Murder Charge Is Withdrawn

NEW YORK—Judge Saul S. Streit Monday ordered charges of first or second degree murder be withdrawn in the trial of Ralph Edward Barrows, accused of slaying Colin Cameron MacKellar, Montreal textile executive, Nov. 5, 1948.

The judge ruled that the state had failed to prove a felony murder or an intent to kill in their case against the 20-year old Grand Rapids, Mich., youth.

Judge Streit left for the jury only consideration of manslaughter in the first or second degree.

The wealthy Montrealer was found dead in his Canadian Club suite on the 19th floor of the Waldorf-Astoria by a cleaning maid.

Evidence during the trial indicated that Barrows had met MacKellar during a round of drinking and went to the Montrealer's suite for another drink.

Vancouver Again Hit

VANCOUVER—Vancouver is pretty well recovered from the worst storm of the winter which heaped snow ten inches to a foot on the city Monday, stalled traffic, confined run-downs to the business area down town unable to get home from jobs and claimed the life of William Stanley McLeod, aged 75, who suffered a heart attack and died despite efforts of inhalator crew at a nearby fire station.

Traffic snarls forced cancellation of classes in all but three Vancouver district schools including the University of British Columbia, Vancouver and New Westminster schools were closed yesterday but reopened today.

By midnight the storm had moved into the beleaguered Fraser Valley where the cold snap had brought relief from floods.

Railway traffic is hopelessly paralyzed. Canadian Pacific moved trains no further than Calgary, Kamloops and Pentecost, resorting to air lift. Canadian National mainline trains are comg only as far west as Edmonton with a local from there to Jasper and Kamloops.

Maxim Wins From Mills

LONDON—Handsome Joey Maxim of Cleveland took back the world's light heavyweight boxing championship to the United States last night by knocking out the title-holder Freddie Mills of Great Britain in the tenth of fifteen scheduled rounds at Earl's Court Arena here.

Mills went down for the count of eight and then came up but could not remain on his feet.

Boil Water, Urges MHO

In the interests of the public health and as a precaution against the possible outbreak of disease, Dr. J. McC. Black, medical health officer here, issued a strong recommendation today that all water obtained by householders other than through the ordinary faucets should be thoroughly boiled before using. "This is important as far as adults are concerned but much more so for children," Dr. Black said.

Dr. Black's warning comes as the city started, since yesterday afternoon, delivering water by truck and can to people living in the higher parts of the city, where pressure is poor owing to the low reservoir, and to others who have been cut off from water supply by frozen pipes. Other devious means, by which contamination might be caused, have included the use of hoses, carrying in cans and barrels etc.

Smuts Bids For Power

CAPETOWN—Opposition launched an offensive yesterday to unseat South Africa's Leader Jan Christian Smuts Nationalist-led Coalition government. It was the first heavy attack since Smuts' United Party was defeated in the May 1948 general election.

Smuts, former Prime Minister, charged the government with steering the country towards the rocks.

Casey vs. Black

At It Again in City Council Over Power

It always seems to end in the same manner. Alderman George Casey, firmly opposing an issue advocated by most, if not all the Aldermen, digs up points that seem very logical until Alderman T. B. Black, stands up slowly and returns a barrage of words that hushes the chamber including Alderman Casey.

It happened at Monday's city council meeting when the committee of the whole presented a report stating that representatives of the Northern B. C. Power Co. and the committee had met and received a submission regarding the extension of the power franchise and revision of rates.

Commenting on his company's proposal, Ald. Black stated his company is prepared to erect the plant immediately adding that the city cannot rely on water power.

"As far as I am concerned," Ald. Black said, "the council, if they wish, can put it before the people, but the plant should be completed before the winter of 1951."

"Why were these plans not presented to the people at election time?" Alderman Casey curiously queried.

"The plans," Alderman Black argued, "were not drafted in time for the election." Alderman Casey (Continued on Page Four)

Vancouver Mail Via Pr. Rupert

With railway lines in and out of Vancouver paralyzed by snowfall and slides, mails from Vancouver to points between Prince George and Saskatoon are now moving by way of Prince Rupert. Five hundred sacks of mail arrived today on the Prince George from Vancouver to be transferred to mail cars on which they will be taken East this evening.

Everything is moving freely on the Prince Rupert-Jasper line, Superintendent C. A. Berner reported again this morning, subject only to delays of trains to the division owing to severe winter weather on the prairies. All passenger and freight trains have been moved smoothly. Last night's train from the East, late in leaving Jasper, is reported due in here at 6 o'clock this evening.

Steel, Timber Decontrolled

OTTAWA—Primary steel and timber will be decontrolled when current legislation expires March 31, it was learned yesterday. It is understood that the cabinet has decided not to seek renewal of government controls on these two commodities. Thus authority over price and movement will return to industry and private trade for the first time in eleven years.

