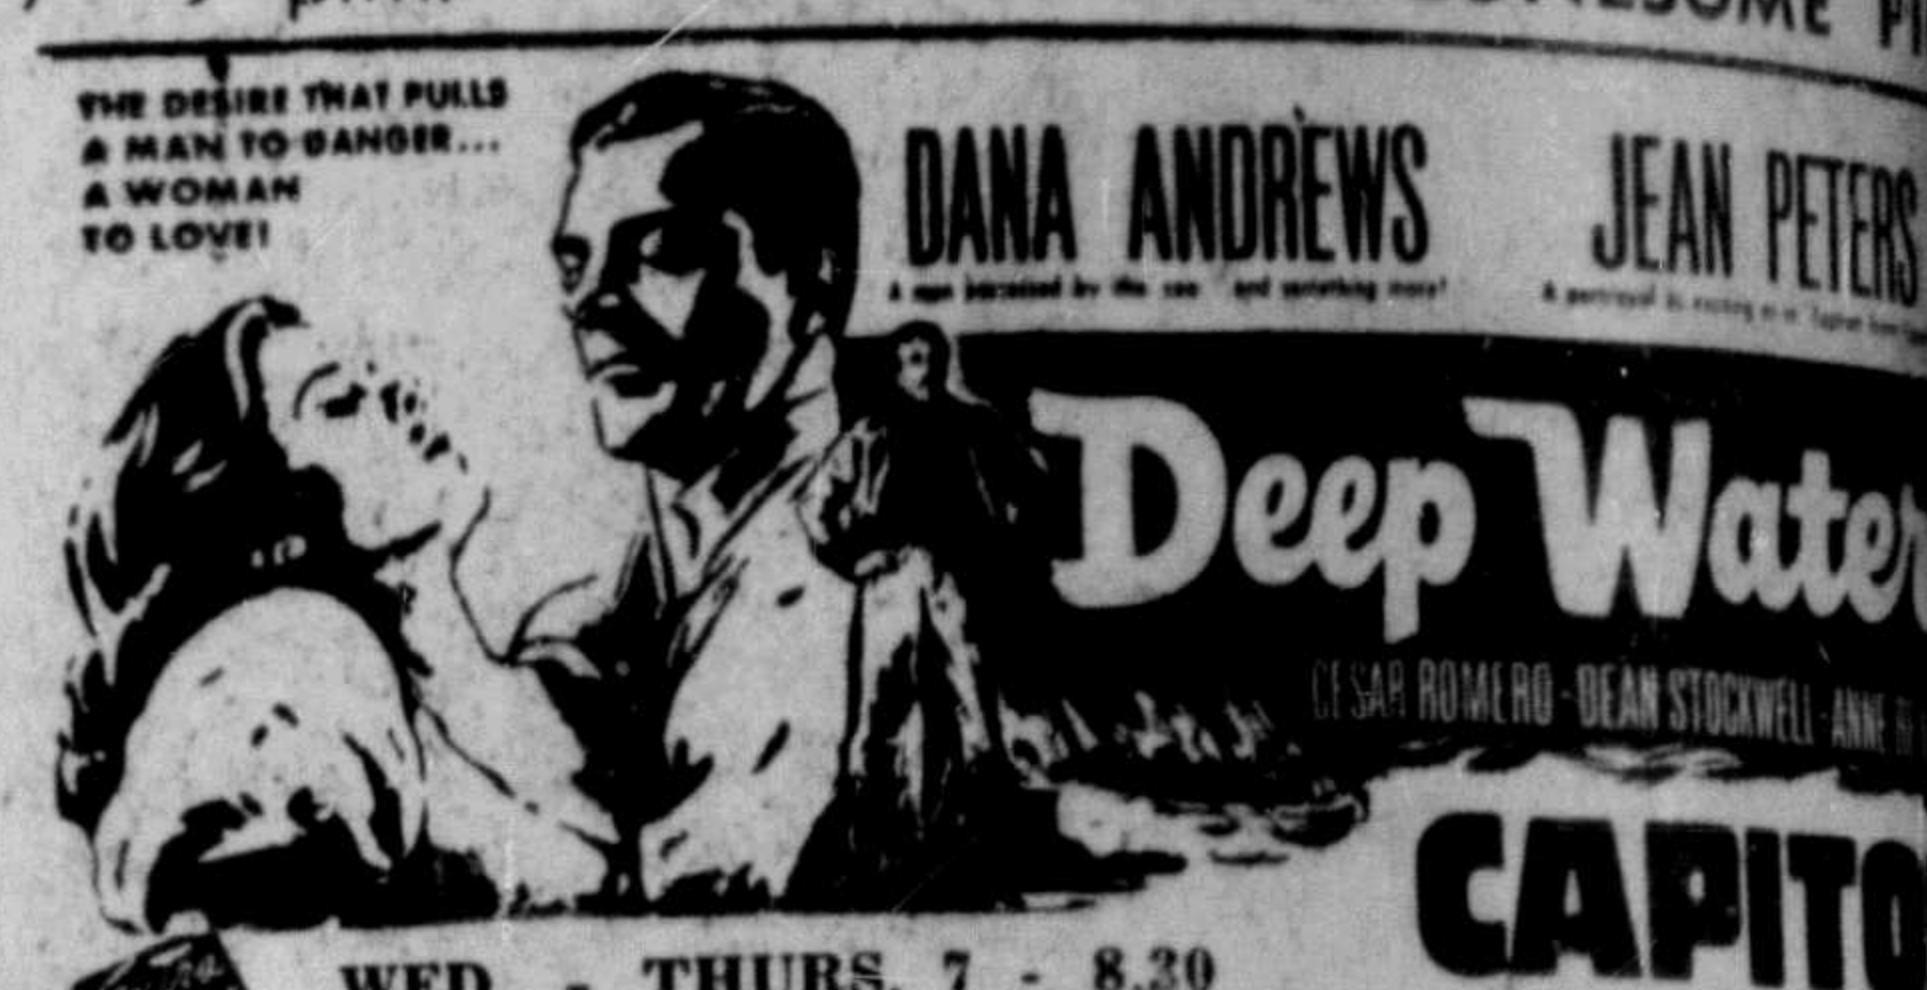

A lighted beacon has been established on the eastern extremity of Lucy Island in Parry Pass, according to an announcement by the Department of Transport. The beacon consists of a concrete base surmounted by pole with red lantern on top. Height is 22 feet above high water.

Further word on the Cape Devon, Capt. Tony Brnich, points out she was built by Sterling Shipyard Company Ltd. for Canadian Fishing Company Ltd. The Sea Master is of the same construction and was built for Frank Tomarich, an independent fisherman fishing for Nelson Bros. Fisheries. The eight cylinder Buda marine diesel engines on both boats develop 250 continuous horsepower.

Record Sockeye Run At Rivers

While the sockeye run at Skeena and Naas areas has been small, the run at Rivers has been to date one of the best in history. The men's co-operative in Vancouver alone has taken out 100,000 pounds of fish in two weeks. There was slight improvement in the run all over the straits at the end of last week, but it is still considered near local waters.