Rent control will continue pending reference to the Supreme Court of Canada which is to be heard between now and March 31.

Scouts, Cubs See Pictures

Scout training films were shown to 185 cubs and scouts of Prince Rupert over the week-end. In addition to the scout pictures, forestry films were screened by W. N. Campbell of the provincial forestry service. The two films were first shown in the Catholic Hall Friday to 100 boys. Eighty five scouts and cubs viewed the pictures in the Conrad Street school Monday. F. E. Anfield, district commissioner for Boy Scouts was in charge.

Submarine 'Improbable'

KODIAK—Sighting of the submarine off Kodiak, since discredited, was reported Sunday by five members of a Civil Aeronautics administration crew. They said they were told by the Navy to divulge no details. All were interviewed by high naval officers.

Navy winter exercises are being conducted in North Pacific waters but official sources did not link the appearance of the submarine with the manoeuvres.

On the report being received, the Navy immediately clamped on a secrecy ban and sent out planes to search the area. Results of the search, were not announced except for the statement of skepticism that it was a submarine.

Brief Check In Cold Snap

On Edge of Storm—

Snow Comes But No Substantial Relief From Winter's Icy Grip Yet Seen

One of those storms in the Gulf of Alaska, which often brings soft southeast winds and rainfall to Prince Rupert, was passing by this morning but this part of the country appeared to be only on the edge of it and, in spite of snow flurries, the Weather Man had little to offer in the way of hope for an appreciable amelioration of the long cold snap. Prince Rupert people, meanwhile, facing their power and water crisis, continued their fervent hopes for rain—plenty and soon.

Local skies clouded over late last night and it started to snow lightly at 4 a.m., two inches having been recorded by 10 a.m. Wind had shifted to southeast, 25 miles an hour, but, according to the forecast, it was to veer to east, 25 miles, this afternoon with cloud and snow flurries, clearing again tonight. A northerly gale warning was issued for Queen Charlotte Islands.

Lowest official thermometer reading of the night was 12 above at 10 p.m. By 4 a.m. it had risen to 15 above and at 10 a.m. it was 19 above—a long way to go yet before the grip of the cold spell would be loosened.

To settle arguments as to the duration of the cold spell which started before Christmas, some figures were obtained this morning from the Dominion meteorologist as to precipitation during the intervening time which really brought only ineffectual interruptions. Last snow before today was a few flakes, almost unnoticed, on January 18, one and a half inches on January 6 and three inches January 3 which started with one tenth of an inch of rain. That means that Prince Rupert had had but 3 of an inch of precipitation so far in January. In January last year there was 12.1 inches included 20 inches of snow and 10.1 inches of rain.

Rebels In Withdrawal

JAKARTA, United States of Indonesia—A private guerrilla army, which had been attacking the United States of Indonesia, left Bandoeng suddenly on Monday afternoon after having taken over the most of the town a few hours earlier.

Dutch troops, regularly garrisoned on Bandoeng, third largest city in the United States of Indonesia, patrolled the streets today looking for deserters from their forces.

The guerrilla army was led by an outlaw former Dutch officer, Capt. R. P. Westerling.

The sudden withdrawal of the guerrillas surprised U.S.I. officials as much as the original action against the city.

CHRYSLER STRIKE

DETROIT—Chrysler workers marched out on strike today after six months of futile negotiations over a pension plan. United Automobile Workers (CIO) ordered its 80,000 Chrysler Corporation members to "hit the bricks" immediately after negotiations broke off.

FATAL PETERSBURG FIRE

PETERSBURG, Alaska—Snowballs and a salt water bucket brigade failed last night to stem a fire which burned three children to death and destroyed their Indian community home near here. The town's normal water supply is frozen up.

FIVE YEARS FOR HISS

NEW YORK—Alger Hiss was today sentenced to five years in federal penitentiary. Sentence was pronounced by Federal Judge Henry Goodard in the courtroom where Hiss was convicted on two perjury counts last Saturday. Defence counsel said the case would be appealed.

VANCOUVER STADIUM

VANCOUVER—City Council last night eyed a whopping bill involved—a possible $750,000—but carried through with plans to have the 1954 British Empire Games staged here. The council approved a $300,000 Civic Stadium on Little Mountain, seating 5,000 people. Construction may start July 1.

Restrictions Are Doubled

Power Cut Again—

Prince Rupert People Cut Down to Almost Half Time Electric Availability

People of Prince Rupert, by compulsory and voluntary curtailment, yesterday met the reduction in light and power consumption appealed for by the Northern British Columbia Power Co. in order to spin out its diminishing reserves of energy potential in the face of lowering lake water levels and coal piles. Accordingly Thomas B. Black, general manager of the company, although doubling the cut-off periods which had been slapped on previously, expressed hope that no more would be necessary and they might even be relaxed soon.

With present curtailment of electricity in effect and if the coal supply is increased, Prince Rupert will be supplied with sufficient water and power for approximately another month. A 10-day supply of coal is on hand to feed the dry dock plant, Mr. Black stated this morning and more shipments of the necessary fuel are being made here.

Water level at Falls River is 6.1 feet. Now receding at 2 feet per day following the drastic cuts in power consumption water can drop another 6 feet before the power from there will be exhausted.

Fifteen inches of water remains in the city reservoir which means, Don Stewart, city engineer, stated, that all city homes are being supplied except for those with frozen pipes. Thawing of four hydrants in the vicinity of Third and Second Avenues is underway with anti-freeze, rock coal and steam.

Loss of water at Shawatlans has been reduced to 2.5 inches and at Falls River, 3.5 inches. It is hoped both locations can be stabilized soon.

Starting today power is being cut off in various parts of the city for an aggregate of nine to eleven hours in staggered periods during the day and night.

Those depending on electricity for the carrying on of business or for industrial or domestic purposes, were accepting the situation philosophically and planning (Continued on Page Four)

Not So Bad At That

THERE ARE STILL SOME people around who were in Prince Rupert, and other places too, forty years or so ago when there were no electric lights to say nothing of the gadgets, and no water-works with fancy baths, either. We got along very happily too. But what consternation there is today when we have our lights cut off for a few hours a day or the water system freezes up for a while. Of course, we have long since gone out of the good old coal oil lamps and candles, with which we used to satisfy ourselves once, are so messy and dangerous. And the muskeg holes, from which some of us who are still here remember lugging water, are not so handy, so healthful and, anyway, are frozen up these days.

As for the old days, we used to have cold weather in those times too but somehow or other we did not seem to mind it. Some of the older folks, whose blood may not be quite so thick and red as it used to be, can be pardoned if they shiver a bit in these wintry blasts with which we have been afflicted for the last few weeks. But we notice that a lot of the young folks are doing as much shivering as some of the oldsters. Of course, in those days we used to wear our long woollens and maybe were a little more sensible, if not so fastidious, about our clothing.

But these arduosities, about which we moan so much these days, if we just boil them down, are not so terrible even if they get worse. The only trouble is we have got in a more comfortable rut, to say nothing of the lot of us being softer than were the pioneers.

Maybe it is good for our spirit and our souls just to have a little discomfort and inconvenience. Instead of moaning about it and crying to high heaven, we might reflect upon how, even at the worst, we are really blessed. Let us compare our lot with people in other parts of the world, and not so far a way from Prince Rupert at that, and reflect upon whether, come what may, we are so hardly done by after all.

Ray Reflects . . . and Reminisces

It was in 1912 or thereabouts that the contracting firm of Anderson & McKinnon built the Prince Rupert Club later to be known as the Moose Temple. It was planned originally for club purposes. The cost, estimated by today's standards, could not have been much less than $25,000. Peter W. Anderson, who died years ago, was one of the city's "originals," ever active and progressive. Mrs. Anderson was among the first white women to make her home here. Members of the McKinnon family were also included among the earliest of the old timers.

Both in design and situation, the Temple was unlike any other building in Prince Rupert. It was distinctly "different." There was a certain roominess. Its fireplaces, the sense of detachment though in the very centre of the business district, and superb views from so many of the windows offered attractive contrasts.

After a fire is extinguished, or it destroys whatever there is to burn, some earnest seeker of the truth asks: "Wonder how it started?" As a general rule, everybody is wondering. No one knows unless someone comes

YES, IT PAYS TO ADVERTISE WANDERING BUDGIE PROVES IT

It is not often that a husband hears the old familiar query, "Have you anything on your hip?" when LEAVING his home, although at times, perhaps, he may be accustomed to such a greeting on ENTERING it. Such, we understand, is now becoming the habit of the owner of a little green budgerigar as this little bird recently took up this strategic position as the aforesaid husband was leaving the house and, on arrival on the street took off into the ether at a rate of knots. All through that day, and far into the night, its owner could be seen gazing at tree tops and whistling the "budgies" shrill call, (which she was accustomed to answer), but the tree tops for miles around (query) brought forth no such reply. To advertise, was immediately agreed upon, but alas it would be 24 hours before the "Daily News" was again in circulation, and the weather was bitterly cold and unfitting for a lady, (heavily feathered though she was) to be out and unchaperoned. Where she spent that night will ever remain a deep secret. Next afternoon she was seen cavorting with seagulls on a snowbank on the wharf outside F. E. Hunt's store at Cow Bay. On invitation she gladly took her rescuer's hand and submitted willingly to the indignity of transportation by tobacco can to his home in the City where she became the pet of the household for three hours, until "The News" arrived and (honest folks) the "Lost and Found" ads read, with the result that she was quickly returned to her over-joyed owners. That she is indeed a lucky bird cannot be gainsaid as this is the second time in the last thirty days that she has braved the wintry elements to "see life, the other side of the window pane", and the second time that the "Daily News" has been instrumental in her return, safe and sound, to the comforts of her owner's home. Verily, verily, it pays to advertise.

LETTERBOX

POWER SHORTAGE
Editor, Daily News:
According to reports right now we are in a crisis. Could not more be done about it?

Being a housewife and taking a housewife's view, it is my opinion that essential bread winning industries in the city and homes would be the greatest sufferers by a prolonged power shortage. If this is so could we not limit our towns business hours from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. I am sure the housewife will co-operate in this emergency.
Thanking you.
V. IVERSON.

Plans For Relief Work Under Way

A letter from J. G. Alley, president of the Vancouver branch of the Young Liberal Association of British Columbia, was read to members of city council Monday night, suggesting that this city notify Premier Byron Johnson in Victoria, of any projects in Prince Rupert or municipality which would qualify for assistance under the Dominion Municipal Improvements Assistance Act of 1938.

The Association, alarmed by the increasingly urgent unemployment situation in British Columbia, wired Premier Johnson recently and suggested he approach responsible Dominion officials with a view to instituting immediate Public Works projects in this province either through use of the above mentioned 1938 Act or through Dominion planned projects to the value of $138,000,000 on shelf.

In 1938 Dominion surveys were made in this area, with a view of commencing projects should unemployment become serious.

Mr. and Mrs. Pierre Le Ross sailed on the Coquitlam yesterday afternoon for a trip to Vancouver.

man Casey finally seemed convinced the B. C. Power Co. was not able to release plans until a later date.

Alderman Casey raised an eyebrow and remarked: "We are not ready to believe the power commission is all out for the people. They are not going to sweat blood for Prince Rupert."

"We should employ the services of a hydro engineer so that independent advice can be given regarding the whole set-up."

Alderman H. F. Glassey rose to his feet and queried Alderman Casey.

"Do you mean we can get another firm to install a plant? That is what I want to know."

Alderman Casey strongly replied: "We have a little project here called Prince Rupert."

Alderman Black's time had come again and he proceeded to trim Alderman Casey's wings.

"The city was unable to expand its utilities and that is why Northern B. C. Power Co. stepped in. It cost us $2,600,000 to improve the utilities. Where would the city get that much money? Barring the power, sewers, streets and other improvements would drain the city's finances. And where would the city obtain sufficient money to finance the present plant?"

Alderman Casey remained silent throughout the barrage.

"As far as a hydro engineer is concerned," Alderman Black hotly added, "we don't have to hire anyone. The Utilities Commission does that anyway and at no cost. All plans and proposals call for approval by the commission." No one argued.

POWER RESTRICTIONS

ning on how to most advantageously use the energy placed at their disposal and at the same time comply with the appeal for conservation in the emergency.

Yesterday Mr. Black had issued a stern warning that water levels in Falls River and Woodworth Lake, sources of water for the two hydro-electric plants, were rapidly dropping and that the dry dock steam plant was being supplied with only 50 tons of coal per day whereas it was consuming 100 tons daily.

Another day of failure so far as voluntary curtailment was concerned culminated in Mr. Black's edict last night that further restrictions would be immediately enforced.

The hours of cut-off have been staggered so as to interfere as little as possible with the purposes of essential users. Housewives who use electricity for their cooking were faced with setting rearranged family meal hours.

Downtown restaurants and beer parlors were thrown into afternoon darkness but have been allowed four hours of light in the evening. Stores carried on in late afternoon in state of semi-darkness. There was little suspension of normal activities. The moving picture theatre functioned normally. Gymnasias and large auditorium at Civic Centre had already been closed down for the period of the electricity shortage.

Only one school has been closed down in Prince Rupert, this being the old King Edward elementary school building with a heating plant inadequate to meet the exceptionally cold weather and dependent on electricity which is shut off during the afternoon in the area.

So that the Prince Rupert General Hospital might have electricity constantly available, the power company is installing a special line from a sub-station to separate the institution from one of the main circuits which are all under restriction.

WATER CONSERVATION

While the Power Company is taking arbitrary steps to clamp down on the wasters of electricity, the city engineer has been instructed by the council to check on a number of large water consumers who are believed to be running off large quantities of water for the purpose of preventing the lines from freezing, jumping their water consumption six times.

So numerous are freeze-ups on city's lateral water lines that the effort to thaw them out have been practically given up. "They freeze up as rapidly as you thaw them out anyway," declared one harried pipe thawer.
